E.A. LA ROCHE IS TO RESIGN FROM COUNCIL

To Devote His Time to Suburban Road Commission

COUNCIL GETS JOB

Will Have Duty of Selecting Successor For Seat

Indications are that the city council meeting this evening will be one of considerable interest. There are several recommendations of importance from the civic committees to be approved of or rejected as the case may be. It is understood that the resignation of Alderman E. A. LaRoche will be presented and in all probably accepted. In the event of the acceptance of the resignation the members of the Council will have to appoint his successor. This is made necessary owing to the fact that there was no election for Aldermen this year, hence there is no defeated candidate to take the place.

When called to-day, Alderman LaRoche said his resignation was ready, but preferred to say nothing about it before the council meeting to-night.

It is understood that a man cannot serve as a member of the Suburban Roads Commission while he is on the County or City Council and that this is what prompts the resignation.

Ald. LaRoche has applied a level head to the work of the City Council and his influence will be missed in civic circles. He will be rendering signal service as a road commissioner, however.

Herriott Is Easy On His Chauffeur

Julien Gets First Holiday in Three Years However

Paris, Feb. 2—The recent illness of Premier Herriot gave Julien, the regularly accredited chauffeur to the foreign office, his first opportunity in three years to enjoy a vacation.

Julien has acted as chauffeur for [illegible] Briand, Poincare and Herriot. His job with Premier Briand was the easiest, Julien volunteers. M. Briand never called upon Julien to do any extra work, dismissing him regularly about 7 in the evenings, excepting during inter-allied conferences.

Julien, while appreciating the cool and correct man that Premier Poincare was with him, finds his work with Herriot much more agreeable.

"A tireless worker and very hard driver for himself,' Julien said, "M. Poincare did not appear to realize the amount of work he was imposing upon those near him. Finishing my day's work about 9 or 10 in the evening, I had to be on the job at 7 the next morning. With M. Herriot, it is different. Many times he has dismissed me before dinner, saying "Goodby, Julien. I will return in a taxi."

Recently on one of these occasions the premier returning in a taxi to the ministry, was surprised when a taxidriver stubbornly refused to accept the price of the trip.

"Just shake hands with me, Monsieur le President," the taxi driver asked. M. Herriot did and with the other hand he extended to the delighted chauffeur a long black cigar.

LIEUT.-COL. GIBSON DIED ON SATURDAY

Toronto, Feb. 2.—After a comparatively brief illness Lieut.-Col. Thomas A. Gibson, K.C., D.S.O., C.M.G., died at his residence, 58 Roxborough Drive, about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening Col. Gibson had been ailing for some time, but his illness was not considered serious, and his sudden death will be a great shock to his many friends at home as well as in the United States and England.

Born in Ingersoll in 1875, Col. Gibson was 49 years of age. He was the son of the late Joseph Gibson, for many years postmaster of Ingersoll and president of the Dominion Alliance, and Janet (Buchanan) Gibson. He was educated at Ingersoll Collegiate Institute, and later took his degree at Toronto University. While attending Osgoode Hall he read law with Maclaren, Macdonald, Shepley and Middleton and was called to the bar in 1900. For a short time he practised in Ingersoll, and then came to Toronto and became a member of the firm of Rowell, Reid, Wilkie, Wood and Gibson. With Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., he did most of the arduous detail work connected with the reorganization of the Lake Superior Companies after the failure of 1902. In 1909 he withdrew from the partnership to become general counsel for the Lake Superior Corporation, and from then until the war broke out in 1914 devoted his entire time to the interests of these industries.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edgecomb, visited relatives in Toronto on Saturday.

Woman Passes In Her 93rd Year

Mrs. Sarah Vantassel Was a Descendant of United Empire Loyalists

At Hatzie, British Columbia, on Saturday there passed away a former well-known and aged resident of this locality in the person of Mrs. Sarah Lucretia Vantassel, relict of the late Mr. Philip Clapp. Deceased was in her 93rd year having been born in Sidney Township in April 1823. She was a daughter of the late Mr. Ora Vantassel and her mother, previous to marriage was Miss Phoebe Ketcheson, a daughter of the late Mr. Wm. Ketcheson, a U. E. L. descendant and a member of the first family of Ketcheson's residing in Sidney. Mrs. Clapp was the last surviving member of the family. Four brothers and three sisters predeceased her. Mrs. Clapp until about 20 years ago resided in this locality where she was well-known and had a large circle of friends. She passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John A. Barr, of Hatzie, B.C. Deceased had been a member of the Methodist church since childhood and until a few years ago had taken much interest in church work. She was a lady whom to know was to esteem. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. Surviving is a family of two sons and three daughters. The sons are Wm. B. Clapp, of Winnipeg, and Charles S., of this city. The daughters are Mrs. Herbert O. Foster, of Vancouver, Mrs. John A. Barr, of Hatzie, B.C., and Mrs. Thomas Nightingale, of Huff's Island, Prince Edward County. The body, will be interred in Hatzie Cemetery.

WILL ANNOUNCE SENTENCE ON 10TH

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 2—Judge Emerson Coatsworth announced at the opening of the trial of F. J. B. Russill, Home Bank Director this morning, that pronouncement of sentences on R. P. Gough, vice-president of defunct bank and J. F. M. Stewart, director, would be postponed until February 10th. Judgment in the case of S. Casey Wood, K. C., director, whose trial concluded on Thursday last will be delivered on Feb. 5.

MINSTRELS ARRIVE FOR SHOW TO-NIGHT

Harvey's Greater Minstrels arrived in the city this morning and attracted the attention of Belleville workers during the lunch hour while they paraded Front street in their gay red minstrel suits, and blaring forth the customary band music.

A band concert is slated to precede their performance at Griffin's to-night.

AL SMITH SAYS HE EXPECTS TO COME TO CITY

New York Governor Answers Invitation to Peace Celebration

WRITES THE MAYOR

Asks for Reminder Few Weeks Before Big Event

Governor Al. Smith of New York State has writen Mayor Mikel saying that he hopes to be present at the celebration of the 110th anniversary of the peace between Canada and United States, the first week of next August, and has asked the Mayor to write him a few weeks before the celebration so that it will not escape his attention.

This virtual acceptance of an invitation from Belleville is one of the first of many which are anticipated for the big celebration. Plans are underway to make the event one of such outstanding importance that it will develop into not a Belleville but a real international celebration.

U.S.A. Publishers Protest Embargo

Object to Giving Canadians Control of Canadian Pulpwood

Washington, Feb. 2—The National Publishers Association announced yesterday it had filed a brief with Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee protesting against what, it claimed, was a threatened embargo on pulpwood by Canadian paper manufacturers, and asking what is to be the "reaction against an embargo which is obviously class legislation."

"Such an embargo as that proposed by the Canadian mill owners," says the brief, "will have the effect not only of crippling the pulpwood industry in the United States, but also of giving Canadian manufacturers control of our paper market, thereby increasing the cost to every user of the printed word in the United States

Under the mask of forest conservation Canadian manufacturers are trying to force the Dominion Government to stop the exportation of pulpwood. They are trying to force their mills into Canada, where the wood would be transformed into pulp for the paper mills here. That much accomplished, the next step would be to embargo pulp, thus forcing Americans to make their paper in the Dominion and under the domination of the Canadian paper industry."

The brief declared the "continued propaganda put forth by the Canadian paper manufactures, if carried to an extreme, will certainly result in seriously interrupting the friendly relations which have so many years existed between Canada and the United States."

Opposed Also in Montreal

Montreal, Feb. 1—Opposition to the proposal that an embargo be placed on pulpwood was the keynote of the addresses and discussion that featured the first anniversary luncheon of the Canadian Pulpwood Association here on Saturday. Angus McLean of Bathurst, N.B. was in the chair, while the principal speaker was Ralph Bell of Halifax, Secretary-Treasurer of the association.

Major Belford Is Speaker On Rotary

Tells of Man's Duty to State; Must Think For Himself

Rotary stands for 'Service Before Self' but it is the duty of every Rotarian to develop himself in order that he may give intelligent service, said Major J. B. Belford, M.P.P., of East Northumberland, in speaking to the Rotary Club at to-day's luncheon. The Major's speech only lasted about thirty minutes but he packed food for a day's thought in that half hour.

Major Belford was introduced by Secretary Scott as a farmer on week days, an Anglican peacher on Sundays, a member of Parliament and an ex-Army Chaplain who later went into the fighting ranks with his three sons, one of whom did not came back. He received an enthusiastic welcome and warm applause when he was through.

His talk was on the duty of Self Development inorder that we might efficiently serve Canada and our fellow citizens. He cited as one of the dangers of the age the habit of superficial thought of men taking their opinions ready made from the newspapers, preachers and politicians. "Every man," he said, "should have convictions which he had thought out for himself on such public questions as the Liquor Traffic, Tariff Reform and Church Union.

Mr. Arthur Robertson was introduced as a new member, classification "Rubber Goods."

On Sunday, February 22nd the International Rotary Club will celebrate its birthday and special services will be held at John St. Church that evening. Rev. Douglas Ramsay is arranging for thisservice and there will be special music by the Rotary Male Choir. The following Monday the event will be celebrated at the regular Rotary Club meeting which may be switched to an evening dinner.

Kingston Brute Is Sent To Burwash

Noah Knight Who Assaulted and Robed S. Freadette it Sentenced

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Feb. 2.—Noah Knight, 20-year-old Kingston youth who pleaded guilty to charges of unlawful assault, robbery with violence and of stealing a suit of clothes was today sentenced to serve not more than two years in Burwash Reformatory. Knight was arrested at London, Ont. According to Knight's confession he entered the boiler room of Anglin and Co's plant when Steacy Freadette was employed as night watchman. Freadete was asleep on a heap of shaving. Using an iron bar weighing about 5 pounds, Knight crept up on Freadette and hit him on the head knocking him unconscious. After taking 15 dollars from the man's pockets, Knight fled from the city. Freadette is in hospital with a fractured skull.

Knight McGregor Reaps Applause

Made Big Hit in "Blossom Time" at St. Catharines

Knight McGregor made a hit at St. Catharines in "Blossom Time." The editor of The Daily Intelligencer has received the following letter from George J. Forhan, manager of the Griffin Theatre there:

"Enclosed please find Review on the Lee and J. J. Shubert musical operetta "Blossom Time" which I played here recently. The well known and popular Knight McGregor played the role of Franz Schubert and in the role he is a wonder.

"I was very pleased to see a boy from the good old city of Belleville playing the leading role in an operetta of the "Blossom Time," rightly termed "The Musical Gem of the Age." I thought I would mail you the Review for I know Knight's many friends will be pleased to hear of his wonderful success. With all good wishes, I am

Yours very truly,
GEORGE J. FORHAN."

This is what the St. Catharines Standard had to say:

"But at last Schubert told his love to Mitzi through the lips of the handsome Baron Schober, and thereby lost his suite as Mitzi fell in love with Baron Schober. Franz Schubert was heartbroken over this and became seriously ill, never to recover. The tragic ending to Schubert's romance touched the hearts of the audience last night with its tender pathos. The role of Franz Schubert was taken by Knight McGregor, a Canadian, and a native of Belleville. His interpretation of the role was superb. Very rarely does one ever have the opprtunity of witnessing such a wonderful piece of acting as the blank despair he portrayed when he discovered that Mitzi his heart's desire, loved another. He swayed his audience as few actors ever do and enfused in them the tragedy of his romance. He was tendered a marvellous ovation upon his appearance in answer to insistent applause at the end of the second act."

SHOWS OLD COAT OF WALTER SCOTT'S

Seattle, Wash., Feb., 2— A hand-tailored broadcloth coat and vest worn 140 years ago by Sir Walter Scott, almost identical in line with those worn today on formal occasions was exhibited in a tailor's show here recently.

A daughter of Sir Walter gave the coat to an English friend of his and it came down from generation to generation. Every stitch in the garment was done by hand. The broad lapels are properly notched, and cut square in front.

Claw-hammer tails reached to the bend in the knee. The waistcoat was of brocaded purple silk with small, round, colorful buttons.

CHIP STONE TO RELEASE MAN PINNED UNDER

Cave City Worker Held Prisoner For Forty Hours

RUSH DRILL OUT

Brothers at Work Incessantly; Crawl in With Food

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 2.—Hope came with dawn to-day to Sand Cave, where in one of its crooked little crevices three hundred feet from the entrance, Floyd Collins, 35 years of age, has lain pinned by a huge boulder since Friday morning. A squad of men, bringing a portable drill was to leave Louisville early today. A truck was here ready to transport the equipment to the cave six miles away.

With this drill rescuers hoped to cut away enough of the stone to release the victim. His strength slowly ebbing, Collins devoted his conscious moments to directing workers who for more than forty hours have been chipping small flakes from rock in a futile effort to release Collins. Handicapped by a lack of tools and by a narrow passage the rescuers have made little headway but have kept at their task steadily. Water seeping in from the ice covered cliffs added to discomfort of Collins and the men who had squirmed through the crevice to take him food and to do what little else they could for him.

Collins Brothers, Marshall and Homer, themselves experienced cavemen, have worked incessantly since their brother was entombed.

Catch College Men In Auto Traftic

Other Arrests in Big Theft Case Expected in Short Time

Montreal, Feb. 2.—Of the ten alleged young auto thieves, college bred youths of Syracuse, who are reported to have sold eight stolen automobiles, taken from in front of the Syracuse and Onondaga Hotels in Syracuse, in Montreal, and district, three are now in custody in Syracuse, according to information received by the Merchants Association of Montreal, who are cooperating with the Syracuse police. They are being held without bail by order of Chief Martin Cardin of Syracuse.

The young men so far caught are: John Cummings, A. Heffernen and Mel. Tupin and as the police have a good "line" on the other seven it is likely that their arrest will shortly follow, and also that the five cars still unrecovered will be found.

Today detectives from Syracuse are due to arrive in this city in order to procure witnesses for the trial in that city. They will, in all probability return with their charges to be present in Syracuse on Monday.

It will be remembered that John Cummings, who is said to be the organizer of the gang, was charged along with his first associate Paul Hosler in the Montreal courts last year with having stolen automobiles from Mount Royal Place, alongside the Mount Royal Hotel. He and Hosler were held in Bordeaux jail for nearly four months while every effort was made to procure certain key witnesses. All attempts to locate these witnesses proved futile, however; and as no proof could be obtained against the youths they were let out at the year end.

The Auto Theft Bureau of the Merchants Association, which has won to itself considerable distinction during the past year or so for the quick recovery of stolen cars, expects to clean up the whole situation within a short time. The smuggled automobiles, Studebakers, Cadillacs, Oaklands and Packards—ranging in price when new from $2,000 to $5,000—were sold to Montrealers at $200. apiece.

PEACE PRINCIPLE GUIDES HERRIOTT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 2.—Peace was the guiding principal of true democracy. It had always been and would continue to be the inspiration of his government, Premier Herriot declared before an audience in the Trocadero Hall last night. The occasion was a meeting organized to advance the plan for erection of a monument to peace on one of the battlefields.

Name Deputation To See Seedmen

In Effort to Have Next Seed Show in Belleville

C. J. Panter and G. F. Reid were named a deputation to wait on the Ontario Department of Agriculture in an effort to secure the next Eastern Ontario Provincial Seed Show for Belleville, to be held under the auspices of the Belleville Agricultural Society.

This important deputation was appointed at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Belleville Agricultural Society held Saturday night. The prime purpose of the meeting was to secure this show for Belleville.

For the past number of years this show has been held at Ottawa.

The prevailing opinion in several Agricultural Societies is that it should be held in different places, and not be a fixture in one place as it has an added tendency to increase interest in seed competition if held in various interested centres.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. John Fahey yesterday received congratulations from her friends including Mayor Mikel, on having completed her 82 year of residence in this city of Belleville. She is probably the only citizen who has lived continuously 82 years, in this city. She is hale and hearty, her mind is bright and her memory good, and she described with deep interest, the many changes which have taken place in her long career.

When Mrs. Fahey was born, Belleville was a village, and was managed by a Board of Police Commission. Frances McAnnany was President, Jacob Bonter, Henry Corby, James McCurdy and James Whiteford were members. George Benjamin was village clerk, and John P. Morden was assessor, minister and street surveyor. William I. Taylor was constable.

FORTUNE IN RING IS THROW NAWAY

New York, Jan. 31.—Some fastidious mermaid flapper may be startling the social dowagers and debutantes of the briny deep today with a $23,000 solitaire ring, flaaunted in the face of her less fortunate sisters. The ring, property of Mrs. Edwin A. Shewan of Fifth Avenue, was accidentally thrown away last week, consigned to the ash-cart, dumped on a garbage scow and hauled out to sea for disposal, it was learned.

For two days fifteen members of the street Cleaning Department searched the heaps of refuse on the scow upon which the ring was supposed to have been dumped with other consignments from Fifth Avenue. But little hope was held out for the recovery of the jewelry. It hal been wrapped in a piece of white tissue paper, and the failureto find it in fifteen thousand square feet of miscellaneous debris was more or less expected. So the supposed $23,000 load was given to the mermaids and fishes.

We May Prepare For An Early Spring: Bear Could Not See His Shadow To-day

We will experience a short winter—from now on—and we will enjoy fine weather.

That is what the crystal glass seems to say today.

In fact that is what Big Bruno the bear said today right after twelve o'clock noon.

He slowly awakened in his comfortable bed this morning, experienced all the unpleasant results of awakening from a day snooze, rubbed his eyes, with the moist paw which he had been sucking and with a lazy growl, arose, stretched himself and sauntered out of doors to view the weather.

At no time during the morning could he see his shadow, so he knew that he would not have to return to his ill-ventilated lair for six weeks longer. He knew when he was unable to see his shaggy outline in shadow on the sparkling snow that the winter would be short and bad weather would not be too plentiful. "Mild weather and an early spring," he may have chuckled after taking the reading from Nature's thermometer.

If Candlemas Day be bright and clear
There'll be two winters in that year.

That is the age old adage in connection with Candlemas Day which is February 2nd.

CROSSED SNOW IN STOCKINGS TO GIVE ALARM

John Sargent, Age 13, Was Alone in Farm House

NEIGHBORS HELPED

Save House From Sure Destruction on Saturday Night

Indefatiguable work of neighbors who formed a real active bucket brigade saved the home of J. T. Sargent, well-known farmer living on the second concession of Sidney township Saturday evening about five o'clock, when the kitchen roof caught fire from an overheated stove pipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sargent had been to Belleville and were returning home. When about half a mile from their home they noticed flames leaping from the roof of their kitchen. Their oldest boy John, aged 13, was the only person left at the home when his parents left for this city, so Mr. Sargent urged up the horses and galloped them the balance of the way home. Deep snow drifts and pitch holes hindered the speed of the horses.

A strong southwest wind was sweeping over the countryside, and soon the flames were being carried across the road, the Sargent home being situated close to the road.

Before Mr. and Mrs. Sargent reached their burning home, neighbors had arrived, and as Mrs. Sargent related the story to the Intelligencer this afternoon, "the house seemed to be filled with men who were anxious to do anything in their power to squelch the blaze."

With buckets of water and snow which is in abundance in the country, they managed to confine the fire to the kitchen and also managed to save the home of Mr. George Short, who lives directly across the road from the Sargents. Burning embers as large as a man's fist were carried over to the verandah of the Short home and his straw stack was in constant jeopardy.

Another reason why the house did not burn under such adverse circumstances, is because of the metal roof which protected it and prevented the rapid spread of flames.

Just About Dusk

It was just becoming dusk Saturday evening when John Sargent junior, the only person about the farm noticed the smoke and fire. He was in the house at the time. Not waiting to put on his boots, he rushed across to the Short home to spread the alarm, in his stocking feet.

Before he returned however, Frank Grills, farmer living on the third concession of Sidney township, who was driving along the road, noticed the blaze and was the first fire fighter to arrive. Grills later said that he had smelled the soot burning when one mile from the burning house.

The stove pipes which had become red hot from an overheated stove, melted and fell to the floor in the kitchen igniting the interior. Already the roof was afire so the fire fighters were met with a serious situation. After they had extinguished the fire however it was found that the house was not seriously damaged except for the wall paper and plaster in the kitchen having been thrown about profusely. The ceiling was also damaged by fire and smoke.

The house is insured.

FEBRUARY

Februo is a Latin word meaning to cleanse. The early Romans had a feast day on which they went through the motions of expiating their many sins, and cleansing themselves for approaching religious festivals. They called this feast day februa and they named the month in which it came February.

In the earliest Roman calendar of 10 months there was no February. Perhaps the Romans were so busy committing sins that they had no time to say they were sorry for any of them.

But about 700 B.C., January was prefixed to the beginning of the year and February tacked on to the end of it. At that time February had 30 days.

About 450 B.C., the calendar was rearranged, placing the 12 months in their present order, but March was the beginning of the year.

Then came Julius Caesar in 46 B.C., and reformed the calendar, making the year begin Jan. 1. To perpetuate his exploits, he renamed Quintilis, originally the fifth month, as its name implies, but at that time the seventh, after himself, and took one day from February to give July 31 days, so it would be as long as any other month in the year. He provided, however, that February, thus left with 29 days, should have 30 days every fourth year.

Later Augustus Caesar wanted a month named after him, so he selected Sextilis, then the eighth month, but originally the sixth and called it August. To make this month as long as the one named for Julius, he took another day from February, leaving it only 28 days, except in leap years.

February is usually a most disagreeable month, a time of cold, snow and storms, mixed with warm sunny days that make proper dressing a perpetual puzzle and keep the doctors busy. Its special flower is the primrose and its gem symbol is the amethyst.

The ancient myth of Groundhog Day claims the second of the month. There is a baseless but unique legend that the groundhog leaves his hole on this day. If he sees his shadow, he returns to sleep six weeks longer while winter rages. If the day is cloudy we must prepare for an early spring!

On the fourteenth comes Saint Valentine's Day, originally set apart to honor a Roman martyr who died about 260 A.D., but now devoted largely to the interchange of sentimental expressions to the profit of florists and postcard dealers.

RED LIGHTS

The movement afoot to have the warning lights on the rear ends of motor cars changed from red to some other color, in the belief that the change would make for greater precaution and, as a natural consequence, for greater protection of life and property, is gaining supporters. This recommendation, made by the Hamilton public safety committee and endorsed by the chamber of commerce of that city, will, in the opinion of the Hamilton Spectator, undoubtedly have the backing of automobile clubs throughout the Dominion. Familiarity, we have been told, breeds contempt. Custom likewise stales. The change from red to another color in the illumination of the rear ends of automobiles is made necessary because we do not now associate this red light with danger. The result is that when one in confronted by a real danger the red warning flash is often unheeded.

The watchman holding a red lantern at a railway crossing is sometimes mistaken for the rear end of an automobile. The pile of building materials on the side of the road and the excavation in the roadway are called to the attention of motorists by red lights, the significance of which is lost in the maze of red lights of afterdark traffic.

If another color is substituted for red in the rear lamps of automobiles the public will again heed the red lights that warn them of danger ahead—and stop and look and listen. If one did that now every time one saw a red light after nightfall, one would have one's time fully occupied. In is a splendid suggestion that should commend itself to every thinking citizen.

Thirty Years Ago

The boy stood in the alley
He had left the burning leck,
And half the people that passed by
Got a snow ball in the neck.

American buyers have been picking up a few good horses here of late.

The hamlet of North Hastings Station has been renamed Madoc Junction.

January had eight days with a temperature of zero or lower, ranging fom 16 below to zero. The average temperature of the month must have been considerably below the average.

Houses that would rent from $6 to $8 are not to be had in town just now. Decidedly Belleville is progressing at present.

Miss Jennie V. Sinclai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Sinclair, and sister of Mr. D. V. Sinclair, of this city, who has spent 6 years in India as missionary has secured passage on the steamer Thames, ofthe Orient Steamship Co., and will sail on the 2nd of March. Miss Sinclair will visit Palestine, Egypt and the continent of Europe before coming home.

Would Change Rate Fixing Methods

Freight Problems of Two Winters Are Compared

Ottawa, Feb. 2—In view of the freight rate agitation in Canada and recent statements by Premier King that transportation questions would receive considerable attention by Parliament during the coming session, copies of a resolution by the National Industrial Traffic League of the United States, which have been received here, are of timely interest. Practically the same situation in regard to freight rates exists in the republic as in Canada at the present.

In the States the railways are regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but a committee of congress proposes, by legislative enactment, to make a general rate practically putting a period to the operation of the commission.

Something not unlike this demand is being agitated in Canada, certain political sections demanding that the whole structure of freight rates be dealt with by Parliament and on the basis of a system of equalization.

The National Industrial Traffic League is an organization of traffic managers of industrial concerns throughout the United States.

"Through them, all matters relating to rates and railways in which their companies may be interested, are handled. These men represent the shippers of the United States exclusively. There is no membership of railway men nor any kind of railway representation in their organization. They speak for shippers only. So that their resolution will be a matter of great interest to shippers and the public generally in Canada.

This is what the League has to say in regard to statutory rate making and congressional interference with the Interstate Commerce Commission

"The National Industrial Traffic League is unalterably opposed to statutory rate-making, or congressional interference with the freight rate structure of the country. It is likewise opposed to any effort on the part of other branches of the government to compel a wholesale revision of freight rates.

"The freight rate structure has been developed gradually through natural economic processes, and through findings and orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This development is still going on through these proper channels and maladjustments in rates are being ironed out in harmony with sound economic principles. Violent or sweeping general changes in rates have generally been and should always be avoided. Attempts to pursue such methods are fraught with grave danger to business and agricultural interests. Better results can be, and are being, secured by the orderly procedure followed by the Commission, in adjudicating individual complaints, the investigating from time to time of the rates upon particular commodities or in particular sections."

What the National Industrial Traffic League of the United States says on this subject, traffic authorities in Canada claim is directly aplicable to the situation in Canada to-day.

Press Opinions

COSTLIER OIL LINERS

(London Sunday Pictorial)

My queries about the increase of fares in the big Atlantic liners were answered the other day by a shipping man with the explanation that it is due to the growing cost of running these huge ships. Oil-burning ships are stated to be the chief cause of higher working expenses, fuel oil, of which a large liner burns up 900 tons a day, having risen in price by some 15s a ton. Most of the higher expense is apparently to be recouped by passenger traffic.

WHO SAYS "OH, WHAT'S THE USE?"

(Pensacola Journal)

A young man ran for the Legislature of Illinois and was badly swamped.

He next entered business, failed and spent seventeen years of his life paying up debts of a worthless partner.

He was in love with a beautiful young woman, to whom he became engaged—then she died.

Entering politics again, he ran for Congress and was badly defeated. He then tried to get an appointment to the United States land office, but failed.

Then he became a candidate for the Vice-Presidency of the United States and was once more defeated.

One bad failure after another—bad failures—great setbacks.

Then he became one of the greatest men of America—Abraham Lincoln.

Who says, "What's the Use?"

USES OF ADVERTISING

(London Tit-Bits)

Advertising has been much in the limelight lately, but it is questionable if any one ever put the case for it more succinctly than Mark Twain did on occasion.

When the great humonist was editor of a Missouri paper a reader wrote to him saying that he had found a spider in his copy of the current issue. Would the editor please say if this was a sign of good luck? To this Mark Twain replied:

"Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

THE ROADS OF QUEBEC

(Le Soleil, Quebec)

If foreign motor cars in their thousands enter the province of Quebec each summer, leaving their marks behind them, should we not pay strict attention to our good roads policy? The multitude of visitors who come from afar and traverse our country, pay their expenses as they go from place to place, in towns and villages, and thus distribute on their transit sums large enough to compensate us in full for the capital applied to the construction and maintenance of our highways. No man of intelligence can fail to appreciate these advantages which, in addition to many others, make our road system one of the most valuable elements in our provincial prosperity.

IN ITS INFANCY

Newspaperdom)

Advertising, a gigantic national industry, is in its infancy. Only a few years ago the railroads of the United newspaperman sold one railroad on the idea of running a time table in his paper. From that starting point until now the railroads of the United States invest more than ten millions a year for newspaper space alone.

The youngest of us can remember when bankers looked upon advertising with contempt. To-day, the banking institutions of the United States invest more than $100,000,000 a year for the purpose of selling securities to the public.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

The Illinois Idea

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ILLINOIS is in the process of developing a new idea.

It is to have a new State penitentiary which is to be at Stateville, some distance from Joliet. Its purpose is said to be "To provide for delinquents a system of training with a view to cure and ultimate prevention of crime, and to make them useful citizens." It is an attempt to get away from the old prison plan and design. Its object, as stated above, is the ultimate cure of the criminal.

Its program aims at the rehabilitation rather than the mere punitive handling or treatment of the criminal.

It is now generally thought that a prison is only a place where transgressors are sent to be confined and for safe keeping. But the Illinois idea is to design a prison to be such a place as shall develop character and alter the prisoner.

It is recognized that confinement within barriers is a necessity, but the rehabilitation of the man and his return to society as an asset is the final objective.

To attain this objective there must first be healthful living conditions. The second requirement is that of security of confinement. The third is segregation, and the fourth is the progressive merit system.

There are five grades of prisoners—A, B, C, D, E. Upon entering the prison all are placed in the C grade. It is possible for them to work up to B or A and down into D or E. They do this by their conduct and workmanship and also by their general disposition, mental attitude and effort. After continued progress toward improvement they come before the Parole Board and are eligible to parole at the appointed time.

The cell houses are built upon a new plan. Each house is circular and has a tower upon it from which the guard can have a clear view of interior of each cell at all times. There is also at his hand the means of locking and unlocking the cells by hydraulic pressure.

Each prisoner is given a cell by himself and his conditions of life in it are such as to vastly decrease the menace of tuberculosis, which has always been the dreaded disease of this penitentiary.

It is located about six and a half miles northwest of the old Joliet Prison It contains a yard of sixty-four acres surrounded by a smooth concrete wall thirty-three feet high. All the buildings are of fireproof construction and have been largely constructed by inmate labor under competent supervision.

The outcome of this idea will be worth studying from a prison standpoint.

GOING IN A BODY TO OTHER CHURCH

Lindsay, Feb. 2—At a largely attended meeting of the unionist members and adherents of St. Andrew's Church, held in the school room Friday night, the following resolution was passed unanimously by a standing vote:—

"In the assurance that the Cambridge Street congregation of the Methodist church will become a congregation of the United Church of Canada, the members and adherents of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church who are in favor of following the United Church, desire to join the congregation of the Cambridge Street Church as a Presbyterian group until the Act of Incorporation comes into effect on June 10th, whereupon action can be taken in accordance with the Basis of Union."

Committees were appointed to arrange for the continuance of the Sunday School and Mission work and the ladies organized for carrying on their part of the work.

The minister, Rev. F. H. McIntosh announced that he had tendered his resignation and that a meeting of the Presbytery had been called to consider the matter. He expects to be relieved in about two weeks. Those present decided to continue their attendance at St. Andrew's as long as Mr. McIntosh occupied the pulpit.

LOST IS FOUND

Peterboro, Ont., Jan. 31.—A valuable heifer lost by Jos. Flynn of King's Wharf, six weeks ago yesterday, poked its head out of a straw stack and saluted the startled farmer. Mr. Flynn had advertised for the animal, which evidently became buried at threshing time.

An overdraft of $26,442.31 for 1924 was reported at a meeting of the Hamilton Hospital Board.

To-day's Smile

While watching two of his men wheeling coal to the furnaces, says the Tatler, the foreman of a gas works noticed that one man took two barrow loads to the other man's one. After a time he went up to the slack one and said

"Do you know that your mate is doing twice as much work as you are?"

"Well, don't blame me, guv'nor replied the man. "I've told him about it."

Deaths And Funerals

HARRY HOLDEN

At Detroit on Saturday, Mr. Harry Holden, a former well-known Bellevillian passed away rather suddenly. Deceased who was about 65 years of age was born in this city but had for some years been prominent in business circles in Detroit. At the time of his demise he was general superintendent of the Parke Davis Chemical Company, one of the largest chemical works in the United States. Mr. Holden was a member of the Methodist Church. A widow and family survive. Mrs. Holden was formerly Miss Nellie Jones, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jones. The body will be brought here to-morrow for interment in Belleville cemetery.

DAVID CALNAN

On Saturday the funeral of the late Mr. David Calnan, of Ameliasburg township took place and was attended by many relatives and friends. At Victoria Methodist Church Rev. Mr. Seymour conducted a service and officiated at the interment at Albury cemetery. From relatives and friends many beautiful floral tributes were evidences of sympathy. Bearers were H. Montgomery, E. Storms, P. Catheral, S. Hennessy, M. P. Weese and W. Pope.

M. WILLIAM HUTCHINGS

Death terminated a two weeks illness which befel the late M. William Hutchins, when he passed away at his late residence at Point Anne on Sunday.

Deceased who was vere well known at Point Anne and in Belleville also owing to his associations with the Canada Cement Company at Point Anne for a period of twenty-two years would have reached his eighty-first year had he lived until May 31st next.

Just one month ago, the late William Hutchings was superannuated by the Canada Cement Company, and had retired. Deceased who was born in Newfoundland, was an Anglican in religion, was a member of an Eastern A.F.&A.M. Lodge and also a member of the Elks. His wife predeceased him nine years ago.

One daughter Mrs. Arthur Long of Point Anne and two sons Robert at home and Frank of Detroit survive.

Deceased was the first employe of the Canada Cement Company to benefit by superannuation and though more than eighty years of age, did not appear to be more than sixty. He was assistant editor at Plant number 5 for the Cement Bulletin.

SPOKE ON LIFE OF DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

Rev. A. S. Kerr was the speaker of the evening at the "Y's" Men's Club supper held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening last, and his subject was, "The Life of Lloyd George". Close attention was given the speaker who traced the wonderful rise of this leader and paid tribute to the uncle of Lloyd George the man who early fortified his nephew with those traits which have been his strength in every crisis.

Guests were W. H. Lyon, R. Home and W. Wickett, of Toronto, and J. Ceasley of England.

Newt Thompson, George Bailey and Bert Rofe contributed funny stories by request, which were mirth provocative to those through whose minds they "percolated."

JUMPED BEFORE TRAIN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 2—As a C.P.R. southbound train was passing through the outskirts of the city this morning, an unknown foreigner dashed in front of the engine and was decapitated. The train pulled up and the body was brought into the city in a baggage car and removed to the morgue.

Harry O'Brien, desk clerk at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton, died Thursday night in St. Joseph's Hospital. The late Mr. O'Brien had been with the Royal Connaught for some time. His home is in Ottawa.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Feb. 2—Wheat dropped today to within fraction of $2 a bushel May delivery. World shipments that reached huge total of 19,241,000 bushels for last week had depressing effect and so, too did lower quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. On other hand reports were current that Swedish Government was considering removal of import duty both on wheat and rye. Trade here was of only moderate volume and price changes early kept within ordinary limits. Opening which ranged from 5-8c to 1 7-8 c lower was followed by decline to $2.00 7-8 for May and then by something of rally. Speculative buying gave relative firmness to corn and oats. After opening at 1-4c to 1-2c off, corn market sagged little more and then scored slight gains all around. Oats started at range varying from 1-2 c decline to 3-8 c advance. Later market showed general upturn. Lower quotations on hogs pulled down provisions.

ONE DOLLAR A POUND FOR TEA PREDICTED BEFORE LONG

The tremendous increase in the popularity of tea as a beverage has been such that the producing countries have been unable to satisfy the demand. The price of tea has been steadily increasing for a number of years. Since, however, you can make from 250 to 300 cups of tea to the pound, even at the price of $1.00 the cost per cup is only one-third of a cent.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

She was in her riding-habit—in the garb which set off her perfectly graceful figure to its very best advantage.

As she entered, her mature and majestic loveliness struck him fully for the first time, and he remembered with a sudden vividness the words of one of the young fellows at the Norwegian inn. Yes, she was one of the loveliest of society women.

She started perceptibly at sight of him, so much so that she dropped her whip. He sprang forward and picked it up for her, and by the time he had given it her—few moments though the action required—she had recovered herself.

"Back so soon!" she said, giving him her hand, small and white, and warm. "This is a surprise! Don't the salmon bite, or rise, or whatever you call it? Or has it rained all the time, and have you been bored to death? I'm afraid you'll be bored just as much in London for everyone is leaving."

"The salmon were all right," he said still holding her hand. "I came back because I wanted to see you!"

"To see me?" she said, her eyes flashing and then drooping. "Well, you were just in time, for papa and I were off to the Continent."

"Then I have just come in time," he said.

"Let me give you some tea; sit down," she said, and gently tried to withdraw her hand, but he held it firmly.

"Never mind the tea, Lady Grace," he said with something of his old lightheartedness. "You shall give me—or refuse me—a cup after you have heard what I have to say."

"And what have you to say that is more important than tea?" she retorted in a light tone, which was belied by the quiver on her lips.

"I have come to ask you to be my wife," he said, quietly.

She put her left hand to her bosom and her beautiful eyes dilated. If joy always killed, then Lady Grace would have fallen dead at Cecil Neville's feet that moment; but it is sorrow, not joy that kills, and instead of falling, she leaned towards him with a tremulous sigh. It was almost too good to be believed! Spencer Churchill had told her that it would come but she had always doubted it; and now—it had come! He was here. Hers!—he, whom she had grown to love—the man for whom she had plotted, and risked so much, even her social good name—was hers!

It was a proud, and ecstatic moment; no wonder she prolonged it.

"What do you say?" he said, still holding her hand, his grave voice as much unlike an ardent lover's as it is possible to imagine; and yet it was like music to her! "I know I am not worthy to win so great a prize, but I will do my best to make you happy."

"And—and you love me?" she asked.

It was a dangerous question, but she was a woman, and longed to hear the magic words which every woman loves to hear from the lips of the man she loves.

He paused imperceptibly.

"Who could do anything but love you, dear Grace!" he replied. "Will you be my wife? I will try and make you happy, indeed I will! What do you say?"

Her soft, warm fingers closed on his, and she leaned towards him involuntarily.

"If you are sure"—she murmured—"if you are sure you want me to say 'yes'———"

"Indeed I do!" he responded. "I have come all the way from Norway in the hope that you would."

"Then I will say—'yes!'" she breathed, and her head sank upon his breast. "You will be good to me—Cecil?"

"I will be good to you," he responded and he put his arm round her and kissed her in lover-wise, but not— ah, not!—with the passionate kisses which he had rained upon the lips and eyes, and hair of Doris Marlowe!

ANDERSON—TAYLOR

Kingston, Feb. 2.—The marriage took place quietly at 1.30 o'clock Saturday at the principal's residence, Queen's University, of Margaret Rachel, second daughter of Principal R. Bruce Taylor, to Alexander Gordon Anderson, Montreal, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Anderson, Buckingham, Que. The ceremony was performed inthe drawing room, the above being banked with ferns and spring flowers in shades of yellow and blue. Rev. G. A. Brown, Chalmers church, officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of cream cut velvet made of medieval lines, with a cluster of orange blossoms at one side. Her train, which had been her mother's, was of heavy cream colored satin, falling from the shoulders, embroidered with pearls and lined with cloth of silver. Her tulle veil was arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and roses mixed with purple and white heather from Scotland.

She was attended by her younger sister, Lois, who wore a shot green and silver taffeta frock and carried a colonial bouquet of violets and daffodils tied with pink ribbon. The best man was Walter Windeyer, of Toronto. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Grant Lochhead of Ottawa. During the signing of the register Miss Leslie Taylor played a violin solo.

CHAPTER XXIX.

WICKED LORD STOYLE

The news spread, as such news will, and in a day or two all London knew, through the gossip-mongers and the society papers, that Lord Cecil Neville, the heir to the marquisate of Stoyle, had proposed to Lady Grace.

"So that there was something in that story of her going to his rooms, you see!" envious mothers whispered behind their fans.

And the following morning Cecil Neville received a short message from the marquis, who was staying at the big house in Grosvenor Square, requesting that Cecil would come and see him.

Cecil went, and found his lordship seated by the window of his own room, looking at the passers-by as if he were a judge just donning the black cap. His thin lips drew together with a smile that was more like a sneer as he gave Cecil a couple of cold fingers.

"So you've come to your senses at last?" was his amiable greeting.

Lord Cecil smiled rather grimly.

"I suppose you allude to my engagement to Lady Grace, sir?" he said. "I was coming to call on you when your message reached me."

"Ah! Well, I congratulate you, and I wish her every happiness," remarked the marquis by way of a blessing, and his tone said quite plainly: "But I don't think she'll get it."

"Thank, you, sir," said Lord Cecil.

"Yes, I think you are a confoundedly lucky fellow," continued the marquis, "especially as you nearly got into the worst mess a man can get into. I suppose that affair turned out as I expected? The wench jilted you—oh, I don't want to know any particulars, they wouldn't interest me; but I may be permitted to express a hope that you have completely washed your hands of the whole affair, and that if the girl turns up again, there will be no nonsense. Grace is far too good for you, and any trick of that kind."

"If I understand you, my lord——" Then he stopped. "No, sir, we won't quarrel today. As you say that—that affair is over and done with, and if Miss Marlowe were to come back, I promise that I will not, as you delicately suggest, desert Lady Grace for her."

"Yes, that's what I hinted," said the marquis, coolly. "I'm glad to hear there's no danger of it. Men are such fools—young ones especially—that one never knows."

"I may be a fool, but I'm not a black guard!" said Cecil, almost beside himself.

"I hope not," assented the marquis, deliberately, "and now I suppose you mean to have the marriage quickly?"

"That rests entirely with Lady Grace," said Lord Cecil.

LOW HEELS FAIL TO PLEASE

London, Feb. 2.—Those society women who followed the latest dictate of fashion and took to low heel shoes have abandoned them and are returning to high heels again. Wearers of the low heels have not only lost some of their ankle charm, say writers in the women's columns, but have suffered from "ankle neuralgia," and have decided to sacrifice comfort in the low heel for the beauty and elegance of the higher shoe.

Best Minstrel Man Must Act Natural

Harvey Has Clever Collection To Offer Here To-night

The modern minstrelsy, evolved from the colored race. The negro if he can be restrained from becoming self-conscious makes the best minstrel man. Any person is sure of a good laugh if they can but be around a group of negroes thirty minutes without them knowing they are near because the colored man is then perfectly natural.

There have been many colored minstrel shows which were unsatisfactory in their entertainment because the colored performers were self-conscious and did not act natural. Mr. R. M. Harvey, a well-known circus man undertook the task of assembling a company of clever colored people who were composed who were capable of always remaining natural—even on the stage.

This company will be at Griffin's Opera House, Monday night, Feb. 2.

Viola Dana Has Joined Paramount

Playing in "Merton of the Movies" At Belle Theatre

Viola Dana, for eight years a star in her own right, makes her debut in Paramount pictures in "Merton of the Movies."

And through a curious co-incidence Glenn Hunter, the "Merton" of the photoplay made "Merton of the Movies" his first appearance in the West

Although each had known of the other for years and had mutual friends, they met for the first time when Hunter stepped from a transcontinental train at Los Angeles.

And a week later they had exchanged their first kiss. It happened, of course, on one of the stages at the Famous Players-Lasky studio James Cruze who made "The Covered Wagon" and other successes and the director of "Merton" ordered them to do it. It was recorded on the film.

Cruze has selected an especially strong cast for this great story of youthful pathos and laughter. Besides Hunter and Miss Dana, the players include De Witt Jennings, Elliott Roth, Luke Cosgrave, Gale Henry, Charles Sellon, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales, Frank Jonasson and Eleanor Lawson.

"Merton of the Movies" was originally a novel by Harry Leon Wilson and later became a stage play by Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman. Hunter made his first great success in the stage play. Walter Woods wrote the film continuity. Karl Brown is supervising photography.

The story revolves around the experiences—tragic, funny and amorous—of a small-town youth who is movie struck and goes to Hollywood to make his fortune in the pictures. Miss Dana has an especially strong part as the sophisticated little actress who "mothers" him and eventually forces him against his will to achieve his ambition.

"Merton" comes to the Belle Theatre tonight for a three days' run.

Darkens Hair So Naturally No One Knows

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy

Treat Mumps Seriously

Dr. T. W. G. McKay, of Oshawa, commenting on the few cases of Mumps being reported to the Board, said that people did not fully understand that mumps and whooping cough were contagious diseases and required medical attention. He advocated social work among children of pre school age, when the time was opportune to save the health, rather than when in the teen years. The doctor quoted several cases recently come to his attention where cases of Mumps neglected in childhood had caused serious results.

He pressed that Mumps be treated seriously with a view of the future health of the child and man.

Eight Was Popular Number

Prescott, Feb. 2—At the annual meeting of the Presbyterian church the treasurer's report showed the receipts $4,258; expenditures, $4,223, with a balance on the right side of $35.

A strange coincidence in connection with the report from the session was that during the year there were eight baptisims, eight marrriages, eight deaths, and eight new members added to the roll. It was decided to postpone the election of officers for one month.

Big Fire at Kingston

At 7.57 o'clock Friday evening simultaneous alarms reached the upper and lower fire stations, announcing a fire at Robertson's Limited, the Princess street, crockery store at Kingston. Those who discovered the fire were waiting for a taxi at the stand nearby and smelled the smoke. At that time, smoke was issuing from the windows on the fourth floor of of the building and flames were already visible in the brick store room at the rear. Eight lines of hose were run out, four from the pumper, two from the hydrant at King and Princess, one each from the corner of Wellington and Queen and from half way up the next block on Queen.

From the first it was a hopeless fire to cope with, and only the unusually well built walls kept it from spreading to the adjoining buildings. At 9 o'clock the roof fell in and later the top floor with the debris of the roof collapsed to the second floor where it lodged.

The building is owned by Robertson's Limited, who bought it some years ago from the Synod of Ontario for twenty-five thousand dollars. The probable cause of the fire has not yet been discovered and the firemen worked all night and had little time to make investigations. The pump ran continuously for eight hours. There were no injuries to any of the fire fighters.

Accident Victim

Deseronto, Feb. 2.—The funeral of the late Patrick Fitzgerald took place from his home, at Read, on Wednesday morning, Rev. Father MacCarthy officiating. High mass was sung at St. Charles Church and the body placed in the vault to await interment in the parish burial ground in the spring.

The death of Mr. Fitzgerald came as a great shock to the neighborhood and the nature of his passing out accentuated the painfulness of his demise. He had left his home, on Sunday afternoon, to visit two Mohawks, who were employed by Thomas Drummey, and was not seen after until his body was found in the swamp at the west end of the 5th con. line on Monday. The steps which led to the discovery of his body were when Patrick Cronin, of the 8th con., Tyendinaga was on his way to Deseronto on Monday morning and in passing over the C. P. R. railway just north of Lonsdale found a cap on the road. He picked this up and brought it to Deseronto and thinking something tragic might be behind the incident he sought Chief of Police Bowen gave him the cap and informed him of the circumstances in which it was found.

Call to Toronto Rector

Cobourg, Feb. 2.—The advisory board of St. Peter's Anglican church here, has extended a call to the Rev. T. G. Wallace, St. Stephen's Church, Toronto, to become rector of St. Peter's church to succeed Canon F. J. Sawers, who is leaving Cobourg the first of March to assume charge o fthe parish of St. Matthew's, Toronto.

In Favor of Union

Oshawa Presbyterian church voted in favor of entering the United Church by 346 votes to 169 with 6 spoiled ballots. Of the total possible vote of 701 but 521 were cast.

Annual Meeting

Peterboro, Feb. 2.—The annual meeting of the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association was held Friday night. After the regular supper of the senior department, the representatives of the Belleville and Oshawa volleyball teams who took part in the Central Ontario volleyball tournament were introduced by the chairman, Mr. J.F.H. Wallace, Mr. Bromfield, of the Oshawa Y.M.C.A., and Mr. Phil Brockel of Belleville, both exressed their thanks for the hospitable treatment they had received, and mentioned what regret it had given them to beat their hosts in the tournament. Mr. G. C. Scott, of the Peterboro team, said that they had every hope of reversing the verdict in the next tournament. After community singing, led by Alex. Donnelly, with Fred Chenhall at the piano, Mr. Wallace turned the meeting over to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, president of the association. Mr. Gillespie announced that it was his tenth meeting as president and his fifteenth as a member of the board.

Broke Quarantine

Oshawa, Feb. 2.—For breaking quarantine, Leon Puelio was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Hind. charged by the local Board of Health. As a sequel to it all the Board have been advised that George E. Pearce, 207 Simcoe street south is holding the City of Oshawa responsible of the quarantine by Puelio, who roomed at his place, and by reason of which, it is claimed that the young son of Mr. Pearce contracted the mumps. J. P. Mangan is acting for the plaintiff and officially served notice on the Board of Health who have taken no action in the matter, but filed the correspondence.

Sanitary Insector D. Hubbell told the Board of the determined efforts to confine Puelio to his room, and also of his determined efforts to break quarantine and roamed around the Pearce home and left the house and went visiting, and of his arrest by the local police on his complaint.

Building Permits

Building permits in January in Oshawa have been low as is expected but despite the cold weather there has been some building going on. In all, so far this month with to-day's permits to be added, $7,720 have been issued which is a good showing for this season of the year.

Visit Curling Rink

The members of the County Council spent a pleasant afternoon and evening at Oshawa Thursday when they played against a local curling team and were entertained by Mr. John Stacey following the match at the Oshawa Curling Club. Among the visitors who participated in the games were Warden John Ross, Capt. Birchem, Reeve, of Beaverton, Mr. C. Sweetman, Reeve of Scugog, and A. Osborne, Reeve of Cannington. The local team composed of John Stacey, skip L. R. Luke, D. A. J. Swanson and A. M. Germond, won from the visitors after a hard tussle by a very small margin. The county men were then the guests of Mr. Stacey to an oyster supper which was a decided success.

Take Salts If Rheumatism Is Bothering You

TELLS RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS TO TAKE SALTS TO GET RID OF TOXIC ACID.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the points and muscles, causing stiffness, sorenes and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salt is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Calomel To-night

HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

No more headaches, indigestion, foul breath, constipation, kidney pains if you will but follow a doctors advice by taking two Tanol Calomel Tablets tonight and a good drink of hot water in the morning to wash from the system all the previous day's poisons and wastes before more food is taken in. Tanol Calomel is harmless acts on every organ of the body, stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, no salts or seidlitz are necessary, does not nauseate like ordinary calomel. Gt a few of these tablets from your druggist and you will be surprised how much better they will make you feel. These inexpensive tablets can be obtained at McKeowns Drug Store.

Professor Gives Guide For Lazy

Corner Loafer Might Better Stay in Bed at Home

Washington, Feb. 2.—A guide by which lazy people can figure out just what motions are effort-saving and what postures will tire them least is provided in a report by Dr. Francis G. Benedict, director of the Carnegie Institution's Nutrition Laboratory.

By a series of tests conducted at the laboratory in Boston and described by Dr. Benedict in a communication to institution headquarters here, the amount of energy required for various motions of the body has been determined on the basis of the amount of heat each produces.

The corner loafer, Dr. Benedict says, might better stay at home in bed, since it costs 10 per cent more energy to stand up than lie down.

"The heat produced in 24 hours in a human body," the report continues, "is made up, first, of an irreducible minimum going on all the time to maintain the fires of life at a normal rate, when in complete repose in bed. To sit quietly in a chair calls for practically no increase, but there is an increase of 10 per cent when standing.

"Changes in posture make a great difference. Some persons actually require 40 per cent more energy to stand than to lie, but the best and most comfortable pose, with a minimum of sway or balancing, such as would be assumed by an artist's model, results in the smallest increase of heat. Evidently skill is required to learn how to stand easily and most effectively.

"Many small movements may be expressed in heat units. If when lying down one brings the hand to the forehead and back, as in a military salute, one such movement each minute actually raises the heat output about 1 per cent and with delicate new instruments this increase can be accurately measured. Crossing or uncrossing the legs while lying increases the heat output five times more than moving the arm.

"From this one can easily see that every little movement has a calorie of its own until, when working to the limit of human endurance, a man may increase his normal heat output 1,000 per cent."

Test Esperanto In Ten Places

Course Will Be Offered From January to March

Berlin, Feb. 2.—Esperanto is being given a thorough test as a business language under the auspices of the British Esperanto Committee and the Universala Esperanto Asocio. From January 1 of this year until March 31, there will be courses offered to young business men in Germany, France, England, Holland, Italy, Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

There will be 20 students in each country. The course will consist of 25 lessons and at its conclusion the young men will exchange letters with each other in Esperanto on business subjects.

It is the contention of the leading Esperantists that business knowledge of the language can be acquired so readily that it is the ideal means for international communication.

Ottawa Bowlers Lost On Saturday

C.N.R. Men of Belleville Too Good for the Visitors

The Recreation alleys held one of their largest crowds on Saturday night when three Ottawa bowling teams engaged three local teams from the Canadian National Railways, the visitors losing the three games.

It was a case of losing in the hockey match that was staged at Arnott's arena earlier in the evening and getting even in the bowling later. All three local teams rolled some very good scores, the closest score being the one headed by M. P. Duff and Manners. Mr. Duff's team rolled 2648 against Ottawa's 2545. The highest total score was rolled by Mr. McMillan's team giving the Ottawa team a good trimming. Mr. Mac's team rolling 2656 and Ottawa 2001. The other team was headed by N. P. North. This team won by 127 pins.

Mr. McMillan will be taking the boys down to Ottawa in the near future for a return game. The Ottawa boys say that they will reverse the score down on their own alleys. The visitors were impressed with the local alleys, one member said that although Ottawa is a much larger place, their alleys were not as good.

After the games were over all the bowlers were invited up to Mr. and Mrs. N. P. North's home where a happy hour was spent before train time. Quite a number of the men were accompanied by their wives on the trip. The following are the players and scores:

Ottawa C.N.R. Team Played Good Hockey

Belleville Men Missed Armstrong Hagerman and Wardhough, However

Local C. N. R. teams did not fare well Saturday. On top of the Apprentice team's defeat at the hands of Stratford, the team representing the terminal, were defeated by Ottawa C.N.R., 2-1. The locals were without the services of Hagerman, Armstrong and Wardhaugh. However credit can not be taken from Ottawa for their win as they have a mighty nice team and their two goals were well earned O. Moran getting the first counter in the second period, the result of a nice rush completed by drawing Buskard aside and flipping the disc into the twine.

The other score for Ottawa was from the stick of Nick Smith about two minutes before the final gong breaking the 1-1 deadlock and winning the game.

In the third period Alex Weir scored Belleville's lone tally with a back hand shot from near the penalty box For Ottawa, Moran and Smith looked the best and Westface in goal took care of his work in good style. Buskard McNeil, Weir and Symons did well for the locals.

The ice was not in good condition for hockey after the afternoon skating Only on a few occasions could the players carry the puck successfully.

Stan Nurse handled the game in a satisfactory manner. It was clean hockey and there were not many trips to the penalty box.

The return game will be played at the Auditorium Ottawa, where the boys will have a chance to settle their argument on artificial ice The line-up

Ottawa—Goal, Westfall; defence, Johnson and Drew; centre, O. Moran wings N. Smith, and G. Brown; subs Seaner and Murray.

Belleville—Goal, Buskard; defence, V. Weir and McNeil; centre, Riggs; wings, Symons and Seeney; subs., A. Weir.

MEET TO-DAY FOR CONSOLATION LOOP

Port Hope, Feb. 2.—Mr. P. L. Brown, convener of group No. 1 consolation series has called a meeting for two o'clock at the Queen's Hotel here on Monday, February 2nd. Belleville, Bowmanville and Port Hope are the teams in group one and it will give the hockey fans some real games to witness yet before the season is over. It is some years since the Belleville team and the Ontarios have clashed and on their last meeting Belleville crew came out the winner. The Ontarios are looking for revenge for that defeat. The Bowmanville team is also going big guns and they promise to make Port Hope and Belleville step lively to beat them. We are certain of seeing some real games and possibly as good as if we had won the group championship. The Ontarios are all in the best of shape and are going into this consolation series if possible. This consolation series works out just as important as the first grouping as the winner of it will certainly be a close second to the intermediate champions and possibly could take the measure of the champions. Some people imagine that the series stops after the winner is decided in the group but not so the team winning group No. 1 will go right on and play the winner of group No. 2 and so on.

FORM LEAGUE FOR DEAF MEN ONLY

Amsterdam, Holland, Feb. 2.—A sporting league exclusively for the deaf has been formed simultaneously both here and in Rotterdam. The members will specialize in football and a match between Amsterdam and Rotterdam elevens has been arranged for next Easter Monday. From the two deaf teams a national eleven will be selected which is to meet a Belgian team of deaf players at Antwerp next May.

Barbers Accept Challenge Issued

Hair Pullers Are to Tackle Intelligencer This Week

The Intelligencer hockey team recently advertised to see whether or not they could find a hockey team in town which was worse than theirs. They have today located an aggregation which admits it. At least the manager of the new found team admits it on behalf of his team which is made up of barbers, travellers and others inclined to hockey.

Peter Belnap is manager of "The Mongrels" as they are known, and Ab Wonnacott is captain, both being active members of the team.

Some night this week between the hours om nine and ten o'clock, those two teams will clash at the Turnbull street rink the same amphitheatre in which teams like Kingston and Brockville played, for the "Mongrels" have openly challenged the Intelligencer outfit to a sixty minute game with ten minute rest periods between each go.

The "Mongrels" will be searched for razors before leaving their dressing room and the "New-dogs" will be "frisked" for slugs—metal slugs.

The Intelligencer outfit is rounding in to form and already several of their players are quite sound. All they lack is a brave man for the enviable position of goal minder. All the big fellows admit they are not brave and wish to play on the forward line, but Captain Cook him self states today that they may go into action without a net guardian as it is doubtful in his mind if his services will be needed. The defense men on the "News' dogs" team are married and play a wonderfully effective, defensive battle. The other players are scoring points each evening in the matrimonial arena and hope to poke the puck by Belnap's custodian no matter if he is big enough to eat hay.

As arrangements are rather indefinite to date, fans may know that the game is on when they hear unearthly war whoops emanating from the Arnott arena one of those still evenings.

WINNIPEG FUTURES

Hank Gowdy Had Dramatic Career

First Major Leaguer to Join The Colors During War

New York, Feb. 2.—Hank Gowdy, veteran backstop of the New York Giants, whose play figured largely in the 1924 pennant drive of the McGraw men, has had one of the most dramatic careers of any diamond hero.

First springing to fame a decade ago in the memorable world's series in which the Boston Braves toppled the mighty Philadelphia Athletics, Gowdy gained more attention through his war record, then came back last season to help the Giants win their fourth straight pennant and give the Washington Senators a desperate world's series battle.

Gowdy was the first major league player to join the colors when the United States declared war on Germany. He enlisted as a buck private but rose to the rank of sergeant, served with distinction and had the honor of having the government name one of its largest athletic fields "Gowdy Field."

Gowdy was born in Columbus, O., 33 years ago. Like all American boys he came to love the national pastime as a youth and he dreamed of world's series heroes and the fascinating applause of the multitudes when he was a growing youth in his early teens.

His first organized baseball assignment was with the Lancaster team of the Ohio State League in 1908. Then he shipped to the Southwest when Dallas sought his services. He received his first big league call in 1910 when the Giants purchased him from Texas. But he was traded to Boston the same year without a trial.

Boston farmed Gowdy to the Buffalo Internationals and then called him back in 1914. Baseball history is full of the accounts of Gowdy's part with George Stallings' "Miracle team," which dashed the championship ambitions of the Athletics and won a world's title in four successive games.

During the 1914 playing campaign Gowdy batted only .243 for the Braves, yet he came up in the world's series against the veterans of Connie Mack's staff, Coombs, Plank and Bender, and hit .545. His timely batting won the series for the Braves and the records show Gowdy as the 1914 hero.

During his nine years at Boston, Gowdy hit for a grand average of .260. He came back to the Giants again in 1923 and in his first year in metropolitan harness Gowdy hit for an average of .325, the greatest in his career.

Gowdy stepped on his mask in a crisis of the seventh game of the 1924 world's series with Washington and missed the foul ball that gave the Senators another chance and the series. But this mishap, tragic though it was, failed to dim Gowdy's previous good work.

Train Hit Car Driven on Tracks

Chatham Butcher and Companion Have Narrow Escape

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 31—The icy pavement on Raleigh Street prevented a serious if not fatal accident Friday when a C.P.R. passenger train struck an auto driven by George Stacey, butcher, of this city. Mr. Stacey, accompanied by William Edmundson, had driven up near the tracks and stopped to ascertain whether or not a train was approaching. Stacey looked towards the East and Edmundson looked in the opposite direction. The former started his car when the latter said "Go Ahead," but Edmundson had failed to notice the train approaching from the West, due, he claims, to a the car reached the crossing the train the car reached the crosing the train rushed over it, the cylinder head on the locomotive striking the motor vehicle and whirled it completely around The front end of the motor car was badly damaged.

Charles, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barry, had a narrow escape when he ran in front of a motor car driven by T. Rayment, jr., The machine knocked him down, but fortunately the lad escaped with minor bruises and scratches about the body and face.

ANCIENT WILL IS READ EVERY YEAR

London, Feb. 2—One of the most ancient memorial services held annually in London is that of the Worshipful Company of Coopers. It was originated by the terms of the will of Henry Clicker, dated May 10, 1573, which provided 'that the Master and Wardens of the Company of Coopers after ye decease of my wife, shall upon New Year's Day, at afternoon yearly for ever, at a reasonable hour in the church of St. Michaels in Crooked Lane, in London, provide some learned man to make sermon and he to have for his pains six shillings."

Since the death of the founder, however, this sum has been increased to 42 shillings. In accordance with the annual custom, the will, which abounds in small requests set out in quaintly phrased language, was read the close of the service by the clerk of the Coopers Company.

Herrin, Ill.— Anti-Klan warfare breaks out again, Government agent, slain.

A dreary place would be this earth
Were there no little people in it,
The song of life would lose its mirth
Were there no children to begin it.

To Baby

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.
Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.
What makes the light in them sparkle ....and spin?
Where did you get the little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.
What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than anyone knows.
Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.
Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke and it came out to hear
Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.
Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherubs' wings.
How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me and so I grew.
And how did you come to us my dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here

WOMEN ARRANGING WORLD CONFERENCE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 2.—Uniting for "peace, purity and prohibition" for the world, women in more than 50 countries are laying plans for the triennial convention of the World Women's Christian Temperance Union to be held in Edinburgh, Scotland, June 19 to 24. "We believe this will be the best convention we have ever had," Miss Anna Adams Gordon, president of the world W.C.T.U., said in an interview. Miss Gordon was already a leader in the world movement when temperance unions of the world met in Edinburgh in 1900. "Women are coming to the convention from South Africa, New Zealand, India and Australia. The United States, Canada and European countries will have large delegations."

NEW RECORD IN PAPER PRODUCTION

Montreal, Janu. 31—A new continental record of 2,900,000 tons of newsprint paper production was made in North America in 1924, with Canada as the determining factor in the increase over the previous year, said R. S. Kellogg at the annual meeting of Newsprint Service Bureau yesterday.

The United States mills made 1,471,000 tons of newsprint in 1924, a decrease of 14,000 tons from 1923 and of 40,000 tons from the high mark of 1920. Canadian newsprint production amounted to 1,353,000 tons, an increase of 87,000 tons from 1923, and 54 per cent. more than in 1920.

The new modern newsprint mill in Mexico made a little over 11,000 tons, and a similar mill in Newfoundland contributed 65,000 tons to the continental total, which exceeded 60 per cent. of the world production of this essential commodity.

First—Stop Pain Don't suffer for an hour

When pain comes, stop it. Be ever ready to stop it quickly night or day. Don't suffer any pain which a moment of rubbing can stop.

These include pains allied to rheumatism, to soreness, to lameness, to chest colds. They can be stopped at once. For 65 years they have ben stopped by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

As for curing the cause of the trouble. Nature usually does that. But don't suffer while you wait. St. Jacobs Oil causes counter irritation. Then it draws the blood to the surface to relieve congestion. In a minute or two you feel that the pain has ebbed. You rejoice in relief.

Perhaps there are other ways. But this is the one way that millions have used—have proved it for 65 years. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances when you know that nothing can be better?

Don't wait for an emergency. It may mean a night of pain. Have St. Jacobs Oil ever ready. Apply it as soon as you feel a pain, or a chest cold. Be ready to soothe it, to check it at once. There will never be a better way. Go get it now to be prepared when pain comes. It may save to you and yours many unhappy hours.

COLLINS STILL PINNED UNDER HUGE BOULDER

Dripping Water Provides Torture Chamber of Middle Ages

ENTERTAIN HOPE YET

Have Moved Cave Man Five Inches in Four Days

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 3.—Pallid of face, his lips purple and his strength fast ebbing, Floyd Collins early to-day lay in a mole-like hole in a sand cave waiting for someone, something to release his foot, held down by a huge boulder which fell upon it when he was exploring the cave Friday morning.

For twenty-four hours he was alone a constant drip of water from melting snow and ice on surface growing more deadly hour by hour.

Saturday he was found, and since that time scores of men have tried to rescue him. Persons all over the country have been trying to help too, for many suggestions have been received by telegraph, but the ingenuity of man has gone for naught. In narrow crevice hardly large enough for small man to turn though, the boulder, immovable, has held Collins while a constant dripping of water has created a torture chamber such as was known only in ages past.

Peck With Chisels

For hours men have pecked away at the boulder with cold chisels, others have tugged at a rope fastened about the body of the victim. He has been moved five inches in four days. But hopes, stronger than the jaded bodies of the rescuers, held out to-day, and renewed efforts were being made to pull Collins from his living tomb. Apparently only the most primitive methods will be succesful if anything is to be.

A compressed air drill was rushed here from Louisville, but experienced cave men said there was grave danger that vibration would loosen other rock and cause the narrow passage to collapse, so it was not used.

Still optimistic, but himself facing complete breakdown, Collins has entered into any scheme to extract him from the vice nature created for one who would dare to explore her subterranean caverns. Once before he had been a prisoner for two days when another large boulder fell and blocked his egress from crystal cave, after he had penetated new found passages.

Mayor Mikel Plans For Belleville Fair

And Urges Action in Effort To Secure Ploughing Match

At the City Council meeting last evening, Mayor Mikel in referring to the fair to be held here this year, thought it would not only be a novelty, but would attract thousands of visitors if it were made free. The expenses incurred in giving prizes should in his opinion be met by good prices being obtained for privileges. Good attractions could be secured and this would mean considerable revenue. This was a matter that should be investigated.

His Worship also referred to the fact that there had not as yet been any application made to secure the International ploughing matches here He believed it could be secured if it was gone after, but up to the present no organization had taken hold of it. He has placed the matter before the County Council and fair board also the City Council, co-operation was essential if we desired to secure the event. It certainly had a value to the city near which it is held.

The matter will no doubt receive the attention of the Council, and other organizations should assist in the endeavor to have the annual match take place in this vicinity.

GIGANTIC FLAMES RISING FROM WELL

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Baku, Feb. 3.—Twenty-five persons were suffocated and fifteen others injured by the ignition of the largest naphtha well here. The whole city is aglow from a gigantic flame issuing from the well, which is producing a roar like that of a huge blast furnace. The tunnel has been bored forty feet deep to divert the flow of naphtha to other channels. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Find Junk Dealer Was Not Guilty

He was Charged With Receiving Stolen Goods

Sam Bolko, Russian junk dealer here charged with receiving goods, knowing them to be stolen, was found not guilty by Judge G. E. Deroche, in County Criminal court this morning, and was discharged. The goods in question, sixty-four pounds of copper clippings was ordered to be returned to the owner, Abraham Safe, who had subsequently purchased the bag of clippings from Bolko.

Bolko, it will be remembered was charged with having purchased 64 pounds of copper clippings from William Laney and Frank Wilson, who admitted having stolen them from the new Albert College early last summer. Bolko paid $6 for the metal later selling it to Safe for ten cents per pound. Police seized the metal from Safe and laid the information against Bolko.

Bolko on the stand today, denied that he knew the goods had been stolen and Jake Mattis who was present at Bolko's place when Laney and Wilson, with another boy, drove up in a car and talked to Bolko, told of Bolko swearing and saying that he would not buy any more stuff from them.

"It would be unsafe to convict on the evidence," explained Judge Deroche. "There is no doubt the goods were stolen but evidence is not sufficient to show that Bolko had knowledge of the goods having been stolen, Bolko had a suspicion probably that the goods were stolen, which should have put him on his guard, but when the price which he paid is taken into consideration, it does not indicate the attitude of most persons who buy stolen goods, who always try to "beat down" the vendor of the stolen goods.

Yankee Newton Is Given Three Years

Sentence Imposed on Men Who Broke Into Ritchie Store

Harold Gordon "Yankee" Newton was sentenced to serve three years in Portsmouth penitentiary on charges of breaking and entering the Ritchie Company store, 266-274 Front street, and taking therefrom goods valued at more than $800.

He was also sentenced to serve two years on similar charges in the case of the Belleville Shoe Company, 264 Front street, when goods valued at more than $100 were taken, but both sentences are to run concurrently, so Newton will really serve three years minus whatever deductions are possible by law for good conduct and behaviour.

Magistrate Masson imposed the sentence in police court this morning at 10.30 o'clock.

Newton, who was not represented by counsel, still maintained that he was not the ring leader of the quartette o f which he is the last one to be sentenced, and that especially of which he is th elast one to be sentenced, and that especially in the case of the Belleville Shoe Company, he arrived there after the other boys had entered the store.

His plea was accepted by the bench though doubt was at first felt in this connection.

"I will not give you any lecture," explained the magistrate, "for I do not believe that it would be of any use." Newton accepted the sentence calmly.

The imposition of this morning's sentence closes the big burglary perpetrated here last autumn. Frank Wilson and Babcock were each sentenced to serve eight years in Portsmouth, John Wilson, one year at the Reformatory and Newton's sentence places the fourth member of the gang in custody.

BUILDING HERE IN LAST YEAR SHOWS INCREASE

One of many Interesting Features in Engineer's Report

GIVEN TO ALDERMEN

Illuminating Comparisons of Public Works Carried Out

As if it were not enough to carry out a good year's work, city engineer Charles Campbell prepared an exhaustive report on the operations of his department and presented it to the Aldermen a the regular meeting of the City Council last evening. The report which follows, indicates a healthy year in this city and offers much room for optimism, especially in that section dealing with biulding operations.

"I take pleasure in submitting to you a resume of the work and activities carried out under the direction of my Department for the year which has just closed with the hope that the information contained therein will be of interest to your Body and to the citizens of Belleville.

"This Department endeavours to carry out the requirements of the Public Works Committee in the matter of service to the citizens; also prepares the details and supervises the construction of all Local Improvements ordered by the City Council and the maintenance of roads, sewers, sidewalks and the handling of any emergent situation which develops from time to time.

"The year 1924 was one in which the work undertaken extended over a very considerable area, demanding, of necessity, a great deal of attention in comparison with the amount of expenditure. Our main efforts last year were concentrated on road improvements.

In a comparative table prepared by Mr. Campbell, he shows the extent and cost of the various works in the city during 1923 and 1924.

There were 13,717 Lin. ft. of sewers laid at a cost of $32,496.31 in 1924. In 1923 there were 21,209 Lin. ft. at a cost of $62,801.

There were 54,886 sq. ft. of sidewalks laid at a cost of $13,384.59 in 1924. In 1923, there were 56,606 sq. ft. at $23,302.

There were 4,394 square yards of pavements put down at a cost $12,111.20 compared with 22,246 square yards costing $38,285.

There were 2,820 lin. ft. of curbing at a cost of $2,400.60, compared with 12,991 lin. ft. costing $12,991 in 1923.

There were 2,400 lin. ft. of storm drains costing $5,600 in 1924, compared with 7,085 lin. ft. at a cost of $19,975.

There were 139,866 square yards covered with road oil at a cost of $9,398.71 in 1924, compared with 91,364 sq. yds. at a cost of $7,584.

There were 17,494 sq. yds. of street cleaning, sewered roads repaired at a cost of $6,097.60 in 1924.

There were 79,706 sq. yds. of main roads scarified at a cost of $12,435.

Tells Of Northern Life Possibilities

Rev. A. S. Kerr is Interesting Speaker at Kiwanis

The stage is set for the big Kiwanis dance to be held on Friday night. This was one of the chief subjects for discussion at the regular weekly luncheon at the New Queen's Hotel to-day, when the heads of the various committees reported everything in readiness, and predicted it to be one of the best of the season.

Preparations are also being made for the trip to Ottawa on Thursday when some thirty local Kiwanians are to be the guests of their Ottawa brothers at luncheon that day.

Afterwards, they will attend the opening ofthe federal house.

Rev. A. S. Kerr, the speaker to-day gave an interesting and instructive resume of Stefansson's "Northward Corner of the Empire"

The speaker emphasized how many of the popular misconceptions, prevalent regarding the polar regions, had been dissipated as a result of the great explorer's work. Stefanson had proved to the world, he said, that the Polar regions were not at all the snow bound, uninhabitable lands that most believed, but on the contrary were looked to as the future of the world's food supply centre.

Reindeer and muskox could be marketted in abundance and with the world's increasing population, this would be an important factor.

"In time to come, there may be developed an air line as the best source of communication and transportation between the Northland and the rest of the world," he said.

Onondaga Township has decided not to take advantage of Government aid for township roads, but to retain the statute labor system. The township Council closed the year with total expenditures of $30,187 and a balance on hand of $1,345 and tax arrears of but $853.

J. C. Herdman was on Saturday elected president of the Stratford Gladiolus Society. The society closed the year with a small surplus.

Kind Act To Passing Hobo A Year Ago Turned Out To Be Real Good Investment

Indiana, Pa. Feb. 3—Somewhere in the United States today a World War veteran, who once was a hobo, is making good because of the kindness of a man at whose home he stopped, one wintry night a year ago. The name of the veteran is being kept secret, but A. R. Palmer, a business man of Indiana, Pa., tells the story.

Late at night a year ago, so the story goes, Mr. Palmer heard a knocking at his door and opened it. He saw a man wearing a tattered army uniform who asked for a bite to eat. Mr. Palmer invited the man into his house, gave him a hot meal, a bath, and some clothes and then talked with him.

The stranger said he was a World War veteran and that when he returned to his home town at the end of the war he found his entire family—father, mother, brothers and sisters— had died of influenza during his absence.

The man slept at the Palmer home that night and was given $50, with the advice that he get a job and make good, when he departed the next morning.

A few days ago Mr. Palmer received a letter from the stranger. In the letter were 15 new $20 bills and a card bearing the words:

"From your soldier bum, who has made good."

Loss Through Fire Is Cut Down Here

Chief Brown Submits a Satisfactory Report to City Council

A very satisfactory report was submitted by Fire Chief Brown to the City Council last evening, in which he shows that inside and close to the city there were but seventy-eight fires and many of these were of a minor variety, in which there was no serious loss. Of these 78, five were outside the city, 11 were in stores, 2 in hotels, 34 dwellings, 3 in offices, 2 in vessels, one false alarm, 3 in barns, 4 in garages, 3 grass fires and 10 miscellaneous.

The record of 78 calls with a loss of $26,988.25 compares with 40 calls in 1920 with a $41,728.00 loss, 48 calls in 1921 with a loss of $18,554.50; 64 calls in 1922, with a $17,699.50 loss, and 11 calls in 1923 with a loss of $30,764.75.

His report in full was as follows:

"You will note by comparison", the chief says, that the property losses for 1924 show a decrease of nearly $4,000.00 from those of 1923.

"Among the various causes of fire you will note that 26 were caused by defective chimneys or overheated stoves. This, I believe, denotes negligence on the part of a great many of our citizens who do not have their stoves and pipes properly cleaned, especially in the fall of the year before starting their fires for the winter.

"At the time that the City purchased the two motor driven fire trucks there was considerable controversy as to whether or not this would mean a saving to the City. After three and a half years' experience I can safely say that the difference in the cost between the maintenance of the horses and the upkeep of the motors has been enough to more than pay for one of the cars. Not only is this true, but I also believe it has been a saving of thousands of dollars in property losses, owing to the fact that we can now arrive at the scene of the fires so much more quickly than we could when the horses were in use.

"During those three and a half years the motors have never refused to act at any time and we have never been stalled on account of muddy roads or snow.

"I believe that we have a sufficient amount of fire hose now, on hand to meet any demand of the Department for the present year, at least. One thing, however, which might possibly be considered, is the motorizing of the hook and ladder waggon in the near future.

"I believe that the fire losses as sustained by the City of Belleville will compare favourable indeed with those in any other municipality in the Province. The following statistics as to the actual loss from fires in comparison with the value of the property might be of interest.

UNIONS OPPOSING STEEL STRUCTURES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London Feb. 3—Progress is being made with plans for the erection of steel dwelling houses in England. Specimens of steel houses are being erected in London and the main provincial centres of the country. The proposal was recently opposed by building trades unions.

In reply to the unions, Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health, under whose department plans are being carried out, in a speech last night said the unions were afraid of competition but the public was not going to tolerate obstruction in any form or from any quarter.

This convention will be one of many being held throughout the province under plans laid by the executive of the Prohibition Union held at Toronto last week.

Fire Destroyed Big Baptist Church

Hundred Thousand Loss at College Street in Toronto

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 3—College street Baptist church, one of the finest churches of the denomination in this city was destroyed by fire early this morning, the loss being estimated at $100,000. The cause has not been definitely determined, but an overheated furnace or defective heating apparatus was believed to be responsible. The insurance on the building totalled approximately $30,000.

MONTREAL STRIKERS CLAIM SUCCESSES

RESIGNATION OF ALD. LA ROCHE WAS ACCEPTED

Aldermen Instruct Letter of Appreciation Be Forwarded to Him

MEAT BY-LAW UP

Labor Urges That it Be Rescinded; Gas Question Asked

As was anticipated, Alderman A. E. LaRoche at last night's meeting of the City Council tendered his resignation which was accepted.

The Clerk was also authorized to write Ald. LaRoche a letter expressive of the appreciation of his services as a member of the Council. It was owing to the fact that he is the City's representative on the suburban area road commission that he resigned. A successor in the Council will be appointed at the next Council meting.

Members present were Mayor W. C. Mikel, Aldermen R. J. E. Graham, W. H. Patterson, S. F. Treverton, P. Harrison, C. A. Ruttan, A. Robinson W. J. Parrish, G. W. Dawes, G. E. Foster, A. H. Ketcheson.

Reports of Committees and communications were laid on table and council went into committee of the whole, Ald. Harrison in the chair.

A deputation from the Trades and Labor Council was present and asked the council to rescind the by-law relative to charging a fee of $25 for cutting up meat on the market.

Ald. Graham explained that according to the present by-law the butchers in the city have to pay a license of $25 per year, the same as those cutting up meat on the market.

In addition to the recommendations adopted at the committee and endorsed by the council, the following were adopted:

That Aldermen Harrison and Robinson and Messrs J. D. McMillan and A. B. Collins be the city's representatives on the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital for the year 1925.

That the tax collector be instructed to proceed with the collection of all outstanding taxes in order that the tax rolls may be returned at an early date.

Water Works Debentures

The specail committee appointed to look into the matter of issuing debentures for defraying the cost of the installing of the new intake gasoline driven pump and other improvements at the city pumping station reported. It will be necessary to issue debentures to the amount of $78,000 to cover the capital expenditure.

Mr. C. D Campbell, City Engineer, and chief W. J. Brown of the fire department presented their reports for the year 1924 which were received and filed.

Ald. Robinson asked if there were any prospects of the gas department making ends meet.

Ald. Foster said the statement for the past year was not ready yet. More improvements were necessary and it was premature to state that gas would be any cheaper for a while.

Ald. Robinson—"Is the works paying debentures as they become due?"

Ald. Foster—"Yes."

Motions

Ald. Foster moved, seconded by Ald. Dawes that Alderman Patterson be chairman of the water works committee until a permanent chairman is appointed. Carried.

Ald Ruttan moved, seconded by Ald. Treverton that in view of the ornamental standards having been erected on the market square for lighting and now in satisfactory operation, that the Hydro Electric Power Commission be instructed to remove the light on the north side of McAnnany street, and on the south side of the south section of the market. Carried.

Council adjourned.

A GOOD REPORT

Charles D. Campbell, city engineer, presented an annual report to the City Council last evening that is filled with information concerning the city of Belleville, which will be of vital interest to ratepayers of the municipality. To vote intelligently, one must know in detail what is being done under the city council's guidance, and Mr. Campbell is to be congratulated on his conscientious effort, as all who read will agree.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

There is much merit in a suggestion coming from His Worship Mayor Mikel to-day, who urges that lodges and other similar organizations help the hungry of the city with a little worthwhile effort. Mayor Mikel writes as follows:

"Please permit a suggestion for the benefit of our less fortunate brothers and sisters. There are over 80 families in this city who are right up against it. Some have two members, some have ten. These people practically never have a good meal during January, Febrary and March, and many have far too little food.

"After the meetings of some of the lodges which serve refreshments considerable good food is left untouched. It would go a God-send if given to some of these unfortunate families. The suggestion is to do it.

"Another suggestion is that some of the lodges and other organizations might put on a supper for a number of these families occasionally. It would no doubt give the members of the lodges more satisfaction than eating it themselves after having already had a good evening meal at their homes. The organization that starts this will make a record living up to the noble sentiments of its ritual. The city spent $910.00 on these families last month but it did not supply the need. Work would be better if available. There will always be an abnormal shortage of work while we continue to send hundreds of millions of dollars yearly to other countries for goods made by the workmen of these other countries.

"It may be that these people are not saints. Perhaps they are blamable, but 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto Me'.

W. C. MIKEL, Mayor."

WRECKING A GOOD THING

There is a splendid principle behind the exchange of teachers between Great Britain and Canada, and between Canada and other Dominions of the Empire. The plan may strengthen the bond holding the Empire. There is much benefit to be derived in that these teachers may become missionaries to spread among the young generation first hand knowledge of their cousins across the seas.

But that a good idea may be abused is evident from the following news despatch from Toronto:

"Toronto may be a city of churches, but the men of that city show the acme of ill-manners, according to impressions gained by a New Zealand teacher, who has returned to that country after twelve months' teaching in Toronto schools, under the Inter-Dominion Teacher Exchange system.

"Her views are given anonymously in a letter from Wellington, New Zealand, published in the Toronto Star to-day.

"The teacher goes on to say that she was told that Detroit was a wicked city, but she had ascertained from personal observation that Detroit men were the perfection of good manners.

"People in Toronto were very good to us," the New Zealand teacher declares, 'but the men were the last thing in manners. New Zealand men are kings alongside them.'

"The teachers says that Toronto people are 'frightfully narrow and jealous for their country.' Teaching methods in that city were antiquated she said. New Zealand teachers and education were far more advanced than were the Canadians.'

The New Zealand teacher was most certainly entitled to form opinions, but in broadcasting them throughout her home country, she has done inestimable harm.

HAS SHORTEST NAME

Mr. I., whose home is in Hangchow, China, and who is a senior at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, has the world's shortest name. Philologists declare it must be the shortest as it is only one letter long, and that one displaces less ink than any other in the alphabet.

POPULATION STATISTICS

The Ottawa Journal remarks that those good people in England and elsewhere who have been wailing over the imaginary belief that Canada was becoming de-Britonized should study the first complete volume of the last Canadian census, just published. The proportions of the population of Canada—British, French and other origins—as altered by the census reports of 1881, 1911 and 1921, are given as follows:

	1881	1911	1921
	p.c.	p.c.	p.c.
British.	59	54	55.5
French.	31	28½	27.9
Indian	2.5	1.5	1.25
Other races .	8.5	16	15.43

Thus in spite of all the immigration from foreign countries during the past forty years the percentage of British stock remain dominant. The percentage of French stock has slightly declined, while the people of foreign origin—and these include a large American immigration—have but grown from 8.5 to 15.43 per cent.

Letters To The Editor

FALSE PROPHETS

EDITOR, Daily Intelligencer:

Evangelist A. L. Beazley who is visiting Belleville from Escanaba, Mich., and who is an ordained minister of the Seventh Day Adventists denomination, has no sympathy with the so-called Reformed Seventh Day Adventists who are flaunting to the world by various means their pernicious doctrine that the world is coming to an end on Feb. 6th and furthermore the Seventh Day Adventists of this city have no affiliation or sympathy with any such movement. News papers all over North America are publishing statements attributed to Mrs. Rowen and her followers that Christ is coming on Feb. 6th, and also announcing that automobiles with sign boards on them are traversing the streets of the cities, calling the people's attention to the date. The sign boards clearly state that the Seventh Day Adventists are responsible for this message. Mr. Beazley announces that the Seventh Day Adventists are not time-setters and have no sympathy with those who advocate such pernicious doctrines for the scriptures plainly state, "For of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of Heaven, but my Father only, (Matt. 24:36.)".

Seventh Day Adventists do not claim to know what the bible does not reveal, but base their faith in the second coming of Christ in Matt. 24: 29-35. which is given in answer to the question of the apostles as referred in Matt. 24: 1-3. This scripture clearly teaches that the generation now living will live to see the return of Christ

Dates have been set all down through the stream of time, only to fail, and skeptics and other irreligionists have had their laugh at the expense of fanatics, yet the cause of Christ has incidentally been reproached in a very forcible manner.

Time will reveal that Mrs. Rowen and her followers are placing themselves in the same category of those who say in their heart, my Lord delayeth his coming, (Matt. 24:36) and will be numbered among the false Christ and false prophets that the Lord declared should arise before the end (Matt. 24:24).

THE FUTURE GENERATION

Philadelphia Ledgeer

Coal miners rear the largest families, and architects, dentists, physicians and surgeons the smallest, according to statistics furnished by the Department of Commerce in Washington. For the miner's family, the number of children average as high as 8.1 while for the architect's it drops as low as 2.8. Actors also fall into the low percentage as parents. The figures corroborate the drift complained of all over the world. That is to say, the professional and leisure classes show an actual decline in the birth rate, while the hardier classes in the ranks of the toilers are making the sole contribution to population.

LONDON'S BIRTHRATE

London Express

Sir Robert Blair, late chief education officer of the London county council, gave startling figures about the decline of the birth rate, speaking at a Manchester education conference

"This year," he said, "the board of education is budgeting for a million fewer children in its primary classes than it budgeted for in 1910-11.

"The birth rate has fallen, and it seems still to be going down. We are losing 100,000 children a year from each age group. From a calculation I have made by the year 1932 there will be 2,000,000 fewer workers in this country."

A GOLF BALL'S SPEED

Winnipeg Tribune:

When a golfer drives from the tee he probably little realizes the terrific speed at which he has sent the "wee sma' ba'" on its travels. He would probably be astonished to learn that he has imparted to it a speed more than twice as great as an express train, and considerably greater than that of any bird that flies.

EDUCATION

St. Catharines Standard.

In the United States a modern educator, commenting on the present educational situation makes this incisive comment: "The cure for educational ills is never going to be found exclusively in the school. It will be found, if found at all, in the life of the comunity. Community life and education are but the obverse sides of the same current coin of living."

In trying to rectify educational defect. too much responsibility has been placed on the schools and too little on modern home and community. The educational process has been subjected to all manner of experimentation and revision, with a view to perfecting it. At the end of this long trial of experimentation, it has become clear that the school cannot be cut off from life and practical experience. Education cannot rise much higher than home life and community ideals.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Cape Argus

In South Africa recent changes in secondary education are mainly a reflection of the dominant feeling that more should be taught at the school age which will be of direct and perceptible value when the time comes for the pupil to earn his livelihood. But it is never an easy matter to foresee the future of any given pupil and there are still some old-fashioned people who look askance at all efforts to impart a vocational bias to school education. They hold that if a boy or girl can learn at school to think clearly and take pains, the character or details of the particular curriculum employed are of secondary importance. It is, nevertheless, wise to deprecate subjects which have a vocational bias, since they may be with some pupils effective instruments for obtaining the best intellectual results.

Thirty Years Ago

A hundred years has elapsed since the first visit of a Methodist Missionary to the place on which Belleville now stands.

A reporter was told of a case of destitution to-day that should appeal to the hearts of the philanthropic. Last fall, a man with his wife and two small children came to this city and went to the house of the man's brother-in-law. They stayed there for some days and the man would not work, his brother-in-law, who is a very industrious Swede and worked in the Belleville Box and Basket factory, got tired of keeping him and his family, and told him to get out. He did so, and his wife got employment in a Front St. Hotel. But he came back and took his family, and later they were found without fuel or food, and the children nearly perishing. He used his family brutally. The Humane Society has the case in hand.

Mr. H. E. Otton, of Belleville, spent Sunday with friends in Deseronto.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

The Temple Of Business

THE Woolworth and the Equitable Buildings have been called the Temples of Business.

They really are great marts of trade.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine that is building in New York has a better right to be called the Business Temple. It is a place for business to worship, to forget the cares of this world, and to think upon eternal problems.

Bishop Manning the other day said from the pulpit of this church:

"I wish that some part f this cathedral might be built by those interested in sports and recreations. I should like to see the steel men, the grocers, the clothing trades, the actors, the musicians, the artists, the writers, the physicians, the educators and the men of science all have their own distinctive part and place in it."

The great cathedrals of the Thirteenth Century that adorn Europe were built by the people. They received their land from the feudal lords who in that day represented the government. The merchants of the city were glad to give of their money, of their profits in trade, toward it. The stone was quarried and carved by the people of the city, and the whole community gathered in front of it on festal days.

We do not enjoy the unity of faith which that age did, but we probably have more religion. That is, our people are spiritually minded and disposed to consider the problems of life from a religious viewpoint. The people are hungry for the spiritual diet which the Church provides.

All that is needed is to abate sectionalism and facitonalism in the churches, and they will receive the hearty support of the Community.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine is an Episcopalian edifice, backed by that sect, but it aims to be of service to all humanity. A recent contribution to it was made by a prominent Jew, and people of all faiths are uniting in its construction.

It may be possible that the Cathedral is not to be the form which the religious sentiment of this age shall take. But it is fitting that that sentiment shall express itself in a beautiful building. The construction of this building calls for the cooperation of the entire community, just as its support will depend upon the extant citizenship.

Any sect has an opportunity to enlarge its usefulness and base its works upon all human need, and its endeavor to do so should meet with all encouragement.

There is plenty of money in the United States, and money that is being used for all kinds of purposes. We consume a large amount of property annually. Would it not be well to take part of our surplus and invest it in some permanently beautiful building that through the ages it might represent an abiding feeling?

Nothing recalls to us the beauty of the middle ages like their buildings. It may be true that their civilization, as has been said, was "built upon a dung heap." Many wars marred their history. But there was underlying all a sense of beauty and of purpose. The evil is passed and exists only on the written page, but the good that they did and felt has been carved in stone and erected for us in their beautiful cathedrals.

Shall this age leave anything equally beautiful?

HE WAS GOING TO BUST UP OFFICE

Hamilton, Feb. 3—J. Burgoyne, a member of the local unemployed committee, and prominent outdoor speaker on the market place, was fined $10 in police court for disorderly conduct Relief Officer McMenemy laid the complaint, stating that Burgoyne had only been prevented from turning the relief officer upside down by the timely arrival of Constable Meyers.

Burgoyne stated that when he applied for relief some doubts were cast on his qualifications to receive such as a married man. He was asked to show proof that he was really married to the mother of his children. Whereupon, it was complained, he declared that "for three cents he would bust the place up." It was at this juncture that the constable arrived. The magistrate offered to let him go if he showed proof of marriage. This the prisoner refused to do, saying that he had been married in 1913 in Kentucky but if Relief Officer McMenemy wanted further proof he would have to get it himself.

The fine was paid at once.

Windsor police have been asked to search for a man who has disappeared from his home. Robert Gale, 50 years old, left his room 181 Elm avenue to go to the bank Monday and failed to return. He intended to draw $500 from the bank.

Used Diplomacy At Rugby Game

When France and Ireland Clashed at Paris

Paris, Feb. 3—"La Marseillaise" the Irish Free State, came as a surprise to the 30,000 spectators who attended the France-Ireland rugby match at the Colombes Olympic Stadium January 1. Few knew that behind the rendition of the martial strains of Rouget de Lisle's masterpiece there lurked the settlement of a diplomatic problem which has puzzled the French Rugby Federation since the creation of the Irish Free State.

In order not to wound any susceptibility, the Union Jack and the flag of the Irish Free State were flown on each side of the French tricolor.

"What anthem shall we play when you march upon the field?" the president of the French Rugby Federation asked Captain Crawford of the Irish team. Both Ulster and the South of Ireland were represented on the Irish team. The latter objected to "God Save the King," while the former were spared the necessity of protesting against the national anthem of the Irish Free State by the announcement of the leader of the military band on duty at the stadium, that his men could not play it.

"Just play the Marseillaise and we will go on the field at the same time as the French team," Crawford finally said.

Both teams walked in arm in arm. A few moments later they were using the straight arm blow and digging their fists into one another at every scrimmage in what proved to be one of the roughest matches ever played in the International Rugby Union.

PROTECTED FRIEND BEFORE WEDDING

Hamilton, Feb. 3—"I first told the police R. Manryck was not with me when I broke into the homes of James Crooks and William Butler because I knew he was going to be married the next day," declared William Martin in police court yesterday.

Martin, charged with housebreaking and stealing a quantity of mineral water, pleaded guilty two weeks ago and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Manryck, arrested on the same charge, maintained he was absent at the time of the burglaries, but was found guilty and remanded for sentence.

In the meantime his attorney, W. M. Brandon, secured the privilege of a new trial and this was instituted yesterday morning. Martin was cross-examined at great length by Mr. Brandon.

"Well in a word, was he or was he not with you at the time" asked Crown Atorney Ballard.

Martin—He was.

Manryck was committed for trial in the higher court, bail at $500 being renewed.

CAN DEATH SENTENCE ON DOG BE FOUGHT?

London, Feb. 3—The Law courts are to settle the question of whether there is any right of appeal for a dog condemned to death because the magistrates are satisfied he is dangerous to the public at large. F. E. Edwards, of St. Albans, has a three-year-old Airedale. The magistrates have ordered that he be destroyed, and when Mr. Edwards wished to appeal to the Quarter Sessions he was informed no such right to appeal existed. The matter will be raised in the House of Commons, and the Canine Defence League intends to take the case to the highest court available.

WHITE GIRL WEDS A CHINESE COOK

Hamilton, Feb. 3.—Last Tuesday Kathleen Turner, a 19-year-old white girl, and Dan Hong, a 40-year-old Chinaman, obtained a marriage license from City Clerk Kent. The next day they were married by Rev. J. Lambert Alexander, pastor of First Congregational Church. Two local Chinese acted as witnesses. The girl, according to her own statements, is an orphan ward of the Barnardo Homes, four years out from Sussex, England. The man gave his occupation as a cook. He is employed in a cafe. The girl gave her occupation as a dentist's helper.

Up until last Christmas she was employed by a Brantford dentist, but contracted pleuro-pneumonia and lost her position, coming to Hamilton with two other Brantford girls shortly after. They had been rooming in the city and dining in a cafe.

EVERY BABE BORN GOT BANK ACCOUNT

Dessau, Prussia, Feb. 3.—Every baby born in Dessau on Christmas was given a deposit of three marks by the municipal savings bank. The district savings bank of Dessau is doing even more for new arrivals. RELIGIOUS MEETING REPORTS GOOD WORK

The annual convention of Thurlow Township "Religious Educational Council was held in the Foxboro Methodist Church recently, consisting of an afternoon and evening session. Most of the schools which were reported doing excellent work in the various branches and many schools reached a very high standard, it was shown.

Rev. Mr. Christie, the representative from Toronto gave many good suggestions with regard to the carrying out of the program of different divisions of the work and stressed the importance of each phase. He advocated the use of the C.G.I.T. and C.S.E.T. program to win the teen age scholars for Christ.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Mr. Christie on the "Growth and Development in Religion." Everything in nature is growing and developing through God's power and we must grow and become perfect to fit in with this life. Love is the seed which will promote this Spiritual Growth. Out of this seed of Love comes service and good-will, to others This was Jesus' attitude.

We must choose the right location, the right companions the right environment, good soil and be pruned through suffering and hardships in order that our lives may grow to their fullest extent.

The following are the officers for the ensuing year:—

President—Mr. H. Dafoe.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. Geo. McCullough
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. P. Caverley.

ATTACKED AUTHOR OF EINSTEIN THEORY

Berlin, Feb. 3—Charged with making an attempt on the life of Professor Albert Einstein, Marie Evgenievna Dickson was arrested after she had called at his home, where her queer actions aroused the suspicions of Mrs Einstein, who summoned the police.

The woman brandished a hat pin and resisted arrest. She later was sent for observation to an asylum for the insane.

Marie Dickson is the woman who was arrested in Paris for threatening the life of Leonid Krassin, the Soviet envoy. She was expelled from France

COLLIES' TONGUE STUCK TO RAIL

Quebec, Feb. 3—His tongue frostbound to a rail of the railroad crossing the Charlesbourg road, near here, a beautiful collie dog was unable to release himself, and was dashed to death by a train. Whinnying pitifully and scratching the ground frantically he drew the attention of some children who went to his rescue, but the oncoming train forced them to abandon the effort.

STERLING EXCHANGE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 3—Sterling exchange steady, demand rates in cents, Great Britain 478 7-8, Canadian dollars 3-32 of one percent discount.

WHEAT FUTURES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Feb. 3—Opening futures, Wheat May 3 3-4 cents to 8 1-4 cents lower at 2.05 to 2.00 1-2, July 3 3-4 c to 8 3-4 c lower at 2.02 to 1.97 October 4 1-2 cents to 5 1-2 cents lower at 1.57 to 1.56. Oats May 1 cent to 2 1-2 cents lower at 73 1-4 to 71 July 1-2 cents to 2 1-2 cents lower at 74 to 72.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Wheat values here to-day took a further downward swing during early dealings largely because of a weakness in European markets, break in values in Winnipeg and on free selling by commission houses. Export buying at Buenos Aires has slackened somewhat, the market there displaying easier tone. Weakness at Liverpool was more or less in sympathy with a decline in American markets yesterday. There were some stop loss orders uncovered here on the way down, but the decline was checked somewhat when a good class of buying appeared. After opening 1 cent to 3 1-3 cent off with May $1.97 to 198 1-2 wheat market sagged a little more and then recovered somewhat. Corn and oats were influenced largely by action in wheat after starting 1-2 cent to 7-8 cent off corn declined little more and then rallied slightly, oats opened 1-8 cent to 5-8 cent down with May 61 3-4 cent and later under went a slight additional decline. Trade in provisions was quiet.

WINNIPEG FUTURES

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—Speculators on Winnipeg grain exchange received another rude jolt this morning when the bottom literally fell out of the wheat market at the opening of the session The decline to-day, like that of the previous week was of a panicky character May sliding back to $2 level after opening quotations for loss ranging from 33 to 8 3-4c. The drop represents recession of twenty cents since the peak was reached about ten days ago. July future suffered similar fate with a set back of 8 3-4c at extreme dip which shoved price below $2.00 mark. October was 5 1-2c lower at $1.56, coarse grains also were swamped in flood of selling pressure, barley dropping 6 1-2c, flax 4 1-2c to 5 3-4c, Rye from 7c to 8 1-2c below yesterday's closing figures.

She Poured Acid On Beautiful Legs

Australian Actress Was Discouraged Over Carreer at Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal. Feb. 3—The prettiest legs in Hollywood, which earned 19-year old Lotus Thompson, Australian actress, a good living in motion pictures, are swathed in bandages, the result of the girl's attempt to disfigure them.

Lotus wanted to do deep drama, but motion picture directors saw only her legs, so she poured acid over them in the hope of disfiguring them for life.

"Ever since I came here it's been my legs—legs all the time," she cried.

"I won a beauty contest in Australia for my face, but no one noticed it in Holywood. Directors can't see any higher than my knees. They always want to slip me into a bathing suit and photograph my legs."

How to Make and Pack to Best Advantage

Use Clean, Sweet-flavored Cream—Coat the Box Inside With Paraffine—Finish the Package Off Neatly—Blade Blight of Oats—Honesty Pays.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

I attended an Institute meeting one day and heard one of the speakers close his address with this little verse:

"Good, better, best;
Never let it rest,
'Till your good is better,
And your better, best."

It is the very best butter that we can make that must be packed for winter use.

Butter undergoes changes in the keeping, and two things necessary for good results when keeping butter for winter use are best quality of butter and low temperatures for holding.

Use Clean, Sweet Flavored Cream.

Use cream that has a clean, sweet flavor. Churn it at a temperature low enough to bring the butter in nice, firm granules in from 20 to 30 minutes.

If by any chance the butter comes soft, be very careful to get rid of the buttermilk. It will be necessary in a case of this kind to use an extra wash water.

Salt the butter in the usual way and work it thoroughly. Should the butter soften during the process of working, put it away in a cool place to become firmer before continuing the working.

As butter keeps best in a solid form, crocks or boxes are used for winter use.

Coat the Boxes Inside With Paraffine.

The boxes have a coating of paraffine on the inside, and it is necessary to line them with heavy parchment paper.

While many people have a 56-lb. box filled for winter, in some cases it would be much better to have it put in two 28-lb. boxes.

The crocks should be in good condition, free from cracks or breaks in the glazing.

When packing the butter, be sure to pack solidly. See that there are no openings in the sides, and that the corners are well filled.

If there is 8 or 10 lbs. of butter in a churning, do not put the whole lump into the crock and then try to pack it down. Rather put it in in pieces, making sure that each piece is solidly packed.

Finish the Package Off Neatly.

Finish the top off evenly, and cover with parchment paper. A thin layer of salt paste may be put over this before fastening down the lid.

With crocks it will be necessary to tie clean wrapping paper over the top after the lid has been put on.

All butter should be stored in a clean, dark place where the air is pure and the temperature is low and even.—Miss Belle Millar, O. A. C. Guelph.

Trotzky's Life Was Ever Thrilling

Cousin Tells of His Early Escape from Prison And Death

Wenatchee, Wash., Feb. 3—How an experience in the early life of Leon Trotzky which resulted in saving him from execution by the Russian Czarist government made him a convert to communism was related recently by his cousin, Mrs. [illegible] Kornbilt, of Manson, Wash. The mothers of Trotzky and Mrs. Kornbilt were sisters.

When quite young, Trotzky, whose real name is Leon Brunshtoen, was sent by his wealthy parents, David and Anna Brunshtoen, from their home in southern Russia to European schools, Mrs. Kornbilt said. He sympathized with fellow students less fortunately situated than himself, and divided his means with them.

Later Trotzky was jailed by the Czarist government on a charge of being a Socialist and was condemned to die. It was then that the friendly acts toward his fellow students bore their fruit. They started to dig a tunnel into his cell and effected his escape on the night before he was to have been hanged, his cousin related.

Dressed in feminine garments, he fled to Paris, and kept himself in seclusion until the vigilance of the Russian secret police was relaxed. Then he came to America, where he assumed the name of Trotzky to help in avoiding detection.

"So it is only natural that Leon would believe in communism," Mrs. Kornbilt said. "He gave to the poor and in return the poor gave him what could not be bought with money—his freedom."

His parents did not know for years after his escape that he had not been hanged. After his return to Russia and his rise to the head of the Red Army he rejoined his mother. With the revolution she had lost her wealth. She now resides in Leningrad.

Mrs. Kornbilt, with her husband, Aaron Kornbilt, resides on ten acres of highly productive orchard land on the shores of Lake Chelan, not far from this city. She left Russia in 1907 for fear of persecution of the Jews and came to America in 1918. In Seattle, where she landed, she met and married her husband, who had also fled the Jewish persecutions in Russia.

J.F.M. STEWART HAS FILED AN APPEAL

Toronto, Feb. 2.—An appeal on behalf of J. F. M. Stewart, Home Bank director, against his conviction by Judge Coatsworth on a charge laid under the Bank Act, was filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday. The appeal, which was based on 21 grounds further expressed the desire that if upheld and a new trial was directed, it would not be before a jury.

It was claimed that the conviction was against both the law and the evidence, and also that there was no evidence to warrant the finding that the bank statement alleged to have been false and deceptive was in fact false and deceptive.

The appeal also claimed that the judgment was influenced by the evidence given in other Home Bank directors' trials, as well as having been based to a certain extent on much evidence that should never have been admitted.

"Back was Very Painful I am now Well Again"

Mrs. Wm. Walker, Webbwood, Ont., writes:

"I was sick for several months with my stomach, I had pains in the back, and how I used to dread wash day, for my back would pain so that I couldn't lie down when night came. I also had gas on my stomach, and my appetite was so poor that sometimes I did not care whether I ate or not. The doctor gave me medicine, of which I took a number of bottles without benefit. At last I started to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and although I have only used three boxes, I am quite well again."

Cross Word Fans Many In England

Cannot Meet Demand For Dictionaries; Late in Starting

London, Feb. 2.—When news of how the cross-word puzzle craze had gripped America first seeped across the Atlantic to this tight little island, newspaper paragraphers assumed a somewhat superior air and pointed out that such foolishness wasn't the rule in England. Now nearly every newspaper publishes its daily puzzle and large prizes are offered for solutions and new problems.

So completely had the fad caught the public's fancy that one firm of second-hand booksellers has reported that the demand for cheap dictionaries far outstrips the supply, and that its entire supply of dictionaries and books of synonyms has been exhausted, with dictionaries going at the rate of 50 or more a day and synonym books at 25 a day. Even dictionaries dated in the '40's and '50's of the last century are being snapped up.

In their search for novelties puzzle editors have departed largely from the conventional squares and rectangles, and puzzles have appeared in all manner of queer forms, such as circles, triangles and crazy-quilt patchwork.

MAY FINISH CHURCH AFTER 250 YEARS

Paris, Feb. 2.—A Paris church begun over 250 years ago, but never finished, has at last a chance of being completed after the original plans. Between 1650 and 1700 work was begun on the church of Saint Nicholas du Chardonnet, in St. Victor street, with the painter LeBrun as architect. Want of funds put a stop to building and the church, without a front, has stood for years, a mournful and dilapidated object.

A mutual benefit society now plans to erect a magnificent office just opposite the church, but hesitates as the unfinished old building would be an eyesore. Completion of Le Brun's plans would cost 900,000 francs, but the municipal council, although more than usually embarrassed for funds, has the matter under consideration.

SOVIETS PLACE MANY ORDERS FOR YARNS

Manchester, Eng., Feb. 3.—Soviet agents have been busy here for some days placing orders for yarn and cotton waste. It is stated that more than 1,000,000 pounds of American yarn have already been sold and that the impending orders are considerably larger.

Firms dealing with the Russian agents require and receive guarantees, these being furnished in some cases by the shipping houses, while in one instance it is understood an order for 400,000 pounds was guaranteed by the delivery of Russian skins to be handed over to the cotton firm before the goods were shipped.

The re-opening of the Russian market after nearly ten years of inactivity is arousing great interest in Lancashire and may change the aspect of the proposal for a reduction of working hours which was recently declared imminent.

Royal Party Has Real Good Luck

Bag Lioness and Two Buffaloes One Day in Africa

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 2—The Duke of York, who with the Duchess of York is on a tour of Africa, had some good sport on his recent hunting trip in Kenya Colony, according to the Nairobi correspondent of a London daily paper. One day the Duke shot a lioness and two buffaloes, the latter with two shots from his rifle.

A zebra had been left as a lion-bait and the Duke was up before dawn awaiting developments. At sunrise a big lioness was seen and His Royal Highness fired at it. The lioness went into the bush from which there immediately emerged two huge buffaloes.

The buffaloes crashed through the bush into the open, one on either side of the Duke's party. As the buffaloes came along the Duke fired and hit one with a shot from the left barrel of his rifle and hit the other one with a shot from the right barrel. One of the buffaloes was old and had splendid horns. The Duke killed both beasts.

Later on, the lioness at which His Royal Highness had taken a shot was discovered dead in the bush, shot through the heart. The Duke's three successful shots were regarded as a memorable achievement. He enjoys big game shooting.

It will be recalled that at the end of December, when the Duke of York began his first big game hunt in Kenya colony, he had an adventure with a wounded and infuriated rhinoceros. With a companion he had stalked a big rhinoceros and when at length he fired, the beast made a terrific charge in his direction. The Duke stood his ground, allowing the rhinoceros to continue its charge until it was within 30 yards of him, when he and his companion fired together and the rhinoceros rolled over close to where they were standing.

PATCHING IT UP

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 2.—Both Turkish and Greek ambassadors called on Premier Herriot this morning. The Premier advised conciliation in the crisis caused by the expulsion of Greek Patriarch Constaninos from Constantinople and urged both sides to avoid acts calculated to intensify the controversy.

Women Break Into Every Man's Trade

Census Of Occupations Shows Interesting Situation in Old Country

London, Feb. 2.—How women have broken into every trade, formerly regarded as the exclusive preserve of mere man is shown by the official "Census of Occupations" for 1921, just published. The census covers England and Wales only but deals with 15,699,805 women and girls of 12 years and upwards, of whom 10,634,473 are registered as of no occupation. This figure compares with 13,901,108 males of whom 1,788,390 were registered as unoccupied or retired.

Of the "occupied women", the highest figure is given under the heading of "personal service," including institutions, clubs, hotels, etc., which shows 1,676,425 females as against 339,944 males. Domestic servants come next with 1,148,698 females (against 61,006 males). The textile industries account for 1,150,000 females against 660,000 males, and the goods, liquor and tobacco trades account for 100,594 females against 198,462 males.

Agriculture finds work for 83,053 women (1,171,296 males), and brick, pottery and glass work employes 42,041 women. Transport, railroad and water communications account for 63,580 women (1,420,593 males), and mining and quarrying employs 3,964 females against 1,000,000 males.

Among the more unusual occupations for women, however, are listed 23 chimney sweeps, five lighthouse hands, 149 undertakers, 73 race track bookmakers, 11 race horse trainers and jockeys, six "airmen", 19 brewers, 298 cellar-"men", 309 station-"masters", yard-"masters," etc., 722 shunters, points-"men" and level-crossing workers; 217 farm bailiffs, 763 railway porters and lamp-"men", 500 barges and five "masters" stevedores.

"Little Bo Peep" seems to have gone out of fashion, for only 42 shepherdesses are listed among the agricultural workers, and 30 of these are unmarried. Women plumbers, riveters, safe-makers, sand-blasters, gunsmiths, fisher-"men" and watchmakers figure in the list in considerable numbers, and the 877 male organ-grinders, street musicians and street artists have 105 women competitors.

496,056 in France

There is hardly a trade at which women is not earning her daily bread, and in the so-called "blackcoat" occupations woman is making gigantic strides. In commerce, finance and insurance (exclusive of clerks) there were 496,056 women against 1,063,120 men. This classification ranges from directors and bank officials to costermongers, hawkers, news paper sellers, money-lenders, pawnbrokers and auctioneers.

Ordinary professional occupations (including clerical staffs), account for 379,982 women, including those associated with the various religious organizations, lawyers, doctors, etc. Over 71,000 women are listed as employed in "public administration and defense (including professional men and typists)." The spheres of entertainment and sport occupy 27,981 women against 67,000 men.

GERMANS RELEASE YANKEE MONEY

Berlin, Feb. 2—American currency went back to the mother country at a record rate in 1924. During the inflation period American banknotes and silver certificates and all sorts of other American paper money were hoarded. Friends and relatives remitted money to Germany in the form of bills and it was tucked away for a rainy day. While the German paper money was fluctuating so wildly nobody wanted to hold it. Consequently all sorts of foreign stable money was in great demand and American money was the first choice as it fluctuated less even than English pounds.

Now that the rentenmark has been fairly firm for nearly a year and Germans have general confidence in it, they are letting go of their foreign money at a rapid rate. Germans who hoarded foreign gold or silver are out of luck as the exchange rate on it is very bad. Nobody wants hard money and the quotations on foreign gold coins in small sums is often 20 percent. below the official rate for paper money. Foreign silver is an absolute drag on the money market. Small moneychangers who will accept it often shave it 40 parcent.

OFFERED FIELD

Kingston, Feb. 2.—So great has the interest been in the proposal to place a professional baseball team in the city, and so much enthusiasm has been aroused, that Friday a local citizen came to "Knotty" Lee and offered the use of a four and a half acre foield free of charge, for a ball field. The field, however, is considerably uptown, but the splendid offer was but a demonstration of the interest shown, and the desire of Kingstonians to co-operate.

LEARNED TOO LATE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cancouver, Feb. 2.—Two months after the wedding Edna May Jeeves learned that her husband, Albert Ernest Jeeves, was a criminal. Upon her petition Mr. Justice Morrison dissolved the marriage solemnized here April 25, 1922. Jeeves is serving a two- year term for having burglar's tools in possession at Lethbridge.

ECLIPSED

The grey clouds caught the first pale blush of dawn,
Just for a moment held it close, and then 'twas gone.
The dull and shroud-like haze reclaimed
the sky,
And deepened to a strange weird saffron hue,
Like a brief Arctic day,—then brighter grew,
Until once more 'twas twilight,—and we knew
The sun's eclipse, eclipsed, had passed us by.

Crazed Farmer Kills Children

Claimed the Lord Had Called Them To Him

Westchester, Pa., Feb. 3.—Crazed by religion and continually muttering "I know the kind Lord has received them," Walter Bingaman, 36, a rich farmer of James' Mill, near Coventryville, in northern Chester county, was removed from the Chester county prison here to the Chester county home, in a straight-jacket, having murdered his two children, William, 11 months, and Priscilla, 3, early Sunday morning and indirectly caused the death of his father, Christopher Bingaman, 72.

The latter collapsed and died of apoplexy when he rushed from his room and discovered the crime. The bodies of the three were found close together.

For some time Bingaman had been acting strangely and had suffered recently attacks of religious frenzy, when he would become violent, but never attempted to harm members of his family. Saturday night, however, he became so violent that his wife fled to the home of a neighbor and early Sunday notified the authorities.

County Detective Mullen and other officers went to the place and found the house a wreck, glass had been broken from the windows, furniture wrecked and other damage done. They were forced to break into the room occupied by the children, where they found the almost headless bodies of the two lying on the floor beside the body of their grandfather. Their slayer was found asleep in bed and placed under arrest. A third child, George, 6, was also sleeping.

On the trip to prison here Bingaman suffered several attacks of frenzy and was restrained with much difficulty. Once in prison he talked freely of the crime.

"I killed them because the Lord called upon them and for me to send them to him," he said. "I would have killed my wife also had she been present, because she is no lover of the Lord. The reason I did not kill George was that I loved him and he loved the Lord."

PRINCE GIVING UP BACHELOR HOME

London, Feb. 3.—It is understood in London that the Prince of Wales will say good-bye to his bachelor apartments in St. James' Palace for good when he sails for South Africa in the early summer. When he returns about September he will make his home at Marlborough House, the Queen Mother's palace, which she is never likely to live in again.

Feeble health prevented her from making her intended visit to London last fall to collect her dearest treasures and take them back with her to her Norfolk home, but a good many have already been transferred to Sandringham. The gold and silver ornaments in one room alone are said to be worth $5,000,000.

The young Duke and Duchess of York—having an exciting time, just now hunting hippopotami in Africa—will live in the mansion of the Prince of Wales when he goes abroad.

Burton Johns, of Glanford, laborer, was arrested on a charge of theft preferred by Bruce Smith, of Glanford.

Family Jumped Into Snowbank

And Saved Themselves in Dangerous Country Fire

Montreal, Feb. 3.—Clasping their two children in their arms, Z. I. Delorme, manager of the Banque d'Hochelaga at Roxton Pond, near Granby, and his wife, leaped from a second storey window to escape death in the flames which swept the bank and the dwelling overhead. They were in night attire.

Miss G. Monty, a sister-in-law of Delorme, was also forced from her bed and jumped from the window to save herself. A few seconds afterwards she rushed through the flames into the bank and seizing business papers and money from the safe carried them beyond the reach of the fire.

It is reported that the outbreak started when the domestic servant poured coal oil into the stove to kindle the fire before preparing breakfast. Flames shot upward to-ward her face and in fright she dropped the oil can and fled. The can, falling into the stove, immediately exploded and spread fire over the kitchen.

Delorme, who with the other members of his family, was in bed upstairs, dashed to the kitchen when roused by the explosion. He saw the room a mass of flames, which blocked the exit to the street. Running to the dwelling again Delorme told his wife of the situation. Mrs. Delorme seized her two-year-old daughter, her husband the four-year-old boy, and holding their children the parents sprang from the window into a snowbank. Miss Monty followed them.

SWEDES ARE LURED BY GOLDEN WEST

Stockholm, Feb. 3—The lure of the Golden West is as strong as ever in Sweden, and the application for visas received at the United States consulates have practically exhausted the quotas for the remainder of the immigration year.

In view of this situation the Swedish authorities as well as the Swedish-American Line are making efforts to prevent Swedes from yielding to the temptation of entering the United States illegally. Thus the government social board has published in its latest buletin a warning against attempts to slip over the Canadian frontier by persons who have been legally transported to the Dominion.

HUNDREDS OF DOGS KILLED FOR SCIENCE

Paris, Feb. 3.—A total of 3,817 dogs have been delivered to scientific institutes in Paris for vivisection purposes by the lost dog home in the last year, says the prefect of police, replying to the inquiry of a municipal councillor, who is interested in the fate of animals.

They all were sold at the uniform price of five francs each, no matter what their value, because an antiquated regulation says so.

Recently it was decided that the public might in the future be allowed to compete with the scientists and buy the unclaimed dogs from the home. Another agitation is now being made to prevent sales for the purpose of vivisection altogether.

Bellevues Were Decisive Winners

At "Y" Alleys Last Night; Recreations Lost to Orioles

The first game of the double header played at the association alleys last night between the Bellevues and the Granites resulted in a decisive victory for the Bellevues with a majority of 368. For the winners Miss H. Boyle was leading bowler with a three string score of 500 followed closely by all of her team mates. For the losers Mrs. Rutherford bowled a good averaged game for the score of 486 while Mrs. Grass also of the Granites carried off the high single with a score of 217.

With their first two men bowling way above their average score, the lowly Orioles were able to take a fall out of Domenico's star Recreation team. The Orioles won the first game by 25 points and when their opponents slumped badly added another 175 points to their credit. In the third game the Recreation team came back strong but failed by 40 points to overcome their opponents lead. Clarence (snooks) Bryant for the winners rolled 623, Bob Miles of the same team rolled 601. Wally Walshe for the losers was both high single and high three string with 267 and 659 respectively.

PRAISE R. M. C.

Kingston, Feb. 3.—Citizens in general, and this includes many who do not attend hockey matches, are praising highly the action of the Royal Military College in allowing, Rooney, Hargraft and Donnelly to play with the Kingston Intermediates. Even though the absence of these players practically ruined the cadets' intermediate team, the College, in its endeavor to help Kingston win a championship, hesitated not a moment in allowing their men to play for the locals. It's a case of hatts off to the R. M. C. whose great spirit of co-operation helped Queen's a great deal in winning three rugby titles, and is now on the way to helping Kingston win a hockey crown. Kingston owes much to the R. M.C.

And not only has the College given her best players, but she has also given Prof. "Tom" Gelley, as coach of the locals. No man in Kingston knows hockey better than Prof. Gelley, and no one commands the respect and admiration of the players as he does. His work with the Intermediates has been of the highest order, and is one of the big features why the team is constantly winning.

Your Rexall Drug Store What Is It?

The United Drug Company which serves your Rexall Store at partner's prices, is the largest drug concern in existence. Its manufacturing plants produce such well-known commodities as these—Kantleek Rubber Goods, Jonteel Toilet Articles, Rexall Products, First Aid Sick Room Supplies, Symphony lawn stationery, Liggett's Chocolates and Pure Food Staples, each class made in its own manufacturing unit. These products can be purchased only at a Rexall Drug Store.

The entire effort of the United Drug Company—its world wide command of resources—its short-cuts in direct selling—the skill of its many experts, the price saving on huge sales volume—new products, new methods, new ideas for store management—all this is centred in your Rexall store and passed on to you in every purchase you make there.

Seniors Practice For Hexathlon

Local Boys to Compete with 5,000 Other Athletes

The senior athletes of the "Y" are training hard for the Hexathlon contests which are being run off in February. The local boys will compete against at least 5000 other athletes, representing about 82 States, and seven Provinces. The competing Associations are divided off into three classes, "A", "B", and "C" class. "A" includes Associations whose Physical Department membership is 1000 or more; Class "B" those who have a membership from 500 to 1000, and class "C" those whose membership is less than 500. The local Y. M. C. A. is competing in class "C".

Canada has been very successful in competing in this big event with the best Athletes in North America. On three occasions the Toronto West End have won the senior international contest. Toronto Central have taken the honors once. St. John, N.B. carried off the Class "C" event in 1922. Trophies are being awarded for the competitions. Three for the National Junior contest and three for the Senior contest, so all competing Associations have a chance at both events. In addition the International Committee offer splendid trophies for first place in both junior and senior international contests.

Good Scores At Recreation Alleys

Hardware Men Beat Ciaco's in Senior League Game

Five league matches were played at the Recreation Alleys last night. In the first, the Lady Wanderers won from the Maple Leafs by 213 pins. Miss A. Ethier was high for the losers and Mrs. Bottom for the winners.

The Durant-Stars made it four wins in a row when they won from the Natural Tread by 14 pins, both teams rolling high scores. This is the Natural Tread's first game. Bill Strahan had a high three string score of 691 and Rofe 576.

The Ink Slingers won from the Cooperers in the C. I. League by a wide margin. Hyslop and Monk rolling high for their respective teams.

In the C. N. League, the M. P. Shops made it four wins and no losses when they stepped into the Official's team No. 1, the winners rolling a record score for this league, spilling the maple for a total score of 2704. Austin for the Shops was high three strings with 701, for the Officials, Elliott rolled the highest score.

The hardware won from the Ciaco in a senior league fixture, Stratton and F. Barrett rolling the highest scores.

QUEEN BOO HOO DIED OF GASTRITIS

Kingston, Feb. 3.—"Queen Boo-Hoo died Monday of gastritis."

This cryptic message was received by Trainer Billie Hughes of Queen's from the Watertown Zoo, where the famous Queen's mascot has been for some time, and its announcement will bring regret to many followers of Queen's football team all over the country, to whom Boo-Hoo was a general favorite.

At the close of the football season of 1922 Queen Boo-Hoo, having attained a mature age, became slightly unruly, and though every effort had been made to tame her down, the efforts were unsuccessful and it was necessary to send her away. For a time she was kept at the Main Ducks on the farm of Mr. C. W. Cole of Cape Vincent, who has a number of animals there, and later she was sent to Watertown, where she was placed in a Zoo. There she has remained since, and she was as much a favorite there as she was in this city.

It is understood that since her removal from the city Queen Boo-Hoo has given birth to some cubs, and it is the intention of Billie Hughes to secure one of these as soon as it is old enough to introduce it into Queen's circles as a successor to the mother bear whose memory will be revered by Queen's students for many years.

In this connection it is interesting to note that King Boo-Hoo, the bear who was secured to succeed the old favorite, and who has never really filled her place, has been kept all winter in a special pen in Queen's grounds and has not denned up at all this winter. King Boo-Hoo is still very wild and cross, and it is doubtful if he will ever be tamed enough to become in any sense a mascot. Hence Billie Hughes' desire to secure one of Queen Boo-Hoo's descendants to fill her place.

Knock At Door Of Pro League

Belleville, Peterboro, Kingsston Apply Says Montreal Newspaper

The following is taken from the Montreal Gazette:

"Kingston, Belleville and Peterboro have made tentative application for a berth in the Quebec-Ontario Baseball League, according to an announcement made following the meeting of the directors, held yesterday afternoon at the Windsor Hotel. It was also divulged that a club might possibly be entered in the series this summer from Toronto, Quebec and Ottawa will again operate their franchises, while one team will represent Montreal. Whether the club will be A. O. Gadbois' Royals or Leo Dandurand's Canadiens has yet to be decided by arrangements between the two.

"The application from the Ontario cities follows the missionary work done for the league by President Joe Page in the past few weeks. The session yesterday was a short one. Owing to the absence of Leo Dandurand, who is confined to bed through illness and because time is wanted to more definitely arrange the plans for the increased league, the meeting was adjourned to February 18, when it is expected the arrangements in their final form will be completed.

"President Page left immediately after the close of the meeting for Quebec where he is entertaining four members of the Baseball Writers' Association of the United States, who are visiting on this side of the border for a taste of winter sports.

City League Games Provide Good Fun

Tigers and Boosters Win Last Night's Encounters

Two real interesting city league hockey fixtures held the undivided attention of an encouraging following of fans at the Turnbull street arena last evening, when the Tigers clashed with Point Anne and the Boosters met the Moguls.

In the second game, the Boosters also did some house cleaning and brightened up the Moguls by winning a 2-0 battle.

The ice was ideal, and in "zippy" weather, the boys sailed right into the fray. There was much real good hockey dished up, and the scores do not even indicate the evenly matched qualities of the teams as seen in action.

To-morrow night Boosters meet Point Anne and Tigers clash with Moguls.

GOALKEEPER TO WEAR OVERCOAT

It has been arranged. The date for the hockey classic of the season is set. The "Mongrels" meet the "News-dogs" from the Intelligencer at the Arnott arena Wednesday (tomorrow) night between the hours of ten and eleven o'clock. Both teams are planning the campaign to-day for the big challenge exhibition.

The "News-dogs" have discovered a brave boy for goal minder, a true lamb for the altar who claims that he will make more stops than a balky mule. By mutual consent the periods are to be fifteen minutes long, and it is also understood that the losers will "do the honors" at the "Chop suey foundry" after the battle-providing of course, the barbers lose.

The only fear which is entertained by Captain Cook of the challenged team, is that self consciousness may envelop his net guardian and minimize his effectiveness. To overcome this weakness, an "oversize" overcoat will be worn by this player.

The names of players on both teams are known but modesty prevents their use.

"E. Brockhurst is the brave goaltender.

GALT MADE IT FOUR IN A ROW

Kitchener, Feb. 3.—Galt seniors won rather a tame game here last night from Kitchener 4 to 2, thus taking all foru games from the locals this season, and being the only team to accomplish this.

The homesters appeared to be "stale" at times. They lacked finish to their attack, missing passes, and shooting widely. The game lacked snap until the third period, when Hillman tallied a disputed goal that brought the count up to 3 to 2. From then on there was a little more excitement. At the time the count was 3 to 1 for the visitors, who had come from behind to tie it in the first, and to assume the lead in the second. Hillman and Hillier broke away, and the former tallied on a slide shot that the Galt goal judge claimed was not over the line. Referee Mitchell, who was up with the play, overruled him, and would not listen to argument to the contrary. There was a great deal of argument about the goal, and a fight ensued between some of the Galt and Kitchener supporters back of the goal. The police had to pull the combatants apart.

TRENTON JUNIORS CAPTURED GROUP

Trenton, Feb. 3.—The Trenton juniors smothered Campbellford here last night, 10 to 2. Trenton juniors are now winners of Group No. 2. In the first period Trenton scored three, ending the period 3 to 0. The second was faster than the first. Trenton secured three more in this period, while Campbellford tallied twice.

In the third the visitors made a desperate effort to come from behind, but Trenton were too fast.

The Trenton intermediates have won Group No. 2.

The game was clean throughout, only three penalties were handed out and they were for minor offenses only.

Trenton—Goal, Lewis; defense, Allore and Bowen; centre, Bernard; wings, Lamore and Parry, subs. Anderson and Bohan.

Campbellford—Goal, Sanders; defense Lemiore and Cawell; wings, Blue and Parsons; sub., McArthur.

Referee—Jack Carmichael, Toronto.

Kingston Cinches Group Honors

By Defeating Belleville 11 to 1 at Home Last Night

Kingston, Feb. 3.—Before a large crowd of fans Kingston defeated Belleville 11 to 1 here last night. Belleville did not have their regular team and the game was all one-sided. Kingston scored five in the first, three in the second and three in the third. Reynolds, Smith and Hargraft were outstanding for Kingston, and Weir, Finkle and Lloyd for Belleville.

Kingston—Goal, Rogers; defense Reynolds and Rooney; centre, Watts; wings, Smith and Hargraft; subs, Donnelly and Lawlor.

Belleville—Goal, Lloyd; defense, Green and Finkle; centre Hibbard; wings, V. Weir and Arnott; subs., A. Weir and Townsend.

With this win, Kingston becomes group champions, the standing being as follows:

	Won	Lost	For	Agst
Kingston	5	2	31	34
Brockville	5	3	39	36
Belleville	1	5	30	42

Clarence Gibson, centre man of the Kingston intermediates, left Sunday for New York City where he has accepted a position. The loss of Gibson to the Kingston O.H.A. team is a heavy one, and though every effort was put forth by the local executive to retain Gibson, it was found impossible to do so.

As a result of Gibson's departure for New York, Watts was at centre ice last night against Belleville and Lawlor was used in the role of substitute.

NIAGARA FALLS IS SURE OF PLAY-OFF

London, Ont., Feb. 3.—Niagara Falls took a firm grip on the top rung of their group when they defeated the locals here last night by 4 to 3. It was a hard-fought battle, and only the brilliant defensive work of the visitors saved them from defeat. The Falls forward line worked well in the first two periods, and back-checked the locals to a standstill.

London entered the last frame three goals down and had a fund of surprises scoring two goals on pretty plays. They had all the play in this stanza and were only denied more goals by the visitors' wonderful defensive work.

The game was comparatively clean, there being eight penalties served, of which the Falls got five. With only two minutes to go, and the Falls playing two men short, London set a whirlwind pace, and it looked like another overtime session.

Each team scored one in the first stanza, and the 3,500 fans present were tossing hats and feeling very gay, evidently pleased with the locals' play. Their joy was short-lived, when Kitchen notched two for the visitors in the first three minutes of the second period. With only half a minute to go, Herrington made it 4 to 1.

Between the second and third periods, Referee Marsh announced that Preston were beating Stratford, and this seemed to put the fight in the locals. The forward line romped up the ice, three abreast, but try as they would, they could not tie the score.

London—Goal, Renaud; defense, Starkings and Fournier; centre, Lowery; wings, Leamy and Bellefeuille; subs, Zeigler and McKay.

Niagara Falls—Goal, Mayo; defense, Kitchen and Fraser; centre, Rice; wings, Herrington and Kelterbourne; subs, Seibert and Molson.

Referee—Lou Marsh, Toronto.

PRESTON PLAYED INDIANS TO DEATH

Preston, Feb. 3.—Preston seniors played Stratford "off their feet" here last night, defeating the visitors 6 to 1. Riversides held the visitors goalless until 10 minutes before full time, when Bill Carson passed to Frank Carson, who scored. Preston Riversides were at full strength for the first time since Jan. 7. Talbot and Butterfield, who were on the injured list, were back in the game, and their brilliant playing added considerably to the home team's win.

Every man on the Preston line-up turned in a good game, and credit of the win goes to every player from the goaltender out. The Riversides "subs" were as good as the regular, and the team was not weakened by the use of subs. Stratford played hockey all the way, but near the close of the game slowed, when they found that victory was impossible. Preston's win kept them in the running. They are only one game behind Stratford, and three games behind Niagara Falls, the group leaders.

Mrs. Peter Emmerson, for many years a resident of Chatham, passed away in her 79th year. She is survived by one daughter and one son.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

"Of course, I hate long engagements; besides, I've an absurd fancy for seeing her married before I die. Not that I think of dying just yet, you'll be sorry to hear. Better get the affair settled speedily. You can live in one of the places in the country; I don't care where it is, as long as you don't expect me to come and live with you," and he smiled sardonically.

Lord Cecil remained silent.

"You'd better take the Barton place. I hate it; but I hate all of them, so that is not much of a reason."

"Barton is too large, is it not, sir?" said Lord Cecil.

"That's my business," retorted his lordship, with something like a snarl. "I don't mean you to be a pauper, or to live with a couple of servants and on bread and cheese. You have done as I wished you to do, though not until you were compelled," and he smiled, significantly, "and I will do what is requisite in the way of money—for her sake."

"Thank you, my lord—for her sake," said Lord Cecil, grimly.

"Yes. Why doesn't she come and see me? Tell her to do so, if you please." He was silent a moment as Lord Cecil bowed, then he added: "The affair is making some stir, I suppose. I'm thinking whether I can summon up courage to give a party—in honor of the event."

"Pray, don't take so much trouble, sir," said Cecil.

"Yes, I suppose I must," continued the marquis, as if Cecil had not spoken. "It is the usual thing and she will look for it."

"I don't think Lady Grace expects——"

"You know very little of what Lady Grace expects," he interrupted, with cold contempt. "Tell her to come to me. Wait a moment, please," he added, as Lord Cecil was making his escape. "I am going to send her a present; that is also due to her. I suppose you have been able to afford her a thirty-shilling ring?"

"I gave rather more than that, sir," replied Lord Cecil, with a smile.

"Ah! go to that safe, if you please, and bring me one or two of the jewel cases. I will send her something now. Here are the keys—no, they are in that drawer," and he pointed to the small writing cabinet which always accompanied him, and handed Lord Cecil a small key.

Lord Cecil unlocked the cabinet, got the keys and was crossing the room to the safe, when the door opened.

"What the devil do you mean by coming in without knocking sir?" exclaimed the marquis; then, as he saw who it was, he said, in a softer voice: "Oh, it's you, Spencer, is it? You've come in time to hear the news and congratulate the bridegroom."

"Which I do with all heart, my dear Cecil," murmured Spencer Churchill, taking Lord Cecil's hand in both of his and pressing it affectionately, while he beamed a benedictory smile all over him. "With all my heart! I can't tell you, my dear marquis, how rejoiced I was to hear the news. Dear Lady Grace! So beautiful and so good! You are indeed, a happy man, Cecil! May every good gift which Heaven has to bestow——"

"That will do," broke in the marquis, with a sneer; "we'll take the rest as read, if you don't mind. I've told Cecil that I will give a party to mark my sense of his sense."

"A party? Excellent! Admirable!" exclaimed Spencer Churchill, rubbing his hands, his eyes going from the marquis' cold sardonic face to Lord Cecil's grave and rather moody one with keen watchfulness. "Now, how good of you to think of that! Why, how many years is it since you entertained in this house?"

The marquis compressed his lips.

"The last time was"—he paused a moment, then, as if out of sheer bravado, went on—"the night before my wife ran away from me! Not a pleasant omen for 'dear Cecil' is it?"

Spencer Churchill coughed behind his hand.

"Oh, there must be no bad omens for the young couple," he said, rather confusedly. "And what date is the party to be?"

"When you like," replied the marquis, with the most profound indifference. "I should enjoy it better if you'd wait until I'm dead, but, as it is I don't care when it is."

"Ah! then we must leave it to dear Lady Grace," said Spencer.

"I'm sending her a present," said the marquis, listlessly. "There are some things in that safe there; get them out and choose something."

"Now, how delightful," purred Spencer Churchill. "One of the old family jewels, eh dear marquis? A bracelet, or a ring, or something of that kind, I suppose?"

By this time Lord Cecil had reached the safe, and opened it, and Spencer Churchill with a smile of childlike interest and curiosity, went and stood beside him.

The safe was half full of papers, and nothing but papers as it appeared, and Lord Cecil said so, and waited for instructions.

"The cases are at the back," said the marquis. "For Heaven's sake! don't bother me over the business or I shall regret my sudden and unusual generosity," he added, with a sneer.

Lord Cecil took some of the documents out, and revealed a couple of jewel cases, and placing the former on a chair, carried the latter to the marquis.

"These papers want arranging, dear marquis," said Spencer Churchill, and he lingered behind as if casually; but his eyes flashed over the litter of parchments with keen and searching scrutiny.

"I dare say," assented the marquis, indifferently. "There are some wills of mine there, I think, but it doesn't matter. I shall live to make two or three more to add to this collection," and he glanced at Lord Neville maliciously.

Spencer Churchill laughed as if it were an excellent joke, and Lord Cecil opened the cases and set them on the small table beside the marquis.

"Are these what you want?" he asked.

"Yes, I supose so," said his lordship. "Choose something; here, Churchill!"

"Am I to help in the selection? Really!" he exclaimed, and leaned forward with such alacrity that he overturned the chair upon which the deeds were lying, and scattered them on the floor.

"Oh, I am so sorry! Tut, tut, how clumsy of me!" he exclaimed, apologetically, and he went down on his knees and gathered up the papers.

"Let them alone, for Heaven's sake," snarled the marquis, with cold irritation.

"Yes, yes, I'll pick them up," murmured Spencer Churchill, and with his back to the other two he rapidly examined each deed as he placed it on the chair. "Now, then," and he came to the table. "Ah! these are some of the Stoyle jewels! How exquisite they are and what a pity they should have been hidden away so long! How nice it is to reflect that they will soon adorn our beautiful Lady Grace, eh dear Cecil?"

REAL MOVIE STUNT PULLED BY WOMAN

Stratford, Feb. 3—Flagging a train at the C.N.R. Downie street crossing, and getting on safely, after the automobile in which she was a passenger had come to grief on its side in the station park, was the unique experience of a woman travelling to London.

The automobile was coming down Downie street at a good rate of speed The brakes were applied as the turn was made onto Shakespeare Street, and the heavy vehicle swerved, ran off the road and turned over, narrowly missing both a telephone post and a tree. The passenger was taken, uninjured, from the car. A passerby flagged the train which was just coming to the crossing and the passenger was put on safely. The car suffered some damage to the running board. The soft snow in which it fell undoubtedly was all that intervened between the spill and a serious accident.

An unidentified man on Saturday night held up a butcher shop in Windsor and forced the proprietor at pistol point to hand over $25.

Mrs. Florence King, wife of George King, Hamilton, died in the General Hospital. She was 40 years of age.

Harvey's Minstrels Please At Griffin

Colored Artists Work Hard In Eighth Annual Tour

It was Harvey's Greater Minstrels at the Griffin theatre last night, when a fair sized audience was entertained for two and a half hours by a company of colored folk, a number of whom were highly colored, others showing but faint traces of the African ancestry.

This, the eighth annual edition of Harvey's Minstrels is a very well balanced offering and is typical of old time minstrelsy, the olio probably being the strongest feature of the show, Ed. Williams, billed as "The Banjo Wizard" taking the laurels, Williams entertains alone by giving a remarkably versatile demonstration on the instrument. Bobby and Barbee with a pianologue also please. Bobby plays well and Miss Barbee knows how to sing popular songs. The climax is reached when Bobby stands on his head, sings, plays with his hands and beats time on the piano top with feet. Hugh Turner, the musical tramp in a monologue, handles his material with despatch, and is clever. He plays the hand saw and saxophone too. Johnson and Baker, the steward and cabin boy gave an ordinary ration of nonsense, with songs and steps which were the salvation of the act.

Though probably below par in the singing department, Harvey has no dearth of steppers of both sexes.

Jakie Smith, bass soloist sang, "Thousand Leagues 'Neath the Sea", for an encore, and Noah Robinson sallied through "Oh Baby" with the chorus for honors. Charlie Johnson the big but nimble interlocutor pleased in "Cake-walking Babies from Home."

In the first part, the end men were good, the quartette having many tricks which "tickled", and many good gags to work with, Beechum and Robinson being exceptionally good.

"Dear Old Southland," a song featuring Josie Austin, who sings sweetly, was worked to a pleasing climax with the whole company.

The closing scene, "Corn, Yeast and Rye", involving liquor, a bootlegger and a prohibition officer in disguise, ends tragically—for the bootlegger. It is a long drawn-out affair well placed in the program.

A strut drill by the girls was good and the show closed with a medley of hits used during the performance

Harvey's Minstrel's pleased, but without, "The Tall Talker", "The Black Patti," the silver tenor soloist and other memorable features of their last appearance in this city, the 1925 vehicle cannot be said to measure up exactly.

Charlie Johnson, the peppy big interlocutor deserves a word, for he had the show well in hand at all times.

The commpany carries an orchestra which is finished and greatly assists throughout. They play in Perth to-night.

Large Star Cast In Single Wives

Picture Showing at Griffin Theatre Until Thursday

The cast of "Single Wives," the First National Production which is now showing at the Griffin Theatre, is significant of the quality of this much discussed photodramas.

Co-featuring Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills, two of America's best beloved stars, the supporting cast is remarkable in that it contains names that have played a prominent role in the growth and development of the great amusement industry.

Kathlyn Williams, who is seen as Dorothy Van Clark, is best remembered as the heroine of that celebrated serial, "The Adventures of Kathlyn." Since her advent into the multiple reel dramas she has been starred and featured in many pictures, including the first "Spoilers," in which she played Cherry Malotte.

Lou Tellegen, whose work on the legitimate stage as leading man for Duse, Bernhardt and Rejane placed him in the forefront of the world's great actors is considered one of the screen's handsomest men. Only recently he was starred on Boardway in "Blind Youth" and was especially engaged for the role of Martin Prayle in "Single Wives."

Henry B. Walthall, often called the Mansfield of the screen, portrays the role of Dexter, whose love for Dorothy Van Clark creates chaos in the double triangle of the story. Phyllis Haver, possessor of the celebrated bathing suit figure, appears as Marion Eldridge, playing opposite John Patrick, the likeable drunk of "Flaming Youth" and "The Perfect Flapper."

Phillips Smalley, former director and husband of Lois Weber, and Jere Austin, who also appeared in "Sundown," make up the balance of the principals. Thelma Morgan Converse, daughter of Henry Mays Morgan, former consul of Belgium.

Several minor accidents caused from slippery pavements, were reported to the Hamilton police over the weekend. Cars were damaged but drivers and occupants escaped.

The new tabernacle of the Church of the Nazarenes at Woodstock was formally opened Sunday.

Splendid Comedy At Belle Theatre

Wherein Youth Attempts to Break Into Movies

James Cruze's latest Paramount picture, "Merton of the Movies", which opened at the Belle Theatre last night for a three days' run, was made famous as a Saturday Evening Post story by Harry Leon Wilson. It was hailed as a masterpiece of satire and shortly afterward appeared as a play by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. Its success on the stage was instantaneous and phenomenal. For more than a year it delighted audiences at the Court Theatre in New York and was later sent on tour where it duplicated its success in some of the largest cities of the United States. It was inevitable that it should find its way to the screen. "Merton" is ideal motion picture material.

Too much praise can hardly be given to Glenn Hunter for his admirable portrayal of Merton. His work is the outstanding feature of the picture. Mr. Hunter shows us what happens to a small-town youth who goes to Hollywood, determined to become a movie star. His adventures constitute a heart-gripping epic of pathos and drama, richly woven with typically American humor and a beautiful love story. Poor Merton! The harder he tries, the louder the audience laughs! "Merton of the Movies" is one of the greatest comedy-drama-burlesques ever flashed on the screen.

The other members of the exceptional cast include Viola Dana, featured; De Witt Jennings, Charles Ogle, Ethel Wales and Gale Henry.

RUSSELL SCOTT GETS 12 DAYS' GRACE

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Russell Scott, former promoter, of Toronto, under sentence of death for murder in connection with a hold-up, has won a twelve-day continuance on a motion for a new trial.

Judge Thomas Lynch in Criminal Court criticized the defense attorneys when they insisted on a continuances on the ground that there had been an agreement among counsel for both sides for a postponement to give the defense further time to prepare its case.

"You have been stalling since September!," said the jurist. "If "If this were a penitentiary sentence I would order the case to trial. Since a life is at stake, against my will I'll continue it until February 14."

Croup at Night No Longer Feared by Canadian Mothers

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Congested Air Passages.

Many Canadian mothers, who in the past have worried over croup and children's colds, are delighted with the "external" remedy for colds, Vicks VapoRub. You just rub Vicks over throat and chest for croup, children's colds, bronchitis or deep chest colds. When so applied the body heat releases the ingredients as vapors which are inhaled directly into the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and reducing the inflammation.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion. Croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

There is no dosing in using Vicks. Nothing to upset the delicate stomachs of small children. You just "rub it on".

DISCOVERED HOGS EATING THREE SHEEP

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Following the discovery of hogs eating sheep in a live stock car which arrived at the Union Stock Yards from Staples, Ont., and other cases of cruelty, charges of cruelty to animals have been laid against several shippers.

When Constable Alloway, on duty at the stock yards, opened a C.P.R. car shipped from Staples, he found that all that separated 14 cattle, two calves, 14 hogs and ten sheep were partitions made of sticks.

Three sheep on which the hogs were feasting, it was found, were still alive. They were immediately put out of their misery by the constable.

In another case a car was unlocked and three sheep were found smothered. One of other animal with broken limbs had to be destroyed. In another case seven dead sheep and one crippled animals were found in a car.

On Board 13 Years

Commencing his thirteenth year as a member of the Oshawa Board of Health Mr. John Gibson was honored by again being appointed chairman of the Board for this year. This decision was unanimously decided on by those present who were:— Mayor H. P. Schell, Dr. T. W. G. McKay, John Gibson, H. A. Ross, T. B. Mitchell, Dr. A. Hubbell and Dr. Van Zant. After his appointment, Chairman Gibson congratulated the Mayor on his election and also complimented Mr. Ross and Mr. Mitchem on their re-appointment to the Board.

Take Out Membership

Oshawa will take out a membership in the American Water Works Association and a corporate member ship costing $10 will be applied for, while Mr. W. C. Smith, city engineer, will also be made a member of that organization. This action was decided upon by the Water Commissioners at their meeting, and it was the unanimous decision that the city should be represented at the Canadian branch convention in Montreal this March.

The Picton council appointed these officers: Assessor, William A. Crawford, salary $200; collectors of taxes R. E. Wright, $200; medical officer of health, Dr. Gerald Allison, $250; member local board of health, Dr. C. A. Publow; fire engineer, Walter Reid; inspector of buildings, Chief of Police, poundkeeper, Owen Jones, Sr.; fence viewers, Alva Scott, Albert Welbanks and Samuel Shaw; fire wardens, Hallowell Ward, Coleman Whattam and D. Will Join Union

At a meeting of those in favor of entering the United Church of Canada in Whitby, a resolution was passed confirming a unanimous decision to worship with the Methodist Church until June when that Church will automatically enter the Union. In the vote taken by the Whitby Presbyterian Church, Union was defeated and the meeting of Unionists last night was to decide what steps they should take. When the Methodist Church becomes a United Church practically all of those favoring Union will remain there, Rev. E. Turkington, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian Church stated. About seventy attended the meeting.

Died In Her 94th Year

After an illness of long duration there passed away at the home of her son, Morton W. Davis, on Tuesday, Sarah Percival, widow of the late William Davis, Frankville, in her ninety-fourth year. Mrs. Davis had been confined to bed since two weeks prior to Thanksgiving day, where she had been tenderly nursed and cared for by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. M. Davis. Her husband who was a prosperous farmer at Frankville passed away fifteen years ago, since which time she had made her home with her sons.

Off On a Trip

Misses Kathleen and Helen Gillespie Picton, have left for an extended trip west. In the spring they will go north to Vancouver and visit Mrs. Garfield Gillespie for some time before returning home.

No More Free Rides

No more free rides for the posties. That is the edict if the present situation continues. For many years the Dominion government has made a contract with the Kingston Street Railway company to carry all postmen on duty for a fixed sum of about twenty-five dollars each a year. The government sought to renew this contract but the street railway company asked for an increase which the government refused to consider, with the result that the contract has expired. Meanwhile new negotiations have been started, and for a month the street railway will carry the postmen as before, whether it receives the contract or not. If the contract is not renewed, the city will receive tickets and the rest will have to get their boots half-soled oftener.

Firemen Save Dog

Peterboro, Feb. 3.—Fireman "Archie" McBride was the hero of a small fire at 172 Lake Street on Saturday morning. When the firemen arrived at the scene of the blaze, the house was filled with smoke. A valuable bull dog was roaming about the house and was just about to fall from suffocation when McBride noticed it and carried it out into the open air, where it soon was alive and kicking again. The blaze started in a hot air register and spread up the wall. The damage is estimated at about $200.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is Dependable Laxative for Sick Children

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will sweeten the stomach and thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its pleasant taste. It never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

GETTING TOO FAT? TRY THIS—REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., General Motor Bldg., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be able to reduce steadily and easily and pleasantly, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Start taking them to-day and get slender.

BLACKMAILERS FELL INTO TRAP SET

Newark, N.J., Feb. 3.—A street battle with revolvers following a black hand plot to extort $10,000 from the Rev. Father Ernest D'Augulla, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, resulted in the wounding early yesterday of two alleged conspirators and one detective.

Selvatore Falconi, one of the alleged blackmailers, begged for poison last night at a Newark hospital to end the suffering caused by his wounds. Frank Rizzo, also wounded, was held by the police with Guliano Cortese, on a charge of blackmail attempt Humbert Berardi, the wounded detective is expected to recover.

The fight occurred when watching detectives arrested the men as they crept up to a public school window where a dummy package of money had been left as a trap by Father Gaetano Sierranzzo curate of the church. Father Sierranzzo administered last rites to Falconia, who was thought to be dying.

Rheumatism

Stops pain at once

Any rheumatic pain calls for Red Pepper Rub. Not mustard, not plasters, not liniment. Not any old-time method. Men have found a better way, and everbody should use it.

Nothing else supplies such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt you. You feel it instantly. In three minutes it seems to reach the depths. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. Pain and the soreness go.

Why suffer torture when such relief is at hand? Why cling to the old methods when a new one is better? You can prove in one hour that it is. This is the quickest relief men know.

Get it now and keep it ever ready. Pain often starts at night. Red Pepper Rub is saving others millions of hours of pain. Learn, for your own sake, what it can save you.

Things we live with

CLOTHING that touches and warms us, food that strengthens us, home furnishings that comfort our bodies, luxuries that lift our minds—these are the things that really matter in our intensely personal lives.

The better clothes, foods and pleasures that others enjoy, we strive to enjoy too—labor daily to secure them.

To inform of the best, advertisements are written. Through them the new that has been tested and proved good, offers itself each day.

The advertising columns help you identify wares worth while. They lift the best prominently before you. They help you determine which dealers can serve you.

Road Work

"During the winter we endeavoured to keep the arteries of traffic in the most serviceable condition by the use of a road snow plough and definite organisation to carry out the by-law with regard to clearing sidewalks, and I believe, from expressions volunteered from time to time, that this endeavour was a matter of satisfaction to the people generally. With the opening of spring and throughout the summer season we were able to carry out an extensive, though not expensive, programme of road repairs, and with the closing of the year we once more took up the matter of snow cleaning.

Snow Cleaning

"Briefly summarizing the road work during the year, other than pavements, I may say that all the thoroughfares in the city were cleared of a heavy snow to a hard surface on two separate occasions, using a road plough on some 75 miles of streets, and these were made firm road beds, easy of movement for the citizens generally and particularly for the Fire Department. The cost of this work, in spite of the very heavy snow falls, was less than $100, for the season, representing only the time of three or four teams for about four days. The winter of 1924, which is from January until March and during December, saw us endeavouring to enforce the cleaning of sidewalks, and 283 properties in the city were cleared by the Public Works Department and will be charged for this work. This represents nearly nine miles of sidewalks shovelled once in the winter. The cost of this work was covered by the Public Works Appropriation of 1924 and the receipts will not be credited until 1925, so that there is an apparent overdraft on the Public Works to this extent and will be a credit in 1925.

"On three separate occasions we sanded both sides of all our main thoroughfares and made a careful inspection of the side streets and sanded any exceptionally icy spots. The result of our activities must have helped the City to some extent, because there was a very marked decrease in the number of claims filed for accidents by falling and the Liability Company had a very favourable year. We are endeavoring to pursue the same policy this year as far as this Department is concerned, and the support of the Council, which we have had and appreciated in the past, will add materially to the success of the City with regard to the prevention of accidents.

"For example, yesterday morning the sidewalks were very slippery due to the sudden freezing after the soft spell Saturday last and our sanding crews were out early Sunday morning sanding all the hills so that our citizens attending church or walking on Sunday would have a safer footing. The co-operation of the public, in so far as sanding sidewalks is concerned, has not been very marked and it is my hope that with the advent of the late winter sun melting the snow and forming ice on the sidewalks they will protect their fellow citizens by putting some ashes on the walks and thus making them safe for pedestrians. Our insurance premium for public liability has been reduced $700.00 and I believe that, to a very marked extent, the work of this Department has been a material factor in this reduction.

Road Repairs

"After recommendation to the 1923 Council and again in 1924 we were able to obtain a steam scarifier attached to our steam roller ready for work by June 15th and we immediately began repairing the main thoroughfares of the City, which had not a permanent pavement.

"The extent of our work during the year and the variances in the nature of the road surfaces torn up necessitated the opening of the quarry which the Public Works Department operated. He also, in addition to the quarry product, had to bring in fine stone for finishing of the scarified roads. The quarry operated for sixty three (63) days and crushed nearly 6,000 tons at a cost per ton of 84 cents. In addition 600 tons of fine stone chips were used. The total area of roads repaired was 7.04 miles of which 1.03 miles represented the repair of roads on which sewers had been built during 1923 and represented a total area of 97,290 square yards. The cost of the repair of the main roads was $12,435 which together with $9,398 for oiling of these road surfaces amounted to $21,833, for repair and resurfacing and oiling of approximately 100,000 square yards of which 40,000 square yards was given the second application of road oil. The cost of scarifying and repairing per square yard, in which there was a minimum grading, was 15,725 cents and on those roads on which there was extensive grading such as Cannifton Road and St. Charles street, the cost per square yard was 34.85 cents. The cost per square yard for oiling was 6.71 cents. In the repairing of the roads we found a great deal of the road surface did not have sufficient metal and as a result 4,200 tons of stone from the quarry in addition to 600 tons of fine stone were used to bring them to the standard to which they are today.

"To give you some conception of the extent of this work the following divisions of the city is explanatory:

Foster ward area 2.24 miles of road aggregating 31,546 sq. yards.

East Hill and Station Street, 2.32 miles of road aggregating 32,694 sq. yards.

Total: 7.04 miles, aggregating in all 97,200 sq. yards.

"The 1924 program enabled us to develop into fairly satisfactory residential roads 7 miles which together with 7 miles of permanent pavements gives us an approximate development of 33 percent of all our road area.

"During 1925 it is my intention to try and repair those roads on which sewers have been built during 1924 and on about one-half the mileage of the secondary residential streets. In 1924 programme in the main being confined to just our main thoroughfares such as Dundas Street East, N. Front Street Moira Street and Bleecker Avenue. The development has enabled us to have a complete belt line of good roads of Front Street, Station Street, Bleecker Avenue and Dundas Street with a connecting link of Albion Street, Pine and Charles Sts. With the repair of Yeomans and Catherine Streets during 1925 we will have a second belt of Coleman, West Moira, Yeomans and Bridge with Catherine as a cross road. The College Hill area has been fairly thoroughly repaired and only a minimum of work is required there. The Bay Bridge area requires the development of Coleman Street south of Bridge, and the connecting link of the Trent Road between the Town line and Highland avenue. All of the streets in Foster Ward were scarified and rolled, but not oiled owing to the lateness of the season with the exception of the road leading to the Marsh Engineering Company.

Local Improvements

Our Local Improvement construction during 1924 cost $70,000, approximately, in comparison with $215,000 in 1923 and $35,000 in 1922.

Sewers

13 new sewers were constructed during the year, as compared with 19 in the previous year, aggregating a total length of 7,862 ft. together with 201 new services, aggregating an additional 5,855 ft. making a total length of trenching of 13,717 ft. and 34 new manholes were constructed. The total expenditure during the year for this work was $30,321.43, with an additional $2,174.88 representing the cost of the sewer built for the Mead-Johnson Company, Limited. With the completion of the 1924 sewer programme we have now approximately 24 miles of sewers in the City, exclusive of house connections, representing nearly 60 per cent. of the total mileage of our streets now sewered with this improvement. There are on hand at the present time, orders for six new sewers for the coming year, aggregating 4,500 lineal feet, all but one of which require the construction of a water main before they can be used. There will be, in addition to these, nearly 4,000 ft. of private drain connections as well.

In the matter of relief work during the winter for the unemployed, while it is desirable to give work when possible, yet I do not favor the construction of sewers for this purpose, as the cost is very materially increased for winter work and it practically means that the abutting property bears the extra expense of this work which should properly be borne by work of a more general nature.

Building Permits

"Building permits issued during 1825 totaled 60 in all aggregating a total sum of $195,000.00. It was a matter of regret that there is not an appreciation in this City of the desirability of obtaining permits. In most cases the permit was taken out only after I had written or informed the builder or owner that it must be done. Undoubtedly many constructions were overlooked because of this fact and I think that in 1925 the enforcement of the By-law will be more effectively looked after. A healthy summary of building activities is a good indication of the progress of the City and outsiders note the low records we have and plan accordingly. The larger corporations continually request the information from us and the smaller ones must naturally feel that we are not as progressive as we really are. Deducting the advantage of the Albert College permit in 1923 of $232,000.00 or the new King George school of 1922 of $130,000.00, our total permits were:

$76,000.00 over those of 1921.
$141,000.00 over those of 1923.

"In 1924 the effect of our new industries made itself felt in the most active year of building dwellings, it being the largest value since 1912, which is as far back as our records extend, with the exception of 1919 immediately following the war and at which period every municipality noted the same effect.

"I would ask of those contemplating building during the coming year that each one file the necessary particulars before starting work and we will arrange to broadcast the aggregate through the public press of the country.

Build your body back to Health

TANLAC is a great natural builder. It revitalizes the blood, stimulates the digestive organs, rejuvenates the liver and peps you up all over.

From the four corners of the earth we gather the roots, barks and herbs that go into Tanlac. We compound them after the famous Tanlac formula that has brought health to millions.

Our files are crammed with testimonials from men and women in every walk of life, who state gratefully that Tanlac has brought them back to vigorous strength.

If you suffer from indigestion, loss of appetite, can't sleep or rest; if rheumatism is making life a torture; if your liver is out of sorts and your body has run down to skin and bones, get a bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's and start taking it right away.

You'll be amazed to note the improvement that comes at once. For the first time in months you'll feel like eating some good solid food. You'll wake up in the morning rested and refreshed, ready for a good day's work. First thing you know you'll have some color in your cheeks and the sparkle of health back in your eyes.

Don't put off taking Tanlac. Begin now if you want to build your body back to health and vigor.

Baptist Minister Praises TANLAC

"I had suffered from stomach trouble and nerve troubles for over 30 years until I could hardly summon the strength necessary to prepare my sermons. Six weeks after taking Tanlac I had a brand new outlook on life. I had a fine appetite, steady nerves and a brand new digestive system. Tanlac has never failed me."

Soviet Going Back To Piece Work

Back Down From Important Plank in Russian System

Riga, Feb. 3.—During the last fortnight the Bolsheviki have decided to introduce unobtrusively several measures to invigorate the economic life of Soviet Russia, some of which are in striking contradiction to the doctrines they hitherto have professed.

The most noteworthy is perhaps the supreme trade unionits authority's scheme to raise the productivity of labor by enforcing the application of the piecework system as much as possible in all industries. The scheme explicitly removes all maximum production limits and consequent wage limits, and definitely expresses the hope that workers will increase both their output and earnings to an indefinite extent. Piecework payment, which in the early years of the revolution the Bolsheviki condemned, gradually has crept in since they began a campaign a year ago to spur the workers to greater production as the only means of bringing prices down and saving Soviet industry from total ruin.

The Currency Department of the Soviet Government has decided to abolish the existing prohibition and henceforth allow private persons and enterprises to conclude agreements not only in Tchervontsi, but also in foreign currencies.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party recently held a special meeting to consider ways and means of overcoming the widespread evil of nonpayment of workers' wages which they considered one of the chief obstacles to the increase of the industrial output because it fostered discontent among the workers and conflicts. The trust directorates' figures produced at the meeting show some progress has been made during the last few months in dealing with this problem.

On Jan. 1 Soviet industries, apart from chemical concerns, still owed their workers £312,000 whereas in October the arrears of wages amounted to £1,410,700 and in July £1,207,600. The greatest debtors to the workers were the metal industry and the Don coal mines.

The Soviet press announces the arrival at Leningrad from Birkenhead and London of the first cargoes of flour purchased abroad, amounting to 6,300 tons.

Brantford will appeal to the Federal Government for construction of a subway at Market or George streets to end the five-track level crossing danger and to provide employment for city workers.

C.N.R. Works Out Plan For Workers

By Which Union Men Will Share in Shop Responsibilities

Moncton, Feb. 3.—Steadier employment, better working conditions, greater output and improved service to the public are expected to result from the plan of co-operation between the seven federated shop crafts and the management of the Canadian National Railways, being instituted in the shops here. The programme has been in operation on several United States Railway systems, notably the Baltimore & Ohio, and has met with the approval of both the management and the labor unions. This, however, is the first occasion on which it has been tried out in Canada.

The authorities say that the plan is the natural result of the evolution of the labor unions, and it means a recognition on the part of the management, of the fact that the organizations are more than merely protective bodies, and that they can be of greatest assistance in keeping down costs, with at the same time no injury resulting to the staff through lay-offs, which are usually associated with the so-called seasonal occupations. It also means the assumption of great responsibilities by labor.

Questions of interest to both the management and the men will be dealt with through committees, which are already in existence, but which in the past have concerned themselves only with grievances. Regular meetings will be held, at which problems will be discussed and the division of the increased returns resulting from the adoption of co-operative methods will be discussed and decided upon.

Captain O. S. Beyer, who is retained by the railway employees' branch of the American Federation of Labor at Washington, and whose services are at the disposal of any railway which wishes to study and ultimately adopt the plan, is in the city making the arrangements. Surveys carried on for some months have been completed, and at a meeting of the labor unions last evening, Captain Beyer was given a splendid reception when he discussed the plan with the men. He will be here several weeks, getting the organization working properly. He has had extensive experience in work in the United States, where he has been largely instrumental in smoothing out difficulties which have arisen among both the men and the management of the various railways.

The progress of the plan will be watched with the keenest interest throughout the Dominion in railway circles, as both the men and the management say if it is successful it will mean a stabilization of employment in the seven shop crafts, a new era of understanding between the men and management, and will eliminate the periodical, and sometimes serious, disputes.

MRS. B. H. HART SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. BURT H. HART, Box 1081, Cornwall, Ontario.

Mrs. Hart wants to help other women and is willing to answer letters from sick women asking about the Vegetable Compound.

WOMAN IS DEVIL'S ASSET SHE ASSERTS

Toronto, Feb. 3—"Woman has been down the years, sad to say, the devil's chief asset. The devil had always exploited woman. It is always woman, woman, woman. He has used her to claim men's souls." was one of the sayings of Mrs. Victoria Booth Clibborn Demarest, when she addressed a crowded Massey Hall meeting of women Friday afternoon on "Love and Marriage."

"It has been said the man is the head. Woman is the neck that turns the head and she can turn the head in whatever direction she pleases." was another saying. The speaker was not one of those who considered women above men, "I am not so foolish" she added.

"Flirtation is a sin. Flirtation is the essence of selfishness."—"How many lives has it ruined?"—"How many hearts has it broken?"—How many homes has it wrecked?"—How many men have been sent to the devil because a woman plays with them?"

"You may play with fire and be able to withdraw just in time. You may save your own skin, but some other poor girl will have to pay the bill."

WOULD PRESERVE ROBIN HOOD HOME

Nottingham, England, Feb. 3.—On the ground that a proposed railway line through Sherwood Forest would destroy the beauty of the legendary home of Robin Hood a strong local protest has been started headed by Earl Manvers.

The railway company wants to put in a line to serve a new colliery, but as this would touch Beech Avenue, one of the most beautiful spots in the country, the local population is up in arms.

A prolonged illness resulted in the death on Saturday of James Nicholson, a retired letter carrier, who for 26 years served on the London mail delivery staff. He was active as a Mason and an Anglican.

HORSES BOLT; DRAG DRIVER HALF A BLOCK

Dangerous Run-Away on Front Street Last Evening

STARTED ON BRIDGE

Luckily Streets Were Practically Deserted at The Time

The lucky absence of pedestrians from their undecided course, probably prevented a furious runaway team of horses from adding another fatality to the toll of Belleville street accidents at 8.30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The horses which were hitched to a two seated, double cutter were being driven into the city by their owner, George Richards, of Stirling, and had reached the corner of Moira and North Front street when they made the bolt. Richards, an elderly man, had temporarily slackened the reins while he pulled the Buffalo robe up over himself, and at that moment the team bolted, running across the upper bridge, upsetting the cutter.

Though this happened in an instant, the plucky driver held to the reins and was dragged at a terrific rate over hard, snow packed Front street, while the few pedestrians on the northern extremity of the street at that hour, gasped as they remembered the recent, Saturday morning run-away tragedy in Front street, and watched the movie-thrilling exhibition.

Crash Into Store

Just in front of the Durant Motors building at 321 Front street, the horses turned for the sidewalk, probably having been pulled to one side by Richards who still clung to the reins. They galloped right into and ran along the side walk, until they were in front of Kroch Brothers store, where they endeavoured to go out into the street again. In so doing, one horse went on one side of the Hydro standard and the other horse went on the other side. They were travelling at great speed and the neck yoke, tongue and harness were smashed and torn, by the sudden impact one horse breaking clear of the cutter and his team mate. The free horse turned up Victoria avenue and galloped up to Pine street where two boys, Burton Graham and Earl Darrah corralled and caught him.

In the meantime, the other animal with the cutter still attached, tore down Front street. At Cherry Press the horse took to the sidewalk again and galloped along the sidewalk past store fronts with the badly wrecked cutter swaying behind him. He did not leave the side walk for the roadway again until he reached a point opposite Burrow's Office, when he again went out into the road, turning up Campbell street, where the cutter swung into a parked auto, and the horse finally broke loose. The horse continued up Campbell street to Pinnacle, along Pinnacle to Bridge, and up over the Bridge street hill and over to Dundas street where he was caught by Ernest T. Bunnett, grocer at 145 Dundas street east. Bunnett stopped the animal, who was becoming very tired, in front of his store.

Bunnett lead the horse to the police station and later the overheated but uninjured animal was taken to Lafferty's Livery barn. The second horse was also taken to the barn.

The cutter was practically a total wreck and the harness was torn and badly broken.

Mr. Richards who was forcibly thrown against the door of Durant Motors when the horses took to the sidewalk, was not injured he said.

Luckily the streets were practically deserted at the time. One man who was in the act of entering his place of business on Front street just south of Victoria avenue, had a narrow escape. He was unlocking the door when he saw the infuriated horses coming for the sidewalk. He saw that he could not get the door unlocked and get inside before they had reached him, so he hastily ran to an open doorway just south of where he stood, and in safety there watched the animals gallop past. Just a few feet further south, they took to the sidewalk.

"Had there been a Saturday crowd on Front street last night there surely would have been someone killed", the man later stated.

Labor Suggests Harry Thompson

As Right Man to Fill Vacancy on Aldermanic Board

At a meeting of the Trades and Labor council held in the city last night the meeting asked that a recommendation be forwarded to the City Council asking for the appointment of ex-Alderman, Harry A. Thompson to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Alderman A. E. LaRoche from that body.

COLLIN'S FOOT SET FREE, BUT STILL PRISONER

Walled in by Rock After Release This Morning

DOCTOR WAS RUSHED

Noted Surgeon To Have Bene Used For Amputation

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Feb. 4.—A slide in the sand cave this morning left Floyd Collins' foot free for the first time since he was imprisoned on Friday morning. But Collins was left walled in behind a rock wall which fell from the side of the cave.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 4.—Encouraged by their progress during the night, a weary band of rescuers, the same men who have worked their way into the sand cave again and again since Floyd Collins, 35, cave explorer, was trapped 150 feet from tunnel entrance Friday morning last, went back into the cave early today, hoping to dislodge the boulder which pins Collin's foot.

Last night, a crew of men headed by William B. Miller, staff correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal, formed a human chain from the imprisoned man to the mouth of the cave and laboriously passed out sand stone, scooped up by hand from around the body of the victim. It is estimated that two bushels of earth had been removed from around him last night, the object being to get at Collins' feet. One by one, leaders of the various rescue parties have collapsed. The man most concerned, however clings grimly to life.

Victim Still Hopeful

"I believe I would go to Heaven," he told Miller when the little newspaper man went into the cave for the third time last night to feed him. "But I feel that I am to be taken out alive and with both feet." An expert driller is speeding to Cave City today from Louisville with an electric chipper and other equipment. There is also a special train at Louisville ready to rush Dr. William Hazlett, surgeon of St. Luke's Hospital at Chicago, commissioned by an unknown wealthy woman to enter the cave and amputate Collins' leg.

The operation will be a difficult feat as the doctor will have to work lying down with only a few inches of space above his body. Relatives of imprisoned man are opposed to operation, it is said, except as last resort.

Collins himself now looks to W. B. Miller, newspaper writer, for his greatest hope. Last night Miller scooped and dug with his hands until he succeeded in reaching the lower part of Collins' legs. The boulder blocked further progress, Miller reported. Miller collapsed during the night and was pulled out of the cave by fellow workers.

Three Local Men Caught In House

Face Charge of Breaking and Entering at Police Court

William Hogan, Thomas Cornell and Robert Davison, local men, were taken into custody at 2 o'clock this morning by city police officers, and were remanded for one week when they appeared before Police Magistrate S. Masson this morning, charged with breaking and entering the apartments of John Butterfield, who is ill in the General hospital at present.

Receiving a call, two officers visited the apartments at 329 1-2 Front street, where they found two of the men setting the table and the third man standing there. The police found that the wooden bar which held the door of the temporarily, unoccupied apartments secure, had been broken and there was evidence of the place having been entered by force. The men were consequently taken to the station house.

Jack Goslin, who has been attending to the apartment, told the police that he left the place at 11 o'clock, and when he left everything about the place was secure.

Bail was being arranged for the men this morning.

FREIGHT RATES PROGRESSIVES' CHIEF CONCERN

So Robert Forke Said at His Arrival Yesterday

READY FOR SHOW

Have Rehearsed Pomp Attending Opening To-morrow Afternoon

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Parliament opens to-morrow with railway rates and senate reform probable as dominate themes. Members are flocking into the city.

There have been rehearsals of the pomp which marks the coming and going of the Governor-General between the official residence and the Senate Chamber where he will formally open the fourth session of Canada's fourteenth parliament. The Governor-General's escort will be provided by the Princess Louise Dragoon guards.

On his arrival at the Capital yesterday to prepare for the session, Robert Forke, progressive leader, said that transportation would be the chief concern of his forces in the session about to open.

"We want lower freight rates, and we want them provided by statute" he said. "We consider that in that lies the salvation of the West."

A number of Kiwanians are leaving Belleville to-night to be on hand for the event to-morrow and several Liberals are to take the trip also.

Germans Continue War Scourge Idea

Says French Deputy and French Press Too

Paris, Feb. 4—An account of a new war scourge said to have been developed by the Germans is causing a stir in the French press, notwithstanding denials from official quarters. In the course of a lecture delivered at St. Chamond recently, deputy Pierre Tiatigner declared that the Germans had secretly perfected a chemical product with which airplanes could annihilate several cities within a few hours. Details of the invention he added recently came to knowledge of the French war ministry.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 4.—May wheat rose slightly above $2 mark shortly after the opening of Board of Trade session here today. This delivery was selling at $2 3-8 a bushel or 6 2-4 cents above the low point of yesterday. Action of May was reflected in other months. Higher quotations at Liverpool was largely responsible for upturn in values today. Commission houses rushed to buying side of the market. There was considerable activity from the outset. After opening ¼ cent lower to 1 7-8 cent higher with May $1.99¼ to $1.99 3-4 and July $1.68 ¼ to $1.68 3-4 the market scored a slight general advance and then eased off again. Corn and oats took their cue from wheat. Outside interest was more pronounced in corn and led to fairly persistent commission house buying, all deliveries reaching into new ground for season. Initial questions for corn which ranged from ¼ to 1 5-8 cent higher with May $1.26 2-4 to $1.27 7-8 were followed by slight sag and then something of rise all around oats started unchanged to ¼ to 3-8 cent higher with May 63¼ to 63½ and held close to first figures provisions were firm in line, higher hog values and advance in grain.

PREPARE HERE FOR MEETING ON PROHIBITION

Field-Secretary of Union Addressed Delegates From District

APPROVE STAND

Taken by Premier Ferguson And Attorney General Nickle

Representative Temperance workers from the ridings of East Hastings, West Hastings, Northumberland, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac and Leeds, met in the Y.M.C.A. rooms in this city, this morning to consider the Temperance situation. Most of the clergyman of the city also were present and a strong delegation from the W. C. T. U.

Mr. C J. Bell, Field-Secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Union outlined the plans proposed by the union. He intimated that a convention will be held on the tenth inst in almost every riding throughout the province, and indicated subjects which might properly be discussed. He intimated that these conventions should put themselves on record as approving of the stand taken by Premier Ferguson and Attorney-General Nickle. He believed this would be done by Temperance people regardless of their party affiliations. It would be well also for these riding conventions to appoint a delegation to wait upon the local memebr and urge him to stand by the O. T. A. The convention should also boost the Provincial Convention which will be held in Massey Hall, Feb. 17 and 18, he said. The Moderation League will hold their convention a few days later.

Mr. Bell suggested also, that if the riding passed resolutions bearing upon the O. T. A., these should be sent to the central executive in Toronto, and they could then be incorporated into resolutions which the Provincial body would probably submit to the Government.

"Swell" Detectives "Patronize" Clubs

Startle London Life By Gathering Important Information

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 4.—Proprietors of night clubs and habitues of those resorts suffered a jolt to-day upon learning that Scotland Yard has had its eye upon them for weeks. Detectives disguised as guests and attired in evening dress have been in regular attendance at all the principal clubs, gathering evidence for Home Secretary Sir William Joynson-Hicks who is preparing a bill for Parliament under which police would have greater powers of supervision over clubs. Detectives are said to have witnessed much selling of liquor out of hours.

Girl Aids Bandits In Fiendish Theft

Stabbed Printer Who Did Not Have Much Money On Him

New York, Feb. 4.—Brooklyn detectives today are seeking another "blonde bobbed bandit" as the accomplice of two thugs who yesterday inflicted eight stab wounds on John Kelly, a printer, of 140 North Portland Avenue.

Kelly, who works at night and was hurrying through City Park in Brooklyn on his way home when he was held up, robbed and stabbed gave the police a good description of the two thugs and their feminine companion, all of whom sped away in a taxicab and left him wounded and bleeding on the ground.

Entering the park at Navy street and Park Avenue, Kelly said he had taken but a few steps before two men, who looked like foreigners, stepped out in front of him.

Under the glare of a park light, one of the bandits poked a revolver into his ribs, while another twisted his right arm and began rifling his pockets. The thieves found only $3 and some change in Kelly's pockets, and began torturing him in their efforts to make him admit that he had more money concealed in his clothing.

While the three men struggled, cursed and argued, the door of a taxicab on the corner opened and the blonde bobbed accomplice stepped out. Kelly told the police that the young woman roundly berated the two men for taking so much time in completing the hold-up.

"Get a little life into this thing; give him the works quick or let him go," Kelly quoted the young woman as saying.

Immediately upon receiving this order from her, the two men, Kelly says, drew knives, cut all the pockets of his clothing in their search for more money and then knocked him down.

Just before leaving him to rejoin the girl, who was strolling back to the taxi-cab evidently in disgust over the amateurish delay, one of the men said:

"If you haven't got any money, we'll leave our trade mark on you."

Whereupon both bandits fell upon the printer and stabbed him and then ran to the taxicab, Kelly says one of the bandits jumped into the front seat and drove off, while the other seated himself in the rear of the cab beside the girl.

Policeman Williams, of the Classon Avenue station, found Kelly lying in the park almost unconscious from loss of blood.

ONTARIO CITIES URGE PROVINCE TO HELP OUT

Unemployment Burden very Heavy One For Municipalities

ASKS COMMISSION

Mayor Mikel Says Money Withheld From Circulation at Present

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb 4—The Ontario Government was urged to take immediate action to assist the various municipalities of the Province in bearing the financial strain of endeavoring to cope with the unemployment situation by a deputation representing all the larger urban centres which waited on W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General and Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health this morning.

Mayor Wenige of London declared the need was far beyond the resources of municipalities and other speakers presented the case for their districts.

A passionate appeal was presented by Mayor Mikel of Belleville, who stated there was no lack of money in Canada, the real difficulty being the fact that industry was in such a condition that its circulation was impossible. Mr. Mikel stated that he did not advocate a dole, but suggested a commission to investigate the situation.

"I am sure that you have impressed my colleagues as you have myself that there is an unusual condition existing in the Province to-day," stated Hon. W. F. Nickle replying to the employment deputation. "It seems from your representations that certain cities are suffering an undue burden and I will as will my colleagues, impress on the Government the urgency of the situation."

CHINAMAN VICTIM OF HOLD-UP MEN

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Two armed bandits, operating in a stolen automobile, walked in to the restaurant of Duck Lum, 639 Dupont street, shortly after midnight Monday night, poked guns at the proprietor, ordered him into his kitchen at the back of the store, and carried out the cash register containing about $100. When they were preparing to make their getaway in the stolen auto it stalled on them, and they were forced to drop the cash register, and escape on foot. Duck Lum, the proprietor, who had been held in the kitchen, ran out after the thugs, and had a good opportunity of capturing them, but told the police that when he was about to capture one of the men with the money taken from the till, he was again greeted with orders: "Get back or I'll blow a hole in you."

The automobile had been stolen from Dr. C. R. O'Brien, 48 College street, earlier in the evening.

CITY AND COUNTRY

(From the Peterboro Examiner)

Down in Belleville they have for the last five years been carrying out a splendid plan, designed to bring rural and city residents of Hastings into a closer entente.

Each year the Hastings County Council are the guests of the Belleville City Council and Chamber of Commerce at a get-together banquet.

The result is that over one hundred representative citizens of the county and county town meet round the festive board, get acquainted with each other socially and discuss problems that are of importance to both rural and urban folk.

There is need of that kind of thing in every county in Ontario, and the Belleville plan could be followed generally with a great deal of benefit not only to particular localities but to the Province as a whole—and to the Dominion.

The city and the county, being so closely inter-dependent upon each other and the prosperity of one so obviously hinging upon the prosperity of the other, should know each other better, and no practical way of accomplishing this seems to suggest itself than the bonne entente dinner inaugurated in Belleville.

In Peterborough one link that holds the two sections of the county in closer relationship is the Industrial Exhibition, for the coming together of rural and city directors to discuss the welfare of the project in which they are mutually interested has had a most beneficial effect in giving each class a different understanding and appreciation of the other.

A DISCREDITED MOSES

Marcus Garvey, self-styled "provisional president of Africa," has lost his appeal against a sentence of five years imprisonment and a fine of $1,000 for using the mails to defraud. This negro agitator, inspired if not directly incited by Moscow propaganda, had a grandiose scheme to take to Africa as many American negroes as he could persuade to fall in with his plans, there to form a nucleus for a black republic which should ultimately include all the negroes of the continent. At the back of his mind was the idea of a race war in which the whites should be driven out of Africa and the blacks possess the land for themselves. The "Black Star Line" of steamers to carry his followers to the Land of Promise was part of his project, and he actually purchased one unseaworthy tub, which made one or two trading voyages to the West Indies with about as successful results as have attended the operation of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. The failure of the line, and the methods by which Garvey had disposed of stock, earned him the ill-will of some of his dupes, and there followed the prosecution and conviction to which the unsuccessful appeal is the sequel. With Garvey's committal to prison another would-be Moses has been punctured, and the crafty conspirators of the Soviet see one more of their plots against the world's welfare frustrated by the venality of their agent and the re-awakened common sense of a majority of their intended victims. Garvey was a prototype in real life of Eugene O'Neill's striking creation of the theatre, "Emperor Jones," and his finish as a felon is likely to prove as decisive, though not quite so tragic, a conclusion to his activities as was the fate of the hero of O'Neill's remarkable drama.

DICTIONARIES ON TRAINS

The other day a writer left Chicago on a through Philadelphia train. The suburbs of that city had not been passed before a dozen or 15 young women in the car were engaged in the solution of cross word puzzles. As they proceeded with their solutions they required the services of a dictionary. The writer was surprised when the porter accommodatingly brought them copies of Webster's academic dictionary.

The solving of cross-word puzzles on railroad trains indicates the interest there is in this sort of amusement. It indicates more, however, when dictionaries are brought into use—the probability that in solving puzzles there will be an extension of vocabulary. The average vocabulary comprises about 500 words. The unabridged dictionaries contain nearly 300,000 words. There is certainly opportunity for expansion.

THE STUPIDITY OF ALFONSO

Alfonso, of Spain, may not be much of a king, as kings go, but he certainly is old enough, and presumably wise enough, to know that oil can scarcely be classed as a satisfactory fire extinguisher. And Spain, gesturing back to the days of Torquemada and the Inquisition in fighting the long-distance revolt by Ibanez, the Spanish author, is not making any too secure the tenure of the last of the Hapsburgs upon his throne.

The attempts of Ibanez to overthrow the Spanish monarchy by jabbing his pen at it from a safe distance across the French frontier is funny, if Spain would let it go at that. It smacks very much of a garrulous old lady lecturing from the security of her back porch some bad boys playing ball in the alley. But Castilian royalty has evidently lost its sense of humor, so Alfonso and his advisers may yet make a drama out of a comedy, even make a hero out of a dunce. The order has gone forth that all of Ibanez's writings, plays, books, pamphlets, and memoirs are to be burned, while the name of the world-famous author is to be inscribed on the list of traitors.

So we are going to have a Spanish bonfire, kindled by Alfonso himself. And from it there may develop heat enough to make the throne uncomfortable. Books and bodies may be burned. But thoughts and ideas are immortal. There never was lighted a martyr pyre from which did not ascend more vigorously the very things the deluded torturers sought to destroy. Ibanez may be childish—he certainly is unsportsmanlike—in his idea of a mail order rebellion. But the embers at which he has been vainly poking may yet burst into flame as the result of Alfonso's stupidity.

Press Opinions

PRIVY COUNCIL DECISION

Manitoba Free Press:

Premier King is reported as believing that it may be possible to amend the Industrial Disputes Act so that it may still be available as a means of settling labor differences. But from the emphasis placed by the Privy Council upon the rights of the provinces it would seem very clear that the only way to re-establish at all satisfactorily this method of industrial conciliation is by means of joint legislation by the Dominion and the Provinces, the former providing the general framework of the plan and the provinces confirming it through their particular authority in the matter of civil rights. The Industrial Disputes Act has been of such great advantage to CSanada during the past yantage to Canada during the past tinuing the service which it has rendered will be very general, and the Provinces might very properly co-operate in re-establishing it.

OWNS WORLD'S LARGEST FARM

Compressed Air Magazine:

Sir Sidney Kidman, the Australian cattle king, owns what must be the world's largest farm. It embraces more than 40,000 square miles, an area roughly equivalent to the whole of England, less Yorkshire and Devon.

Don Luis Terrazas of Mexico, with eight million acres or one-third less land has a greater showing of stock totalling one million head of cattle seven hundred thousand sheep, and one hundred thousand horses.

Perhaps third on the list is Mrs. King, whose cattle and sheep ranch in the United States is fenced in by 300 miles of barbed wire.

ACCURATELY DESCRIBED

Ottawa Journal:

The other night a New York visitor, addressing one of the Ottawa clubs, told of a man who was much embarrassed when asked by an insurance agent what had caused the death of his father. The agent had to get the facts for the records. On the other hand the man about to be insured hated to admit that his father had been hanged. So, after some thought he said: "My father attended a public gathering. Suddenly the platform gave way under his feet and he lost his life."

TRAGEDY OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Toronto Telegram:

The tragedy of inability to find jobs is a daily sorrow in the lives of Canadians who are themselves warm, well fed and comfortable, and would be thankful to the Almighty if everybody was equally well off. The tragedy of inability to find employment is especially sorrowful when unavailing appeals for work come from soldiers who did everything for Canada and are denied the opportunity to earn a living in the country they defended at the hazard of their lives.

The Ennobling Touch Of Death

D of us that is divine and royal. We see too much of that which is com-nature is instinctively kingly. There is something about every one EATH is the ennobler. Its touch raises us to royal heights. Human monplace and banal. It confuses our judgment and vitiates our relations with people.

Love is given to us as a sort of divine liquor by which to idealize our fellows. When we are in love with a person we see all of their virtues written large and cannot see their vices.

A mother idealizes her child, and no matter what he does nor how he may sink her love follows him and her care enfolds him.

But the greatest ennobler is death. A woman whose child was sick and whose demise was feared said: "To think how I scolded her for little things! If she gets well from this sickness I will never complain again of her littering the floor or dirtying the windows or soiling her frock. What do all these things amount to compared with the life of my child?

Our irritation at the actions of those we love speedily passes away if we let ourselves think that we are soon to lose them. There is something in the finality of death that makes us overlook faults.

It is commonplace to say that there is nothing but flattery carved upon tombstones. There is nothing else to carve. All a man's sins and weaknesses are buried in forgotten graves. We only remember his good qualities.

Samuel Gompers during his life had many active enemies. He was opposed all along the line. Many people thought him wrong. It is significant that at his death all criticism was silent and all, including friends and enemies, united in speaking well of him.

This idea is apparent in the proverb, "Speak only good of the dead." We feel is unnecessary to attack one who is forever beyond our reach.

It was said of John Siddall that during his life he was known as a brisk, alert and somewhat abrupt man, but when he was faced with certain death he became gentle and a curious note of kindness entered into all his correspondence. He was feeling the ennobling influence of oncoming death.

Dr. Holmes says that the human being is sometimes like a pear which mellows and ripens as its career is closing. We have often noticed that some old people lose their asperity and grow kind and gentle as their end approaches.

William Allan White during Mr. Wilson's lifetime was a vigorous opponent of the President's policies, but after the President's death he wrote a very kindly biography of him.

It will help us all in our dealings with others if we keep in mind that they are mortal, that they live with us but a few days and after they are dead their shortcomings will not matter.

There is no one that has not some faults and there is no one that has not some good qualities. If we look for the latter we shall find them.

To-day's Smile

The battle-scarred fire chief at the top of the fire ladder was having some difficulty in persuading a young woman in the blazing house to intrust herself to his arms. Finally he burst forth with:

"Say, young lady, you gotta come down this ladder with me unless you want to get burned up. You got no choice."

"O, but I have a choice!" she snapped. "Please send that handsome blonde young fireman to take me down."

Thirty Years Ago

One of the most atrocious, cold-blooded and deliberately planned murders the police have ever had to deal with was committed in Detroit, in the squalid quarters occupied by Dr. Horace Pope and his family. Dr. Pope was killed at the beside of his wife, by a hatchet in the hands of a young man, presumably employed as a nurse to take care of Mrs. Pope. It is believed he killed Pope in cold blood, for the insurance money which would accrue to his widow, and that Mrs. Pope was an accomplice.

A happy party of about 20, enjoyed a couple of hours sleigh driving in Mr. W. N. Ponton's large sleigh drive on Saturday evening, and afterwards repaired to Mrs. George Stewart's hospitable home for supper.

A little boy was knocked down by a big dog on Everett St., at eleven o'clock Monday night and badly frightened. The neighbors say small children are in danger of their lives on this street on account of these dogs.

Letters To The Editor

ADVICE TO COUNCIL

Editor Intelligencer,
Dear Sir:—

Just a line in reference to the appointment of a successor to Ald. A. E. LaRoche who has resigned from the City Council on account of his connection with the suburban area commission. I would like to say that while I do not wish to dictate to the Council as to whom they should appoint to fill his place in the Council, yet I think that it is only fair to the property owners of the city that they would appoint a man who has some financial interest in the city and one who is known to be a wide-awake and level headed citizen. It is only by choosing such men to represent the interests of the citizens that we can ever hope to make Belleville a safe place for anyone to invest their money in.

City Has 58.4 Miles Of Concrete

Interesting Items From Annual Report of City Engineer

In the annual report ofthe City Engineer presented to the City Council by Mr. Campbell on Monday night and published in the Intelligencer last night, it is interesting to note that Belleville now has a total length of concrete side walks in the city of 58.4 miles. Mr. Campbell says:

Sidewalks

20 separate constructions as additions to our concrete sidewalks were made during the year aggregating in length 11,165 lin feet, having a total superficial area of 44,584 square feet, at a total cost of $14,377.92, making an average cost per square foot of 32.25 cents, and having a length of 2.12 miles. This now gives us a total length of concrete sidewalks in the city of 58.4 miles, which represents 68.3 per cent ofthe total mileage of sidewalks constructed, that can be carried out in our present city limits. In addition to the sidewalks enumerated above there were 10,322 square feet of sidewalks rebuilt throughout the city in repairing broken sections and adapting old walks to our new work, the latter item having special reference to the market square. The total sidewalk repairs throughout the city cost $2,954.17. At the present time there are no sidewalks on order for 1925 construction, all orders which I have on file from the council having been completed.

Pavements

The only permanent pavement completed during the past year was that of the Market Square and McAnnany street, which represented an area of 4,394 square yards with the addition of 427 square yards of pavement relaid on old pavements. This amount is made principally of the cut that had to be made on Front street to lay the drain from the Market square to the lower Fire hall. The total cost of the work was $22,618.49. The work has all been completed and we have now a very fine area for a market square which is a credit to our fair city. The total mileage of permanent pavements in the city is now 6.75 miles, representing approximately 150,000 square yards of asphalt pavement.

The council very wisely approved of my recommendation to instal four ornamental standards on the Square and these lights have been erected and the lighting system has been in service for the last four days, having been turned first on January 29, 1925. The centre area of our market lends itself for the holding of community dances or open air meetings with the definite marking off the space satisfactorily lighted and accomodation for band and orchestra for such dancing. I believe that we could very acceptable lead the way in arranging for several dances during the coming season, in the approaching Old Boys Re-Union. I would suggest that the committee bear this in mind. The lighting of this area in the proximity of the police station would make it an admirable parking zone which could be used to relieve the heavy traffic on Front street, especially on Saturday evenings and holidays. With the completion of the pavement on Pinnacle street from Station street to Victoria avenue, this year, we would be in the position to formulate a parking by-law that would make our business area comparatively safe.

Road Oiling

Our road oiling program during the season was spread out from the end of June until the end of October. On account of repairing the road with the roller, we were endeavouring to syncronise our work and scarify sufficient area of road so that by oiling some roads which were not to be sacrified during the year, it would be sufficient to use a complete car each time. The result was that our work was to be laid so that we only got on about one car each month. Also in 1925, we expect to find the roads repaired during 1924 generally in first class condition and a comparatively light coat of oil and stone chips, will maintain them at a much smaller cost than the 1924 expenses. The loosening up of the road has absorbed a great deal of the old into the bed of the road. and forty per cent of the roads repaired were given a second treatment of the highest grade of road oil. This cost about $2,800 and is an overdraft on the appropriation, but with the same assessment for the work next year and with the lighter coating of oil, which will be sufficient, the amount of this overdraft will be completely absorbed. To give you some idea of the quantity required for our work and the extent of the work I might say that there were nearly 37,000 gallons of oil used, or five carloads and 850 tons of stone or 19 carloads.

The oiling amounted to $9,398.71 made up of oil, $4,259.06; stone, $1,414 75; application, $1,360; labor supervision and assessment $2,364.12. The total for oiling was $102,466 square yards and 37,400 square yards were given a second treatment, making a final total for oiling of 139,866 square yards at a cast of 6.71 cents per square yards. The assessment basis was estimated at a cost of 6.75 cents per square yard, so that on the yardage basis, we did not quite reach the amount of the estimate.

January, 3 permits, $5,100.
Febraury, 0 permits.
March, 1 permit, $3,500.
April, 18 permits, $45,250.
May 1 permit, $1,000.
June, 5 permits, $8,950.
July, 2 permits, $7,200
August, 6 permits, $12,100.
September, 6 permits, $50,700.
October, 7 permits, $15,400.
November, 4 permits, $8,800.
December, 7 permits, $37,000.
Total, 60 permits, $195,000.

NEW MANUFACTURING FIRM FOR BELLEVILLE

A new manufacturing firm has located in the city under the name of The Belleville Furniture Co. It will specialize in the manufacture of den and dining-room furniture and school chairs and desks. Associated with this will be a branch for the making of sash and doors, interior finish, building materials etc. Those at the head of the furniture department are Messrs Thompson, Green and Hyslop. The former has for a long number of years been in the furniture business in this city, while Mr. Green and Mr. Hyslop were for a number of years connected with Messrs Langston Ltd., of Cobourg. Mr. Myron Ellis, a well-known resident of the city will handle the sash and door business. The new concern will take over the premises recently vacated by the Angus Keefe Lumber Co. at 111 Station St. The new firm have a large number of orders on hand.

HIKER ENTERTAINS AT MOOSE LODGE

Mr. S. Harris, entertainer, and champion hiker of Ontario, provided not a few of the many interesting features at the second annual dance and euchre given last night by Mooseheart Legion, No. 187, Quinte Division Loyal Order of Moose, at the Moose Auditorium. It was Harris who hiked from Kitchener Ont., to Mooseheart, Ill., and last night he gave two solos as well as royally entertaining the large attendance of guests at the dance, with humorous stories.

Another interesting feature was a solo dance given by Miss Ida Folwell, who looked charming in appropriate costume and who gave a very graceful demonstration of dancing. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed this dance and also a step dance which was very well done by Mr. Fred Elliott.

Mr. A. E. Baldwin contributed a solo in his usual clear voice.

Dancing which commenced at 8.45 o'clock, was enjoyed until one o'clock, the music, which was supplied by Al Wilson's Bluebird orchestra proving highly satisfactory, the hearty applause after each number being indicative of its merit. Mr. Everett Stevens, violinist, assisted the Bluebird orchestra for the occasion.

Those who did not care to dance, enjoyed a spirited progressive euchre party in the alcoves. Mrs. Frank Goyer won ladies' first prise, Miss Hazel Thrasher winning second. C. W. Staples won the gentlemen's first, and Chas. Mott, second prise.

At eleven o'clock, dainty refreshments, sandwiches, cake and coffee, were served, and during this intermission, the musical novelties were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mattis and other members of the decoration committee deserve credit for the excellent appearance which extensive interior decorating in the way of Lodge banners and streamers, added to the appearance of the auditorium.

Everyone present voted the function one of the most successful and enjoyable of the season.

HARRY HOLDEN

The body of the late Mr. Harry Holden, who died at Detroit on Saturday last was yesterday afternoon laid at rest in Belleville cemetery. Previous to the interment, a service was held in Bridge street Methodist church, conducted by Rev. E. N. Baker, Principal of Albert College, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott. Members of the choir assisted in the service. Bearers were Messrs. D. G. Bleecker, J. S. McKeown, R. Templeton, A. Gillen, G. H. Holton and A. Ray.

COLLINS

Situation Last Night

line cave explorer, was still a prisoner in nature's vice last night. Half-lying, half crouching in a hole nearly 800 feet from the entrance to his tomb-like cavern, he apparently was no nearer rescue than when an eight-ton rock fell last Friday morning and, alighting on smaller rocks, caught Collins and made a sort of hand cuff about his ankle. Water seeps in and drops upon and about the helpless man, and it is understood the mud around his involuntary lair is inches deep. Hundreds of people stand about the entrance and wonder what can be done, but that is seemingly as far as they get. All plans so far offered have failed and Collins is still a prisoner. He has turned to prayer in his extremity.

Collins was said to be willing for belts to be fastened about his body and a pull made in efforts to drag his leg from under the rock, but doctors are quoted as advising against that method, seeing a possibility of the man's body being drawn in twain or a rupture of vital organs as the least consequence.

Visits to the imprisoned man were few to-day. Only men of very small size can squirm their way through the tortuous crevice. It may be decided to sink a tunnel through the ground over where Collins is trapped and dig him out by that means, though much time would likely be required to locate him.

Collins is reported to be rapidly losing strength. His enforced inactivity covering more than 100 hours, held almost unmovable, and the terrific mental strain, are apparently having effect. Collins has been in total darkness most of the time.

Hands Held Too

It became known last night that Collins is not able to move his hands They were at his side when the cave-in occurred and he was clamped in that position in a narrow hole, which for want of a more descriptive term might be called a "loose straight-jacket."

Efforts at rescue were at a standstill early last night and no one seemed to have any idea what the next move would be. A proposal to tunnel from the top had lost support.

Collins gets light at times when a candle or small lamp is left with him but they are soon extinguished by the air currents of which there are plenty in the "crooked sewer" arrangement of the crevice leading to his trap. The air is pure and Collins is in no danger of suffocation.

A pneumatic drill could not be used without endangering workers. The vibrations of a drill sent from Louisville it was decided, might bring down a rock fall, so it was not utilized.

Homer Collins and Marshall Collins, brothers of the trapped cave explorer, were yesterday carried into the Dixie Hotel here in a state of collapse. Long hours in the underground passage way and the nervous strain of helping in the rescue work of their brother told on them and they were unable longer to hold out. Marshall Collins was delirious and for hours, was under the care of physicians.

The imprisoned man was reported by one visitor to be lying on his back and inclined toward the left. His arms were at his sides, with his left leg stretched behind him and his left foot resting in a crevice pinned by the weight of the boulder.

No attempt will be made to give Collins an anaesthetic it was said, because in the narrow confines of the passageway it would overcome the men who administered it. So whatever is done, Collins will likely have to stand the pain as best he can.

Miners Sent In

Six coal miners of small physical stature have been sent from Black Rock, Edmonton county to aid in the rescue work. The miners are in charge of Henry T. Carmichael and at last word they were coming up the Green River by motorboat.

Homer Collins stayed in the cave with him several hours before he himself collapsed, under the strain. Homer said his brother slept part of the time and that he heard him praying. He seemed discouraged at times and then again very cheerful.

The trapped man believes his foot lies in a sort of groove in the bottom of the passage and that the boulder lies over this, forming a sort of shackle on his leg by putting enough pressure on it to hold it without crushing his foot.

Homer said his brother told him that the pain was not very great.

His face and upper body is covered with oil cloth to keep the water from him, but it is wet and muddy where he lies, Homer said.

"Floyd told me," said Homer Collins, when he emerged from the cave at one time, 'that he dreamed of white angels riding in white chariots drawn by white horses, that he saw in his sleep such objects as chicken sandwiches, a red hot stove and other things usually found in a kitchen. I heard him praying several times and his prayer was about like this: "Oh, Lord, help me, I am going home to the angels'."

Suggestions for rescuing Collins pour into Cave City by telegraph from all parts of the nation. Many hints of value were received and just as many foolish suggestions arrived. But even those of value have not been of practical assistance so far.

College Teams Play Tie Hockey Game

Albert College and O.S.D. Match Ends Two All

Last night the hockey game between Albert College and the O. S. D. resulted in a tie, 2 all. This is the second of a series of games played betwen the College and O S. D. The first game was on Saturday, and the Colege won 3-2.

The game last night was featured by brilliant goal tending by Arkley of Albert, and fine stick-handling by Smith of O. S. D.

Line-up—Albert College—Goal, Ackley; defense Pinkerton and Allmark; wings Kirby and Izzo; centre, Hunter; subs., Boykin, Bruce.

O. S. D.—Goal, Brigham; defense, Meyelt and Malinsky; wings, Rourke and Hirons; centre, Smith; subs., Hunter, Jett, Holt.

Referee—Stan. Nurse.

ATTIC IS INVADED FOR GAME TO-NIGHT

At ten o'clock to-night, the "Mongrels"-"New-Dogs" hockey tilt will be underway, and for the ensuing hour, history will be in the making in Arnott's winter home.

Business of buying sticks, and the gathering together of odd pieces of miscellaneous hockey uniforms is in progress to-day and in some cases skating outfits long ago relegated to the attic trunk and moth balls, are being dusted up for the battle to-night.

Though a few brave men have voluntecrerd to referee the engagement, the refere will be a dark horse.

STEEL MILLS AT SIDNEY OPEN UP

Sydney, Feb. 4.—An extension of operations at the Sydney Steel plant involving a considerable increase in the amount of available employment was announced by J. E. McLurg, vice-president of the British Empire Steel Corporation.

The bar mill and three open hearths have been working steadily throughout January. Three more open hearts were lighted last week and the six together will produce about 450 tons of steel daily.

In addition, the blooming and billet mills opened up this morning and the rod mill will commence February 6 and the wire mill on the ninth.

THREE ARE DROWNED WHEN COUPE PLUNGES

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 3—John A. Peterson, Seattle, insurance man, his wife and her aunt, Mrs. Sarah Fitch of Toledo Ohio, were drowned here Sunday when the coupe in which they were riding plunged off a trestle into Elliott Bay. During the early days in Alaska, Peterson was a familiar figure in Nome, where he was known to hundreds of sour-doughs as "Rampa" Peterson. Later he followed the big strike into the Itarod district.

RADIO

THINK OF WHAT IS BACK OF IT

EVERY time a purchaser leaves our store, having bought an ATWATER KENT Radio set, we feel we have made a life-long friend. We know that we have sold him equipment that is the last word in radio—and we have made sure that its operation is thoroughly understood.

How far we have succeeded in winning our customers' confidence can be judged by the fact that every ATWATER KENT set bought from us has stayed sold—and sold others. Before you purchase a radio instrument, come in and talk to us.

All Possible Assistance Being Given to Amateur in Solving His Problems; Belleville Radio Club Assists And is Offering Prizes

Radio week, a period set aside by radio clubs and kindred organizations throughout Canada and the United States, is declared by leaders in the radio field to be one step that will further popularize a form of entertainment that in five short years has grown to tremendous favor.

During this wek, civic radio clubs in villages, towns and cities will endeavor to stimulate interest of the younger generation, particularly school children, in the building of radio receivers; instruct them in proper wiring; how to remedy local and static conditions as much as possible; the meaning of radio terms used in diagrams for wiring, and give all possible assistance to the amateur in solving his problems in the simplest manner.

The year 1924 brought out many new types of radio receivers, all of which had some point in their favor. However, the majority of these manufactured receivers used patented processes or devices as basic principles of construction, and the amateur faced difficulty in solving the "hook-up". An outstanding feature of 1924 progress, as outlined by leading radio journals, was the fact that amateur contests in set construction not only developed interest to a high stage, but brought to light accidental discoveries that have since not only proven their worth in amateur receivers, but have been adopted by all of the larger manufacturers to the financial success of the inventor. This, naturally, has developed another angle for the amateur inventor, and radio week is expected to foster this to an even higher degree.

The Belleville Radio Club, under the able direction of Mr. John Lill, has outlined a program for this week that is likely to stimulate local interest in construction of receivers of various types. At the last meeting of the club it was voted to conduct a contest under the auspices of the club, and radio dealers in the city offered to put up prizes for the best one-tube set also the best multiple tube receiver constructed. In addition, Chairman Lill moved that members of the club familiar with radio hook-ups give all possible assistance to those entering the contest or interested in building their own set, and the suggestion was heartily endorsed by members of the club.

What Is Radio ?

(By Ernest Walker Sawyer, M.I., R.E., in Radio News of Canada

The trans-Atlantic tests having passed with interest, we are all asking what has been accomplished. The distance records have not been broken, but once again we have had it forcibly put to us that what little we know of Radio is as nothing to what there is to know.

Let us first consider one thing of interest. The amateurs of England, with one tube sets, are getting far better results than we in America using radio frequency and super devices. Recently an English amateur in one night logged 93 American amateurs from New York to San Francisco. These same British are receiving almost nightly the amateurs of New Zealand over 11,000 away.

Are we about to solve the mystery of radio?

Two years ago, we all laughed at Einstein, now he is generally accepted as a leader of scientific thought. Just as he proves the theory that light has weight by measuring the deflection of star light, so may we prove that radio waves have substance or weight by measuring the variation of energy when they travel East and West. Apparently, the increased momentum or tangential force of the East strengthens and improves those signals going East. This was first noticed, particularly on high-powered radio work when in 1915 the powerful French station at Lyons was able to send daily messages 8,000 miles East over land to Shanghai, over half way around the world, but the Lyons signal heard in Washington only 3,200 miles to the West over water was scarcely as strong as in Shanghai.

Theories Differ

Let me say, then, that we admit we know very little about radio, except that it is a peculiar phenomena which certain gadgets permit us to use to a limited extent. The greatest of scientists seem lost in the conflict of ideas—Herz, Fleming, Lodge and Edison have made suggestions, but their theories have all now been thrown aside and everyone is at sea.

We might just as well use the hypothesis that radio messages or impulses are transmitted between points as an express train delivers packages to their destination. How is it done? The wave hypothesis has fallen down. The carrier is proven to have mass. If it is affected by gravity and has weight, then it must also have shape or form. That form is something that so far our senses cannot conceive of. It is like the vague fourth dimension of mathematics. Only those of concentrated development of mathematical knowledge can get the drift of the idea.

Let us get some fresh minds on the subject, the old timers have gone stale and admit defeat of all their theories.

Silence Reigns At Radio Stations

Walls Padded to Prevent Echoes; Apparatus is Costly

The fact that during radio week special programmes will be broadcast by the principal stations throughout Canada and the United States has brought home the truth that very little is known by the amateur how the music, singing, comedy or speech is started on it's way to the receiver often several thousand miles distant. To the ordinary laymen it simply means twisting a few dials, turn on the "juice", and pick a comfortable place for a few hours enjoyment. However, the fine programme being listened to is the culminating effort of days of planning, much study on the subject being broadcast and represents the work of an organization complete within itself.

Using one of the principle eastern stations as an example, a word picture of a trip through the plant may prove interesting.

Prizes Offered For Radio Fans

Listeners Asked to Write Letters on Canadian Broadcasting Stations

(From The Radio News of Canada)

Radio Week should prove a very interesting time for the broadcast listeners in the Dominion. Many interesting events are scheduled to be broadcast from the Canadian stations—and several United States stations have promised to co-operate. The various amateur associations are also carrying on a series of special "stunts", and in several cities Radio Shows have been organized for the purpose of bringing radio more directly before the public.

"The Radio News of Canada" desiring to do its part in helping along the good work has worked out a novel form of competition which should prove interesting to every person who owns a radio set. It has long been known that the Canadian fans do not write nearly as many latters to the broadcasting stations commenting on the programs—as do the American listeners-in. This is a mistake, because the only things the broadcasting stations have to guide them in their choice of programs are the comments of their radio audiences and their task would be made much easier if the Canadian radio fans would write more often than they do.

In order to encourage the Canadian public along these lines, The Radio News of Canada is offering four loud speakers—one each of the most popular makes—to the four Canadian listeners-in who write them the best letter on the Canadian programs during this—Radio Week. As additional awards, a year's subscription to "The Radio News of Canada" will be given for any other letters published dealing with the programs during Radio Week. By these means it is hoped to assist the broadcasting stations with what they want. Letters must reach The Radio News of Canada (257-261 Adelaide St. West, Toronto) not later than February 15th and must not be more than 1,000 words in length.

ATWATER KENT TO BEGIN BROADCASTING

An announcement of unusual interest to radio fans has recently been made to the effect that the Atwater Kent Radio Artists will in future go on the air broadcasting through stations:

WFI—Philadelphia, Pa.
WJAR—Providence, R.I.
WEEI—Boston, Mass.
WGR—Buffalo, N.Y.

The first of these concerts has been given. Listen for these artists in the near future.

May Eliminate That Noise

It might be static that's causing the noise, but did it ever occur to you that there might be another explanation—and it can be summed up in one word—batteries.

While Battery noises may be due to either A or B batteries, or both, it is the B batteries which are the chief offenders, because they are right in the phone circuit while A batteries are not.

Because of their internal action, dry cells are noisy, travelling instantly from batteries to phones, this disturbance is reproduced in the form of hissing noises.

The solution of the problem—a Storage Battery specially designed for Radio Work—These are WILLARD Re-Chargeable B Batteries.

O.S.D. Ladies Are Victors At Y.M.C.A.

Close Game With Breezes; Printers Beat Reds

Yesterday's game in the Ladies' Loop, O.S.D. vs the Breezes, was one of the closest games from point of scores that has been played at the Association alleys for some days. O.S.D. obtained their winning margin of 37 points in the first two strings while the Breezes apparently required these two games in order to obtain their momentum. The final string was very much Breezes but "too late". Hurricane in this game broke loose and swept all before her when she rolled the 510, the high score fixture.

The Men's League saw the Printers and Y Reds opposed, in a scheduled game. The Printers were off to an excellent start in the first string when three of their number rolled over the two hundred mark. The Reds threatened them in the second session but the Printers were never seriously in danger, and finished the game 124 points in the lead. Cook of the Reds turned in the stellar performance of the evening with the high single of 266 and the high total of 647.

BELLEVILLE HANGS UP THEIR STICKS

Port Hope, Feb. 4.—With Bowmanville looking for a soft spot and finding it in Whitby-Port Perry group, and Belleville failing to show up at the group meeting Monday it looked last night as if Port Hope would have a bye. This was confirmed this morning when Ed. Thomas, secretary of the Belleville Club, when communicated with by long distance telephone stated that Belleville had decided to hang up their sticks for the season.

Secretary Bill Hewitt was notified immediately by phone and he said that Port Hope would be declared the winner of the group. This means Port Hope will have to wait until after the 21st before they can secure a game in this competition. While it means idleness for the boys for some time, exhibition games will be arranged to keep them in shape.

KINGSTON TO MEET TRENTON MONDAY

Kingston intermediates play in Trenton Monday, Feb. 9. The return game in Kingston will be played Wednesday, Feb. 11.

Kingston Comment

(From the Kingston Standard)

Kingston Intermediates were returned winners of Group 1, O.H.A., last night when, after beating Belleville by the score of 11 to 1 the latter decided not to come here on Wednesday, to play off the tie game of January 12th, and thus gave the locals the championship of the local group.

Belleville sent down a rather weak team for last night's game, only Green, Finkle and Vernon Weir of the regular team being on the job, but the juniors used, played good hockey all through, and in the last period worked well. On the other hand Kingston, while minus Gibson never let up all night, and played the hockey that they are capable of. Many of their goals were the result of combination, and they richly deserved the win. Rogers in goal, was a veritable stone wall, and Weir's shot which beat him, was labelled goal all over. Reynolds and Rooney made a great defence pair. The former never worked harder, but seemed to be jinxed as far as goals were concerned. He did everything he wanted to except score. Rooney was also very effective, and got two pretty goals. Watts worked at centre in place of Gibson, and turned in a nice game, while his understudy, Lawlor, showed up well. Hargraft turned in a great checking game never letting up a minute, while Joe Smith was as ever all over the ice, and playing his usual game. He had the crowd cheering for him through his consistent work.

Lloyd played well for Belleville in the second period when he had twenty-seven hard shots to handle, apart from those which scored. Green and Finkle were good, while Hibbard and Weir were the best of the forwards. They were however, not able to cope with the strong rushes of the Kingstons and gave Lloyd little protection of several goals.

Kingston started their scoring tactics right off the bat, Rooney denting the twine in three minutes on a long shot. A little later Hargraft went up with Watts and Smith, taking a perfect pass from the latter. Several times Reynolds went through the whole Belleville team, but was outlucked at the goal. A minute later Hargraft went round the Belleville nets and pocked the truck out to Smith who slammed it into the goal. Again Kingston besieged the visitors' goal, and Watts scored twice in quick time, taking passes from Smith and Hargraft.

In the second period Hargraft opened the scoring, when he batted Smith's rebound. Smith had circled the defence and Lloyd made a good stop, going to the ice in the effort. Hargraft followed in fast and scored when his shot hit the goaler on the top of the head and bounced into the net. Reynolds brought the crowd to their feet with several nice rushes, and finally when he could not score himself, he flipped the puck over to Smith, who tallied. Two minutes later Smith again scored on a pass from Hargraft.

The third period saw fast hockey, with Belleville working better than in the first goal when Watts shot the first to periods when Watts shot the puck out of the corner to him. Vernon Weir then landed the only Belleville goal on a nice rush down the side, the crowd giving him a great hand. Rooney and Reynolds paired for a pretty rush, the former getting the goal, and a few seconds later Hargraft landed the goal on a combination play with Smith.

The game was exceptionally clean and Referee Farlow was called upon to hand out only a few penalties for minor offences.

LIGHTS OF CALGARY WENT UP IN THE AIR

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 4.—Calgarians witnessed an interesting atmospheric phenomenon when the street lamps' light ascended straight into the air instead of being diffused in all directions as usual. The spectacle was said by weather experts to be attributable to the exceptional lightness of the air and its total freedom from moisture-laden dust particles.

Came Close To Breaking Record

Four Mah Jongs Turned in Nice Score at Recreation

The Mah Jongs had a lovely chance to break the alley record at the Recreation alleys last night when four bowlers rolled 2065, no doubt with the fifth bowler a new record would be hanging up today. The unfortunate team was the Hikers and although they rolled a fairly good score, it wasn't enough to win the game. Miss E. Whalen with 547 was high bowler.

The junior game between the Ciaco and Marsh resulted in a win for the Ciaco by 12 pins, the Ciaco had to come back strong in the last game to win out. Percy Cornell was high bowler with 568.

In another close game the Pencil Pushers on from the Receivers by 14 pins in the C.I.A. league, both teams running neck and neck all the way through, only a few pins separating the teams at the end of every game.

In the C.N. League the Yards were a little too good for the Official's team No. 2, the former team winning out by nearly 200 pins. Probably if Stats Kerr had been around a little earlier with his rooting the Officials might have pulled out a win. The high bowlers were Chapman 588, and W. Ford 576. Players and scores:

Kitchener Drops Out Of Big Six

London, Ont., Feb. 4 — Kitchener Green Shirts have defaulted their remaining games in the Big Six Senior O.H.A. series and will not play the London seniors here on Friday night according to information received by the officials of the London A.A.A. last night. London has but two remaining games to play, meeting Galt Terriers in Galt Wednesday night and Preston Riversides in Preston on Monday evening. There will be no more senior home games unless the locals get into the play-off series.

London's only hope of reaching second position is if Niagara Falls defeats Stratford in Stratford on Friday evening and the locals capture the two remaining tilts. The last scheduled game will be staged in Preston on Monday evening. This will give the London team a five day rest before they are called upon to oppose the Riversides.

London is the only team which benefited by two victories from Kitchener's default. The Green Shirts were scheduled to play here on Friday with the return game in Kitchener a week from Friday. Niagara Falls and Stratford each get one. Standings are as follows, including Kitchener's four defaulted games.

Pros Are After Stadium Field

Kingston Team to Have Cherry, Gallagher and Compeau

Kingston, Feb. 4.—In connection with the operation of a professional base ball club in Kingston this summer, it is an open secret that efforts have been made to get the Richardson Stadium as a playing field, and if plans go through as it is hoped, the local pros. will disport there, provided the authorities at Queen's give consent.

"Knotty" Lee has examined the field and stated that it is amply large enough for a baseball field. By placing the home plate at the end of the field in front of the press box, the infield, could be so arranged as to give a fairly long right field. By this means the centre field and left field would be plenty long enough.

Mr. Lee points out that his plans would not mean any damage to the playing field. He would not have the infield "skinned," but merely the running paths, and the pitcher's and catcher's box, thus having a grassy infield. The field would also be vacated about the middle of September, thus not interfering with the rugby season.

The Athletic Board of control, at their meeting had the matter under consideration, and deferred action until a later meeting. It is, however, pointed out by local fans that it is a pity that the stadium should be used only for four or five times a year for rugby, and then remain idle the rest of the year.

Nevertheless "Knotty" Lee states that in any event the team will operate here. He has received three or four offers of fields, and will have everything ready for the opening of the season. It is known that on his team there will be three Kingstonians, Gallagher, Cherry and Compeau, while several ex-Kingstonians, now out of the city will also be on the team. In addition there will be several budding stars from higher pro. leagues, all of whom will be training in the south and will be in the pink of condition for the opening of the season. "Knotty" himself plans to take his team south to train, so that Kingston will see a well-conditioned team when the season opens.

Silence

Upon first entering, the visitor is immediately impressed by the richness of rugs and hangings, the artistic effect of decorations, and a home-like atmosphere about all. This is the reception room, where artists await their turn for the evening's program, and the general effect is to prevent any nervousness before facing the microphone, and their audience of unseen millions.

The visitor is next escorted to the broadcasting room, where the first impression is one of utter silence, the feet making no sound on carpets half an inch thick, rich tapestries covering walls padded deeply to prevent any reverberation of sound, so fatal to proper reception. The only light is artificial, there being no windows and ventilation is furnished by ventilators in the ceiling, somewhat on the manner of railway cars.

Occupying the place of honor in this room is a small round object, about the size of a saucer and hanging from a support similar to the ordinary bridge lamp. This is the microphone or "Mike" as the announcer expresses it, and it is about this small object the whole organization revolves. When "Mike" gets out of order there is no programme, as it is through this device all sounds must be transmitted. A feature, little-known in that soft sounds or speaking transmits better than loud, a recent experiment in transmitting the beat of the human heart proving entirely successful. The announcer speaks in the ordinary tone of voice and is better understood than the orator who forgetting himself in his oration, raises his tones to concert pitch.

Adjoining the broadcasting room, are several small rooms, furnished in office fashion. In these offices the directors of broadcast figure their programmes weeks in advance and operate very similar to booking offices of large theatrical circuits.

The final trip is made to the operating room, where the broadcasting apparatus is in operation. Great transformers stand side by side, flanked by a switchboard which is a maze of dials. The radio engineer has the place of honor here, and every fluctuation of the various needles and indicators is carefully watched and logged. Owing to the need of quiet, signalling from the broadcasting room is done by lights, flashing instructions from the announcer. Some of the super-power stations use six or more giant tubes, which occasionally "blow-out". Each "blow-out" costs over three hundred dollars.

Teach your child Internal cleanliness

THE mother who permits constipation in her baby or older child is risking the health, even the life, of her little one.

Fretfulness, feverishness, night terrors, grinding the teeth in sleep, biliousness, coated tongue, loss of appetite, any of these may indicate constipation. Poisons from the child's stagnant intestine are flooding the little body, and if left unchecked may lead to serious consequences.

Avoid Laxatives—Say Doctors

A noted authority says that laxatives do not overcome constipation, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition.

Medical science has found in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and hastens its passage through and out of the body. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Let your infant or child have Nujol regularly, and see rosy cheeks, clear eyes and happiness return once more.

Nujol is used in children's and general hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

JACK WILLIAMS AT KINGSTON GAME

Kingston, Feb. —Jack Williams the former Verona and Belleville twirler who last year signed a contract with the Rochester Internationals, was a spectator at the hockey match Monday night.

Williams looks in fine shape and expects to have a good season on the mound this summer. He is to report to Manager Stallings of the Rochester team for spring training, and will likely be one of the regular Rochester pitchers this summer.

It is interesting to note that Williams is the only left-handed Indian pitcher in professional baseball, and great things are expected of him in Rochester.

A Person Who Sees Well

Cannot be blamed for believing that he does not need glasses. But with apparently perfect sight he cannot be sure about the matter. Where the error of vision is small the muscles of the eyes are often able to overcome it, but the strain in doing so is very great, so your eyes may need attention. Lord Cecil did not answer, but moodily took the jewels from their respective cases, and held them up for the marquis' inspection.

He eyed them with his usual cold impassibility, but presently Lord Cecil held up a suite of pearls. It was an antique and evidently priceless set, and Cecil was regarding them with a listless interest when suddenly a strange idea flashed across his mind that he had seen them before; and yet he knew that he could not have done so. The last person upon whose neck and wrists that priceless suite of antique gems had shone was the ill-fated marchioness, whom he had never seen, and whose end was still a mystery to him. He was convinced that he had never seen them before, and yet he seemed to remember them.

"Beautiful, beautiful!" murmured Spencer Churchill, but looking at his companion's face instead of the jewels with a watchful scrutiny.

"Yes, they are," said Lord Cecil, and he turned the remaining jewels over as if searching for something.

"What are you looking for?" demanded the marquis, his eyes fixed with a strange expression upon the pearls in Lord Cecil's hands.

"I am looking for the ring. I suppose there ought to be one to make the set complete? There is everything else here."

The marquis' face seemed to grow gray; then he laughed a dry, harsh laugh.

"The ring is missing," he said, almost inaudibly. "It went with——"

"No, no," cut in Spencer Churchill, softly. "I saw it at the bottom of the box a moment ago; but, really, my dear Cecil, he continued, hurriedly, as if to prevent the marquis contradicting him, "I don't think they would suit dear Lady Grace as well as some of these other things. Now, if I might suggest, may I?" and, with smooth deftness, he took the case from him and picked out a diamond and ruby bracelet. "Now, that is the kind of thing which would please dear Lady Grace. These pearls will be more suitable when she is married.

The marquis took the bracelet, and Lord Cecil fancied that the claw-like hands trembled slightly, and looked at it absently. Then he dropped it on the table and turned aside with listless indifference.

"The pearl suite will do," he said, curtly. "Take it and give it to her. Will you be good enough to send my man to me?" he added, as a hint that he wished to be rid of their presence.

"Good-day sir, and thank you," said Cecil, moving to the door.

"Stop, my dear Cecil—the safe. You must put those jewels away and lock it, you know."

"Let him go. You can lock it," said the marquis, with icy impatience.

"Oh, Cecil will lock it," murmured Spencer Churchill. "I am going to get some lunch, marquis," and with a nod he went to the door, but there he turned. "Oh, would you like a newspaper, marquis?" he asked and as he waited for the reply he watched Cecil lock the safe and deposit the keys in the cabinet drawer.

"No!" answered the marquis, almost fiercely, and the two men went out.

"Dear marquis!" he murmured, softly. "So generous and—er—thoughtful! You have made him very happy, my dear Cecil, and be sure that his happiness will find its reflection in your own heart. Ahem! Did you notice, my dear Cecil, how—er—unwell, and, so to speak, generally feeble he looked?"

"No," said Cecil, gravely.

"No? Then perhaps—indeed, I fervently hope—that it was only my fancy; but I certainly did think that I saw a change in him since last I was here. I do hope it was only my fancy! The world could ill afford to lose so great and kind-hearted a man as our dear marquis! And so you are going to marry the beautiful and charming Lady Grace! Ah, youth, youth! what a blessed possession it is! How I envy you, my dear Cecil!"

"Thanks!" said Lord Cecil, curtly. "I'll tell Lady Grace, who will feel duly complimented, I've no doubt."

"Yes, yes—tell her, you happy rogue!" said the philanthropist, and, with a playful nod and laugh he watched Cecil go down the hall and out at the door.

Then his face changed to one of keen reflection, and, as he went into the dining-room to the little lunch he had ordered, he muttered:

"Yes, the one I want is there! and the keys are in that drawer, which he always keeps locked. I must have that will—but how?"

When the invitations to an evening party at the Stoyle House were issued, they caused as much astonishment to the recipients and the world at large as if the trustees of the British Museum had announced their intention of giving a dance at that revered institution.

Only a very few of the last generation remembered any entertainment at Stoyle House, and they declared that the rumor must either be false, or that the marquis had at last, and very appropriately, gone out of his mind; and it was not until signs of the vast preparations for the event made themselves felt that the world began to realize the truth.

Then arose such a struggle and scramble for tickets as occurs in connection with one of the events of the season, and Lady Grace was worried and pestered for an invitation as if it were a permit to Paradise itself.

For a couple of seasons she had been the acknowledged belle, but now it seemed as if suddenly she had become one of the veritable queens of society. Wherever she went, she was surrounded by a crowd, eager to lay their tribute of adulation at the feet of the beautiful girl who had succeeded, where so many had failed in securing handsome Cecil Neville, the future Marquis of Stoyle. Women who envied and hated her approached her with faces wreathed in smiles and voices soft and affectionate. Her carriage, or her horse, in the Park was surrounded by men eager to claim acquaintance with the future marchioness, who could give them invitations to so many shooting and hunting parties "when the old marquis died!"

And Lady Grace bore herself through it all with charming moderation. She delighted in all this worship, but it may be truly said, that she was never happier than when Lord Cecil was by her side. Some of us tire of the prize we scheme and toil so eagerly for; but in Lady Grace's eyes the prize she had so basely won increased in value day by day.

PREMATURE OLD AGE OF WOMEN

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women.

SUICIDE ALLEGED FOLLOWING MEETING

Montreal, Feb. 4.—Elizabeth Josselin, 35, of Green Acres, Maine, who was alleged to have shot herself in a Park avenue house following attendance at a meeting of the Behabi religious cult on December 19 last, and who had been in hospital with a charge of attempted suicide awaiting her on recovery, died here Monday night. Miss Josselyn's death was due to a cardiac attack. She had been removed to the infectious diseases hospital about three days ago, having developed scarlet fever at the Royal Victoria Hospital here.

The Reckless Age Starts To-morrow

Lively Story of Comic Complications Coming to Belle Theatre

"The Reckless Age," film version of Earl Derr Biggers' Saturday Evening Post story "Love Insurance," and Reginald Denny's latest Universal starring vehicle, comes tomorrow to the Belle theatre. A lively story of comic complications surrounding the attempt of an insurance agent to protect the policy of a client who has taken a policy against failure to wed a rich fiancee, it is a rapid-fire series of alternate thrills and laughs.

A sensational fight, staged in Denny's best style, a chase in a speeding auto that adds further thrills, and a daring kidnaping are interspersed among hilarious difficulties resulting from a threatened breach of promise suit, a bogus claimant to a title and the faked theft of a noblemen's ancestral pearls.

Ruth Dwyer is seen as the heiress in question, and Denny plays the guardian angel from the insurance company—until he falls in love with her. Others in the cast are Hayden Stevenson, William Austin, May Wallace and John Steppling.

Harry Pollard, Denny's director in "Sporting Youth" and "The Leather Pushers" handled the megaphone. Scenes depicting a Florida playground for millionaires were reproduced at Universal City in this production.

MURDERS WOMAN IN MOVING TAXICAB

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 4.—Police are searching for Elmer Manheart, formerly of Los Angeles, in connection with the murder of Mrs. Guy Morely, of Victoria, here Sunday in a taxicab. Manheart, they say, kept a dinner engagement on Saturday evening at the hotel at which the taxi was engaged.

Mrs. Guy Morley, wife of a Victoria, B. C., automobile dealer, was murdered here at an early hour this morning, when a man fired four shots into the woman's body, while they were riding in a taxcab in the Capitol Hill section of the city. Warning the driver of the car to say nothing of the shooting, the murderer stepped from the taxi and escaped.

"Apple Blossoms" Actress Makes Apple Blossom Pie

RENA PARKER is one of the few younger actresses who combines successfully both stage life and domesticity. She appeared recently in New York in "Apple Blossoms," has taken part on tour in such successes as "Flo Flo" and "Betty Be Good," and is the wife of Johnny Walker, film star.

When she has time to fuss around in her diminutive kitchen she loves to cook up plain old-fashioned dishes such as cookies and pies of all kinds. One of the things she has always liked best to make is apple pie, and since her appearance in the musical comedy in New York, her friends call her pie "Apple Blossom Pie." She passes on her recipe:

Core, peel and cut in halves 8 tart apples. Line pie plate with pastry, and fill with apples; sprinkle over 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoonful cinnamon, or nutmeg and cloves, and two tablespoons Crisco in small pieces. Bake till apples are soft, then, at the last moment, cover with 1 cupful whipped cream and send to table.

For the benefit of beginners in the culinary art, Miss Parker gives the following recipe for plain pastry:

Sift 1½ cupfuls flour and ½ teaspoonful salt and cut ⅓ cupful Crisco into flour with knife until finely divided. Finger tips may be used to finish blending materials. Add gradually sufficient water to make stiff paste. Water should be added sparingly and mixed with knife through dry ingredients. Form lightly and quickly with hand into dough, roll out on slightly floured board, about ¼ inch thick. Use light motion in handling rolling-pin, and roll from center outward. Sufficient for one small pie.

Harold Lloyd In A Different Role

Takes Part of Bashful Small Town Boy at Griffin

Variety is the spice of life and it is also the secret of success in making good motion pictures. Many stars fall into a rut because they insist upon making the same line of pictures and using the same kinds of characterizations. They never change because they feel the public is used to seeing them in a certain type of picture.

Such is not the case, however, with Harold Lloyd, whose latest feature, Pathe-comedy "Girl Shy" will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Griffin theatre. Harold has fortunately discovered that "mixing them up a bit" is the secret of success. He has never made two comedies even remotely alike, considering his big hits, "Dr. Jack," "Safety Last," 'Why Worry?" and now "Girl Shy." He has jumped from small town situations to a South American revolution, from portraying a doctor to a ribbon clerk. Now in his latest, he has again striven for something different from anything he has ever made. He is seen in "Girl Shy" in an entirely novel characterization, as a bashful small town boy who is an apprentice to his uncle, a tailor. He makes a secret study of girls, although not a very accurate one and the more he studies them, the more he fears them

He has tried in "Girl Shy" to present a character who will instantly win the sympathy of his audience through his humanness. A really dramatic story has been built around this central figure of the boy and nothing has been sacrificed to make the picture true to life in every small detail. And it is attention to detail that helped to make the Lloyd Pathecomedies the big hits they are.

The cast of "Girl Shy" includes Jobyna Ralston, who plays opposite Lloyd. She made a big hit in her initial appearance with the comedian in "Why Worry?" which resulted in her being signed by Lloyd to a long term contract. Her excellent work in "Girl Shy" is said to be one of the contributing factors in its success. Others in the cast are Richard Daniels, who plays the role of Lloyd's uncle in the film and Carlton Griffin, playing the part of a wealthy young idler. Fred Newmeyer and Sam Taylor, who co-directed "Why Worry?" also wielded the megaphone on this new mirth provoker, which was taken from a story by Taylor, Tommy Gray Ted Wilde and Tim Whelan.

Says Woman Needs Three Husbands

One to Make Money, One For Society, Another Housekeeper

Kansas City, Mo., February 3.—Every woman should have three husbands, in the opinion of Mrs. Ralph Tennal, editor of the Sabetha Kansas Herald. One husband is needed to make money, one for social attendance and a third for housekeeping, she told a meeting of Kansas editors at Topeka.

"The husbands we now have are satisfactory as far as they go," she asserted. "They are experts at their leading characteristic—that of making money. But there are so many details in being a husband that they do not seem to grasp.

"There is another line of resistance he must go up against. That is social obligations. The husband who may consent to the demand of refrigerator and lawn mower rebels violently at dining, dancing and bridging.

"The sound of a jazz orchestra sets his teeth on edge; the word no-trump sends cold shivers down his back; the very thought of changing his collar to go out to a dinner party, after a hard day's work throws a gloom over his soul. This has grown worse in these Volstead days, when his better judgment tells him no liquid offering is safe.

My solution is that every woman be permitted to have three husband. The one she has shall be retained for bread-winning purposes, at which he is eminently and happily successful. A husband number two who will attend us gladly, joyfully, in our social pursuits. A husband number three is needed to keep the domestic wheels turning without friction. He naturally would be of the tabby cat variety, who loves his home and all little matters pertaining to it."

For the delicate child

OVALTINE

TONIC FOOD BEVERAGE

Builds up Brain, Nerves, and Body

Many mothers cannot understand why a child is backward or delicate. They never dream of malnutrition because they don't realize that a child may take apparently an adequate amount of food and yet be undernourished.

Give your children "Ovaltine" daily. "Ovaltine" is made from rich creamy milk, ripe barley malt and fresh eggs, flavoured with cocoa. It supplies in concentrated, easily-digested form, the nutritive values lacking in the usual daily dietary. Children love the delicious flavour.

WIDE TROUSERS ARE BECOMING OBSOLETE

Cleveland, Feb. 4.—Flapping extremely wide trousers are absolete, according to the spring style edict announced here at the annual convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors.

Spring suits must conform to this style:—

Wedge shaped coats, tighter about the hips cut away in front and growing larger as they reach the shoulders.

Trousers a trifle narrower, worn well down on the shoe, with knee measurements of about 19½ inches and bottom measurements of about 17½ inches.

Vests possessing a forward slant, with points of modest size.

Grays running from silver to smoke predominate among colors, with a large sprinkling of fawns and tans.

Odessa Library Board

Odessa, Feb. 4—The Library board held its annual meeting in the public reading room, Jan. 19th, when the following were appointed: Rev. S. F. Dixon and W. G. Clark trustees; D. O. Frink, treasurer; Mrs. J. H. Babcock, president; Miss Willana Clark vice-president and Mrs. Huggard, secretary. The board is planning on booming the library for 1925 and is arranging a series of entertainments in order to have electric lights installed and to add if possible, one hundred new volumes to the shelves.

School Destroyed by Fire

Arnprior, Feb. 4—Fire, thought to have been caused by an overheated furnace, completely destroyed one of the two public schools here, Sunday afternoon at an estimated loss of $75-000. Insurance amounting to $20,000 was carried. Classes will be conducted in the town hall and church basements until a new school house can be built.

Fractured Wrist

Deseronto, Feb. 4—Mrs Fred Purser, Princess street, suffered from a painful fall on the sidewalk on Yonge street on Monday afternoon. She fractured her wrist and was bruised badly.

Mrs. Coutes of Toronto is spending a few days visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Burns, Thomas street.

Three jolly Irish pedestrians, on their way from Toronto to Montreal were hospitably entertained and provided with shelter in the local lockup. Although poorly shod they started cheerfully on their way east today.

Issuing Licenses

This year's passenger car and commercial car licenses are now being issued and all motor vehicles in operation are required to carry 1925 markers before March 1st.

Makes Big Jump

Mr. Geo. Wilson, of The Reformer staff, left here two weeks ago for new York. In the big American metropolis he secured a position as a reporter on the New York Journal, and was sent the next day to the Phillipine Islands to report on the activities of the United States Army. George Wilson is a younger brother of Tom L. Wilson, day foreman of The Oshawa Reformer.

Napanee News

Napanee, Feb. 4.—Word was received in Napanee yesterday afternoon conveying the sad intelligence that Mrs. John Hambly had passed away at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Hollis, Toronto. The deceased had been a patient sufferer for many months and her death will be sincerely regretted by a wide circle of friends in Napanee. Shortly after Christmas the deceased left for Toronto to visit her daughter, Mrs. Hollis, and while in the city secured the best medical aid but nothing could be done to restore her to good health.

A delightful birthday party was given in the school room of Trinity Church last night, and was largely attended. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental music, also several numbers by the orchestra, were given to the delight of all those present. At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served.

The men of St. Mary Magdalene Church are holding a supper in the Masonic Rooms on Thursday night of this week. It is expected that the attendance will be unusually large. Dr. Seager, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto, and Mr. J. A. Elliott, of Belleville, will be the speakers for the occasion.

The February schedule for the Inter-Rink games at the Curling Rink has been completed and the curlers have a very busy month ahead of them as the schedule calls for nine games for each rink.

Judging by the interest and friendly rivalry which has been shown in these competitions the 1925 season will eclipse any previous year in the history of the club. Four games were played last night with the following skips:

Maybee vs. Huffman.
Smith vs. W. A. Daly.
Vanalstine vs. Graham.
Lapum vs. Gleeson.

Mr. Aubrey Garrison of the Premier Vacuum Cleaner Co., New York(who has been spending the past two years under the parental roof, returned to his duties yesterday.

4TH LINE THURLOW

(By Staff Correspondent)

A very pleasant event took place on Friday evening when a number of friends and neighbours invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanna and presented them with two beautiful chairs and Everett a pair of gold cuff links. The evening was spent in playing games in which both old and young enjoyed. The crowd broke up about midnight and everyone returned to their homes after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hanna much success and joy in their new home.

Miss Kathleen Bradshaw spent Sunday with Miss Pearl Ketchpaw.

Miss Maud McLaren spent last week with Miss Neva Garrison.

The funeral of the late Ira Badgley took place on Wednesday.

HARLOWE

(By Staff Correspondent)

Snow ploughing is the order of the day, and the roads are very heavy as it snows nearly every day.

The Orange Society of Harlowe, have purchased an organ for the hall and are busy putting it in to-day.

The kitchen shower at Mrs. C. N. Bath was well attended and Miss Florence has been recently married to Mr. D. Green, of Arden, and the friends and relatives presented Mrs. Green with many useful and valuable presents.

Mr. John Thompson's horse took fright at Harlowe this morning as he was on his way to Myers Cave, and but for Mr. E. Morley helping him there might have been a very serious accident, as the horse became unmanageable.

Two Against Union

Peterboro, Feb. 4.—Burnbrae Presbyterian Church has given ten majority against church union. The Presbyterian Mission at Rylstone did not vote as there was a tacit understanding that Rylstone would accept the verdict in Burnbrae Church. This leaves both churches out of the union.

Silver Wedding

Peterboro, Feb. 4.—A quarter of a century ago, on the same day that the bear came out to see his shadow, W. J. Green assumed charge of the collecting of taxes for the then town of Peterboro, and through rain and shine, and all the vicissitudes and changes that surround the office of civic employees, has continued at a post that garners little of grateful appreciation from the general public.

Monday was Mr. Green's silver anniversary. He entered office under Mayor H. Best, and has seen many mayors and councils come and go.

Use Sage Tea To Keep Hair Dark, Glossy

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Learn Science Of Taking Off Hat

Advice of famous Preacher-Author to Hamilton Congregation

Hamilton, Feb. 4.—"Learn the science of taking off your hat," said Rev. Dr. R. E. Knowles, Galt, famous author preacher, in addressing a large congregation at Emerald Street Methodist Church. Dr. Knowles chose his text from Romans xiii:7, "Honor to whom honor," or in other words, taking off one's hat only to those who merit it. During his sermon Dr. Knowles also referred to the Presbyterian divines who "saved doctrines, but lost men."

The speaker said he could tell the kind of man a person was by what he saw when travelling. In London, the newspaper man would seek Fleet street, the financial man Lombard street, and the religious man, St. Paul's or the Abbey. Each man would see what he wanted to see.

But Dr. Knowles wanted to mention the Cenotaph in London. It was symbolic of the dead. People who passed it all raised their hats. It had a majesty of its own. Here, claimed Dr. Knowles, was real respect, and a real sense for veneration. It was "a very beautiful custom from a very unemotional people."

This reverence of things might seem to be only a form, but it was well that there was form, for it often represented something deep, and at least it was a manifestation of respect. There had been too much talk about form.

"The Presbyterians have railed too much against form, and yet it is possible for the Presbyterians to go through form just as empty as the form in other churches they condemned," asserted Dr. Knowles.

The speaker thought it was a pitiful thing to not pay enough attention to form in the broad sense. So many Scotch people, particularly, went through life without uncovering their heads or their hearts to their children.

Hideous Practice

"It is one of the most blasphemous conditions in life," contended Dr. Knowles. "For in later years, we find we cannot gain admission to our own sons' hearts. It is a hideous and profane practice for a boy not to be at home to his own father."

The Roman Catholic Church, he thought was to be praised rather than censured for its use of form and it was a thing Protestant churches might adopt to a greater degree. Baptism was only a form too, yet it was an outward appreciation of deep inward conviction.

"The supreme science in life is knowing what to honor," continued Dr. Knowles. "We are too prone to honor things not worth honoring, and to not honor honorable things." He contended the Scotch always had a genius for honoring what ought to be honored, as evidenced in their respect for the lowly-born Burns, who stood head and shoulders over all the Morgans, Rockefellers and the Norfolks and Roseberys, the families with the oldest lineage.

"Beware whom you honor. If a boy at the age of 21 would sooner be a Dempsey than a Lincoln, or a Babe Ruth rather than a Banting, he is on the wrong track.

"Learn the science of taking off your hat. I have a beatitude of my own, and it is 'Blessed is the man who does his own uncovering.' Do your own instead of doing it at the beck of Mrs. Gundy. Remember Burns: "A man's a man for a' that.'"

Before the sermon Dr. Knowles expressed his pleasure at being present, and, referring to the consummation of church union on June 10 next, said, "We shall catch the glory of greater gain, and go in, to go no more out again forever." Then, at the conclusion of the sermon, he said, "I leave you in affectionate farewell, and in much appreciation of a happy day in my sister church."

PREMIER PROPOSES EXEMPTION OF TAX

Winnipeg, Feb. 4.—Manitoba's Budget was brought down at a late hour last night in the Legislature by Premier Bracken, Provincial Treasurer, estimating expenditures for 1925-26 as $10,608,412.04, revenue, $10,463,904; deficit, $144,508.04. For the eight months ending April 30, 1925, he estimated an expenditure of $7,283,179.11; revenue, $7,115,350.50; book deficit, $167,828.61.

On income tax, the Premier outlined a proposal raising exemption for children from $300 to $500 each, and providing for exemption for dependents. A further reduction of the supplementary revenue tax is expected, of $40,000 or $50,000.

A reduction is also proposed in the automobile tax, but an increase is fore cast in the gasoline tax, to three cents

B.C. Issues Beer Hall Regulation

Rules Made to Stop Treating and Prevent Cabaret Conditions

Victoria, February 4.—British Columbia's new beer halls will operate from ten a.m. to eleven p.m. There will be no bars or barmaids; dancing will be prohibited, and the rules are designed to prevent any return to the "beer cabaret" so prevalent in British Columbia some years ago, according to beer regulations announced by Attorney-General A. M. Manson.

"We have applied ourselves to the simple instruction of the Legislature. It is a straight case of relief to a parching thirst in the simpliest manner possible," said Hugh Davidson, liquor commissioner.

The room will contain chairs, tables and waiters. Only young men who are British subjects and otherwise eligible to get on the voters' list can be employed. The commissioner thus hopes to head off an invasion of foreign ex-bartenders. The proprietor, likewise, must be British and eligible to vote.

The outstanding bar and brass rail will be conspicuous by their absence, and this is expected to eliminate the system of wholesale treating in vogue in the old days.

Draught and bottled beer only will be on sale with as high as four and one-half per cent. alcoholic content and not lower than three per cent. will be sold.

Provision is being made for sale of beer in "wet spots" only of those electoral districts which voted for beer in the June plebiscite. Thus whatever licenses are issued in Vancouver will be in downtown polling divisions, which voted "wet".

Twenty-three electoral districts in the province voted wet, and seventeen voted dry. There are no provisions in to-day's regulations, for the issue of licensee in any of the seventeen districts, though there were some definitely 'wet' sections in these dry areas.

Vancouver hotelmen must pay one thousand dollars each for beer licenses. It is unknown how many will be issued, estimates running from thirty to seventy.

Victoria, New Westminster, and Kamlops voted against beer, so that the next class of city to obtain the glass system will include Nanaimo and Fernie. They will pay $500 for license privileges. The $00 license class, will include industrial towns up to 2,500 people. Then comes hamlets whose fees will be as low as $150 a year.

WILL THIS ECLIPSE BE SPOILED ALSO?

Toronto, February 4.— Torontonians are wondering whether atmospherical conditions next Sunday evening will be better than they were on January 24 last. The eclipse of the sun having become a matter of history, citizens of as astronomical turn of mind are hoping that clear visibility will be the order for the partial eclipse of the moon.

J. R. Collins, former president of the Astronomical Society of Canada, announced today that the moon will pass partly into the earth's shadow on Sunday with the first contact at 3.05 p.m. and the last at 6.25 p.m. On account of the early hour only the last half of the partial eclipse will be visible here.

Building permits issued in Woodstock during January totalled $2,295, but show an increase over the same month for 1924, when the total was $130.

To Merchants and Executives

Pity the Salesman who cannot—

The salesman who is not free to use Long Distance without being criticized is probably not covering his territory in the most economical manner.

He is competing with salesmen who call up their customers between visits; secure repeat orders; or sell additional items; — with Sales Managers who encourage salesmen to use Long Distance, because it saves money and time.

— with salesmen who, when travelling, telephone to customers in small towns from some central point;

Of two salesmen who both preserve a proper proportion between expense and sales, the one who uses Long Distance the most is usually the most effective.

House Furnishing Department To Be Greatly Increased in Size To Meet Ever Growing Business. General Offices To Be Moved Up To Second Floor To Make Room For Development of Down Stair's Departments.

During the month of February workmen will be busy in the interior of our store making changes necessitated by our ever increasing business. Several departments are crying out for more room to display their goods and to meet these demands we have arranged for several important changes.

The general offices and/cash desk will be moved to the first floor up, which will provide better light for office work and will give us the extra space on the groound floor now much neded for our Ladies' Corset and Underwear department. These offices are conveniently accessible by easy stairway or elevator, and will allow for increased office space. The cash railways will all lead to these offices where change will be made and all accounts will be payable on this floor.

Our department devoted to Draperies, Rugs and general Home Furnishings demands more space to meet its constant development, and the moving of our Millinery department down to the ground floor will allow us to devote two entire floors to these goods. We are enjoying a liberal patronage in our special made-to-order Drapes that are designed and made on our own premises, and no firm between Toronto and Montreal is so well able to cater to this class of trade as ourselves. We are constantly doing work in the best houses in Napanee, Kingston, Brighton, Trenton and all surrounding towns. We have our own workrooms where special orders are made up under our personal supervision.

PASSENGERS GOT REAL SEA THRILL

New York, February 4.—The spines of 147 passengers of the Furness-Bermoda liner Fort Victoria were vibrating when their vessel docked yesterday.

These same spines recorded the thrill of a lifetime when the Fort Victoria was 250 miles out of New York and had just been deserted by an enormous school of porpoises—estimated at about 1,000—which had pursued her whirling propellers for fifty miles.

Many of the passengers were grouped on the stern decks watching the tumblers of the deep vanish in the distance when a waterspout was sighted off the port side. The spout was about 250 feet high and rapidly approached the vessel.

On and on the spout came, throwing a sparkling cloud of foam as it madly advanced. It continued to grow higher and higher as it advanced until it came within 200 feet of the ship, when its motive power suddenly collapsed and the pillar of water fell back with a splash audible to the tremulous watchers.

Among the thrilled was Elizabeth Tudor, nine-year-old adopted daughter of Mrs. Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragist of a decade ago, who made the trip unaccompanied to join Mrs. Pankhurst here.

Another passenger was Harry C Blackstone, director of the Furness Withy Company, operators of the Furness-Bermuda Line, who had made his annual tour of the Bermudas in the interest of his company.

ICE BREAKS AWAY EXCITEMENT REIGNS

Owen Sound, Feb. 3.—There was considerable excitement among the citizens of Tobermory on Saturday morning when it became known that the ice had broken away from the shore about a mile from land and that a number of men and boys who had been fishing on the ice were in danger. All reached the shore in safety, but two young men, William Ransbury and Colin Martin, were too far out to get to shore before the break-away came.

No time was to be lost. A number of men ran to the village for a boat. Alex Young and Charles Golden volunteered to go out to rescue the boys, who by this time were half a mile from the shore on a cake of ice. It was no easy task to reach them. When rescued they were cold and wet, but no serious consequences are anticipated.

Several bobbing outfits were lost in the excitement.

Gas In Stomach Hurts The Heart

THOUSANDS OF CASES OF HEART FAILURE ARE CAUSED BY ACUTE INDIGESTION, SAYS MEDICAL WRITER

Gas pressure from sour. acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid conditions of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 13 years.

REVIEWS CHANGES IN THIS OLD CHURCH

Winnipeg, Man., February 4.—St. Paul's Church at Middlechurch, Man., the second oldest Anglican church in the whole of Northwestern Canada, celebrated its 100th anniversary Sunday.

The Most Rev. S. P. Mathewson, Lord Archibald of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada, who preached at the opening commemoration service, reviewed the historic features linking the church with the eventful days of the early Red River settlement.

St. Paul's church dates back to within five years of the erection of old St. John's, which is the oldest Anglican church west of the Red River. The building has been reconstructed three times the present one having been built in 1883.

Referring to the change brought about by time, the Primate declared that when he was incumbent of the church the hymns and chants were started by means of a tuning fork, which later had been replaced by a hand organ In those days, people had journeyed more than ten miles every Sunday to attend the service.

Very sorry to hear of the serious illness of Miss Gladys Ellis and hope soon to hear of her recovery.

Mrs. Lucinda has returned home after spending a few days with her daughter and family, Mrs. William Baird of Wellington.

Mrs. Moy, Sr. of Massassauga, is visiting friends at the Corners.

The many friends of Mr. William Keeth will be pleased to hear that he is gaining slowly under the skilful treatment of Dr. McCullough of Wellington.

Jack Frost has found his way into some celairs around here.

Glad to hear that Mrs. Watt, Sr., is getting better after being ill all winter.

Mr. George Rorabeck is confined to the house with a bad cold and bronchitis.

Mr. and Mrs. eGorge Newson and grandson visited at the Corners on Sunday.

The water question is beginning to look serious around here.

Old Bear's day came in stormy, so according to the old proverb the old chap will stay out and we will have an early spring.

JUDGE EXPRESSES SURPRISE AT EVI

Hamilton, Feb. 3—Finding John V. Baird guilty of the theft of $31,78 from the Union Bank of Canada, Judge Gauld yesterday in a lengthy judgment uttered a stinging indictment of the handbook evil here.

His Honor expressed himself as astounded that a handbook on such an extensive scale as the one conducted by Baird should have continued for so long within two blocks of Police Headquarters and never be molested. This struck Judge Gauld as incomprehensible, and called for elucidation by those entrusted with the enforcement of the law.

TEA SUPPLY INADEQUATE—PRICES HIGHER

Tea prices are going up mainly because tea is being demanded by millions more people. Tea is the cheapest and certainly one of the most palatable and satisfying beverages known. But the tea-growers have been unable to meet the tremendous demand. It takes three years for a tea bush to mature to the plucking stage.

SPEECH FROM THRONE ADMITS LIVING COST A VITAL SUBJECT; WIDER MARKET ALLEGED CURE

Attention of Parliament Directed to Freight Rate Problems

PARLIAMENT OPENED

Brilliant Scene As Governor-General Functions This Afternoon

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The Governor General, Lord Byng of Vimy, today opened the fourth session of Canada's fourteenth Parliament. It was an opening marked by all the historic old ceremonial, but an opening in an air of political uncertainties. The question in the minds of members was would the session be a bitter battle ground preliminary to dissolution and a general election, or would it drag through five months and the life of present Parliament end next year, having run its constitutional course.

It was a brilliant scene as the Governor General rose in Senate Chamber to read the speech from the throne and thus outline the Government's proposed Legislative program for the session.

The problem of the cost of living is the most important that ministers have before them at the present time, said the speech from the throne. The ultimate solution lay in increased production and wider markets, it was declared. With that object in view, every effort was being made, said the speech to attract the right class of immigrants to Canada and to secure their settlement on the land.

The speech continued, "It is the opinion of my advisors that the attention of Parliament at the present session should be directed more particularly to the desirability of effecting a freer movement of commodities through the equalization of railway freight rates between provinces and localities and through lowering of carrying charges upon shipments by water. Some measure of control of transportation by land and sea is obviously essential to the promotion of inter-Imperial trade, the expansion of export trade generally, an dthe development of Canadian trade via Canadian ports."

Annuls Marriage For Girl Bride

Judge Hears Strange Tale in Bronx Supreme Court

New York, Feb. 5.—After listening to the story of Mrs. Doris F. Sasse, 17 years old, who said that she had been forced into marriage by threats of death, Justice Mitchell, in Bronx Supreme Court yesterday granted her an annulment of her marriage to Harold Winfield Sasse, a student at New York University.

The girl-bride said that when she went to the New York and New Jersey license bureaux a license was refused because of her youth. The license was finally obtained, according to her testimony through the son of Borough President Bruckner, of the Bronx who sent them to the home of Deputy Clerk McCabe. There she said she was twenty-two and was not questioned.

As a result of her evidence, Justice Mitchell ordered that a transcript of the proceedings be sent to the district attorney, with attention being called to the issuing of the license.

Mrs. Sasse looks about 15. She is pretty and vivacious. Immediately after the ceremony she went to her home, number 1872 East Bourne avenue, the Bronx, and told her father, John Morehouse. He refused to let her live with her husband. The wedding took place October 18 last and the annulment suit was started shortly after that date.

The young husband is a noted athlete at the university. He lives in one of the fraternity houses.

When Mrs. Sasse was called to the witness stand she quickly overcame the first nervousness that left her pale and trembling and in a steady voice told of Sasse's shiek-like courtship.

The girl met young Sasse in August last. With him it was a case of love at first sight, and he immediately began to plead with her to marry him. She was attracted by him, found him a congenial companion, but was averse to taking such a step. She annalyzed her feelings toward him and found that they did not register strong enough to justify a marriage. She told him so, but he refused to take no for an answer. Then she tried to put him off by pleading that she was too young and that she could not obtain her parent's consent. When she proved obdurate he threatened to exterminate the whole family.

IS ON TRIAL FOR THEFT OF LETTER

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Roy W. Montgomery, sorter at the General Postoffice is on trial before Judge O'Connell and a jury at the sessions, charged with having stolen a letter on November 1 last.

Walter Sporks, chief sorter, said that from information received he watched the accused and saw him put a letter in his hip pocket. He reported the matter to the inspector and was told to bring Montgomery to the inspector's office on the third floor. On the way he noticed Montgomery take the letter from his pocket and put it in the top of his trousers.

To the inspector the accused denied having taken the letter, but when asked to stand up the letter, the witness alleged, dropped out of Montgomery's trouser leg to the floor.

WRIT FOR PEPALL FORMALLY DENIED

Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—Federal Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe on Wednesday formally denied an applicaton for a writ of Habeas Corpus on behalf of Andrew H. Pepall, former Ontario Govt. official, wanted in Toronto to face various charges of fraud and embezzlement.

Following Pepall's failure to gain his freedom and his earlier vain efforts to obtain bail, attorneys for the Provincial Govt. of Ontario went ahead to-day with preparations for his legal removal to stand trial, in Toronto.

Since Pepall's appearance in court last week copies of the complaints issued against him have been received. These charge him wth the theft of $368,000, the obtaining by fraud of $381,000, giving of bribes, receiving bribes and receiving money and securities, knowing them to have been obtained fraudulently. His removal hearing will be Feb. 11.

GAMBLING SITUATION TO BE INVESTIGATED

Hamilton, Feb. 5.—A special meeting of the Police Commission at which the entire "gambling situation" will be gone into has been called for by the Mayor for Friday.

This action is the result in part of Inspector Cruickshank's alleged statement to the press, that he could clean up gambling in the city if he were permitted. Inspector Cruickshank is in charge of the East End division.

Chief Coulter has stated there was nothing he knew of to stop the Inspector "cleaning up," as quoted, if he could do so.

SCORES POWDERING IN PUBLIC PLACES

Manchester, Eng., Feb. 5.—Although Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the dean of Manchester, does not care to express an opinion as to whether a girl should draw the line as to where she performs this part of her toilette.

"The place for this sort of thing," he says, "is not a crowded railway compartment, in which some girls do not think it bad manners to take from their handbags a silver box and dab their faces with powder."

HOBO EARNS PASS ON RAILROAD LINE

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 5.—Bill Goodman of Nauvroo, Alabama, erstwhile rider of the roads today is entitled to "ride the cushions" on all trains of the St. Louis—San Francisco Railway Company. Bill is a hero. Bill emerged from the seclusion of the "blind baggage" Sunday night when the train he was riding collided with a switch engine. He dragged Engineer P. P. Dutton who was stunned, from beneath his engine. Had he remained, Dutton would have been scalded by the water from a bursting boiler. When the pass was awarded to him, Bill says that he had rather "hoof" it back to Nauvoo and beat his way home. He gets more "kick" out it, he says.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Falling in line with their fellow workers in Montreal, approximately one thousand members of Cloak Makers Union went on strike for higher wages today following a decision reached at a mass meeting last night.

Loses Home And Job In United States After Living There For Five Years

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 5—An illustration of the strictness of the United States immigration law is given here yesterday in the person of J. Railton, who for the past five years has lived and worked in Tonawanda, N.Y. According to his own story, he did not pay a head tax when he entered the country at that time and came back here yesterday to see the United States consul and legalize his residence. At first he said he was born in Canada, then admitted he came here from Britain. He appeared before an immigration board today, but was turned back. He will have to come under the British quota, and there are only four permitted at this port every month, so that Railton may have to wait several months. Meanwhile his job and his home are in Tonawanda and Railton is here.

Pioneer Passes In His 102nd Year

Death calls Sylvester Thrasher at Home of His Daughter

At the home of Mr. S. W. Latta, Sidney street, last evening there passed away Mr. Sylvester Thrasher, the oldest resident of this section of the community, if not in Hastings County. He was born on the first day of April, 1823, in Thurlow Township, being in his 102nd year. Mr. Thrasher was for many years a resident of Thurlow, being engaged in farming. Owing to advancing age he retired a few years ago and for the past four years had resided with his daughter, Mrs. S. W. Latta, Sidney street. He was a son of the late Mr. John Thrasher, a pioneer settler in Thurlow. Deceased had been for many years a member of the Methodist church. Twenty years ago Mrs. Thrasher passed away. Surviving is a family of one son and three daughters. The son John G., resides in this city, and the daughters are Mrs. S. W. Latta and Mrs. Robert Greatrix, Belleville and Mrs. Frank Mire of Los Angeles.

Jack Dempsey Has Reporters Guessing

Takes Mother and Estelle Taylor to Second Rate Fight

(Canadian Pres Despatch)

Los Angeles, Feb. 5 — Reportorial agitation over marriage plans of Jack Dempsey bubbled up anew, when Dempsey's motor car paused in front of Miss Estelle Taylor's home long enough late yesterday to permit the actress, her maid and a heap of baggage to be transferred from the sidewalk to the tonneau. After the car had vanished, excitement in screen and sporting circles grew by leaps and bounds until Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, revealed that Dempsey was going to San Diego to second one of his pugilistic friends in a boxing bout. Kearns added that Dempsey's mother went along too.

The explanation gave investigators a chance to get their second wind, after which they took up the chase again with the remark that one does not usually take one's mother and fiancee to see a second rate fight, even if one is interested in that sort of thing.

EMIL ST. GODDARD WON PAS DOG DERBY

The Pas, Feb. 3.—Emil St. Goddard won The Pas Dog Derby last night when he arrived at The Pas at 9.45. His time for the 204 mile course was 35 hours, 45 minutes.

W. Mahoney, driving a team entered by W. W. Purple of Big River, Saskatchewan, finished second.

S. Casey Wood K. C. Is Found Guilty ; To Be Sentenced With Gough Tuesday Next

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 5.—S. Casey Wood, K. C., director of the Home Bank of Canada, whose trial on charges levelled under the Bank Act was concluded last week, was found guilty this morning by Judge Coatsworth of negligently signing, approving and concurring in a monthly statement of Bank for February 1923, as well as the annual statement issued May 31 in that year.

His Honor announced that he would sentence the director on Tuesday, next, along with R. P. Gough, vice-president of the institution, and J. F. M. Stewart, another director.

Ready For End Of World Or Otherwise

New York Makes Preparations for Either Event

New York, Feb. 5—Robert Reidt, of Patchogue, Long Island, watched the sky yesterday for the expected manifestation preceding the destruction of all things mundane which he, in common with other disciples of Mrs. Margaret W. Rowan, of Hollywood, California, expects some time after midnight today. He is confident that all will occur as scheduled—but he has an anchor earthward.

Reidt has sold almost all his furniture to a second hand man who, not being of the elect, fails to realize the extreme shortness of his tenure. But Reidt, in all things canny, has made one stipulation. If the world strangely goes on despite Mrs. Rowan's predictions he has the right to buy the things back.

If all is as predicted Reidt expects to sit astride a cloud and ride to Hollywood some time on Friday, with his wife and four children on behind, but if the cvloud fails he can still get back his chairs.

Reidt is, self-styled, the "apostle of doom." With his wife and children and some of his close friends he will go to some elevated point near Patchogue—the elevation is to save the cloud the trouble of swinging too low—at about 11 o'clock tomorrow night and wait. Doom does not impend before midnight, but Reidt desires to miss nothing. He would hate to be elsewhere when the world ended—or to keep that event waiting while he climbed a hill.

He expects the cloud—or other transcendental chariot—to arrive just before the smoke begins. He and the others saved will climb aboard and ride—of all places—to Holywood, where judgment will be delivered. About 144,000 persons will be saved, according to his figures.

If through some miscalculation, Reidt having walked up the hill has to walk down again, he will go at once to the second hand dealer and get back his chairs. One must sit on something—failing a cloud, on a rocker.

Her Lamp Shade Costume Exploded

And Anna Case, Opera Star, Had to Leave Hurriedly

Washington, Feb. 5.—All Washington is having a good-natured laugh to-day at the expense of Anna Case, the opera star, whose costume exploded early yesterday in the new Italian embassy on Sixteenth street.

The explosion occurred when the ball masque given by Prince Caetani, retiring ambassador of Italy, was at its height. The explosion was loud enough to cause the musicians to crane their necks nervously, to cause an attactive young woman to remove her mask—and finally to have several guests declare: "It's Anna Case, the Metropolitan Opera star."

Immediately after the explosion, Miss Case, who was disguised as a lamp shade, ran from the room. Observers noticed through their masks that many strands of electric wire trailed along the floor behind her. Early in the evening, Miss Case, her identity a secret, attracted much attention by her bizarre costume.

The hem of her blue dress was illuminated from beneath by electric bulbs making a circle of light around her. As the dance progressed the bulbs swung perilously to and fro, but their radiance was undimmed.

Suddenly, bang! The light failed and Miss Case removed her mask. A shower of tinkling glass fell to the floor. Dancers stopped to see what happened. Miss Case, with perfect composure, faced her somewhat startled partner and said: "I'm afraid I'll have to leave you."

She retired hurriedly.

Later, with newly adjusted mask and a smile at her misfortune, she returned to the dance. The masque ball went merrily on until the "wee small hours," but the electric bulbs on the opera star's costume were missing.

CANADA SIGNS AND CAUSES A STIR

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Geneva, Feb. 5—Canada's registration with the League of Nations of her convention signed with the United States for the preservation of fisheries in the North Pacific has created unusual interest, as it was the first time she had made a direct registration of a treaty, having acted previously through Great Britain as intermediary. The League opinion here inclined to view Canada's act as a manifestation of independence in international relations.

Great Succcess In Broadcasting

Many in Great Britain heard C. N. R. Moncton Station

Montreal, Feb. 5.—Remarkable success atended the effort of the Canadian National Railways broadcasting Station CNRA at Moncton to transmit a complete concert to Great Britain last night. A large number of cables were received to-day in Moncton from residents of the British Isles stating that the concert had been received and enjoyed. William Phillips, European manager of the Canadian National Railways cabled that his office in London had received several hundred telegrams from every part of England and some cities in Scotland reporting clear reception of the programme and expressing appreciation of its calibre. Curiously enough the only city which appeared to have difficulty in hearing the boardcast was London. Only snatches of the programme were received there and the explanation is offered by officers of the British broadcasting company that the failure was due to oscillation caused by large numbers of set owners attempting to tune in at the same time. Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow are among the cities reporting by cable clear reception of the programme. A Professor Finlay, livingfi in the County of Hampshire where the Canadian Military camp of Bramshott was located during the war cabled Moncton that he had received the concert in sufficient strength to allow it to be reproduced in full on his loud speaker from seven minutes past eleven until one o'clock, Greenwich time. In some cases the concert was reported as coming in faint prior to midnight but after that hour the broadcast was received very clearly in all points in the British Isles, that have been heard from.

It is expected that there will be a large number of additions to the reports of receptions and that these will show that the territory covered by the broadcast is even greater than is evident already. But even if this is not the case officers of the Radio Department of the Canadian National Railways are satisfied that it has been clearly demonstrated that trans-Atlantic broadcast can be under taken regularly from Station CNRA at Moncton with a maximum assurance of successful results. It is not unlikely that this station will be used in trans-Atlantic broadcast at regular intervals in future and that, by this means much valuable work may be done in attracting settlers to Canada from the British Isles.

PRICE OF BREAD BOTHERING PARIS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Feb. 5.—The problem of how to curb the rising price of bread is greatly preoccupying the Government which has decided to introduce a bill with the object of facilitaiting wheat and bread supplies. It is expected that the bill, if it does not completely check the upward movement, will at least serve to keep the price of bread within reasonable bounds.

To win ten gold medals, three silver cups, a pair of silver skates and shatter four world's speed skating records within one week, has been the experience of 16-year-old Leila Brooks, of Toronto. "I eat a big steak before every race," she said when questioned as to how she had done it. Oatmeal porridge, fresh fruit and vegetables are other articles of her diet, while candies, tea and coffee are scrupulously banned. To keep in championship trim she retires every night between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Lost For Months Found Murdered

Two Little Sisters Huddled Together in Ditch Under Weeds

Los Angeles, Feb. 5—The murder of two little girls revealed yesterday, months after their disappearance, occupied the attention of authorities here today. The search for May and Nina Martin, sisters of 12 and 8, who wandered away from home on August 23, last, with sixty-five cents taken from their baby sister's bank, ended yesterday, when their bodies were found in a field scarcely a mile from the sunny front yard in which they last had played with their dolls.

They lay huddled together in a shallow ditch under brush and weeds. Their torn clothing indicated they had been attacked and slain probably by strangulation. A search was begun for man who last summer annoyed women and girls in that neighborhood.

CAVE-IN MAKES COLLINS FAST IN SAND CAVE

Geologists, Miners and Military Authorities Abandon Hope

IS STILL ALIVE

May Sink Shaft and Tunnel To Imprisoned Man

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 5—Floyd Collins is still alive, but he has been permanently entombed in his sand cave prison, 125 feet under ground by the rise in the floor of the cave and all hopes of escape through any natural passage have been abandoned. Four trips into the cave have convinced geologists, coal miners and military authorities in charge of the work, that their only chance to reach Collins is by sinking a shaft from the top of hill and endeavoring to tunnel to the imprisoned man. Any attempt to mine into the cave, it is agreed, will be fatal to Collins, but the plan has been adopted as a last resort.

The third trip this morning into the cave revealed that slow rising had continued, and when miners emerged after their fourth underground visit, they reported that the passage-way had been completely sealed. There had been no more rock falls or cave-ins it was stated. The swelling apparently had lifted the solid rock from the floor to the roof of the cavern. This action disclosed the passageway for an indefinite distance. Inasmuch as a considerable portion of the cave leading from the entrance toward the prisoner still remains undisturbed the belief was expressed that Collins is still alive although there is a possibility that the closing of the passageway may have crushed him. A movement took place just beyond that part of the cavern which had been timbered by rescuers.

Discuss Offer Of Rochester Unit

Favor Visit of American Troops to Belleville at Re-Union

Another of those enthusiastic metings, many of which will be held in connection with the Old Boys' Re-union next August, was held last night, when many who are interested attended, and some business was transacted.

Mr. J. A. Kerr reports to-day that lots of names are being sent in by citizens who are anxious to "put over" the reunion, and who are submitting the names and adresses of Belleville old boys and girls who are living elsewhere but who should be interested in a visit to their old home city on such an auspicious occasion as an Old Boys' Re-Union. Mr. Kerr hopes that none will fail to hand in any names they may know.

Charles Hanna resigned as treasurer of the Old Boys' Re-union organization, but the resignation was not accepted, and was laid over until next week's meeting. Pressure of duties at Ottawa and active association with the Horticultural society were reasons given for the resignation.

A Rochester battalion has offered to come to Belleville during the re-union, and the advisability of the acceptance of this offer was discussed pro and con. The majority seemed to favour the idea. This matter will also come up for additional discussion at the next meeting.

New York, Feb. 5—The market is giving a good account of itself today and is decidedly active. The Steels shares have been very strong lately. The outlook for the steel trade this year seems excellent. There has been a notable rise in the shares of the smaller companies, like Sloss, Gst. and Woodward Iron.

The prediction is for a stock dividend on Gst. Republic ought to be reasonable around these figures. The rails, are doing very well, especially New York Central. Now that the Wabash bonds are sold, we should get a dividend on Wabash "A". There ought to be money in some of the cheaper rails, like Kansas City Southern Mkt and T. Wheeling Pfd., Western Maryland. The oils act well. It looks like something of a boom in these shares before we get through the year. Companies with big production ought to have the best of it. There are no signs of any change in the aspect of the market.

Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all

TO FUND ITALY'S WAR DEBT

The report from Rome that the new ambassador accredited from Italy to Washington has been invested with full power to negotiate a funding arrangement dealing with the Italian war debt to the United States will, if implemented by the action indicated, render it increasingly difficult for France to maintain her attitude of refusal to reach some definite understanding as to a period and terms of repayment of her corresponding obligations. No information is yet forthcoming as to the details to which Italy is willing to agree, or as to the presumable improvement in her financial position which will enable her to carry out the implied purpose of making a series of payments that in time will wipe out the principal and interest owing to the United States, a process now in its second year of operation under the British-American funding agreement. If Mussolini is really in a position to negotiate a valid arrangement, it will be a striking proof of the success of his rough-and-ready methods of allaying civic discord in Italy, with a consequent restoration of the financial stability of his country, and at the same time it will be a shrewd political stroke calculated to restore a prestige badly damaged by the Matteoti affair and to extricate him from a none-too-comfortable situation, despite his apparent success in retaining a substantial majority in the Chamber of Deputies and the loyalty of the mass of his followers throughout the Kingdom. The most important effect of all should be the impetus given to an increase of confidence in the prospects of European nations generally, both at home and abroad, leading to increased trade and industrial activity and greater efforts by the various peoples to work their way from under the financial burdens of the war.

Incidentally, it is likely that the report will also bring a gentle hint from Great Britain that she too would welcome a trifle on account from time to time, a quite just and reasonable stand to take, despite the leather-lunged protestations of certain Senators at Washington that the United States has a prior lien on the assets of all debtor nations, to the exclusion of other equally-deserving and less affluent creditors. If the Italian offer is made in good faith, and is not a mere grandiose gesture, it is the best and most important news that has come out of that country since the Austrian advance was stayed at the Piave and later rolled back into the Trentino.

COURAGE AND ACTION

That Canada should stop trying to keep up with the Jones' meaning the United States, and set out on a distinctive policy of its own is advice handed out by the Hamilton Spectator. This newspapers says:

"Mr. Vincent Massey, who addressed local Ad. Club members at their dinner last night, gave some common-sense advice to his hearers. While he deplored the lamentations of the incurable pessimist, he deprecated equally as much the airy optimist, "with his feet off the earth and his head in the clouds." What is needed in Canada at this time particularly, he declared, was a courageous facing of facts. Those facts are stern enough, but they can never be successfully surmounted, it is certain, by vain repining or eager longing. Governments and people must get down to the task of doing the needed thing, instead of incessantly theorizing. Action, not wordy argument, is necessary.

"Then, too, there is the paramount need of a stronger national consciousness. Undoubtedly, there is truth in Mr. Massey's criticism that Canadians are too prone to set their standards by what is happening in the United States. Canada is British it is a confederation of provinces, united by a sentiment of loyalty and affection to the Dominion and to the Empire as a whole. We should seek to work out our destiny on independent lines, instead of imitating a polity differing from our own, and endeavoring generally to keep up with the Joneses. Canada has its own special set of problems, which cannot be solved by ignoring them, and least of all by running away from them. To stay with the country, each one of us individually doing what we can to assist, that is the requirement and duty demanded of every patriotic Canadian to-day.

A UNIQUE TEST

Recently in Springfield, Ill., where the principal of a grammar school submitted a sixty-year-old examination paper to his pupils, it was revealed that the children of the present day are more learned and efficient than their grandparents were at the same age, says the Hamilton Spectator. This will come as a shock to the old folk, who sometimes think the three R's are being neglected nowadays, but it isn't at all uncomplimentaary to their own abilities. The children of to-day, the test revealed, spell 20 per cent. better than did the children who tried the examination sixty years ago, are 100 per cent. better on arithmetic, 20 per cent. better on geography and the penmanship of the modern scholar was shown to be much more legible. It would have been strange if the test had revealed otherwise. If the scholars of to-day were no farther advanced than the scholars of sixty years ago, of the same age, it would be a sorry commentary upon the modern educational system. The little red school house wherein children of all ages were accommodated in one room and taught by one teacher, has been replaced by imposing architectural piles, designed to provide proper light and ventilation and staffed by specialists. The pupil of sixty years ago had to take his education on the installment plan. Storms and blocked roads played havoc with the attendance in the winter months. To-day there are few excuses for irregular attendance. Compare the facilities of sixty years ago with those of the present and the wonder is not that the modern pupil is more efficient, but that our grandparents were able to read and write and spell as well as they did. Sixty years ago cities and countries in the school geographies were just names to be memorized. To-day, when Johnny and Mary adjust the earphones and tune in they can get a more practical kind of geography out of the air, and through the medium of the school cinemas go on voyages to the far-away corners of the earth. The result of the test was interesting, but facilities for acquiring an education are so vastly improved over what they were sixty years ago that it is not possible to draw a comparison between the raw materials the teachers of the two classes had to work with.—Peterboro Examiner.

Thirty Years Ago

Brockville people are not hockey enthusiasts. There was a very slim attendance at the Cornwall-Brockville game when the former were beaten by 7 to 2.

On the assembly of the Central School this morning, Miss Urquhart's room was found to have smoke in it, and as the moments sped, it became dense. The difficulty was to locate the cause, but it was finally found that the floor underneath the stove was on fire. A couple of pails of water extinguished the blaze. An amusing incident was that a patent fire extinguisher hung in the room, but no one apparently thought of it.

Judge Fraleck returned on Saturday night from North Hastings, where he has been holding election courts.

All the captaincies in the 15th Battalion, have been filled, with one exception. Mayor Walmsley will command No. 5 company, and either Jas. Gibson or W. C. Mikel will take another company.

Press Opinions

THE CARE OF SOULS

London Daily Express:

The pay of clergymen in the Chichester diocese is to be established at a minimum of £300 a year. While this does not represent a large income for educated men with heavy duties and responsibilities, it will, nevertheless, bring relief to no fewer than forty incumbents in the diocese. It would be well if similar action were taken elsewhere. The pay of our poorer clergy cries shame upon Christian England. Thousands of country vicars are pinched for the merest necessities of life; their meagre incomes are swallowed up in the preservation of an appearance of respectability, essential for the proper conduct of their work, and in the provision of education for their children.

THE MARITIME PROBLEM

Toronto Globe:

The Maritime Provinces contend that they have not obtained their fair share of the benefits of Confederation It may be that here again geography stands in the way; but as we did not allow ourselves to be conquered by geography in our Western progress we ought to approach the Maritime problem with the same courage, and in a spirit of sympathy with the dwellers by the sea. It is good advice to tell them to rely upon themselves and develop their own resources. But we cannot stop there. We might not have made such gratifying progress ourselves if we had been compelled to rely upon our own unaided efforts. We have benefited by Confederation and we should give a fair hearing to our less fortunate neighbors when they contend that they are entitled to a larger share of the benefit.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE TREATY.

Springfield Republican:

While the Washington conference accomplished much, it is recognized that its work was necessarily incomplete. Competition in capital ships was averted, but is now threatening to break out in other types not included in the 5—5—3 ratio. The fortification of the isles of the Pacific was stopped, but the proposed great British Naval base at Singapore has become a matter of controversy. And in regard to the Far East, it was apparent that no settlement could be complete and permanent in which Russia, as one of the greatest Far Eastern powers, did not participate With Japan's recognition of the Soviet Far Eastern diplomacy takes a new turn. We may safely assume that this development will be watched vigilantly by our State Department and not impossibly it may lead to some revision of American policy.

Auckland Weekly News:

Clearly, the intention of the Government is to close a chapter in the administration of the service. It is however, obvious that a mere change from a single manager to a board of control will not achieve that purpose. It could be conclusively demonstrated that an independent manager with the necessary knowledge and experience, would be the best instrument for the efficient control of the system, provided he were invested with adequate powers and actually free from external interference. It is however probable that Parliament would refuse to concede to a manager, powers which it might be persuaded to entrust to a commission. Advocacy of management by commission does not rest upon demonstration of the superior wisdom and competence of experts in consultation, but upon the fact that only such an authority is likely to be made independent of political influence. Thus, the value and the importance of the changes now proposed does not depend wholly on the personnel of the board, but largely on the character and the extent of the powers which it is to exercise.

Alfred Griffiths, farmer, of the Lake Shore Road, near St. Catharines, met with a severe accident Tuesday. His left hand became caught in a cutting box driven by electric power and was so badly mangled that amputation may prove necessary.

Copper

THE extent to which copper is used was demonstrated the other day by Thomas D. Brophy, of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, in a speech before the Rotary Club of New York.

"There is scarcely a basic industry that it not reliant, in greater or less degree, upon the services of copper or its alloys."

"In 1923 there were 2,800,000,000 pounds of copper produced in all the world. The largest single consumer of copper is the electrical industry, which means the telegraph and telephone systems, electric urban and interurban lines and light and power systems."

The world's telegraph and telephone systems have already consumed 1,300,000,000 pounds of copper and are now using it at the rate of 200,000,000 pounds a year.

The world is girdled by 20,000,000,000 pounds of copper in submarine cables.

In the locomotive there are about 3,000 pounds of copper used.

The average automobile has twenty-five places where copper is employed. One day's output at Ford's at the Highland Park plant alone, requires 254 miles of copper tubing for radiators and 67 tons of brass for various parts and appliances.

The Leviathan contains more than a million pounds of copper and copper-bearing materials.

The Grand Central station in New York contains over 2,500,000 pounds of copper and the Equitable Building has a total of nearly 2,900,000 pounds.

The ordinary street-car contains about 2,500 pounds of copper. Into our American street railway systems has gone 675,000,000 pounds of the material.

The annual average consumption of copper for each man, woman and child in the United States is almost fifteen pounds.

The United States is the greatest copper-using country in the world. Almost one-half of the world's total production of copper is consumed in the United States.

The recent great increase in the use of copper and its alloys in this country may be attributed largely to the work of the Copper and Brass Research Association.

REJECTED PLAY IS TO OPEN NEW HOUSE

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 5—When Pasadena's community playhouse opens April 1, the first attraction will be a play which probably never would have seen the footlights had it not been for an unusual request made by the playhouse directors. An appeal was directed to all members of the Dramatists' Guild of the Authors' League to submit rejected manuscripts, and it is from these plays, turned down by Broadway producers, that the directors expect to find the opening vehicle.

The playhouse, a civic venture, was built at a cost of $300,000, all of which was raised by popular subscription. It will be run on a non-profit basis, and is publicly owned under perpetual trust.

Education 60 Years Ago And Now

(From the Hamilton Spectator)

Recently in Springfield, Ill., where the principal of a grammar school submitted a 60-year-old examination paper to his pupils, it was revealed that the children of the present day are more learned and efficient than their grandparents were at the same age. This will come as a shock to the old folks, who sometimes think the three R's are being neglected nowadays, but is isn't at all uncomplimentary to their own abilities. The children of to-day, the test revealed, spell 20 per cent. better than did the children who tried the examination sixty years ago, are 100 per cent. better on arithmetic, 20 per cent. better on geography and the penmanship of the modern scholar was shown to be much more legible. It would have been strange if the test had revealed otherwise. If the scholars of to-day were no further advanced than the scholars of 60 years ago, of the same age, it would be a sorry commentary upon the modern educational system. The little red school house wherein children of all ages were accommodated in one room and taught by one teacher, has been replaced by imposing architectural piles, designed to provide proper light and ventilation and staffed by specialists. The pupil of 60 years ago had to take his education on the installment plan. Storms and blocked roads played havoc with the attendance in the winter months. Today there are few excuses for irregular attendance. Compare the facilities of 60 years ago with those of the present and the wonder is not that the modern pupil is more efficient, but that our grandparents were able to read and write and spell as well as they did. Sixty years ago cities and countries in the school geographies were just names to be memorized. Today, when Johnny and Mary adjust the earphones and the tune in they can get a more practical kind of geography out of the air, and through the medium of the school cinemas go on voyages to the faraway corners of the earth. The result of the test was interesting, but facilities for acquiring an education are so vastly improved over what they were 60 years ago that it is not possible to draw a comparison between the raw materials the teachers of the two classes had to work with.

TWO YOUTHS, 18, STAGED A DUEL

Lexington, Mass., Feb. 5.—A pistol duel fought in a north Lexington street last night by two 18-year-old youths, one of whom was shot dead, remained unexplained today. Through hours of questioning Joseph Statsky, Lexington high school football star, survivor of the battle, maintained that he had fired in self-defense after George Travelen of Arlington Heights, had held him up and robbed him. Travelene was shot through the head and was dead when a physician arrived. Statsky, wounded in the right shoulder, is under arrest at a hospital, charged with murder. The story of the duel became known when Statsky staggered into his home near the scene and collapsed.

UNITED CHURCH HAS NO POWERS TO COLLECT

To the Editor,

Sir:—

Statements have been made that the United Church of Canada will have power to "assess" congregations and "collect" by legal process. In reply to such statements the General Assembly Committee on Church Union have received the following advice from its legal counsel.

I understand that statements are being made by some speakers opposing Union to the effect that the United Church of Canada will have power to impose taxation upon congregations for its purposes and force them by legal process to pay the amount so imposed. At one meeting the question was asked, "How will you feel when the tax collector hands you your slip?" These statements are not true. If all of the provisions of the Basis of Union and of the act of Parliament 1924, chapter 100, are examined it will appear that there is nothing therein conferring such powers upon the United Church.

This statement is signed by G. W. Mason, K.C., and should finally dispose of this matter.

J. H. EDMISON
Secretary of the General Assembly's Committee on Church Union

WINNIPEG FUTURES

Winnipeg, Feb. 5.—Wheat, May 1 7-8 cents to 3 7-8 cents lower at 2.07 to 2.05; July 1¾ cts. lower at 2.05 to 2.02½; October 2 7-8 cents lower at 1.56. Oats, May, 1 cent to 5-8 cents lower at 72 to 72 3-8 cents; July, 1 cent to 3-8 cents lower at 73 to 73 5-8; October ½ cent. lower at 64.

EXCHANGES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 3.—Sterling exchange steady, demand rates in cents: Great Britain 4.78 5-8. Canadian dollars 1-8 of one per cent discount.

TORONTO MARKET

Toronto, Feb. 5—Receipts small, trade dull. Heavy beef steers 7 to 725; butcher steers, choice, 650 to 725; butcher cows, medium, 325 to 4; calves 450 to 550; lambs 14 to 15; hogs, selects, 1260.

CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 5—Wheat started down grade to-day during early dealings in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires Markets. Decline at Liverpool was largely due to an argentine forecast, that shipments of wheat there will total more than 7 million bushels this week while weather conditions at Buenos Aires continue favorable for movement of new wheat there. Assurance of senate leaders to president that they will try to enact farm relief legislation also encouraged bears. On break good class of buying appeared and moderate recovery followed. Opening figures which ranged from 1 3-8 to 3 1-2 cents lower with May $1.95 3-4 to $1.97 and July $1.65 1-4 to $1.65 3-4 were followed by slight further setback and then something of rally. Initial weakness of corn and oats followed break in wheat values. Corn however showed relatively firm undertone, market rallying strongly on good buying which came out on dips. After starting 1-8 to 1 1-4c off with May $1.36 to $1.36 1-2 corn market held near initial figures and then scored rise all round. Oats opened 1-2 to 3-4c down with May 62c to 62 1-4c and later receded little more. Provisions were firmer in line with higher quotations on hogs.

2.30 p.m. quotations as received by private wire and supplied by Dickenson and Walbank, members Montreal Stock Exchange, Belleville Branch, Hotel Quinte.

GIRL POSES AS BOY DURING FOUR YEARS

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 5—After posing as a boy for four years Nita Smith was arrested by Colorado Springs police Tuesday, they reported Wednesday night. Shortly after-wards Warren B. Thompson, 42, who claimed to be her father, was arrested at a hotel. The pair are held in connection with investigation of an oil promotion scheme, in which Thompson is alleged to have leased 30.000 acres of land near Florrisant, Colo.

Miss Smith who says she was born in Toronto, said she was a dancer in cabarets in San Francisco at the time she decided to emancipate herself from the thraldom of her sex. Since then she has travelled throughout the United States.

Thompson asserted, police said that his "son" had graduated from Harvard last year and that he himself was an authority on industrial subjects.

ANCIENT PILLAR REPORTED SINKING

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 5—Egyptologists are anxious over the condition of the ancient "Nilometer," a pillar with graduated markings indicating the height of the water in the Nile, and which is situated in old Cairo. The monument stands in a well, which communicates with river, but now, after many centuries, is sinking, and a committee has been appointed to consider means of saving it.

The Nilometer's age is unknown. Some antiquarians believe it to be the identical pillar mentioned in the first century of the Christian era by Pliny who recorded that if the water reached only to the 12 cubits mark a famine was indicated; if the 13th, scarcity; 15th, safety; and 16th, plenty.

Some authorities, however, hold that it was not erected earlier than the eighth century but certainly many hundreds of years ago.

MANY YOUNG GIRLS WANTING HUBBY

Toronto, Feb. 5.—When the official in charge of the Toronto marriage license bureau at the City Hall announced a few days ago that he had received an application for a wife from a young farmer of Kennedy, Saskatchewan, he little knew the avalanche of acceptances that was about to descend upon him. The list of girls ready to move out to the Saskatchewan farm has been growing daily. Three coming in today makes the total now 18. All the girls claim to be under 26.

C.N.R. BOARDING HOUSE CAR BUMPED

Millbrook, Feb. 5.—The interior of the C. N. R. station is being renovated and re-decorated at present. The walls, which were formerly kalsomined, are receiving a fresh coat of paint, the furniture varnished and other improvements made. When the work is completed the building will present an attractive appearance.

A peculiar occurrence happened to the boarding car which houses the work men. The noon "mixed" from Fort Hope, to which was attached an engine with brakes working rather ineffectively struck the car, breaking the king bolt and moving the body a few inches out of place on the wheels.

The steel top of the cook stove was broken in the centre, and smoke issuing in some volume at first gave the impression that the car was on fire. Dinner was cooking, but was destined not to be eaten since it was scattered in all directions.

The cook, a Japanese, was the sole occupant of the car at the time and was thrown some feet against the wall of the car and badly bruised. An examination by X-ray at Dr. H. A. Turner's Private Hospital showed no bones broken, and the injured man was allowed to return to his post of duty, but carrying one arm in a sling.

FINDS FRIEND DEAD AT CELLAR STAIRS

Keene, Ont., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Wm Moore, of Keene, met a very tragic death last evening. Mrs. Levi Fife, who was a neighbor of Mrs. Moore, not noticing the usual light in the house at the usual time went in to investigate.

Mrs. Fife was unable to locate Mrs Moore and lighted the lamp and started to search the house. She noticed the door open leading to the cellar, and going down the stairs, found Mrs. Moore dead at the bottom of the stairs.

Whether Mrs. Moore suffered heart attack or whether she slipped down the stairs and met death due to a cut on her head is not known yet.

Mrs. Moore had been living alone for quite a number of years, her husband having predeceased her some years ago

The entire community is shocked over the suddenness of Mrs. Moore's death.

An overheated flue caused a fire Tuesday at 187 Cannon Street, Hamilton, which did $1,000 damage.

German Criticises American Movies

Claims Film Directors Lack Ideals; Vitality Impressed Him

Berlin, Feb. 5.—Dr. Fritz Lang, German film manager who recently returned from a study of the film industry in the United States, delivered a lecture in which he said American film directors are too commercial and much less devoted to art than German directors. Of all the American directors he said he found that Griffith alone has ideals.

Dr. Lang also said that in his opinion Germany has better actors than the United States, but the United States has a much greater variety of actors, is able to produce an actor for every part who merely plays himself, and has actors who keep constantly in training and keep their bodies active and fresh through sports. The failure of German actors to keep in good physical trim is a great handicap, in Dr. Lang's opinion.

The great power of life in the United States, the immense vitality of all classes of persons, and the disinclination of even the poorest beggar to admit that he is not well made a great impression on Dr. Lang. He says an American always says he is extraordinarily well, while an inquiry about a German's health brings the answer as a rule that he is wretched.

MATRIMONIAL COURSE TO ENLIGHTEN FOLK

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 5.—A course in matrimony was opened last night by the social department of the central Y.M.C.A. and here are some of the questions to be asked and answered by the pupils:

How is a fellow to pick the right girl for his wife?

How much money should a chap be earning before he thinks of getting married?

Home town sweetheart or city girl? Which?

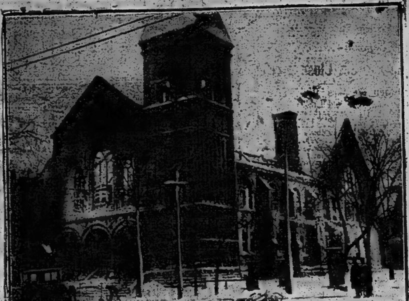
What is the best age for taking the fatal leap?

How many children in the ideal home?

Should the wife continue working after marriage?

There are many other questions and various ministers who have been active in marrying couples and following their fortunes and misfortunes after the union, will endeavor to help the students. Physicians and other specialists will contribute their testimony and advice.

The purpose of the course is neither to encourage nor discourage matrimony. All the light possible will be thrown upon the situation and the young man and woman, fortified with this data, are expected to make intelligent decisions for themselves.



When flames broke out in College Street Baptist Church, Toronto, about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning they swept through the huge church building with such rapid-ity that within an hour, despite every effort of a large part of the city's fire fighting force, the interior of the building was completely gutted, leaving only the bare brick walls of the once beautiful church building. The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000 with an insurance of approximately $30,000.

HULA TRAFFIC COP HAS PASSED AWAY

Honolulu, Feb. 5.—Peter Hose, Hawaii's famous "hula traffic cop," is dead, a victim of tuberculosis.

Well over six feet in height, always smiling and genial, "Pete," as he was known universally, was wont to amuse and entertain visitors and residents of the islands by directing traffic at the busiest street intersection in Honolulu to the motions of a whistled hula dance. He became a well-known character both to residents and tourists, as he had served 18 years in the police department.

Some months ago he contracted tuberculosis and was placed in a sanitarium. Prior to the holiday season he suddenly arose one night, dressed and walked to his home with the remark that he desired to die in his own home among his family. Death came quietly several nights later.

Throughout the night before the funeral around Pete's coffin relatives and friends kept watch over the dead after the Hawaiian custom, the silence being punctuated occasionally by wailing, for Pete had been a native of the islands and island customs were his customs.

Motor tourists who enjoy the use of London's camp at Wonderland next summer will pay a dollar a night for the accomodation.

Feeling Old At Forty

YOU CAN REGAIN YOUR VITALITY BY BUILDING UP YOUR BLOOD.

Middle age comes too soon if you let the cares of life exhaust your blood, leaving you tired and worn out. Women, especially, are apt to neglect their health. All their anxiety is usually for other people. Housework consumes their vitality. They become middle-aged too soon and suffer in the process, merely because their blood is exhausted.

Not so the woman who realizes that the real unselfishness is to preserve her youth as long as she can. She does not cause anxiety to those who love her by being ill, or by always having headaches or backaches, or a pain in her side. Her blood is kept in good order—rich, red and pure; she is cheerful and active.

The vitality and youthfulness that abundance of good blood gives can all be yours if you like. To make rich, red blood you have only to take Dr. Willaims' Pink Pills. You will soon feel the new blood tingling in your veins; your headaches and backaches will go, your appetite will improve; you will be happy yourself and give happiness to others.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RADIO TO BE HEARD THROUGHOUT SHIP

London, Feb. 5.—The 23,000-ton liner Aorangi, the world's largest motor ship, is the first ship to be fitted with apparatus whereby radio broadcasting can be heard all over the ship. The installation, a ship's orchestra repeater, can be used for music, lectures, concerts or any other purpose for which simultaneous hearing on all parts of the vessel is desired.

MAN WHO BOUGHT TOWN PASSES AWAY

Milford Haven, England, Jan. 5.—The death occurred recently of Sir Hugh James Prothero Thomas of Castle Hall, who became prominent four years ago by purchasing the town of Milford Haven for $1,250,000. Immediately after the purchase he freed the town from all tolls, amounting to several thousands of pounds yearly.

Bandit Killed In Running Fight

New York, Feb. 5.—Although two bandits stood in a Brooklyn drug store with pistols pointed at Patrolman John J. Ward, of the Fourth avenue station and ordered him to throw up his hands, he disregarded their command, frightened them into sudden flight, and, in the running pistol battle which followed, killed one and captured the other.

The dead man is believed to have been James Bopp, 24 years old, of 48th street and Eighth avenue, Brooklyn. He was shot through the abdomen and died before an ambulance surgeon from the Norwegian Hospital could reach him. Crouching beside his body at the end of the dark areaway in which they had sought refuge was a man who described himself as George McCaffrey 20, who said he had no home. McCaffrey denied he had taken part in the attempted hold-up, but could not explain his presence beside Bopp.

Patrolman Ward, who won a decoration in the world war and who is a police department honor man, was on post at 6.30 o'clock in the evening at 61st street and Seventh avenue in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn, when Albert Glass, proprietor of a drug store at 6,024 Seventh avenue, approached him.

"I wish you'd come into my store for a minute. Things don't look just right to me," Glass told him.

The druggist hurried back without explaining himself further, and Ward followed. A customer was talking to the druggist when the policeman entered, so Ward, seeing nothing amiss walked behind a partition at the rear of the store, where he remained for a minute or two and then came out. He was astonished to see Glass standing in the centre of the floor with both hands raised and two youths covering him with pistols. They turned quickly and ordered Ward to put up his hands. Both pistols switched from the druggist and the policeman looked into their muzzles.

"Move an inch and we'll plug you," shouted one of the young men.

Hurled Night Stick

Almost instantly there was a sound of shattered glass as Patrolman Ward hurled his night stick through a side window into the street outside. The youths turned, scurried through the door and started running south on Seventh avenue. Ward saw them head for a taxicab across 61st street. He fired twice and one of the bullets hit the taxi-cab chauffeur, Benjamin Levy 29, of 115 South 22nd street, in the right arm.

With the sound of the shots the fugitives ran back on Seventh avenue to 62nd street with Ward in pursuit, firing as he ran. Dodging behind ash cans and whatever they could find that would give them shelter, the two youths blazed away at the policeman. Pedestrians sought shelter in doorways and motor cars drivers turned down side streets.

The sound of the shots attracted the attention of Patrolman Charles Dechon, also of the Fourth avenue station who came running up and joined in the fight. The two men halting every few seconds to fire, ran down 62nd street between Sixth and Seventh avenues, until hard pressed, they entered a dark areaway at 649 62nd street.

Although bullets were flying about them, the two policemen plunged forward into the darkness, returning shot for shot. Suddenly the firing from the area ceased. Ward and Dechon pressed on and found the man they believe is Bopp with a bullet in his abdomen. He died almost as they reached his side.

"Don't shoot," begged McCaffrey, rising from the dead man's side with his hands upraised.

Although the police say fifteen shots were fired at them, they were able to find but one pistol, which was lying on the ground a few feet from Bopp. McCaffrey had no weapon when he was searched.

BANDITS LOCKED CLERKS IN VAULT

Hamilton, Feb. 4—Locking the cashier and teller in the vault, two armed and masked bandits yesterday afternoon robbed the branch of the Union Bank at Main and Locke streets, escaping with about $1,000 in cash. Police are searching for a big black sedan car which was seen speeding away from the bank immediately after the robbery.

According to the stories told by Miss Sovereign, cashier, and B. D. Hedden teller, two masked men entered the bank office at 2.10 o'clock, pointing revolvers at the two employees, who were alone at the time. The crooks forced Hedden and Miss Sovereign into the vault, slamming the heavy doors behind them.

C. E. Warren, manager, returned from lunch a few minutes after the robbers had sped away and found the bank empty. He noticed an overturned chair near the vault door, and suspecting trouble opened the doors. He found the two employees in an exhausted condition. All the money in the teller's cage, amounting to about $1,000 had been stolen.

GARVEY MUST GO TO PENITENTIARY

New York, Feb. —Marcus Garvey, who once called himself "provisional president of Africa" must go to Atlanta penitentiary for five years and pay a fine of $1,000, according to a decision rendered today by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The decision, written by Judge Hough and concurred in by Judges Rogers and Hand, affirmed the finding of the Lower Court which had proclaimed Garvey guilty of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock in the Black Star Line, Inc., a steamship company he had fostered.

Garvey was convicted in June, 1923 and appealed his case in a printed volume of 3,000 pages. He had been his own attorney in the trial and was the only one of several defendants to be convicted.

In the decision of today, Judge Hough wrote: "Stripped of its appeal to ambitions, emotions or race consciousness of men of color, it was a simple and fraudulent device of which the object (as of so many others) was to ascertain how it could best unload upon the public its capital stock at the highest possible price."

Assistant United States Attorney Mattuck, who argued against the appeal for the Government, said today, he will at once seek the mandate to send Garvey to prison.

FIND INTERESTING SKULL

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cape Town, Feb. 4.—A fossilized skull, whose owner is believed to have been probably nearer the missing link than any other specimens yet discovered, has been found at Taunga, Bechuanaland by Professor Dart of Witwaters-Rand University. Professor Dart says that the skull, which was buried in Limestone at a depth of fifty feet, represents something midway between man and great apes. Its owner, he says, was not human, but as yet more intelligent than the gorilla or chimpanzee.

The same bank was robbed several years ago by the notorious Ryan gang and it was this robbery which led to the arrest of "Red" Ryan.

"Y" Basketball

The first of three games of basket ball played on the Y Gymnasium was a fixture between Albert Armstrong's Apex Trail Rangers and a team of All Stars chosen from the other teams of the Junior Sunday School group. The Apex team, playing a somewhat better brand of ball with more team play than the All Stars, who were not familiar with each other's style of play, were able to turn in the winning score but not without a hard battle. Due to close checking on the part of both teams the score did not mount up very rapidly and when referee Brockel blew for time, only seventeen points had been scored by both teams. The score—Apex Trail Rangers 10; All Stars 7. The teams: All Stars—Dalrymple, Fisher, Faulkner, Ridley, Lloyd, VanTassel, Hitchon; Apex Trail Rangers—Byrne, Moffat, Kinnear, Boyes, Miles, Kerr, White.

The game which followed the Junior Boys fixture, St. Andrew's vs. the Baptist Girls, was really the game of the evening. This game was the play-off between the winners of A and B Section of the Girls' Sunday School League, to determine the finalist. The first half of this game was very much in favor of St. Andrews, who outscored their opponents 10-2. The final period saw a reversal of the previous period, with the Baptist Girls getting fourteen points while they held the Presbyerians to eight points. Notwithstanding their brilliant rally the Baptist team, failed by just one basket to tie up the score and the game and the Girls' Championship went to St. Andrew's team. The final score: St. Andrews 18; Baptist 16. The teams: Baptists—L. Cook, E. Ketcheson, E. Adams, B. Wellbanks, L. Robson, E. MacLaurin, M. Lloyd, E. Blackburn, V. Kelly. St. Andrews— M. Roberts, B. Cooper, M. Fairbairn, I. Ketcheson, L. Currie, E. Andrews.

The Tabernacle Boys' Team, due to the fact that they were unable to place a full team on the floor, were forced to default their game to Bridge Street five. However, with the assistance of outside players they were able to muster a team which gave the Bridge Street boys considerable of an argument, especially during the first period when they managed to tie up the score nine all. Stepping out in the final session the team from up on the hill ran away from the opposition outscoring them 15 baskets to one. The final score stood Tabernacle 11, Bridge Street, 39. The teams: Tabernacle—Palmer, Redfern, Duff and Faulkner. Bridge Street—Deroche Kerr, Cole, Blakley, Robertson.

Becoming suspicious of noise on his verandah, Remi Reaume, Windsor, opened the front door to find the dead body of a week-old male child, wrapped in cotton and coarse undercloth ing and stuffed inside a cheap brown suitcase.

Alemite Team Trims Plumber Hockeyists

Wins Exhibition Game by Close Score of 2-1

Last night at Bailey's open air rink, the Alemite hockey team and the Plumbers played an exhibition game in which the Plumbers were forced to take the small end of the 2-1 score.

There was no scoring by either team in the first period, the Alemite sextette coming back strong in the second period when they scored their two goals, Young and Bryant doing the scoring for the Alemite with just four minutes to go. This made the score 2-0.

Subs—Oliphant and Frank Calberry. Referee—C. Welsh.

Belleville Boys Lost Queen's Bouts

But Walters and Marshall Put Up Good Exhibition

Two Belleville boys, Austin Walters and Douglas Marshall, both first year students at Queen's, took an active part in the recent assault-at-arms at Queen's where 300 people saw six interesting boxing bouts, three wrestling matches and one fencing exhibition.

Though defeated in their bouts, both Marshall and Walters put up game scraps, the Skelton-Walters bout being described as a classy one. This was the 147 pound class, and was the best fight of the night.

The Kingston press states that Skelton and Walters are two clever and well-matched fighters, and they stood up to considerable punishment throughout. Skelton surprised the fans by much more science and generalship than in former bouts at the gymnasium, his previous tactics usually being to bore in and take and give punishment. He could not afford to do that with Walters, and he apparently had learned his lesson well. He was obliged to do considerable wary fighting in the first round, as Walters showed skill and is able to hit hard. But Skelton by his new tactics, gained an early advantage, though Walters was not backing up at any stage and his exhibition of gameness in the closing seconds of the battle earned him great applause. In the first round he slipped and went to the floor, and again in the second he was sent down by a fusillade of smashes by Skelton, and in the third round in a fast bit of fighting near one corner, a hard right to the head sent him against the ropes and he fell partly through them, but in spite of all his punishment he came back smilingly and continued the fighting, exchanging blow for blow with his faster and more experienced opponent. It was the best bout of the night, and Skelton deserved the win by the slight margin he was given, though the blow which sent Walters into the ropes looked to be low.

In the 126-pound class Hanna won over Marshall showing considerably more science and aggressiveness, but Marshall had a great capacity for taking punishment, and shows a willingness to step in. But his more experienced opponent was able to outpoint him.

ONE HOCKEY GAME IN CITY LEAGUE

When Point Anne hockey team failed to make an appearance at the arena last night for their game, the Boosters got the game by default.

Quite a gallery witnessed the one game of the evening in the city league between Moguls and Tigers. Moguls won out after a spirited battle by the close score of 2-1.

A midnight burlesque on hockey presented by two formidable "actor" teams followed.

WANDERERS WON FROM KIWANIANS

The following games were played at the Recreation alleys last evening.

In the Junior Men's League the Wolves of the North defeated Natural Tread by 63 pins.

In the Ladies' League the Ramblers defeated C.I.A. by 287.

The National Castings defeated the Rovers by 44 pins.

In the Senior game the Wanderers won from the Kiwanis by 364 pins. Capt. Domenico made application to return to amateur ranks which was unanimously granted.

In the C.N.R. League the Sup't Office No. 1 defeated Car Department by 320 pins.

C.I.A. League Requisitioners were defeated by Mixers 126 pins.

Delhi, India.—Government defeated on motion by Swarajist to repeal measures against rebels.

Intelligencer In Close Shave

When Barbers Beat Them By 7-4 Last Night

The Daily Intelligencer hockey team was given a close shave last night, but they were successful in maintaining their reputation of being the worst team in Belleville last night when the Barbers administered a 7-4 defeat. In spite of the wretched exhibition put up by the beard combers the newspaper artists were able to go one worse.

The stars of the game, which was played in the Arena from ten to eleven last night were Brockhurst in goal for the Intelligencer, McLeod and Goodman on the line, and 'Jazz' Silver on the defense. Brock received a great hand out when he was able to let seven out of eight shots on goal slide past him. Silver did a great stroke for his team by knocking in a goal for the Barbers. McLeod and Goodman shone in letting opposing players get through with ease.

Dan O'Donoghue, Cook and Jack Arnott nearly wrecked the Intelligencer's reputation. They played as if they were out to win and even went so far as to take a few shots at the Barbers' poles.

The Barbers seemed to be laboring under a misapprehension. The spectators, both of them, agreed that Pete Belnap and Company were deliberately trying to win the game. All their men were keen as safety razor blades. In fact they were guilty of sharp practices throught the game. Pete, himself rolled around like the latest patented barber's chair and was continually bending over the little newspaper men in a suspicious manner.

It is unfair to pick out the best of the Barbers, because to tell the truth they were all pretty rotten. Ninny Canning and Symons, are excepted, however, as they were not barbers and were superfluous as the team had eight men on the ice most of the time.

Alf. Burke, manager for the Barbers resigned after taking just a hasty glance at his outfit in action.

Ken. Colling refereed and it is rumored he will get free shaves and haircuts for a month. He deserves it.

The teams:—

Owner Of Detroits Backed A Winner

Navin Took Over Club as a White Elephant

Detroit, Feb. 5.—Unlucky in politics, lucky in baseball, is the way Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit American League baseball club, probably would say it.

Mr. Navin, who has transformed Detroit from a rube baseball town to one of the capitals of fandom, confesses he was a false alarm as a politician, a sort of modern Don Quixote jousting with the windmill. He could not convince several hundred voters in a Detroit suburb that he should be their choice for justice of the peace, but in the years that have followed he has been elected to important places in the baseball word by his fellow magnates. He rose recently to membership on the Advisory Council, highest tribunal of baseball, by replacing Ban Johnson as the American League's representative.

Mr. Navin set out to become a lawyer. Coming to Detroit from Adrian, Mich., where he was born in 1871, he worked his way through school and graduated in law, a profession he never followed, however. His initial flyer in politics proving a failure, he was mentioned for a city hall clerkship paying $2,500, and then he took up baseball. He became an employe of S. F. Angus, owner of Detroit's drowsy ball club. Angus wanted to get out of the game. Ban Johnson, president of the American League, came to Detroit in an effort to get rid of the white elephant.

Mr. Navin, whose friends call him a modern Midas and who, they say, never gambles with fate, made his greatest gamble then. Without sufficient money himself to swing the deal, he interested William Yawkey, wealthy sportsman. Yawkey put up the money and Navin became manager of the club.

The rest of the story of the Detroit baseball club and Frank J. Navin is the story of a man taking a losing proposition, driving through years of discouragement to bring his organization finally to the peak of financial and diamond success.

Two major chapters appear in the book Frank Navin has written with bats, balls, mitts and money on the hard clay and green grass of Navin Field. The first was his coup in bringing to Detroit as manager Hughie Jennings—"Eeh-ah," grass-pulling Jennings. The second was the purchase of Ty Cobb.

By many the signing of Jennings is regarded as Mr. Navin's greatest stroke in baseball. The new manager, obtained for $1,500 from Baltimore, calked the seams of discord in the Tiger craft and developed three pennant-winning clubs. He took Detroit by storm and is credited with having aroused this city to the intense interest in baseball which it displays to this day.

Mr. Navin's smartest piece of recruiting was done in 1905 when he got Ty Cobb from Augusta, Ga., for $500. To get the fiery Georgian in mid-season he had to pay an additional $200. This $700 has been called the most fortunate baseball investment ever made, insofar as player purchases are concerned.

In carrying through his baseball policies Mr. Navin has had the satisfaction of seeing Detroit move from the joke classification of baseball cities to a city with a gate exceeded each year only by New York; and he has seen the Detroit baseball club rise from a liability to an asset which, it has been estimated, returns to its president $100,000 annually.

Whistles Press Excelsiors Hard

But Winners Were Never in Danger at "Y" Alleys

The Whistles gave the Excelsiors a strong argument in their game at the Association alleys last night. Although they were not in danger of losing out, the Excelsior Five were forced to bowl a good game in order to win and that is just what they did under the generalship of Russ Woodley. However, it was to a member of the Whistles, Bruce Bottum, that the individual high score honors of the contest went. His single of 273 and three string of 637 are two good marks for ambitious bowlers to aim at.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

She had loved him the first night they had met at Barton Towers and her love, perhaps by opposition and the struggle she had made to win him, had grown into an absorbing passion. She was restless and nervous when he was absent, and those who knew her well could tell when he was in the room or near at hand, by the joyous smile on her lips and the soft glow in her eyes.

"Always thought that girl had no heart," remarked one keen observer. "Only shows how a fellow can be mistaken in a woman. She's as clean gone upon Cissy as a girl can be."

"And Cissy?" queried the man to whom he spoke; "what about him?"

The cynic shrugged his shoulders.

"Don't know. Seems as if he's got something on his mind, and couldn't get it off. Never saw a man so changed in all my life; perhaps his happiness is rather too much for him."

And yet Lord Cecil's conduct gave no cause for evil comment. No man could be more attentive to his fiancee. He was with her every day, was by her side at nearly all the "at homes," was seen at the crushes, at concerts and balls, her shawl upon his arm, the arm itself always at her command; and yet the old "Cissy" had gone, and in its place was the tall, grave-faced man, with the look as if he had something on his mind.

The night of the party arrived. Some preparations had been necessary, and they had been made with a lavish hand. The big house, which had sheltered so many generations of the Stoyles, through so many London seasons, was ablaze with lights, which shone upon the handsome decorations of the great saloon and the magnificent dresses of the women.

Only at one of the state balls could have been seen such a display of diamonds, and very soon after the ball commenced it was declared by the experienced that it would prove the event of the season.

It was not until the fourth dance on the list had been reached that the marquis put in an appearance. Lady Grace magnificently dressed—robed, one might almost say—had been questioned concerning his absence by the throng that surrounded her, but had shaken her head with a charming smile as she answered:

"He has promised to come into the room, if only for a few minutes, but I don't know when he will come."

She was, by right of her beauty and position, the queen of the brilliant assemblage, and she reigned, in truly queenly fashion. Lord Cecil, moving about as host during his uncle's absence glanced toward her now and again, and said to himself that if he needs must choose a mate, he could not have chosen a more beautiful or more slendid one. But he sighed as he made the admission, and there rose before him the vision of Doris' ivory-pale face with its wealth of dark hair and witching blue eyes; and he would have given half that remained of his life to be sitting at her feet once more—only once more!

He was roused from one of these fits of reverie by a subdued murmur of interest and curiosity, and, looking up, saw the tall, thin figure of the marquis entering the room at one of the doors leading from his private apartments.

The clean-cut face was deadly pale, but the dark eyes shone with a hard, steel-like brilliance, and the thin, cruel lips wore a reflection of a smile as he came forward and greeted those near to him.

There was no vulgar pushing and crowding, but somehow, in an impalpable kind of way a circle gathered round him and then the marquis of old, or a shadow and semblance of him shone forth. The polished wit, like a rapier long disused, leaped from its scabbard and set the group admiring and laughing as of yore. As he moved from one to the other, addressing his courtly flattery to the women and his biting cynicisms to the men, a feeling of wonder ran through the room.

"By Heaven!" exclaimed an old man who remembered him in years gone by, "it is like a resurrection! It is like going back a quarter of a century! That is the kind of wit we were accustomed to, sir! Look at him, and compare with him the young men of the present day! And don't tell me that we haven't degenerated!"

Lord Cecil stood a little apart, looking on at the success which the marquis was making, the enthusiasm which he was arousing, when he felt a hand softly touch his arm, and Spencer Churchill's unctuous voice purred in his ear.

"Do you see the dear marquis, Cecil ? Wonderful isn't it? Quite like what he used to be, I assure you! Remarkable man. Really, it fills me with admiration and—er—astonishment. Did you hear that brilliant repartee of his at which they are all laughing?"

"No," said Cecil, gravely.

"Astonishing! Ah, my dear Cecil he is a marvelous man. They were saying that he was going to dance—a square dance, of course, just a walk through a quadrille, but I shouldn't think—eh? Why, yes, he is——" he broke off smoothly, "actually is!" and followed by Cecil he made his way toward a circle that surrounded the marquis who was seen going toward Lady Grace.

Mrs. Oakes has returned home after an extended visit in Detroit with her daughter, Mrs. Arbor.

Mrs. J. S. Cook was admitted to the General Hospital yesterday.

An enjoyable time was spent last night at the Odfellow's Hall when the Belleville Canton I. O. O. F. gave a card party and dance. A good crowd attended and indulged in progressive chre. The winners for the ladies were First, Mrs. Chapman, second, Mrs. A Goyer, consolation, Mrs. J. Hanna; and for the gentlemen, First Mr. T. Robertson, second. Mr. E. Bunnett, third, Mr. H. Howard. Young's orchestra played for the dancing. Refreshments were served and enjoyed.

The nurses entertained last night at an informal social evening in honor of Miss Souter who is leaving the hospital soon, having completed her three-year-course. The nurses' home was decorated for the occasion with bouquets of roses and carnations. "Our Boys" orchestra supplied good music. Refreshments, which were the usual tasty offerings provided there, were served, and in the course of the lunch, Mr. R. Wotten, on behalf of Dr. Connor presented Miss Souter with a useful gift. Shortly afterwards a very pleasant evening drew to a close.

His Mirror Told Him of Exhausted Condition

Mr. R. Paulin, Toutes Aides, Man., writes:

"I became so run down and weak that my heart became affected, and I would sometimes have to remain in bed for several days. Some one advised me to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I did, and soon began to gain in weight and feel better. I have taken a great many boxes of these wonderful pills, and am feeling ten years younger. Dr. Chase's Medicines, as well as his Receipt Book, are a great help to us, for we live 40 miles from doctors and railroads."

Changed Her Mind After The Battle

Star in Belle Feature Now Prefers Light Drama

Ruth Dwyer told Reginald Denny, with whom she is playing in "The Reckless Age," his newest Universal-Jewel staring feature now playing at the Belle theatre, that she preferred straight drama to comedy drama or farce comedy. Denny voiced a like opinion.

Their next scene was one that fairly reeked with drama of the heaviest vintage. It was a fight scene in which Denny was scheduled to 'clean out' a small town newspaper office. Miss Dwyer, standing on the sidelines rooting for Denny, became the innocent object of flying paper weights, bundles of newspapers, and what not. Incidentally, she was standing beside a glass door.

When the scene was finished Denny had lost his collar, his coat was torn and he was otherwise disheveled. Miss Dwyer had broken glass in her hair and she was standing knee deep in the debris of office equipment. William Austin was almost a physical wreck.

"That is the most realistic fight I've ever seen since we finished the 'Leather Pushers'," said Harry Pollard, Denny's director. He directed Denny in the prize fight classics that made the star famous.

"Personally I prefer light comedy to such smashing drama," Ruth told Denny after the scene was filmed.

The new picture is an adaption of Earl Derr Biggers' Saturday Evening Post story. "Love Insurance". Among the artists supporting the star are Miss Dwyer, William Austin, Fred Malatesta, Hayden Stevenson and Frank Leigh. A fashionable Florida summer resort is the background of this story.

Great Western Drama Is Coming

"Sundown", Thrilling Love Story, Pictures Passing of Pioneers

One of the most romantic phases of the world's history, and certainly the most spectacular period in American chronicles, is slowly vanishing. The passing of the old American West, the cowboys, the cattle, and the hardy pioneers who invaded and conquered a great empire, these are the highlights of "Sundown," the First National production, which comes to the Griffin Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Earl Hudson's story, as presented in "Sundown," has raised the question in the minds of Americans as to the future meat supply of this nation. During the last two decades the great cattle-owners of the West have been gradually forced to seek new grazing lands. This condition was brought about by homesteaders who were apportioned small sections of land by government grants.

How a group of big cattle-owners gathered their vast herds and made a final and sensational drive across the border into Mexico; the mountains; the bitterness existing the elements of the deserts and mountains; the bitterness existing bewteen the cattlemen and the "nesters" who have come to encroach upon the land they pioneered; these are some of the outstanding points of "Sundown." Interwoven with the theme is a beautiful love story.

The picture was directed by Lawrence Trimble and Harry O. Hoyt, under the personal supervision of the author, Earl Hudson. The cast, remarkable for its fidelity to authentic characterization, consists of Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart, Charlie Murray, Jere Austin, Charles Crockett, Wilfred North, Charles Sellon, Arthur Hoyt, and Margaret McWade.

Harold Lloyd Has Secret In Picture

Introduces Real Novelty to The Screen at Griffin

In his latest feature Pathe comedy, "Girl Shy," which is now at Griffin theatre, Harold Lloyd once more demonstrates his remarkable versatility before the camera. Lloyd's role in this new fun-film is said to be so entirely different from any he has ever attempted to portray, that he debated a long time before tackling the part.

The locale of "Girl Shy" is for the most part a small town, although towards the end of the picture the action is staged in the city.

Lloyd will introduce a real novelty to the screen in this picture, and he has carefully guarded his secret because it is his own idea and to have it known before the showing, of the fun-film might rob it of some of its appeal.

As is usual with the Lloyd Pathe comedies, there is only a small cast in "Girl Shy." Jobyna Ralston is again seen as Harold's leading woman. Richard Daniels, Carlton Griffin, Priscilla prominent in the support.

Fred Newmeyer and Sam Taylor directed "Girl Shy" from a story by Taylor, Tim Whelan, Ted Wilde and Tommy Gray.

The death occurred at Froomfield of Mrs. Margaret Gibb, widow of Archibald Gibb of Moore township. Mrs. Gibb was 75 years of age. She had been ill a week. A family of five sons and six daughters survive.

Heat

For pain - soreness

Rheumatic pains, soreness, aches, etc., call for heat. The best way to apply it is Red Pepper Rub.

This is the modern way. It so excels the old ways that there is no comparison.

Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat as red pepper. And heat that doesn't hurt you.

You feel that tingling heat in an instant. In three minutes it seems to penetrate the depths. Circulation is started, congestion is relieved. Pain and the soreness go.

What folly it is to suffer pains so easily and quickly stopped. What folly to let a cold on the chest go neglected. When trouble starts at night, what folly to wait until morning.

Keep Red Pepper Rub on hand. Homes which do that save a great deal of pain. Get it now—the very utmost in help of this kind.

Thieves Unlucky

Peterboro, Feb. 5.—The thieves who tried to gain entrance to two local offices Tuesday night must be a disappointed group Wednesday morning. Their first attempt was at the H. B Taylor office, on the corner of Alymer and Townsend Streets, where they tampered with the lock of the cellar door and were scared away by the barking of a hound dog inside. Then they proceeded to the office of the Allin Ice Company, half a block away, on Townsend Street, made an entrance and blew open the safe, which was empty.

Disobeyed Summons

A Pittsburg farmer, who disobeyed a summons to appear as a petty juror at the sitting of the supreme court which opened at the court house on Tuesday afternoon, was fined $4 and costs. When the crier of the court called the name of the farmer, there was no answer, so Justice Mowat said: "Call the name three times," and this was done. Still there was no reply and when the constable gave a call in the corridor he could not raise his man.

Justice Mowat said that people must understand that when they are called to appear as jurors they must respond and then imposed the fine.

There was no work for the petty jurors, so they were ordered to proceed to the office of the county treasurer and be paid one day's pay.

Frontenac Club

At the annual meeting of the Frontenac Club, Kingston, held on Tuesday evening, the following were elected directors: Dr. F. A. Cays, W. M. Nickle. J A. Minnes, J. F. Sowards, G. H. Smythe, W. R. Givens, T. G. Bishop Francis King, R E. Burns, T J. Rigney, J. Hickey, F. S. Evanson, Dr. Bruce Hopkins, Dr. L. J. Austin and E. Townsend. The first five named were re-elected to the board. F. A. Smythe was elected auditor.

J. M. Farrell, the president, occupied thee hair. The members of the board will meet and select officers.

Seriously Ill

Napanee, Feb. 5.—About four o'clock Tuesday afternoon two ladies calling at the photographic studio of Fred S Richardson, found him there stretched out on a lounge and evidently just getting over something in the nature of a fainting attack. While they were there he had another bad spell and they immediately telephoned for Dr. C. M Stratton who was promptly in attendance. Shortly after the doctor's arrival a third occurance of the trouble was in evidence. In a short time Dr. Stratton fixed the sick man up and had him removed to his home on John street and handed over the case to Mr. Richardson's family physician, Dr. T. M. Galbraith.

Home Badly Gutted

Fire broke out in the home of Solomon Benedict, who lives between Clarendon and Mississippi a few days ago, and Mr. Benedict, his son Charles and wife and three children had to take shelter in a stable. The house was gutted, and practically all the contents were lost.

Dies at Age of 106

Kingston, Feb. 5.—Joseph Dafoe, the man who claimed to be one hundred and six years of age, and who recently underwent a severe operation at the Hotel Dieu, died at that institution Tuesday. The funeral arrangements will not be completed till word has been received from a niece who resides at Kaladar.

The late Mr. Dafoe has been an inmate ofthe House of Providence for about four years and previous to that had been for many years a river-driver on the Mississippi, Calabogie and Ottawa rivers.

Curled Until Three

Peterboro, Feb. 5.—Towards three o'clock Wednesday morning the first day's curling in Peterboro's open bonspiel wound up at both the Charlotte and Brock street rinks. Some of the players who were sent out on the midnight draw, were also scheduled to report at 8.30 in the morning for the qualification round of the Waddell trophy competition.

Children Stage Play

Kingston, Feb. 5.—To-night at the Robert Meek School, the boys and girls of St. Luke's Church, who a year ago so successfully staged the play, "Old King Cole," will put on the performance, and will repeat it on Friday night, the entire proceeds being given for poor relief work.

Everything is being staged absolutely without cost; the orchestra is playing for nothing, and every cent received will be turned over for the worthy cause. It is expected that large crowds will attend these performances, in view of the fact that the youngsters show exceptional talent, and also because of the splendid cause for which the money is being raised.

PINNED UNDER SLEIGH BROKE RIGHT LEG

Campbellford, Feb. 5—Mr. Arthur Free had the misfortune to break his right leg between the knee and ankle on Tuesday morning. Both bones were broken off and broke through the flesh.

Free, who drives on of L. Stover's bake rigs which makes a daily trip through the country had started out and got as far as the Curle farm in Seymour west, where the roads are heavy and badly drifted, when the sleigh with a large load of bread at the back tipped over, pinning his leg down under it, thus causing the break. No one was near and he kept on calling loudly for help in his great suffering. At last one of the members of the family heard him and went to his assistance.

Another neighbor, David Stillman, also arrived on the spot and they put him in a rig and Mr. Stillman brought him to Campbellford, to his home on Garry street, at the west end of the town. A doctor was summoned.

Kind neighbors went to the assistance of the family in their excitement

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Free as he has not been in the best of health for some time and it will be long weeks before he will get over this accident.

TONGUE TWISTERS NOT DRUNK TEST

London, Feb. 5.—Tongue twister tests as applied by the English police to persons arrested on suspicion of having imbibed too freely are not fair, in the opinion of Sir J. Purves-Stewart, senior physician at Westminster hospital.

Speaking before the society for the study of inebriety, he declared that such catch phrases as "terminological inexactitudes" or "the Leith police dismisseth us," were all right in the cases of elocutionists, school masters, lawyers or others of the learned professions, but would not do for the ordinary man in the street who comes into the hands of the police. There was only one infallible proof of drunkeness, Sir James said, and that was in the finding of alcohol in the system by scientific tests.

Miss Ethel Comstock of Chicago, drew $1500 from the bank last August and began gambling in wheat. Her winnings now total about $50,000, it is estimated. Another woman, Mrs. Scott Durand, is reported to have "cleaned-up" a million dollars in the wheat pit.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WARRMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know.

Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial. C

Itchy Eczema Is Healed By This Sulphur

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Association Would Organize Community Seed Marketing Clubs

Mr. Harry W. Pearson returned Wednesday from the annual meeting of the Ontario Field Crop and Seed Grower's Association, held in Toronto Tuesday, where C. J. Panter and G. F. Reid of this city were delegates from this city. Mr. Pearson was chosen a delegate to winter fairs at this meeting, and W. G. Schell of Napanee is a member of the newly elected executive.

At this meeting a resolution was adopted recommending that the Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, take steps to investigate the situation with respect to the possibility of community organization for the purpose of assembling, cleaning and marketing the high-class seed grain being produced by the various agricultural organizations through the medium of combined field crop and seed grain competitions, and the regulations governing the awarding of prizes in the combined field crop and threshed grain competitions be amended to include alfalfa, clovers and grasses, the basis of awards to be field score 50 per cent. and cleaned seed in bin 50 per cent. It was also suggested that the Minister of Agriculture consider the establishment of cleaning centres in different parts of the Province.

Realty agents and owners of large tracts of land held for speculative purposes in different parts of Ontario came in for some severe criticism because of their refusal to keep the land clear of noxious weeds, which spread with great rapidity. In this connection a deputation of the Association will interview the Commission of Revision of Municipalities now in session at the Parliament Buildings, requesting that legislation be enacted compelling municipalities to enforce the Act with respect to clearing of noxious weeds on roadways.

The example of the Quebec and Alberta Governments in the matter of establishing special seed-cleaning plants was again brought before the meeting. Small seed-cleaning plants were discussed. W. J. Bell, head of the Kemptville Agricultural School, outlined the operation of the machine at Kemptville. On the Government farm at this place nothing but registered seed is raised, and this, amounting to 38 tons of clover and alfalfa, was cleaned and scarified by the plant as well as nine tons of sweet clover hauled in by farmers from distances up to 45 miles.

R. D. Nedwell, a prominent potato grower of Hillsburg, complained of the inability of a commercial grower to produce certified potato seed. "The regulations are too high."

Dissatisfied with the treatment of the Seed Department of the Ottawa Winter Fair, and feeling the need of more publicity, anyway, the Seed Growers have asked the Dominion and Provincial Governments to provide for the establishment of an itinerant seed fair for Eastern Ontario to be held in March. H. W. Pearson was the chief spirit behind this movement, claiming that only a few people had a chance to see the only seed show at present in Eastern Ontario.

MAY TAKE OUT THE OIL FURNACES

Toronto, Feb. 5.—The Board of Education may discontinue the use of oil as fuel in all of the schools this winter, if the remarks of Trustees and officials at yesterday's meeting of the Finance Committee can be taken as an indication. Chairman W. C. McBrien, noting that officials had recently reported that it was costlier to heat a school with oil than with coal, and remarking that the cost of crude oil had again gone up, asked the committee what it thought of the advisability of switching to coal in such schools as were now burning oil. There was a general expression of approval, especially when officials stated that the main cost of the change would be in finding room to store coal in school basements. As far as changing the heating plant was concerned, it was merely an inexpensive matter of placing grates in the present oil burners, the committee was told.

The Business Administrator was asked to bring in a report this week on the advisability of the board immediately discontinuing the use of oil as fuel in school buildings. Oil is being used at present in about five collegiates and five public schools.

Chicken Thief Is Chased Two Miles

Trail Led Over Fences and Through Back Lanes

Hamilton, Feb. 5.—Following a chase of nearly two miles, in which back fences were scaled, laneways traversed, and a considerable portion of the west end of Hamilton covered, Chief Clark Wednesday morning arrested John Jamieson, 189 Hess street north. Jamieson was brought before Magistrate Vance immediately following his arrest, pleaded guilty to chicken stealing, and was remanded until Monday for sentence. It is believed Jamieson is responsible for many thefts of chickens.

Chief Clark visited the Jamieson home on Monday evening and brought away about a dozen chickens he found there. Four of these were identified by Mrs. M. Wooley, of East Flamboro. Wednesday morning Chief Clarke went up to arrest Jamieson, but as soon as he was seen, the wanted man made a "beeline" for a lane in the rear of the house.

At the beginning of the chase Jamieson had a start of about 50 feet on the chief, and for a time it looked as though he would increase it. Over back fences he flew, rather than climbed, with the chief always managing to keep him in sight. The rolling mills were reached and left behind. Then at the Canadian National Railway tracks, Jamieson doubled back on his trail and Chief Clark caught him in the yard of the rolling mill. Both were exhausted when the chase ended.

ALLEGED MURDERER UP SECOND TIME

St. Catharines, Feb. 5—John Trott, Thorold Italian, who is in Welland jail charged with the murder of Constable Joseph Truman of Thorold, on the morning of December 17 1922, will be put on his second trial at Welland at the supreme court, opening February 23. At his first trial last October, the jury disagreed.

At the previous trial foreign witnesses swore to Trott admitting to them, up in Northern Ontario, that he had shot a policeman at Thorold, who had interfered with his bootlegging and a revolver was also produced, sold to another foreigner by Trott into which bullets, dug out of a post at the scene of the Truman shooting, fitted.

Trott's young wife, a St. Catharines girl has been active in efforts to get her husband cleared.

Handbook Agents Employ Runners

Who Call on High Society Ladies and the Underworld

Hamilton, Feb. 5.—The big guns, or higher-ups of the handbook business have minor operators scattered throughout the city taking bets for them. "Runners" bring these bets, that the agent cannot handle, in to them. Such is the extent of their operations that they rarely refuse any bet under $1000.

One "runner" confines his operations almost wholly to taking bets from women gamblers of both the underworld and high society. Naturally the ladies could not very well enter the places where bets are placed, so this "runner" calls at their homes for their wagers, often made without their husbands' knowledge.

Fake information and confidence men play a part in the game. Confederates at the tracks send supposedly "inside information" either direct to men known to be in the habit of making big bets, or in some such way that they will hear of it and plunge. Local confederates of the handbookmen win the confidence of the big bettors by giving them some real tips that win them small amounts then, when the "plum is ripe for picking" pass along some fake information with instructions to "bet the limit."

In some factories there are agents of the handbookmen who take bets from the other employes. The handbookmen do not all sit back and wait for business to come to them.

And some handbookmen are pikers when it comes to paying bets, according to the experience of one local bettor just this week. He placed a small bet on a horse with an unusual name. In writing out its name on the betting slip, he misspelled the name, but still any one could readily tell which horse was meant. Still because of that slight error in spelling the "bookie" welched on paying the bet when the nag won at fairly long odds.

Sued Her Friend For $3,000 Sum

Who Gave Her Auto Ride, Judge Dismmissed the Case

London, Ont. Feb. 5.— The action for $3000 damages brought by Miss Marjorie Whittaker of this city against Mrs. Marion Baxter of Toronto, formerly of London, was dismissed with costs by Justice Rose at the winter assizes Tuesday. The suit was a sequel to an automobile accident near Paris last summer in which the car, driven by Mrs. Baxter, skidded and ran into a fence. Miss Whittaker, who was riding in the rear seat, sustaining hurts when thrown against a bag of golf clubs.

The case was of more than ordinary interest from the fact that Miss Whittaker was in the car by courtesy of Mrs. Baxter. Both ladies are members of the London Golf Club, which was going to play a match in Brantford. It was agreed that those who did not own motors should ride in the machines of those that did. Thus Miss Whittaker swore that Mrs. Baxter drove too fast, maintained constant conversation, and did not have her mind on her work, thereby causing the accident.

Miss Beck Sets Pace

Mrs. Baxter denied this, and stated that after she had been on the road awhile she asked her guests if they would mind going slower as she found it impossible to keep up with the pace set by Miss Marion Beck (now Mrs. Strathearn Hay) who was driving a car ahead. She felt thoroughly competent to handle her car, because she had been an ambulance driver in France during the war. She estimated the speed at which she was traveling when the car skidded, at about fifteen miles an hour. The mishap was caused by striking something on the road that was obscured by dust, and the auto plunged into the ditch and into a fence.

After hearing this testimony and that of other witnesses who swore that the Baxter motor was not going fast when the accident happened, the judge dismissed the action with costs without waiting for the defence.

RECOVERING FROM SLEEPING SICKNESS

Hamilton, Feb. 5—Joy has come to the Inglis home, 43 Locke street south for little ten-year-old Gertrude, the daughter of John Inglis, city fireman, for more than a month an unconscious victim of the dreaded sleeping sickness, has at last given a sign of recognition. Sisters at St. Joseph's hospital, where the little victim has been under constant medical attention yesterday morning stated that the veil of coma had lifted. The first person recognized was her mother. Physicians say that complete recovery will now be speedily effected.

ALLEGE HUSBAND DROVE OUT WIFE

Dauphn, Feb. 5.—Alleged to have been driven from her home in 40 below weather, Mrs. Joe Alex, residing in the Waterham district, near here is in a serious condition with feet and hands frozen. The woman was found by two hired men and taken to the home of a neighbor for treatment. The men report that when they attempted to enter the Alex shack they were greeted with a fusilade of shots. The provincial police are investigating the case.

ENGLISH VETERAN WAS RE-CAPTURED

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 5 — Ernest Maidment, an Englishman, who was twice wounded during the World War is back in Auburn prison yesterday, after having escaped Tuesday night.

Maidment succeeded in getting over the prison walls, but was captured near the New York Central station, as he was trying to get into a box car. He was sent to Auburn on December 26, 1923, from Onondaiga county, to serve a sentence of from 10 to 20 years for first degree robbery.

INTERESTING BABY BOOK

Undoubtedly the most interesting reading for the young mother is that which deals with the care and feeding of babies, particularly if the subject is treated in simple language for all to understand clearly. We have just received a booklet, "Baby Welfare," which is one of the most interesting and instructive we have seen in a long time. It has chapters on pre-natal care, Feeding of Baby, Bottle Feeding, Supplementing Breast Feeding, Diet After First Year, Food Formulas, Sleep, Fresh Air, Exercise Bathing, Clothing, Baby's Weight and Measurements, with sundry hints as to the safeguarding of baby's health against common ailments. There is also a page devoted to Baby's Biography which should be an interesting record of the little one's activities when it is filled in, and a Weekly Record for Baby's Weight and Height, which the mother can fill in. In the introduction the publishers say that they have purposely omitted suggestions pertaining to medical treatment, knowing that such information should properly come from the family physician when such advice is needed. Mothers desiring a copy of this most helpful book can obtain one, free, by writing to The Baby Welfare Department of the Borden Company Limited 180 St. Paul Street, West, Montreal, mentioning this paper.

AEMELIUS JARVIS UNFIT FOR JAIL?

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Aemilius Jarvis, who is under sentence of six months' imprisonment and a fine of $600,000, following conviction for conspiracy in connection with provincial bond deals, was given leave by Mr. Justice Magee to move before the appellate division for permission to put in as evidence certain affidavits of physicians and others, respecting his fitness to serve the sentence and ability to pay the fine. The case will be under further review before the appellate division on February 10.

DOING VERY WELL IN MANCHURIA JAIL

Harbin, Manchuria, Feb. 5.—For the last two years M. Krasnochekoff, once premier of the Far Eastern republic, has been in jail; he was found guilty of embezzlement.

But prison life has not succeeded in curbing the former statesman's energy. He has written four books on banking, for which he received $4,000; he has organized among his prisonmates a lucrative business of making woodcuts and engraving on copper, and altogether he is doing so well that he has declined a release from confinement and the offer of a position with a local bank.

ONE HUNDRED GIRLS TRAPPED ON ROOF

New York, Feb. 15.—One hundred girls traped on the top floor of the five-storey building at Nos. 618-20 Fifth avenue by a fire which originated in the basement of Dobbs' specialty shop, on the ground floor, were carried or assisted from windows to the street by firemen on 75-foot extension ladders. The fire caused the death of one fireman, injuries to three others and damage to hats and frocks valued at $1,000,000.

The girls were not threatened by flames at any time, but the smoke was dense and stifling, and a number were unable to help themselves when the firemen reached them.

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 6.—Andrew Leo Collins, oldest brother of Floyd Collins, entombed prisoner, arrived during night from Illinois and has found a new cave near the scene of the present rescue work. A party of men have gone underground on an immediate exploration trip.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Kentucky, Feb. 6—All hope of reaching him through natural passage gone, sappers today were making a new entrance to the sand cave in an attempt to reach Floyd Collins, entombed since last Friday morning. A long day of digging was ahead of them and whether Collins was dead or alive none has known definitely, since the cave-in on Wednesday night blocked the passage.

The general belief was that he has succumbed either by being crushed to death or by suffocation or by pneumonia, any of which would end his long fight to live.

Early today, however, radio has been resorted to in the hopes the cave would give up its secret. A two-stage audio frequency amplifier was connected in lighting circuit leading into the cave and known to be intact. The lights were turned off and with his head sets clamped to their ears, experimenters listened for any sound that might be interpreted as coming from Collins. After a test the men said that they had heard distinct sounds believed by them to have been caused by the jarring of a carbon filament in the electric light bulb fastened about Collins' neck. It was commented that if alive Collins had probably moved when the light went out, thus shaking the filament.

Work on the new shaft was begun yesterday and early today a hole ten feet deep had been made. Work was slowed up by the necessity of timbering the shaft as it deepened. It has been estimated that Collins is lying 65 feet below the surface. Estimates as to the time it will take to sink the shaft vary from 24 to 72 hours.

Have Not Enough Money For Club

Canadians in London Are Up Against Acute Problems

London, Feb. 6.—The Canadian Club whose building was opened 15 months ago by Premier Mackenzie King, when he was in London attending the imperial conference is disturbed over its financial standing. The clubhouse adjoins Charing Cross and is chiefly the child of the late F. C. Wade, agent general for British Columbia. A good many wealthy Englishmen and Canadians have been enrolled as life members of the club at £50 a head.

Things have gone fairly well with the Canadian Club so far by reason of these life membership contributions, but this capital is about exhausted and the executive feels that the club must now face the future squarely. Accordingly the executive has added three other well known Anglo-Canadians to its membership to look into the financial and general position of the organization.

The club was started despite the apprehensions of several Canadians holding official or semi-official positions here as to the necessity of such an enterprse, and they contended that visiting Canadians would likely avail themselves of the hospitality freely offered them by the existing London clubs in preference to the Canadian Club.

PECKING AT NATIONAL DEBT SLOWING UP

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—The financial statement of the Dominion for the month of January shows a decrease in the net debt of Canada during the month of $2,274,366, as compared with a decrease of $4,149,495 in January 1924. The net debt of Dominion now stands at $2,415,671,544.

C.N.R. WOULD BUILD RAILWAY TO ROUYN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Aldermen Divide Insurance Business

Authorize Purchase of Chlorinating Machine at Special Meeting

The allocation of insurance on the City building which falls due during this month was the chief item of business transacted at a special meeting of the City Council held last evening. In the absence of Mayor Mikel, Ald. A. Robinson was voted to the chair.

The following recommendations were adopted:

That the insurance of City property to be renewed in February of this year be reinsured with a tariff company for one year.

That the insurance be allotted to the following agents for a period of one year in a tariff company:

On City building—Belleville Locaters, $5,000; R. H. Ketcheson, $5,000; E. H. LaRoche, $5,000; R. W. Adams, $5,000; C. Whelan, $5,000. Davison & Davison insurance on clock, fixtures and $2,000 on building.

A special committee, composed of Aldermen Graham, Patterson and Harrison was authorized to purchase a chlorinating machine for use at the pumping station.

Members present were Aldermen S. H. Treverton, R.J.E. Graham, J. Manley, A. H. Ketcheson, G. W. Dawes, W. Parrish, C. Ruttan and P. Harrison.

COUNTY TREASURER RE-ELECTED AUDITOR

At Toronto yesterday the annual meeting of the Holstein-Friesian Association was brought to a close. Mr. B. Mallory, Treasurer of Hastings' County has been re-elected auditor for the 22nd term. Just before the close of the business session yesterday, Mr. Mallory was presented with a gold headed cane, in recognition of his long service to the Association, the presentation being made by the Hon. W. J. Lea, on behalf of the members. Mr. Mallory has been associated with the organization for many years.

Point Anne Man Sues For Damages

Arises Out of Accident on Highway in September Last

On September 18th, 1924, Matthew Quinn of Point Anne drove an Oldsmobile car owned by his brother, east on the Kingston highway. Three girls were passengers. There was a dance at Deseronto. At the same time, Mrs. Sadie Wellinskey of Toronto was driving a Dodge car west on the same road. The cars did not pass, but collided at a point just east of James A. Little's farm, two miles east of Shannonville.

In County Court this morning, Judge G. E. Deroche presided over an action in which Mrs. Wellinskey is defendent and during which the cause and reason for the accident was sought as well as the shoulders which should bear the blame burden.

James Haverson, K.C., of Toronto appeared for Mrs Wellinskey, C. A. Payne representing Quinn.

Quinn on the stand told of the accident which occurred at 9.10 o'clock He contends that Mrs. Wellinskey was very much on her wrong side of the road, her car colliding, with his car, whose south wheels were within four feet of the sod shoulder at the southern edge of the road. Mrs. Wellinskey's greetings to witness a few moments after the accident were, "You will pay for this." Quinn said, indicating that he was at fault.

He told of the left front wheel of the Wellinskey car striking his strong bumper, going over his front wheel, crushing down his fender and running board. He said his speedometer registered 23 miles per hour just before the crash.

James Little arrived at the scene about five minutes after the crash, and later, Little's son, Joe, came along from the east in an auto, and stopped also.

Abraham Safe, his wife, and child were in the car with Mrs. Wellinskey witness believed and Safe also informed Quinn he was "in wrong".

Quinn's repair bill is $278.65 and the Wellinskey car was also damaged but not so badly as his, he said.

Interesting discussion rose when Mr. Haverson was cross-examining witness. Mr. Haverson asked why Quinn, when he saw that the Wellinskey car was on the wrong side of the road, did not turn to his left side to avoid the accident.

Wouldn't Do It

"I wouldn't do that," retorted the youth. "If she struck me when I was on my wrong side of the road, I would be liable."

"Yes, but these laws are made to prevent and not bring about accidents," exclaimed Mr. Haverson. At this point Judge Deroche objected to that interpretation.

Turning to the witness, His Honor said; "Your law is good sir, you are quite right sir."

The jovial Mr. Haverson then confided an evident humorous story to Judge and opposition counsel.

Another humorous occurrence was registered during cross-examination when Mr. Haverson apparently suggested something to the mind of witness Quinn when he asked about his driving on that night.

"I was perfectly sober," confessed Quinn.

"Oh, I never even thought of suggesting such a thing," humbly asserted Mr. Haverson.

James Little told of the accident. He was reading in his home and the door was open. He looked at his watch, told his wife it was nine o'clock and bedtime. He arose to go to the barn and saw a car drive past. Suddenly there was a crash and shouting and Little hurried down to the scene as he believed someone had been killed. He thought this car was travelling at rate of 20 miles per hour. There was no one in the Dodge car when he arrived and the distance between the backs of the two cars was 21 paces or 63 feet. Little, with the three girls went to his house to get the lantern and then a car in which his son was a passenger, came along and stopped.

Little, who is a highway patrolman, acted under his instructions—to notify either the senior Road Engineer or the Provincial police after an accident has occurred on his eight mile section of the highway. Provincial police officers arrived in about three-quarters of an hour.

Witness testified that the Quinn car's south side wheels had travelled closely to the south shoulder of the road, for a distance of 15 rods before the impact, and at the time of the crash the same wheels of the Quinn car were over on the sod shoulder at the south side of the road.

It was suggested for instance that Quinn was surrounded by three young girls.

"No," corrected the witness, "There was just one girl sitting alongside him."

Further pressure adduced the suggestion that for all witness knew, Quinn may have had his arm around the girl.

"We will find that out from another source," put in Quinn's counsel.

"Will you ask him", smiled the bench.

It was all good natured discussion at Quinn's expense.

Beverley Gribble, of Wills and Gribble motors, where the Quinn car was repaired, described the extensive damages to wheels, fenders, tire, running boards and door frames. He presented the account, and said all the repairs were necessary to make the car as good as it was before the crash.

Joe Little, son of James Little, who happened along after the accident told of his testing a new car that night which was on its first run, and was owned by Freeman and Derbyshire, garage car dealers at Foxboro.

Passed Them

"We were testing the car to see how much, if any, the speed of the car would diminish in making a hill near the scene of the accident," Little explained, "And we were watching the speedometer as a result."

They were going 25 miles per hour, and the Wellinskey car passed them keeping ahead of them until the crash, which witness heard and came upon shortly afterwards when he turned the curve. The Wellinskey car pursued a course, according to witness, such that its south side tire tracks were but five feet from the sod shoulder of the south side of the road, which was really Quinn's side of the road travelling east as he was. The tracks indicated that the car had travelled for some distance in that position on the highway, and just before the crash, the course of the Wellinskey car, according to this witnesses' view, of tracks after the accident, took a further jog to the south side of the road, as though in excitement the steering wheel had been turned the wrong way.

LESSON LEARNED

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 6.—Andy Moore now knows it is fatal for a police officer to tap one on the back if one is carrying a hot water bottle full of whiskey tied around one's neck. Andy came over one of the bridges late last night and met Officer Kelly, who patted him and heard a suspicious gurgle. In default of a fine of $200 and costs, Andy went to jail for three months.

On Parliament Hill

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 6—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader late yesterday afternoon denied a report published by a local newspaper to-day that he had been offered a $30,000 salary with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"I am sorry that I cannot accept it," jocularly remarked the Opposition leader. "The salary is not enough."

Will Stick to Protection

Pronouncements already made by leaders of the two Opposition parties indicate that the official (Conservative) Opposition will stick to its policy of protection for all industries, including farming and fishing. The Progressive (Farmer) party will focus its attention this session on a demand for lower freight rates from and to Western Canada.

Back Mr. Meighen

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 6—Hearty approval of the policy expressed in a notice of motion published by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was given yesterday by the first Conservative caucus to order and explained his reasons for announcing the Conservative party's determination to press for the recognition of a strong protective tariff for all Canadian industries, including farming. Mr. Meighen was called away for an hour during which the gathering discussed the memorandum. At the close the leader dropped in for a few minutes and was greeted with applause and cheers.

"Did they approve," said Mr. Meighen afterwards. "I should say they did. I never saw anything more unanimous." A group of Conservative members, asked afterwards if Mr. Meighen had been confirmed in the leadership, answered, "Of course."

Speech in Brief

In brief, the speech from the Throne indicates that the Government intends to ask Parliament for legislation to give:

(1) Equalization of freight rates between provinces and localities.

(2) Government control of ocean rates.

(3) Improvement in equipment of ports on both coasts and on the St. Lawrence River.

(4) Colonization and settlement (which implies railroad construction) in the Peace River district.

(5) An Act to amend the Grain Act

GOVERNMENT IS TO CONSTRUCT SCHOOL SEWER

Premier Ferguson Has Given Promise to Mayor Mikel

HELP UNEMPLOYED

Work is Required to Safeguard City's Water Supply

The Ontario Government is going to do its share in helping the unemployment situation in Belleville, by going ahead with the work of laying a new sewer from the Ontario School for the Deaf to connect with the city system.

While in Toronto last evening, His Worship Mayor Mikel interviewed Premier Ferguson and was told that the work would be started as soon as possible.

The construction of this sewer is considered very important as there is a danger that the sewage from the School may contaminate the city water supply.

Council Of Ontario Bar Is Entertained

Guests of President, Colonel Ponton; Will Not Amalgamate

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Council of the Ontario Bar, twenty-one in number, were entertained by the President of the Ontario Bar, twenty-one in number, Ponton, K. C., at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, at dinner on Wednesday evening, and with them as special guests were the Honourable Mr. Justice Orde, Mr. F. W Harcourt, K. C., Treasurer of the Law Society, and Honourable Frank Carrel, member of the Legislative Council of Quebec. Reminiscent addresses of Overseas experiences during the past summer were given by Judge Orde and Mr. Harcourt, while the Honourable Mr. Carrel emphasized and eulogised the recent Bonne Entente gathering at Quebec, where he had been one of the hosts. A large amount of business was afterwards transacted affecting the Profession in Ontario and the meeting adjourned at midnight after deciding to retain their own independent organisation as a Provincial body and not to amalgamate with the Canadian Bar Association as had been suggested, but to co-operate with the Canadian Bar in every way possible. Special Committees to watch and to report upon pending and prospective Legislation were appointed and arrangements were made for the annual meeting in May next in Toronto. Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., was present at the very interesting function.

Telephone System Asks Increase

Case Being Heard Here in Court House To-day

Donald M. McIntyre, K.C., chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and B. Dagger, Supervisor of Telephone Systems, are hearing an interesting case at the Court House this afternoon when Mr. McCreary who owns the McCreary telephone line in Thurlow township is seeking to show to subscribers that there is reason to increase their yearly cost form $14 to $18. The court room was well crowded, W. C. Mikel, K.C. appearing for the subscribers who have joined to fight the proposal, and Mr. Austin, of Brighton, telephone line owner is conducting the case for McCreary.

McCreary was on the stand this afternoon explaining the reasons for his $3,250 claim. He itemised the claim as follows. His salary for the year, $1,850, Foxboro operator salary for year $300 Thurlow operator for year $500. McCreary's wife alternates at those places as relief operator.

The secretary, Mrs. McCreary, receives $300 per annum. Other items of expense for maintenance, repairs, and upkeep are two horses, two waggons, two sleighs, one motor truck and tools. Upkeep of the sleighs was estimated at $40 per year, loss and breaking of tools, $20 per year, and upkeep of horses $240 per year. Wages to men who McCreary employs are set at $537 for the year.

An unusually amusing feature of the deductions was the fact that without the $537 wage item, the allowances arranged when totalled by Chairman McIntyre was exactly $3,250, the amount of McCreary's claim.

"You have not been charging enough" exclaimed the chairman amid smiles from the court room.

Used Xray On Seventeen Dog In Seattle To Find Two Valuable Diamond Rings

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 6—Seventeen dogs, fed barley into which their owner, Mrs. Chris Stelz of this city had dropped two valuable diamond rings, were assembled recently in an X-ray specialist's office.

Mrs. Steltz dropped the rings in a jar of barley before answering the door bell late at night, fearing that it might be an intruder. Mrs. Steltz forgot the rings, and it is presumed that they were swallowed by the dogs.

One of the rings was found in the stomach of a Scotch collie and was recovered through its mouth. The other diamond was found in one of the kennels.

Delegates Return From Washington

Bridge Street Church Sent Largest Number to Missionary Convention

The delegates from the Bridge Street Methodist Church, consisting of Rev. Dr. Mallott, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ackerman, Miss Outerbridge, Miss Jones, F. S. Deacon and F. E. O'Flynn returned from the World's Missionary Convention, held in Washington during the past week.

All of the Delegates were delighted with the convention. The Canadian delegations were represented by their full number and the only conference not having representatives were British Columbia and New Foundland.

The four thousand eight hundred delegates present at the Washington Auditorium, which accommodated six thousand, was filled to its capacity at the morning and evening sessions. The afternoon was given up to conferences of the different delegations.

All agreed that it was one of the conferences they ever attended.

The Bridge Street Church had the proud position of sending the largest delegation sent from any Church in Canada. The total number being seven.

When the Delegates left Washington the snow had entirely disappeared, and when they reached Ontario they found its usual snow drift piled about.

The Delegates spoke very highly of the splendid management of the convention committee at Washington. The representatives from the various churches met the day before the close of the convention in the Foundry Street Methodist Church where steps were taken for orgahization and a banquet was held, at which Canadian Delegates were present on Monday evening, over two hundred sitting down to the Banquet.

It is expected that conferences will be organized throughout the Dominion to bring before the Christian workers a report of the convention and its work and take steps for a forward movement.

COAL OIL CAUSES SERIOUS ACCIDENT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 6.—Helen Hollingsworth, eleven years of age, is not expected to live and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hollingsworth and Robert Clark are seriously burned as the result of a fire in their home near Kingsville this morning. The blaze started from the pouring of coal oil into a stove. The little girl and Clark, the two most seriously burned, are being cared for in Grace Hospital, Windsor.

The Dome of St. Paul's Cathedral will have to be strengthened. The work will take three years and cost huge sums.

KEEPING UP

An investigation conducted by a guaranty company to ascertain to what extent and why men are dishonest reveals that defalcations are increasing. That more is wanted than one is able to acquire honestly is ascribed as the chief reason for departure from rectitude. An effort to keep up with the neighbors, to be regarded as a liberal spender, often leads to "borrowing" from the employer's till.

There is an intent at first to return the money but difficulty in accumulating a surplus in the face of continuing demands makes restoration difficult. The next time it is easier, probably, to take a little larger amount until in time the shortage becomes so great that there is no hope of being able to wipe out the defalcation and the only effort is to delay the discovery as long as possible.

It is a person of weak character who feels an obligation to keep up with the neighbors when the income does not warrant such expenditures. It may be that the neighbors are not provident either. It is true that many things once esteemed luxuries have in common view become necessities. But one should have enough independence of character to restrict one's expenditures to one's purse. Many do, but the proportion of those who do not is increasing, if the guaranty company's finding does not exaggerate the situation.

RELIEF IN SIGHT

The people of Oshawa who own dogs were asked to keep them locked up or under control to-day and to-morrow, as a dog team of huskies from Northern Quebec is being brought here by the General Motors.

These huskies are vicious animals when other dogs cross their path, and no matter how well their drivers have them under control it is safer and better for owners of the other dogs to keep their canine pets out of the path of the huskies.

Will somebody please arrange to bring these huskies to Belleville?

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

The Speech which the Government put into the mouth of the Governor-General has the virtue of brevity, though it may be said to contain an excess of mustard for so little meat. Little legislation is indicated, and of that little some, at least, seems impractical says the Montreal Gazette.

Commenting on the remarks regarding ocean transportation rates, this paper says. "Still more absurd, if possible, is the attitude of the Government towards the steamship companies. How, in the name of common sense, is it feasible to control ocean steamship rates? For three years past the steamship companies have been operating at a loss; has anyone proposed to give them fair rates? And, now, when revived business permits a fair profit from service, the intent is to thrust the steamships back to near bankruptcy. The Government, however, cannot control these ocean rates save at the cost of the Canadian people. It is possible that the Canadian Mercantile Marine and a few companies can be put by means of subsidy under rate control, and who will profit? Are all the people to pay all the time for some of the people? The British Government has an interest in ocean shipping, since the British people own the largest mercantile marine fleet that plows the waters. Has the British Government succeeded in controlling ocean rates? When it does so succeed it will be time enough for the Parliament of Canada to follow the example and take a leaf out of Britain's book. Meanwhile, the matter can be laughed off as a feeble and transparent play to the Progressives.

The references in the Speech to the Senate is innocuous. There is to be a conference of federal and provincial governments on the subject of Senate reform. The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse.

It is true that the scope for economy in public expenditure in small, or, in the language of the Speech, that "even the most rigid economy in public expenditures will not suffice to solve the problem of taxation," and we are bound to admit that too much stress is laid upon the duty of reducing an irreducible expenditure. But, at least, there can be a halt called to new outlays, and this the Government does not intend to do, since the inevitable consequence of its programme in all its parts is more expenditure.

Hodge Podge

Insanity isn't really increasing. It only seems that way because we have found so many new uses for it.

After what Cleopatra did to various and sundry Romans, we wonder what would have happened to the world at large if she could have had the assistance of a modern beauty doctor.

The calf is an extremely valuable farm product. From it we get veal, gelatin, shoes, liver and onions, and 95 per cent of the chicken salad served in restaurants.

BOY IN BREECHES ROBBED TAILOR SHOP

Boston, Feb. 6.—A boy bandit in knee breeches held up a tailor shop here Wednesday night and robbed Israel Saitzel, the proprietor, of $10. A FAILING DEMAND
(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

It is announced that the United States Steel Corporation has gone out of the business of manufacturing horseshoes. The reason given is that the popularity of the automobile has so decreased the demand for horseshoes that the company decided it could use the space devoted to making horseshoes for manufacturing products more generally in demand.

For the present the horse, in Canada and the United States, seems to be fighting a losing fight against the automobile, but the horse is still far from extinction. There must be still a demand for horseshoes for it was a horseshoe company that purchased the horseshoe department of the steel corporation.

FIGURES AND FACTS
(Philadelphia Ledger)

Amid the loose talk about naval rivalry between Japan and the United States the two Governments are preparing their naval budgets for the next fiscal year. The United States will spend in around numbers $300,000,000; Japan a little over $100,000,000. Contemplation of these figures by the loose talkers should reassure them that the United States is rather more than holding its own. The comparison scarcely supports the argument that the American Navy is being allowed to suffer from lack of funds, while that of Japan is continually forging ahead. But the jingoes in neither country will permit plain facts to come between them and their reckless propaganda.

A WOMAN'S PRIDE IN VOTING
(Calgary Herald)

An English woman, a writer, declares that at the age of thirty, she shall have attained "to her political birthright," and she adds, "I shall exercise my right of voting with pride." Of the thousands of women in Calgary who have the vote, how many will exercise that right with pride? How many will experience a real satisfaction in sharing in the choice of the administrators of the city? How many will fail to vote? The men to be elected will fix the tax rate. They will control the destinies of the school to which the children of the city go. They will decide how the tax money earned in each home, payments for which men have in work and women have to save, will be spent. The women ought to be decidedly interested in these things. And if interested they should vote this year in larger numbers than ever before.

WAYS TO WEALTH
Chatham News

Exports from Canada last year exceeded the imports by nearly $202,000,000. According to one school of thought this is an indication of prosperity. The more a country exports and the less it imports the better off it is, according to the theory.

But a commission appointed to consider agricultural conditions in the United States, has advised American farmers that if they wish to become prosperous they must stop exporting agricultural products. The American farmer, it is claimed, cannot compete with cheap foreign labor and lower standards of living, and the more he exports the poorer he is likely to find himself.

It would seem that the value of theories, about trade balances depends very often upon conditions.

To-day's Smile

"I was afraid my sermon last Sunday would annoy some of my people, but it didn't," said the vicar.

"What was your subject?" asked his friend.

"The Duplicity of the Average man, and I spoke pretty plainly."

"You couldn't tread on any corns that way. Every man considers himself above the average."

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

By Airship

THE flight of the huge gas bag from Germany to the United States recently was significant in the era of transportation.

Dr. Eckener, who piloted the dirigible, says that trans-oceanic travel from Europe to the United States by air is a thing of the near future. He says that this kind of travel at first will be commercial, devoted to transporting fast mail and freight and, later on, passengers.

Trans-oceanic travel will develop faster than trans-continental because of the superior speed of the dirigible as opposed to the railway transportation and the surface ship. Besides this, bumpy air, caused by heat rising from the earth, is not present over the water.

Non-explosive helium is better than explosive hydrogen, such as was used in the Zeppelin. The only trouble is that helium cost much more than hydrogen.

The airship will be more popular with passenger traffic because its gentle, rolling motion does not cause seasickness or airsickness.

It is always possible to avoid storm centres, according to Dr. Eckener. Crossing the Atlantic, the dirigible was confronted by two storm centres, one off Cape Finisterre, in Spain and one in the Azores. The ship changed its course northward and went toward Newfoundland.

The greatest necessity is to replace hydrogen with helium, and gasoline with some other fuel which is not so dangerous.

The transfer of this dirigible from Germany to the United States ought to increase the good feeling toward Germany. It is not so easy to work up good feeling as it is to work up hate, but, in time, all hate must die and such exploits as communication between Germany and the United States by airship will be influential.

It is interesting to note in this connection that an aircraft corporation has been formed to use ships of the ZR-3 type for regular passenger service throughout this country, Europe and South America. This was indicated in a speech by Major C. R. Edwards, U.S.A., former Commander of the American Legion of Massachusetts.

During and since the War, the United States navy has operated 1,515 blimps and made 8,847 flights without injury to any one, and General Edwards rpedicted that soon air travel will be safer than travel by railroad or steamship.

In this way the flight of the ZR-3 across the Atlantic was as significant as the passage of Columbus from Spain to this country, years ago.

Thirty Years Ago

Is there any regulation against fast driving on the lower bridge? If so, the police ought to enforce it, as trotting over that structure is now the rule, rather than the exception. About 1 p.m. to-day a team of horses drawing sawlogs to the mill were trotted over the bridge, which shook violently under the strain.

THE TWO MERCHANTS

"To advertise when trade is dull
Is useless, don't you see?"

"I advertise each day and trade
Is never dull with me."

It is stated that a young woman living in Pittsburg, in the Township of Pittsburg, has started, or is about to start, for North Bay, there to meet and wed a man whom she has never seen. They became known to each other through the medium of correspondence and exchanged photographs. He "popped" by letter, and was accepted in a similar way. Then a gold watch and $50 came to hand, and the trip to North Bay was arranged.

HIGHER TEA PRICES EXPECTED ANY DAY

The estimated increase in the consumption of tea in 1924 over 1923 has amounted to over 39 million pounds. An increase in production of only seventeen million pounds during the same period has resulted in tea prices advancing in primary markets from ten to fourteen cents per pound since last summer. The price to the consumer today is on the basis of much lower primary costs, so a general increase to tea drinkers is inevitable in the near future.

Sick headaches are caused by constipation—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings relief

Constipation can wreck your health in over forty different ways.

Sick headaches, sallow skin, blotchy complexion, gray hair, spots before the eyes, unpleasant breath—these are a few of the outward effects of constipation. Over forty serious diseases can be traced to it.

Eluded Officials For 15 Months

Gave Herself Up Following Quarrel With Her Sweetheart

New York, Feb. 6.—After eluding immigration officials for the last 15 months, Bojana Kirjova, a 25-year-old Bulgarian nurse quarrelled with her sweetheart and in a fit of despondency gave herself up for deportation. Weeping and hysterical she was taken aboard the French liner France today, bound for Bulgaria. She was kept under close guard, because it was feared she might cause herself some bodily harm.

Miss Kirjova's sojourn in the United States was filled with adventure and romance. She led the immigration authorities a merry chase, and escaped on various occasions when they nearly arrested her, and once after she was taken she slid down a rainspout and disappeared.

She arrived here on the French liner Paris on September 7, 1923. After learning that she had an improper vise on her passport, she escaped from the Paris before she could be questioned by authorities and taken to Ellis Island.

BELIEVE STUDENTS WERE POISONED

Columbus, O., Feb. 5.—Ohio State University officials have today appealed to the Columbus police department to assist in unravelling the mystery surrounding the poisoning of a number of university students.

In explaining this action the officials said they were inclined to the belief that the strychnine was administered intentionally and not accidentally as was at first believed.

COURT REVEALED A HAPPY FAMILY

Hamilton, Feb. 6.—"She told me she would not cook for any Protestant," declared Usher Spicer, 411 Dundrun street, south, charged with non-support in police court Thursday morning.

"None of that" thundered J. D. Sullivan, lawyer for Mrs. Spicer, shaking an angry finger at the witness.

"That's evidence," decided the magistrate.

Mrs. Spicer maintained that he apparently expected her and the two kiddies to exist on air. She claimed hubby apparently thought more of his own comfor than hers, and when there was no coal in the house he went home to stay with his parents.

The husband said many a time and oft when he returned home at night his spouse was missing and did not return until long after he retired. He said she would not cook for him, and he had been forced to seek meals at his father's home. Sometimes, while staying the night at the parental home, he was awakened by the wife leaving the two children on the veranda.

"Don't you want to live with him and get his meals?" asked the magistrate.

"I would rather have a separation," replied the wife.

"Well, I will give you a week to think it over; but if you will not live with him I am not going to make him pay you anything," declared the magistrate.

Expect End Of World To-night

Apostle of Doom and Others Pray and Wait

SHABBILY DRESSED

Have Sold Everything; Exist on Carrots and Water

East Patchogue, N.Y., Feb. 6.—In a ramshackle hut on a bleak Long Island hillside facing eastward, Robert Reidt and a little band of Seventh Day Adventists prayed today in preparation for the millennium which they expect at midnight tonight.

A pale-faced, tubby little man, of German birth, Reidt calls himself the "apostle of doom." With five members of his family and seven other residents of this little town, he is awaiting the coming of Christ on a black cloud, out of the east.

The group, which includes a grizzled farmer of Yaphank, a middle-aged spinster, a youth recently converted, and a negro family of four, expects to be miraculously transported to woods outside San Diego, California, whence they are to ascend into heaven. Meanwhile, according to Reidt, destruction of the earth will be under way.

Shabbily dressed—they have sold everything, even clothes, to pay their earthly debts before their departure into immortality—the motley dozen surrounded Reidt on their knees in prayer, broken now and then by the wailing of the negroes.

They subsist only on carrots and water.

The sincerity of the Adventists, haggard of face, but with a zealous light in their sunken eyes, is evident.

Few To Be Saved

Reidt's theory, which he has imparted to his followers, is that Christ will appear to the faithful at midnight and transport them to the rendezvous where 144,000 "brides of the Lamb"—all of the earth's millions who are to be saved—will be gathered around a huge searchlight, pointing to heaven.

Mrs. Reidt, a buxom German woman, follows her husband's lead blindly. The children, Robert, 12; Erne, 10; Walter 9, and Esther 6, rather pathetic little figures, repeated parrot-like the exhortations and prayers of their parents. Their school mates have made life miserable for them, because of the belief of their father, and they are hoping as fervently as any of their elders that something will come to remove them from East Patchogue.

Constantly on her knees, praying methodically, is Miss K. B. Kennedy, the spinster. Seven years ago she was converted to Adventism. The other day she sold all her worldly goods, including her coat.

Farmer Downs of Yaphank, the apostle's first disciple, is a fearsome man with unkempt hair and beard, and a piercing eye. In a thunderous voice that fills the little hut, he recites Scriptures from memory, adapting them to the present situation.

Earth's Destruction

Arthur Rupp, a youth of 23, converted two years ago, is the other Caucasian member of the band.

According to the apostle, Adventists all over the world are similarly awaiting the coming of Christ. At midnight, a dark cloud, surrounded by a brilliant light, will roll up over the eastern horizon. The "brides of the Lamb" will mount this cloud, and will be escorted by Christ to the San Diego woods. There the guests of the Lord will wait seven days while fire, brimstone and pestilence destroy the earth.

At the end of the seven days, the journey to heaven will start. On Sunday, the voyagers will rest on the planet Jupiter, "for the holy must not travel on Sunday."

The corona of the recent eclipse pointed to Jupiter, Reidt said in his explanation of this halt.

SNOWSLIDES CAUSE SERIOUS LOSSES

Nelson, B.C., Feb. 6.—Two lives lost, a railway line closed for the season and two houses demolished are the results so far reported of Kootenay snowslides in the past 24 hours, following days of thaw and rain.

At 5 o'clock yesterday a snowslide at Queen's bay demolished the ranch house of Jno. H. Hoyle, killing Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle in their beds and carrying away the upper portion of the house, in which a son, John Hole, aged 30, and a woman servant had their rooms. Young Hoyle and the woman made their escape through the roof. The bodies of the aged couple were dug out late yesterday afternoon.

Three big slides came down at various times since midday yesterday on the Kaslo & Naknsp branch of the C. P. R., all between the Rambler Mine and Zincton, the largest being 900 feet wide and 50 feet deep. The others are, respectively, 300 and 200 feet wide and 20 feet deep. The C.P.R. will abandon the Kaslo-Slocan service for the winter in consequence, and travel will be routed by the lakes.

THOUGH 78 YEARS, SHE'S ARTIST STILL

Many women have made names for themselves in the world of art both in painting and sculpture and rank with the best of the men in their work. One quite famous woman artist is Madame S. E. le Prince, who, though she is now 78 years old, is still actively engaged in art work.

She studied abroad under the best instructors and after graduation founded the first technical school of art in England, organized various societries and leagues for the promotion of art in the United States, and was the first art instructor in the training classes for teachers at the old New York University building that preceded the present Teacher's College. Mme. le Prince is the holder of a great many international art awards and medals.

Student At Paris Cheated By Radio

Sweetheart Dictated Answers by Telephone Under Unique Arrangement

Paris, Feb. 6—Zalimier, the medical student, will probably never become a physician, but the authorities of Strasbourg university, where he studies, predict a great future for him as an electrician or a detective. Meanwhile they are ashamed of him as a cheat.

Zalimier's scheme to fool his examiners by means of an elaborate system of wireless telephones, wires, microphones, amplifiers and loud speakers might never have been discovered but for an anonymous tip. For the student's accomplice the physician who at the other end of the wire prompted him with the proper answers, was his best girl.

The examination was in full swing and Zalimier was doing well when the professor received a note: "Zalimier is cheating. Look under the table." A search was made at once in the presence of all the other candidates and nothing was found.

Then an electrician arrived. He found copper hair wires under the linoleum below Zalimier's chair, passing through the floor along the corridors and upstairs to the students' rooms.

"Take me to your chamber," the dean of the faculty demanded sternly.

"Impossible," replied Zalimier. "There is a lady there."

The dean is a gallant gentleman. He consented to postpone the investigation for a short time. But the whole trick was exposed. A radio set with microphone in the examination room transmitted the questions to the young woman concealed in Zalimiers room. By telephone she dictated the answers. The electrician declared the student had the microphone, a tiny affair, concealed under a bandage over a pretended cut on his finger.

Complete paraphernalia for a five-valve wireless set and the necessary batteries were part of the equipment. The university authorities, not all so chivalrous as the dean, refuse to be moved by the love element in Zalimier's story and have begun a prosecution.

MILLIONS HAVE MALARIA

Moscow, Feb. 6.—According to statistics prosecuted to the third Russian National Malaria Congress which opened here yesterday, there are 5,352,394 cases of malaria in Soviet-Russia at the present time. This is twice as many as in 1913. The districts most affected are the lower Volga regions of Northern Caucasia, the Ural district of Siberia and the mining districts of the Ukraine.

Prince Will Train On Board Ship

Gymnasium Room Being Built For Him With Special Suite

London, Feb. 6—The Prince of Wales will make his forthcoming journey to Argentina and South Africa in the battle cruiser, H.M.S. Repulse, a sister ship of the Renown, which carried him on his official tour of India and Japan in 1922.

As the Repulse is fitted out for a flagship it is expected that a ranking admiral will be selected to command her. Most of the ship's complement of 1,220 officers and men have been chosen. The officers, for the most part are serving on the Repulse at the present time. About half of the enlisted men are those who have served on the Repulse for two years and the remainder will be honor men of the navy.

The Repulse has been ordered into the yards for a complete overhauling and painting. A special suite for the prince is being fitted out of the apartments adjoining the admiral's quarters and a gymnasium room is being built for him. There will also be special rooms for the newspaper correspondents who will accompany the prince. The royal traveller will eat his meals with the chief officer's mess, instead of having a private dining-room as on the Renown, and the daily menu will conform with the usual navy regulations.

According to present plans the Repulse will sail March 25.

DEFIES COLD WAVES WITH ELECTRIC BED

New York, Feb. 6.—By means of "an electric bed," his own invention Henry L. Doherty, financier and public utilities official, is able to give cold waves the laugh from his skyscraper bungalow on the roof of an 11-storey building in the financial district.

Doherty likes to sleep in the open. With the coming of winter, the Arctic temperatures of his lofty abode caused him much discomfort while preparing to retire.

So he has had constructed a bed on wheels, operated by electricity on a trolley track from the interior of the bungalow to a sleeping porch.

Doherty now undresses within the warmth of his home, is tucked comfortably into his bed by his valet, presses a button and rides out to the wide open spaces where he spends a night replete with fresh air.

HISTORIC PAINTING LOANED FOR MONTH

London, Feb. 6.—The painting of Viscountess Astor being introduced to Parliament, which created a storm in the House of Commons when it was hung on the grand staircase, was accepted as a loan today by the Library Committee of the City of London Corporation for a month's exhibition in the Guild Hall gallery.

The ultimate disposal of Charles Sims's painting of the historic scene of the introduction of the first woman Member of Parliament has not been decided, but it will not be rehung in Parliament, many believe.

Granites Defeat Trailer Ladies

Ritchie's Beaten, But Not Disgraced at "Y" Alleys

The Trailers started out well in their game with the Granites yesterday after noon at the Association Alleys. In fact they were leading the latter aggregation at the end of the first string by a small margin. This slight advantage in score however, was only temporary as in the second string the Trailers were not so fortunate as in the opener whereas the Granites might ahead. Both teams bowled their best game "in act three" but here again the Granites gained their opponents.

Although they were beaten by the Excelsiors in a scheduled league fixture the Ritchie representatives were by no means disgraced by the showing they made. It was apparently a case of failure to get started soon enough as in the final string the losers quite outclassed their opponents. Miss Blaind of the Ritchie team rolled the high score of the evening with 508 and Mrs. Bottum with 472 was second in line, also the high mark of her team.

BURCH IS OUT

Hamilton, Feb. 6.—Billy Burch, Hamilton's clever center ice player, suffered a broken bone in his hand Wednesday night in Montreal, and will not be able to play again for three weeks, it was announced Thursday. He will be sorely missed, but, fortunately, the Bengals are "sitting pretty," and can hardly be disturbed from their lofty position before he returns.

SENTENCE TO YEAR

N.H.L. Standing

Babe Dye, St. Patrick's sharp-shooter, gained a nice margin in the race for N. H. L. sniping honors last night, when he tallied all three Irish goals against Montreal in Toronto. Aurel Joliat was held scoreless by the Terrors at Montreal, and is almost out of the running now, while Cyril Dennenay is five goals down. Billy Burch cinched fourth place in the goal-scoring standing with his pair of counters last night, while Broadbent, Noble and Jess Spring helped themselves.

The present standing is:

27—C. Dye, St. Patricks.

22—C. Dennenay, Ottawa.

21—A Joliat, Canadiens.

FORTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE

Alport, Ont.—"I have much pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which I have used in my family of nine children for over forty years. I have no hesitation in pronouncing it to be the best proprietary medicine of which I have any knowledge for building up the body and keeping it in good order. If taken according to the directions, together with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, I am convinced that there is no better tonic. I have been treated also by the Medical Staff at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and I have had no return of the trouble since that date (1910) which proves the thoroughness of their treatment."—H. F. JUDGE AT GODERICH HITS NEWSPAPERS

Goderich, Feb. 6.—The only case on the docket for the criminal court which opened here with Hon. Justice Kelly presiding, was disposed of at about 1 o'clock yesterday.

His lordship, in dismissing the grand jury, took occasion to refer to the action of newspaper reporters riding on trains with prisoners who were on their way to prison, and writing stories about the prisoners' actions, behaviour, how they looked, whether they smiled at this particular place or that. Such methods his lordship characterized as abominable.

Ban Johnson Got Start On Newspaper

Covered Some of the Big Fights in the Old Days

The sports world in general may not know it, but Byron Bancroft Johnson, who occupies the executive chair of the American Baseball League, passed into baseball through the editorial office of a newspaper.

More than 40 years ago he received his baptism as a cub reporter on a sheet in Cincinnati, O., and soon graduated into the expert class which entitled him to some of the big assignments that in those rough and ready days provided experiences seldom found by the writers of the present.

One of Johnson's "jobs" in those dark days of sport was the covering of the now famous John L. Sullivan Jake Kilrain fight, at Richburg, Miss July 8, 1889.

That was one of the many real battles witnessed by the present head of the American circuit, but the Sullivan-Kilrain contest stands out most vividly in his memory because of its preliminaries and aftermath.

Ban remembers vividly that Sullivan won the bruising contest in 75 rounds, but a round under the London prize ring rules last only as long as both men were on their feet and, as Johnson explains it, "Kilrain was on the grass most of the time."

Johnson's recollection is that Kilrain was the last man to leave the arena. With the place deserted, the defeated fighter was sitting in his corner crying like a baby. His body was the color of raw beef.

OFFER ANOTHER JOB TO BILLIE HUGHES

Kingston, Feb. 6.—Billie Hughes, crack trainer of Queen's athletes, is wanted to handle hockey players in Pittsburgh and has been offered the post of coach of the Pittsburgh team in the U. S. A. H. A., according to word received from Pittsburg Thursday morning. Not only is he wanted for the hockeyists, but the Pittsburgh Pirates, of the National League, also want him to handle the training of the baseball players on that team this summer.

Information from Pittsburgh was to the effect that L. P. Scholey, the head of amateur hockey in that place, and one of the outstanding men in sport in the United States, is hot after Hughes. He had known of Billie's prowess as a trainer, and also knows that the diminutive trainer knows a lot about coaching a hockey team. The plans of the men in Pittsburgh is that Hughes take charge of the hockeyists, and in the summer look after the Pirates at Forges Field. Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, knows of Hughes, and feels that he is the right man for the job.

Hughes declined to discuss the offer at length. Naturally it is a most attractive offer, and one which shows that his great work with Queen's in hockey, football, and other sports, has travelled far. He has the matter under consideration and will make a decision in a few days, it is expected.

Girl In Twenties Has Made Success

Manager of Tourists Office of a Great Railroad

Chicago, Feb. 6.—A young woman railway ticket seller, not yet 30, has in five years since throwing away her teacher's textbooks and hickory switch in a small Iowa town, been made manager of the new tourists' office of a great railroad. Two hundred men report to her, and it is the first time such an office has been filled by a woman. The appointment, taking effect February 1, was announced by the general manager's office of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

Miss Emma W. Bock it is who added another conquest to woman's invasion of the ranks of commerce.

Grasped Her Opportunity

The story of Miss Bock's business rise since being graduated from the University of Chicago in 1917 tells of ability, a pleasing personality, quickness at figures and also of a keen mind that prompted her to use her vacations for business as well as pleasure, so that in the brief span of her attachment to the Burlington counters in the consolidated ticket offices in the Insurance Exchange building she has traveled 30,000 miles from coast to coast, priming herself with facts about Yellowstone, the Grand Canyon, Glacier Park and the rest of the resorts of interest to the ticket buyer.

The second day at the counter in 1919 Miss Bock had a chance to sell an extended tour to Chief Justice Howard Taft. Since that time she has taken personal charge of arrangements for Joseph Hergesheimer, the author; Rev. John Timothy Stone and Emerson Hough, well-known writer, who recently died.

When Hough Apologized

Mr. Hough came to the counter one time, and showed resentment at being met by a woman. He spoke curtly and she turned him over to the general agent. In answering questions about a proposed extended trip the general agent, knowing that Miss Bock had the facts more ready than he, put each question of price for passage and Pullman fare to Miss Bock, who replied quickly with the needed amount. Mr. Hough was frankly turned about and said he had been mistaken in the girl's ability. On paying several hundred dollars for his ticket he told her to keep the change of $5. Miss Bock reddened and refused. Whereupon, without saying a word, Mr. Hough went across the street and sent back a large package of chocolates. Then a letter of apology arrived days later.

A REAL DONNYBROOK

Toronto, Feb. 6.—A free fight featured an overtime game between Rosedale and Willowdales in the Willowdale hockey rink Wednesday night. The game stood 2-1 for Rosedale, when the players started a scrap, and the fans joined in.

The death of General Kuropatkin, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies in the Russo-Japanese war, is announced by the official Soviet News Agency. The general, who was 80 years of age, died at Shemshurino, in the Pskov district.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Cecil sprang forward, and just in time, caught him in his arms.

Some one silenced the band, and the whole assemblage became instantly mute.

Lord Cecil, raised the motionless form in his arms—it seemed to weigh nothing to him, so thin and emaciated was it—and, through a lane of horrified spectators, carried him up the broad stairs, and into his bedroom.

Three persons followed him—Lady Grace, Spencer Churchill and the marquis' valet—and entered the room with him.

Lord Cecil laid his frail burden on the bed, and the valet quickly unfastened the old-fashioned cravat.

"It is a fit, my lord!" he murmured, agitatedly. "I expected it! I have been watching him from one of the doorways. His face was so white, and—and strained-like——"

"Go for a doctor," said Lord Cecil, quietly. "Grace go down and get rid of these people."

"Oh! come with me, Cecil!" she said brokenly; "I—I shall break down."

"Yes, go with her," said Spencer Churchill. "You need not be more than a few minutes, and I'll stay here with him."

Alone with him!

He waited until Lady Grace and Lord Cecil had left the room; then, scarcely looking at the white distorted face he searched the pockets of the helpless man, and with a suppressed cry of satisfaction, darted to the cabinet, got the keys and opened the safe.

Taking out two deeds engrossed, "The last will and testament of the Marquis of Stoyle," he thrust one in the breast pocket of his coat and replaced the other in the safe and locked it, and returned the keys to the cabinet.

Scarcely had he done so, and taken his place at the bedside, than Lord Cecil and the valet hurried in with a doctor, who had been one of the guests.

He bent over the unconscious marquis and made his examination.

"Is he? Oh, don't say that my dear friend is dead?" exclaimed Spencer Churchill, with a sob.

Lord Cecil waited for the answer in silent horror.

"No, no, he is not dead! Open that window!" said the doctor. "It is a fit produced by sudden excitement."

"Thank Heaven!" murmured Spencer Churchill, devoutedly. "And he will recover, doctor?"

The doctor looked grave.

"I cannot say. If he should——" He hesitated and looked at Lord Cecil. "It is a very serious case, my lord; a sudden collapse. The unusual excitement has been too much for his lordship. He may recover, but if he should"—he stopped, and touched his forehead—"I fear it will be a bodily and not mental recovery."

"My poor friend!" he sobbed; and if he gave expression to his thoughts, he would have added: "will not be able to make a fresh will!"

CHAPTER XXX.

IN THE TOILS.

The great marquis recovered consciousness by midday, but he lay very weak and silent, the keen, hard face looking like a mask carved in ivory. Lord Cecil scarcely left his side, and though the marquis did not attempt to speak, he turned his eyes upon him now and again with a curious expression in them. Mr. Spencer Churchill was, as became so well-known and tender-hearted a philanthropist, most attentive and sympathetic, and he hovered about the bedside, and shed the light of his benevolent countenance upon the patient, as if he were the marquis' brother. And him, too, the sick man regarded with an expression of thoughtful watchfulness.

Mr. Spencer Churchill waited four days, then, hearing from the doctors that the marquis might possibly remain in his present condition for weeks, or even months, he thought that he had better attend to the other threads of his plot. It was time that Percy Levant secured Doris. Everything in England was working wonderfully well for Mr. Spencer Churchill, and, in anticipation, he could almost see the accomplishment of his object and the reward of all his scheming and toiling.

"It cuts me to the heart to leave the dear patient, Cecil," he said; "but I have most urgent business on the Continent, connected with one of our great charitable societies, and I really must go. I have the consolation, however, of reflecting that I leave my dear old friend such loving hands as yours and dear Lady Grace's. He will, I know, receive every attention that affectionate hearts can suggest."

"Yes," said Cecil, rather grimly. "We shall neither starve nor neglect him; don't remain a moment longer than you like. You had better leave your address."

"Y—es," said Spencer Churchill. "Dear me, I scarcely know what address to give you. I shall be moving about so much for the first few weeks; but perhaps you had better write to Meurigny's, at Paris. You will telegraph to me, of course. I shall be back as soon as possible. And when I come," he added, mentally, as he wrung Cecil's hand, "perhaps I may have the satisfaction of dealing you a slight shock, my self-sufficient young friend."

He started for Italy that same evening and three days later appeared in the garden of the Villa Rimini to find that Doris had consented to be Percy Levant's wife.

There was something so complete in the success of his plans that Mr. Spencer Churchill was almost startled. The marquis lying bereft of reason and helpless away in England, and Doris Marlowe engaged to Percy Levant! It was little short of marvelous!

"Now, if I could only see them married," he murmured, as he lay on the lawn smoking a cigarette, and blinking placidly up at the blue sky; "if I could only see them married, and the dear marquis would kindly remove himself from this troublous world, I should be ten thousand pounds richer in pocket, and be able to repay my dear Lord Cecil for the many, the very many snubs he has bestowed upon me. Ah, here comes Percy. How the young man hates me! And yet I have been the means of giving him a beautiful wife and a large fortune. Strange how deeply ingratitude is engrained in the human heart!"

"Well Percy," he purred, "and how is dear Miss Marlowe now? It was nothing serious, I trust? Only the heat, my dear Percy? I noticed that the room was hot and the air quite heavy with flowers. I'm not sure that too many flowers are wholesome; to some ultra-refined sensibilities like those of our dear Miss Doris, for instance, their perfume is overwhelming. How is she?"

VILLAGERS ARE NO LONGER DEAD ONES

Evreux, France, Feb. 6—The 203 inhabitants of St. Pierre-des-Cerceuils have been filled with joy by the decision of the state council authorizing the name of their village to be changed to St. Pierre-des-Fleurs. The literal translation of their original name is "Saint Peter of the Coffins," so that it is easy to understand their satisfaction at the change to Saint Peter of the Flowers'

At the same time there is a movement on foot to change the name of the department Charente-Inferieure to Charente-Maritime, because the department finds that its wines suffer in the esteem of foreigners by having the word "Inferieure" on their labels as the mistake is made that it refers to their quality and not to position of the department on the "lower" part of the river Charente.

New Star Found In Lloyd Comedy

Richard Daniels Plays great Part As An Aged Uncle

Harold Lloyd has the reputation in Hollywood of establishing in pictures more notable characters than any other star, and in his latest feature Pathecomedy, "Girl Shy," he will not lose this reputation, for he has made another great "find" in Richard Daniels, who portrays his aged uncle in the funfilm.

Daniels is the father of Mickey Daniels, the freckle faced youngster in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" Pathecomedies, but until he was taken in by Lloyd, he had only participated in a few comedies on the Roach lot.

In "Girl Shy", has given Daniels a part that will establish him as strongly as "Grandma's Boy" did the late Anna Townsend.

Daniels had done some trouping in the tank towns of the Middle West, but until he came to Hollywood to make his son Mickey a nationally known figure, he had no motion picture experience.

Lloyd gave him a bit to play in "Dr. Jack," and when it came time to cast "Girl Shy," he could see no other actor in the role of the small town tailor except the elder Daniels. His part is very similar to that of Mrs. Townsend in "Grandma's Boy," and he fulfills it in the same appealing manner, helping to win a lot of sympathy for the character portrayed by Lloyd.

"Girl Shy" is reported by all those who have had the pleasure of seeing it, to be a worthy successor to his last hit, "Why Worry?" and like its predecessor, it was directed by Fred Newmeyer and Sam Taylor from a story by Taylor, Tommy Gray, Tim Whelan and Ted Wilde.

A well-filled house greeted the initial showing of "Girl Shy" at Griffin's last evening. They went expecting to laugh and Harold certainly did not disappoint them—for the picture was a scream and a thriler—and one of the best Lloyd has produced.

Harold Meadows was an apprentice in a small town tailor shop, but he had higher aspirations, it was his desire to be an author, and the story woven around his efforts to have his book published—a book, by the way, the subject of which was his love affairs—provide an endless laugh throughout, since Harold you see, is very, very shy, and his love affairs are for the most part, corocctions of the imagination.But a real love affair develops, and Harold after many thrilling escapades, finally achieves success, both in business and love.

Anyone who loves good clean comedy and who doesn't this is a picture that shouldn't be missed.

100,000 Cattle Shown By Camera

Spectacular Scenes in "Sundown" at Griffin's Next Week

The passing of the Old West, the cattle barons, and the tremendous herds of cattle which roamed the plains, has been immortalized in "Sundown" to be shown at the Griffin Theatre beginning Monday Tuesday and Wednesday.

The news feature of the announcement is that the picture will be fact rather than fiction. The big scenes in the photoplay were taken during the movement of the largest herd in the history of the West.

This tremendous movement of cattle began as First National cameras ground. The cattle, more than 100,000, converged from the north rim of the Grand Canyon, from Flagstaff, Ariz., Columbus, N. M., and Texas, and were driven south to Mexico

A battery of ten cameramen rode with the cowpunchers.

The movement of the cattle was made necessary by the encroachment of the smaller farmer—the "noster" in the vernacular of the cattlemen whose small farms and holdings year by year are slowly driving the big range into comparatively small ranches.

This epic of today, the passing of the big herds with adventure and romance, is the theme of "Sundown" for which scenes of the big cattle run were taken as a historical background for the romantic love story told by the stellar cast of which Hobart Bosworth, Bessie Love, Roy Stewart, Charlie Murray, Arthur Hoyt, Charles Sellon, Charles B. Crockett, Bernard Randall, Wilfred North, Hal Wilson and Jere Austin were members.

"Sundown" is an original story by Earl J. Hudson, production manager of First National's own west coast units.

Denny Is Fellow Of Infinite Mirth

Playing in "The Reckless Age" at the Belle Theatre

Reginald Denny, who won screen fame with his fists, is holding it by his versatility. For it is a new Reginald Denny whom one sees in "The Reckless Age," his latest Universal-Jewel feature which came yesterday to the Belle theatre The new Reginald Denny is a fellow of infinite mirth.

The new picture, a screen version of Earl Derr Biggers' Saturday Evening Post story, "Love Insurance," is a rapid fire tale of an insurance man standing guarding over an English lord who has insured himself against failure to marry an heiress.

From then on the fun is fast and furious. An actress, threatening a breach of promise suit, is the first complication in the path of policy-protected love; a blackmail plot, a bogus claimant, to his Lordship's title and a few other trials and tribulations keep Cupid at arm's length—and the heiress and the insurance man (played by Denny) manage to fall in love with each other.

Every moment sees an uproarious new situation; but there are many thrills, too, to enliven the comedy. Denny stages a fight in a newspaper office that is a fistic classic; fully as thrilling as any of his "Leather Pushers" bouts.

There is romance in the story, too. All in all it is a perfect specimen of clean fun.

The cast is excellent. Ruth Dwyer, remembered in "His Mystery Girl" and "Jack o' Clubs," plays the heiress, and a very charming heiress she is, too, so any insurance man would be justified in falling in love with her. Harry Pollard, who directed Denny in 'Sporting Youth', made this highly pleasing production.

FRIEND OF SAILOR AND SOLDIER BOYS

Washington, Feb. 6.—Men of Uncle Sam's fighting forces who get into scrapes in the national capital find a staunch friend in Mrs. Andrew J. Campbell. For the last three years she has visited the police courts almost daily to assist soldiers, sailors and marines on trial for minor offenses. Her work has been commended by army, navy and marine authorities and by police magistrates.

Mrs. Campbell, who had a son and daughter in the service, helps service men in trouble by supplying small funds or by communicating with relatives. It is her proud boast that no man she has aided ever returned to court. She takes pride in another patriotic service, the placing of wreaths on every new grave in the Arlington national cemetery.

District News

Chalmers Votes Union

As was anticipated, Chalmers Presbyterian church voted strongly in favor of entering the United Church of Canada. The result of the poll, which has been open for the past two weeks, was announced at an adjourned meeting of the congregation on Wednesday evening by Mr. John D. Boyd, who acted as returning officer. The figures were:— For union 261; against 51; total 312. The polled vote represented eighty-eight per cent. of that available, as seventy-five communicants were ill or away. The number who did not care to record their vote was 40. The best of feeling prevailed, and all interested appeared glad that a vote had been called for as the poll showed just where Chalmers stood in regard to church union.

Died on Train

While on his way to Kingston Thursday morning on the C.N.R. train from Erinsville John Murphy passed away between Ernesttown and Collin's Bay. Deceased had not been in good health for some time past and had heart trouble and rheumatism. He decided that he would come to Kingston to see a doctor and go into the Hotel Dieu the hope of being cured, but as he was sitting in the seat of the car, he dropped over and passed suddenly away.

Firemen Organize

Lansdowne, Feb. 6— On Monday evening, in the town hall, a meeting was called to organize a fire brigade. About twenty-five were present and a fire committee was appointed consisting of George F. Johnston, chairman, S. C. E. Dixon, secretary, A. J. Sly, treasurer, William Senn, fire chief. The village is very fortunate in having Mr. Senn as head of the fire brigade as he is an experienced fire chief.

Hurt In Steamer

Kingston, Feb. 6.—While playing on one of the steamers which are lying up for the winter months near the Davis Tannery in company with a few other boys, Ernest Snowden, thirteen-year-old son of Gunner Snowden of the R.C.H.A. who resides on Orchard street, fell into an open hatchway on the boat, badly bruising himself and breaking his left arm at the wrist.

As a result of the mishap, the young boy lies in the Kingston General Hospital where he was rushed immediately after the unfortunate accident. On arriving at the hospital, the arm was X rayed and it was found that he had sustained a severe injury. Dr. I. G. Gogard was called at once and set the arm. It was reported Thursday morning that the boy had spent a very comfortable night at the hospital and that he was resting as easily as could be expected.

To Choose Name

Oshawa, Feb. 6.—At the annual meeting of the Oshawa Presbyterian Church held Wednesday night a motion was put through authorizing the session to select a suitable name for the church.

It was pointed out that in a few months there would be four "Union" Churches in Oshawa and unless each had its own distinctive name it might lead to confusion. Some of the names suggested by the speaker were St. Andrew's, St. Paul's, Knox and First Church.

The session has the power to make the selection, but it is probable that they will ask the congregation for some expression of their wishes.

At Adolphustown

Adolphustown, Feb. 6.—Our supply of snow is still gaining. The debate between Conway and Adolphustown which was to have taken place last Friday evening, was post poned until Thursday evening of this week, owing to the condition of the roads and weather. Miss B. Love, Filford, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Magee, has returned to her home.

Blackstone Show Is Early Booking

Big Magic Aggregation Promises Many Illusions to Be Seen

The Blackstone Show of Wonders is scheduled to open a one day engagement at the Griffin Opera House, Thursday, Feb. 12, with a matinee at 4.15. The Great Blackstone himself will head the organization which is the largest in point of paraphernalia and personnel in the world. Two baggage cars are required to transport the wealth of intricate and delicate equipment necessary to the proper presentation of Blackstone's many mystifying and opulent illusions. There are over a score of handsome young women and assistant conjurers aiding Blackstone in his necromantic endeavors.

For this first time in this city Blackstone will offer his latest creation "The Vanishing Horse". Seized by a band of hooded and robed figures the modern Cagliostro is hanged high in the air only to startle the beholders by appearing upon a charging Arabian stallion. In a trice horse and rider dash into a cabin nearby and in even less time the building blows up, leaving the rider in full view with bridle and saddle in hand while the horse has evaporated into the nebula. It is the most astounding illusion that has ever been staged, seems to be the general opinion of the press in the cities where Blackstone has exhibited his novel piece de resistance.

Blackstone has been playing the so-called legitimate theatres for the past two seasons charging two dollars for the choice seats. As Messrs. Woolworth and Ford have demonstrated volume is the talisman of success, hence Blackstone is providing the same attraction in the theatres where lesser prices prevail but where the performances are more numerous. There will, therefore, be no advance in the regular scale of house prices or deviation from its fixed policy during the Blackstone stay.

Against in Gananoque

Gananoque, Feb. 6—The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church of this town went almost 5 to 1 against church union in the vote which closed Wednesday night after a poll of two weeks. The church has a membership of 243; of these there are some who are absent from town temporarily, while there are others who have taken up residence elsewhere but have not withdrawn from this church so there were probably not more than 175 votes available. Of these 148 were cast, divided as follows: 26 for, 121 against union, and 1 spoiled ballot.

INSPECTOR RESIGNS

Toronto, Feb. 6— Inspector Marshall Tripp has resigned from the Toronto police force. He tendered his resignation Thursday afternoon and Chief Dickson announced it was forthwith accepted. Ill health is given as the cause. Mr. Tripp has been with the department 38 years.

When Your Poor Old Stomach Groans With Gas

When Sourness, Pain and Bloating Follow Every Meal

MAKE THIS SIMPLE TEST

No matter about diets, special food programs or the dozens or more medicines you have tried without success. If you really want stomach comfort —quick, certain and lasting relief from the usual after-eating distress —just make this simple NEVER FAILING test to-day!

For only a few cents get from any good druggist a little pure Bisurated Magnesia—then, immediately after your next heavy meal, take two teaspoonfuls of the powder or four of the tablets and drink a glass of warm or not iced water.

This is a simple, pleasant and inexpensive test that may be absolutely depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes and, in most instances, relief comes instantly.

Bisurated Magnesia is a pleasant harmless, non-laxative form of old-fashioned Magnesia that, when taken after meals, cleanses, sweetens and neutralizes the dangerous stomach acids that cause 95% of stomach ailments. Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia at your druggist's today!

WOMEN ARE NOT SO EXTRAVAGANT

Los Angeles, Feb. 6—Women are not so extravagant as popular belief would paint them, but on the contrary are economical, or at any rate they don't pay out money for shoe shines, say Los Angeles bootblacks. The shiners say that 15 men have their shoes polished to one woman.

A woman, they explained, will take home a 25-cent bottle of polish, hunt up a rag and at the end of the month figure out how much she has saved. Then, if she is married, she is liable to try to break up the age-old male custom of hiring someone else to clean his shoes.

HARD ON FAMILY

Toronto, Feb. 6—The father of seven children, guilty of having some alcohol, was sent down for six months, failing payment of a $500 fine, his wife afterwards collapsing in the corridor, moaning over the prospect of facing life with seven children and a husband in jail.

Here and There

Mineral production in Canada for 1924 is estimated at $203,194,000, as compared with $214,079,331 in the preceding year, according to a preliminary statement issued by the Department of Mines. Metallic minerals accounted for $96,034,000 of the total, followed by fuels and other non-metallics with $73,830,000, and structural materials and clay products with $33,330,000.

The Port of Montreal created a new world record in 1924 for the amount of grain handled by any one port in any one year, namely, 165,139,396 bushels, while from January 1 to November 30 she handled 94,366,508 bushels more than her nearest competitor and 17,332,709 bushels more than the seven next busiest ports combined.

Described as the finest coastal vessel in the world, the "Princess Kathleen," recently launched by Lady Mount Stephen, widow of the late Lord Mount Stephen, a former president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, left Glasgow on January 15 on her ten thousand mile journey through the Panama canal to join the Canadian Pacific's fleet of coastal steamships plying the seaboard of British Columbia.

A historic pageant of some proportions is being planned by the Calgary exhibition board for this year, its object being to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city by the old North-West Mounted Police in 1875. In the period which has since elapsed, Calgary has grown to be an extremely busy, modern city, having a population of 75,000. A stampede similar to those held in Calgary in previous years is also planned for this summer.

The itinerary of the "All Blacks," New Zealand's wonderful rugby team, hitherto unbeaten, in their tour of Canada, was announced by the Canadian Pacific recently. Landing at St. John, N.B., on January 31, from the company's steamship "Montlaurier," the team will proceed across the Dominion via Canadian Pacific lines. They will make short stays at Montreal, on February 1; Toronto, February 2; Niagara Falls, February 3; Calgary, February 6; Banff, February 7-9; Vancouver, February 10-21, and sail from San Francisco on the 25th. Calgary is giving them a ball and dance at the Palliser Hotel, they will take part in the Banff winter carnival, and will play teams from Vancouver and Victoria while on the coast.

Very heavy summer travel is anticipated by the Canadian Pacific Railway during 1925, especially to conventions on the Pacific coast of Canada and the United States, C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the company, announced recently. Canadian and American railroads expect 160,000 persons to attend these conventions, some of which will be very large. At least thirty westward bound special trains, and as many eastward bound, will be provided by the Canadian Pacific to handle the delegates, Mr. Foster stated, and Banff and Lake Louise expect great seasons, as so many of the travellers will stop off at those famous mountain resorts. There will also be a very heavy movement to conventions in eastern Canada and the eastern United States.

Cold in the head means a germ attack. The membranes become inflamed, head becomes stufed. And that's misery.

Quick relief demands direct attack on those germs. Apply Ely's Cream Balm in the nostrils and breathe it. The head clears instantly, inflammation is subdued. The cold disappears.

Don't wait for internal effects. Fight the cold where it is—in the air passage. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Enjoy this quick relief.

Last Of Quartette Gaining Freedom

Cigarette Brown Likely to Be Parolled; Given 28 Years

Kingston, Feb. 6—Arthur Brown, better known as "Cigarette Brown", who is serving a twenty-eight-year sentence in the Portsmouth penitentiary, is likely to be paroled in the very near future. Brown was one of the Stoney Mountain gang who made a sensational escape from the Portsmouth penitentiary on April 29th, 1912. He is the last of the gang of four to be detained. Some time ago Brown made a formal application for release and it is understood that the prison authorities have recommended that he be allowed out on parole. For the past six or seven years Brown has been a model prisoner and in view of the fact that he is advancing in years and being detained in prison might hasten his death, the prison authorities have recommended to Remission Board that consideration might be shown his appeal.

When Brown, Arthur Bonnar, Harry Kelly and Jones were brought to the Portsmouth penitentiary they were looked upon as being four of the worst criminals in Canada. In the Stoney Mountain prison the officials were unable to do anything with them so it was decided to bring them to Portsmouth. On the trip down the convicts tried to make their escape from the train at Toronto. The men made the statement that no prison walls in Canada could hold them and they lived up to the reputation when they walked out of the main gate of the prison but were later captured after many shots were fired. The convicts were able to get away by knocking down some of the guards, taking off their uniform and locking them in the cells and then donning their clothes.

Kidnapped Girl Teacher

Arthur Brown was convicted of kidnapping Gladys Price, a public school teacher at Snow Lake, Manitoba and was sentenced to serve a term of eight years. After kidnapping the teacher, who was at her school, Brown took her to the hills and did not allow her to return to her home for about forty-eight hours.

When Arthur Brown and the other three men appeared before Judge Madden at the sitting of the supreme court, which was held at the court house in June, 1912, they were all found guilty on the charge of escaping and assaulting the guards at the prison and had nineteen years added to their sentences.

Kelly and Jones, better known as the Mecum brothers were paroled a few years ago and were deported to the United States from where they came to Canada. Arthur Bonnar, who was a very clever Englishman, made such an impression upon Judge Madden when he appeared before him at the court house in June, 1912, that the judge stated that he would be pleased to recommend, on some future occasion, that he be paroled. When given his freedom Bonnar was taken across the border.

Doctor Was Freed On Liquor Charge

Provincial Operator Was Chief Witness; Only three In Month

Toronto, Feb. 6—On Dec. [illegible] last Provincial Operator Kelly called on Dr. J. P. F. Williams, 358 Palmerston blvd. and after saying the doctor had been highly recommended to him, asked for a prescription for liquor. The doctor was also informed that Kelly was an Orangeman and an Oddfellow. The "sick" man's trouble was a "grippy" condition, which only liquor could relieve. The doctor took prescription for six ounces. Mr. Kelly wanted forty ounces. This morning when the doctor was charged with unlawfully giving prescriptions for liquor, Kelly swore there was no examination. On January 3rd, Kelly was back again and got another prescription. This time he had a pal, Bunn by name.

Dr. Williams stated that he had issued only three prescriptions for liquor in the month. Kelly's story of his need was elaborate. He added that he was a checker for the T.T.C. and had a lot of men under him with whom he would "use his influence."

Examined by Crown Attorney Armour, the doctor admitted having been fined $300 for selling liquor, but claimed that he had sold but one bottle to a woman and pleaded guilty to the charge.

"Your quota for the month was reduced to ten, was it not?" asked the Crown.

"At my own suggestion. They had made it necessary for my patients to take affidavits. I suggested the reduction to ten a month to save reputable people from being subjected to such humiliation," declared the doctor.

Hon. Fred McBrien, M.P.P. counsel for the accused, hastened to explain that, regarding the $300 fine, he was applying for its remission.

"In the face of this conflicting evidence, I won't convict," announced Mr. Jones.

Deaths And Funerals

Trenton, Ont., Feb. 6—By the death here last night of the late James B. Christie, at the ageof 83 years, Trenton has lost one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens, and Canada one of its first postmasters. Mr. Christie was appointed postmaster of Trenton in 1873 after serving as deputy postmaster for about twelve years He retired after over forty years of active service. He was born in Scotland but received his education in Montreal. In Masonic circles Mr. Christie had held the highest office in Trent Lodge, A.F.&A.M. He had also served in the Town Council, and on the Board of Education. He is survived by a daughter and three sons.

Whether it be a cut finger or a gashed knee, a scratched arm, burnt hand, sprain, bruise or open wound, Zam-Buk can always be depended upon to swiftly end pain and soreness, and ensure clean healthy healing.

Through its valuable antiseptic property, Zam-Buk guards broken tissues against infection and quickly removes all trace of poison. Thus suppuration, inflammation and ulceration are completely averted.

Zam-Buk's unparalleled success is due to its purely herbal character, its constant reliability and wide range of usefulness. No home can ever afford to be without Zam-Buk.

Pain & Disablement Ended

"I would have lost a finger but for Zam-Buk," says Mr. A. Rowlett, Gilbert Plains, Man. "It was my right fore finger—black with poison and swollen four times normal size. I tried poulticing; bathing it with antiseptics; even had the doctor lance the finger for 1½ inches, but throbbing pain continued day and night until the druggist put me on to Zam-Buk. Nothing could have been finer than the quick way this good healer ended the terrible pain and removed poison. It set me right in a week."

Choir Leader Dead

Word was received by Mr. Thomas Green, proprietor of the New Dunham Hotel, Cobourg, Thursday morning that the leader of the Welsh Male Voice Choir, Mr. Evans, was found dead in bed in a hotel where he was staying in San Diego, California on February 2nd. It is thought that death was due to an acute attack of indigestion.

Icy Pavements

Deseronto, Feb. 6—On Tuesday morning while walking along George street, John Marrigan suffered a fall on the icy pavement which caused severe injury to his body, some bad bruises and strained muscles and several broken ribs. In some places along George street the sidewalk is in a very icy and dangerous condition, water dropping from defective eavetroughs causing icy ridges to form making walking dangerous. This is the second fal reported in the past two days which resulted in severe injury.

Fire in Bancroft

On Friday last the home of Mr. Wm. Wilson of Bancroft was destroyed by fire. Before the fire was noticed it had gained considerable headway and by the time assistance arrived it was too late to save the structure. Practically all the contents downstairs were saved. Mr. Wilson's loss will be quite heavy, although he carried some insurance. Sympathetic friends and willing workers in the village have provded several comforts for the unfortunate family in losing their home in winter weather.

FIRE DESTROYS WAREHOUSE OF THOMPSON COY

Building at Rear of Furniture Store Gutted This Morning

FIREMEN WORK WELL

Prevented Spread When Situation Looked Exceedingly Dangerous

Exceedingly quick and good work on the part of firemen and police, together with unusual co-incidence, probably saved Belleville from a very serious fire—serious enough though it was, when fire broke out in the William Thompson Company Limited, furniture manufacturers and retailers at 290 Front street, before eight o'clock this morning.

It was 7.50 o'clock when the alarm was sent into the police station just as the police shifts were changing. Sergeant Arthur Harman answered the call, and sent the alarm to the fire hall instantly. He then jumped into the police car and drove to the fire. When he reached the corner of McAnnany and Front streets, the apparatus and firemen from number two station were tearing down Front street, on their way to the fire. They had received the call, and were well on their way in less than two minutes. At the same time the apparatus and men from number one were also coming up Front street.

Another lucky feature was the fact that the firemen were just changing shifts, and Chief John Brown with night and on-coming day shift fought the fire until it was pretty well extinguished at 10.10 o'clock.

"It simply meant that we had that many more men to throw into the work," explained the fire chief to The Intelligencer this morning, just after the fire had been placed under control.

Lighted Fire at Seven

Robert L. Webster, 24 Harriet St., upholsterer at the Thompson Furniture factory, came to his work at seven o'clock this morning as usual, he told police. He lighted a fire in the stove which heats the warehouse building and went to work. Before eight o'clock Webster smelled smoke He investigated and found the building on the second floor about the pipes ablaze. He sent in the alarm.

The stove is in the basement of the store, and the stove pipes extend all the way to the top of the building. The pipes pass up through the building at a point just outside the back doors of the main store at 290 Front street, passing through the small passageway building which joins the Front street store with the factory and machine shop at the rear of the Front street store which extends to within fifty feet of the river.

When police arrived, the flames were leaping out of the two south windows in the passageway building. There is an elevator shaft extending from basement to top of this three-storey store room building, and the draught afforded by this shaft to the fire which started not on the first floor but on the second floor, gave the fire a great start. The flames leaped up the shaft and into the store and work room, where dressed lumber, partly built and completed furniture is stored.

This portion of the building is frame, but is covered with a metal sheeting. The machine shop building at the extreme back is of stone, and luckily the fire was kept from that part. In the warehouse building, furiture is finished and varnished and any of those inflammable materials which were there added fuel to the fire, dense cream colored with intermittent clouds of blue smoke, curling over Front street, causing alarm to that section of the city.

Caught the Front Store

The fire also broke through towards the front and caught in the ceiling of the rear of the one storey Front street store. The ceiling is badly charred and indicates that the timely action of the fire fighters prevented a serious outbreak right near Front street. The fire laddies hacked out the fire infested portion of the ceiling and "shot" the water in, quickly despatching fear from this source. Dense volumes of smoke rolled from the raised front windows of the store, and the water did some damage to beds and baby buggies which were stored there. The water seeped through and to add to the damages to the store proper on the main floor, so the displayed furniture—much of it very valuable—was moved towards the front of the store by police, helpers and firemen. Many pieces of real expensive furniture were taken acros the street to a vacant store and loads of furniture-in-the-making which had been taken out of the work building by the rear door, were drawn around to the Cherry Press on sleighs for storage. The damage to the store proper was caused by water and smoke only, and though the damage to the store room and contents above the store was also caused by water and smoke, with the exception of the charred ceiling and broken plaster, it was of greater extent.

In the warehouse and work room however, the building was pretty badly gutted, water to a depth of three inches covering the floor, which it was feared might give way with its water load and sorry looking heap of water soaked and charred lumber, furniture and upholstering. Some of which also tumbled down the elevator shaft.

The roof of the metal covered building was burned off and the interior badly gutted.

Mr. T. Thompson of the Thompson Furniture Company stated that the warehouse was gutted and would be a dead loss. Damage to other parts of the building was chiefly caused by water and smoke. The building is insured three different ways according to three distinct parts of the building, and it is impossible to state as yet whether or not insurance will cover loss.

"For instance, Mr. Thompson explained, "One part of the building might be covered and another part not covered by insurance."

The firement had five lines of hose playing on the fire, and will now be required to dry out some 1,800 feet of hose. The pressure was fine today, and the fire was fought under ideal circumstances. Warm spring like sunshine and mild weather drew curious crowds of citizens, and school children who did not have to hurry to school to-day when the fire was at its height.

Point Anne Man Wins His Suit

Judges Award Him $300 in Action Against Woman

Judge G. E. Deroche has given a verdict in favour of Matthew Quinn, Point Anne youth, who sued Mrs. Sadie Wellinskey of Toronto in County Court here Friday for damages which were done his auto on September 18th last when it was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Wellinskey at a point on the Kingston highway, two miles east of Shannonville.

Mrs. Wellinskey is required to pay the sum of $300 to Quinn together with the costs of the action.

The case which occupied the whole day, and during which many witnesses were examined, revealed much contradictory evidence, Quinn and his witnesses maintained that Mrs. Wellinskey was very much on her wrong side of the road, while she and her witnesses held that she was driving on her right side.

MINERS HALF WAY THROUGH AT CAVE CITY

Brother Makes Forbidden Troop and Brings Back Hope

MUST KEEP AWAY

Kentucky Troopers to Prevent Any Kind of Obstruction

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Kentucky, Feb. 7.—While Kentucky troopers parade in the vicinity of the Sand Cave to maintain order and to prevent any kind of obstruction, miners pick and dig with all the energy they possess at a new shaft to the cave sixty feet below where Floyd Collins, entombed, has lain pinioned by a boulder for almost two hundred hours.

Determined that no effort shall interfere in any way with operations, guardsmen, under Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, last night ordered Homer Collins, brother of the entombed man and John Geralds away from the cave. Geralds was the leader of one of numerous rescue parties which earlier in the week made fruitless efforts to get Collins through the cave entrance. Both men were called to troop headquarters and there told the mine now boring downward was the last chance to reach the prisoner. Their activity, especially Geralds' criticism of the means employed made their presence undesirable because it slowed the work. It would be necessary therefore to forcibly eject either man who returned to the cave.

Both agreed not to offer further interference. Slowly the shaft preceded by a diamond point drill was going down today. Diggers are now below the twenty-foot level and had as much more to go, possibly more. Workers have been digging forty-eight hours day and night. Test drilling discontinued today after the diamond drill had reached limestone at a depth of forty feet. Dr. Funkhouser, geologist, expressed the opinion that the drill had reached the cap rock of the cave.

Homer Collins during the night made the forbidden trip into the cave. He found the light near the "squeeze" still burning and by turning off all lights outside for a few moments, said he determined that entombed men's light still glowed.

Friend Was Arrested

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 7.—Johnny Geralds, "hero" of the sand cave tragedy, tonight was placed under technical arrest by Lt. Gov. Denhart, in a move to block at the start trouble which loomed when local cave men declared themselves dissatisfied with the work of the scientists in seeking Floyd Connins.

Geralds, who had gone into the tortuous caverns of Sand Cave five time in search of Collins imprisoned more than a week, was ordered to either leave the scene or be put under full arrest.

He walked through the crowd, muttering to himself.

At the same time Homer Collins, brother of the missing man, was given to understand that his presence is not wanted. He had a few minutes before evaded guards and slipped into the black cavern in what state guardsmen termed a "grand stand play" to seek his brother by the method used before Superintendent H. C. Carmichael and his men started sinking a shaft directly into the ground

All day long, as well as yesterday, Geralds and Homer Collins had been surounded by hundreds of hill men. The two were frank in their disapproval of the way in which the engineers are going after Collins. They insist that he can still be taken out through the subterranean passages by which he entered the cave.

Fear was expressed tonight that Floyd Collins may have been electrocuted. A high voltage wire that is being used to furnish light for the rescue workers in the pit, crossed the wire which carries a string of lamps down through the cavern and into his deep prison. It ends in a loop around Collin's neck.

As soon as Lieut.-Governor Denhart discovered that the wires had been crossed he ordered a crew of workers to climb the steep bluffs to where the high voltage wire is suspended and to raise it ten feet.

Engineers expressed the belief that the crossed wires may have brought death to Floyd, if he was not already dead, through the fact that both strings were wet and that the higher voltage would easily pass into the cavern wire.

Reserve Decision In Telephone Cost

Inspector Will Be Sent Over Line to Correct Defects

Donald M. McIntyre, K.C., Chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and B. Dagger, supervisor of Telephone Systems, who heard the application here yesterday by the McCreary Telephone line from an increase of rates from $14 to $18 yearly, reserved their decision after all the evidence was entered.

An order was given for an inspector to go over the lines and have all the defects in the system corrected, of which subscribers complained. This inspector will report to the Board before a decision is rendered.

SPRING COMING!

Indications point to an early spring. This morning about nine o'clock a blackbird was observed sitting on the branch of a tree on the west side of the city. Another unusual feature was the appearance of pussy-willows, full-open, found near the quarry on Wallbridge street.

Family Re-union Held At Foxboro

Gowsell Family Had Not Been Together in 26 Years

A unique event occurred at Foxboro on Saturday and Sunday last when an enjoyable family re-union was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Prentice, merchant there.

Joseph Gowsell of Regina, Sask., Walter of Winnipeg, James of Kingston and John of Foxboro, all brothers and their sister, Mrs. Prentice, celebrated a re-union with their aged mother, Mrs. William Gowsell. The family had not been together in 26 years.

Members of the family had dinner at the old home and had a most enjoyable time.

The occasion resulted in Walter's recent marriage and it was really to meet he and his bride on their honeymoon, that the re-union was planned.

Joseph has since left for his home in Regina and James has returned to Kingston.

Eggs Are Graded On Market To-day

Specials Sell For Fifty-Five; Meat Vendors Were Busy

An innovation was noticed this morning in the market building when the majority of baskets containing eggs held a card donating that the hen fruit were either specials, or strictly fresh. The ruling price for specials was 55c per dozen, whilst 50c was paid for strictly fresh.

Fresh dairy butter was quite plentiful and reasonable in price, namely 35c and 38c per pound. Honey sold at 15c per square, and cream 25c a pint.

While dressed fowl, especially chickens, were quite plentiful, good prices for same was obtained. Yearly chickens sold at $1.25 to $1.50 each and young fowls sold at $1.50 to $2.00 a pair. A few ducks sold at $1.20 and $1.40 each.

Vegetables were offered for sale in considerable quantities and prices remain stationery.

A number of farmers and others were engaged in cutting up meat on the market and all were apparently busy. Beef sold from 12c to 18c per pound, according to cuts and pork from 15c to 22c per pound. Beef by the quarter sold at 9c for hind quarters and 7c for fore quarters. Pork sold at $15.50 per hundred weight.

Poultry Fanciers Elect Officers

Plan For Bigger and Better Poultry Shows at Belleville

Some fifty poultry fanciers and exhibitors attended a very successful meeting of the Belleville Poultry Association, which was held in the offices of Richard Ketcheson last night and there was every indication at the meeting that future poultry shows in Belleville would eclipse past records.

The show held at the City Hall here recently was a very succesful one and was also a financial success. The quality of birds exhibited at that show, was superior to most shows in similar sized cities.

Officers elected last night for the ensuing year were as follows:

President, E. D. O'Flynn; first vice president, J. C. Waddell; secretary, W. H. Govier; treasurer, W. J. Thompson; directors, Bruce Burnham, J. McNulty, Walter Moore, William Harvey, Sykes Large, John Truaisch, Sam Sinfield, Walter Turner, G. Vance, R. H. Ketcheson; F. Kennedy, Ray Zufelt and G. Gill.

Membership fees are again due and members are kindly asked to remember this important fact.

Hundreds Enjoy Big Kiwanis Dance

Avalanche of Fun Provided At First Annual at Home

Belleville Kiwanis Club has always been successful with any venture it has launched, but it is doubtful if ever they sponsored an event which was such an outstanding success as the Kiwanis dance, held last night at the Johnstone Academy.

Some four hundred guests attended, several of whom were from out-of-town, and everyone must have thoroughly enjoyed the perfect avalanche of fun which commenced at nine o'clock and did not conclude until after two o'clock.

It was imagined that the Kiwanians, whose long suit is fun creation would release some original ideas last night and they surely did. Following President William H. Lattimer's short address of welcome, he appointed Kiwanian Robert L. Gorman Master of Ceremonies and he proved one of the most efficient and appropriate masters ever appointed.

Kiwanis roll call followed, after the Kiwanians, who wearing their classification buttons, marched around the academy singing, "It's a Good Time To Get Acquainted." The classification answers caused much merriment and brought a substantal fine from each Kiwanian. Kiwanians who were late—and there were several—were "punished" accordingly. Speeches of explanation delivered from the elevated position afforded by a chair in the centre of the academy, fines or compulsion to sing in lieu of a fine were a few of the uproariously, popular punishments.

In fact Kiwanians were up on most any charge last night, a few, of which were "framed". Inattention to their wives on the part of married Kiwanians meant that they were required to meant that they were required to sweep up the floor after lunch and other menial duties.

The Kiwanis choir gave one number during intermission, assisted by Tom Robertson and banjo.

Throughout the program interesting novelty dances made very favourable impressions. The storm dance was very pretty. The balloon dance was a riot of fun, the novelty dance was "noisey but nice," and the streamer dance was unique. Electrical effects playing upon the sea of happy dancers amid the excellent and beautiful decorations surely made a happy scene and few indeed worried over the prophesized 'crack of doom' at midnight—which did not come.

Beautiful Decorations

The academy was beautifully decorated with streamers, pennants, banners and colorful lanterns and in the centre of the room, a huge Kiwanis emblem hung from the ceiling over the happy throng.

The Bon Ton orchestra supplied the music for an interesting dance program which was arranged to create a maximum of interest. The music was entirely satisfactory.

At midnight a dainty lunch was served with despatch by Kiwanians whose every interest was the satisfaction of their guests.

The Kiwanis dance—something new for the Belleville club—was a great success, the proceeds of which will be used for beneficient purposes. Each member of the committee in charge worked hard and harmoniously, and success is bound to crown such effort The Kiwanians are to be congratulated in their success of providing such an interesting night of fun.

Colonel With A Long Name Surprised When Twenty Three Pupils Took 50 Cents

Manila, Feb. 7—A prominent lawyer of Manila who is known generally simply as Colonel J. N. Wolfson, but whose full name consists of 12 words containing 106 letters, is $11.50 poorer as a result of what he terms the remarkable memorizing powers of the Filipino pupils of the high school at Tarlac, province of Tarlac.

Recently, Colonel Wolfson was at Tarlac on legal business and during his stay visited the high school. He was invited by the principal an American, to question the pupils on various topics. After receiving answers with varying success he announced that he would give one peso (fifty cents) to each pupil who could memorize his full name in 15 minutes.

The entire school was eager for the attempt, but received something of a surprise when Colonel Wolfson wrote on the blackboard the name, Josephus Adolphus Americus Vespucius Leonidus Wolsicanicus Alexandricus Naptalicus Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus Wolfson.

At the end of 15 minutes 23 out of the 33 who made the attempt, had memorized the name perfectly.

Colonel Wolfson was christened in New Orleans more than 60 years ago and came here as an officer in the volunteer army during the insurrection nearly a quarter of a century ago.

MIDNIGHT CAME AND SUN ROSE JUST AS USUAL

But Apostle of Doom Still Confident End is Near

ONE HECTIC NIGHT

Hundreds of Curious disturb Anxious Watch of Cult

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Patchogue, N.Y., Feb.7— The sun rose in the east to-day, just as it has for untold ages, and shone on the rude home of Robert Reidt, "apostle of doom," despite his fervid predictions that at midnight last night would come be begining of the millenium and the salvation of the "chosen few."

Reidt and his flock of thirteen followers, who had lived through as hectic a night as may ever be their lot, were still confident to-day that the "promised sign" of the second coming of Christ is still not far off. Just when, he would not say, although yesterday he had declared that the end of the world would take fully seven days.

Hopeful all through the night that the sign would come "As a cloud no bigger than your hand," Reidt watched the heavens until well into the morning. When nothing startling had happened at midnight in the east, he still felt that the end might come within the next three hours, when it would be midnight in Hollywood, where is the home of Mrs. Margaret Rowen, leader of the Cult, His night had been full of discord in sharp contrast with his wishes to pray and prepare himself and his followers for the end.

Hundreds of curious persons, gathered in the neighborhood of his shack reporters interviewed him camera-men took his picture. Once his chief disciple, Willard Bowns, drove away the crowd under a shower of hot water. The police guarded the [illegible] all night.

Patchogue, L.I., Feb. 6.—The Ku Klux Klan and the police crashed in to day on Patchogue's flock of world-enders.

Robert Reidt, leader of the faithful, expects that at midnight will come the flash which will herald the beginning of the end an end that will require seven days for completion.

With that flash from Heaven Reidt believes, he will start stumbling down the muddy ruts of Old Orchard and over the waves of Long Island Sound on his journey west to California mountain top where he will meet he God.

But the Klan will not have the crack of doom tonight as twelve.

Reidt received threatening letters signed "K.K.K." in his morning mail. They were warnings He must desist as prophet.

He tore them to pieces. Stocky and impassioned, blue eyes blazing above his Prussian mustache, he cried: "I have no fear of mine enemies. I am in the hands of the Lord."

Local police are uneasy at talk of possible violence tonight when Reidt gathers his wife and four children and "Brother Downs, of Yaphank" on the bleak mud flats two miles from town to watch for the black cloud from Orion, which will be the chariot for the second advent.

There is school boy gossip of an Abrahamand Isaac complex. The four children will be looked after.

Patchogue started out by guying Reidt. Now some folk are beginning to say: "What if Reidt is right?"

The streets are in a fever.

MAGIC

In one column of a Toronto Liberal newspaper yesterday, the Speech from the Throne, composed by Premier King, is glibly upheld as forecasting legislation to relieve the burdened Canadian people. This organ found a few words all sufficient to dismiss the vague utterances of a misguided leader.

In another column, on the same editorial page of this journal, is found another article, very much longer, which deals with Mr. Meighen's motion for a clean-cut program of protection for Canadian industry. This was evidently not to be dismissed with such ease.

Allegations were made that the Conservative Government did not raise the tariff when it had the opportunity and Mr. Meighen's method for a more prosperous country is termed "magic."

If the Conservative Government is placed in control at Ottawa at the general election this year, and there are many significant signs that such will be the case, Canadians may be assured that there will be an upward revision of the tariff which will amply provide for the workingman who are suffering at the hands of foreign labor.

No one expects, however, that the change for the better will come over night. The effects of four years of mis-rule are not so easily overcome. But when six months or a year have passed by, and factories have taken a new lease of life, when American corporations find it more profitable to build factories in Canada, people will be quite willing to label the happy change as magical.

On the one hand, we have a Premier, who admits a rise in the cost of living and paddles about in the ocean for a remedy. On the other hand, we have a leader of the opposition who states plainly that the relief for a bad situation lies in a definite adjustment for home industry.

The choice is not a difficult one to make.

A GRACIOUS ACT

To the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, and to the genial member for West Hastings, William Ireland, will go the thanks of Belleville for the decision to proceed with work on the sewer from the Ontario School for the Deaf to join the city system.

Crippled by the refusal of the King Government to provide funds for the relief of unemployment and faced with the necessity of utmost economy following the orgy of expenditure by the Drury Government, the Ontario Government deserves unusual credit for its willingness to go ahead with this project to assist the unemployed in this district.

Mr. Ireland did much of the spade work in this matter and his Belleville friends will not forget to chalk it up to his favor.

A FALSE PROPHET

The pathetic group of men and women, who followed a false prophet, who old theirs earthly belongings and awaited the end of the world last night, will in all probability set out to-day to acquire new wearing apparel and goods with which to start up housekeeping once more. These people may be wiser now. They may take more stock in the Bible which declares no man knows the day or the hour.

But there will be others to take their places shortly, for it does not take long to collect a crowd when one is born every minute.

OUR CLOSED WOOLLEN MILLS

The following from the Kingston Standard is well worth repeating:

"We wish to point out to the Church Controversialists that there is one industry where a vote is unnecessary. It is not a case of voting in or voting out—one is simply pushed out since the advent of the McKenzie King Government.

"We refer to the woollen industry of Canada. Since the King-Robb tariff came into force the Kingston (Collie) Woollen Mill has closed; the Perth Woollen Mill has closed; the Carleton Place (Hawthorn) Woollen Mill has closed and now the Pembroke Woollen Mill has closed. Even while the key is grating in the closing door and even while the sound of the closing shutters is being heard, there comes a voice saying "Pshaw! Stop your grousing and knocking and listen to long distance from Toronto: 'This is Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King speaking. I wish, ah! to say that this country is very prosperous at the present time. We are, ah! reducing expenditures by our financial statements. This is the greatest Government ever. Governments have passed in England, in South Africa, in Australia and in the United States, but this Government is going on. You must wait till this tariff has been given a fair trial and if you are good and raise no row, this Government will stay and go its full term but if you hamper us by mentioning unemployed and closing of mills we will have an election and I call on the Progressives of the West to join with us in our good work, etc., etc."

And now comes as a part of the tragedy the information that most of the owners of these mills are Liberals who trusted to honeyed words during the election and elected men like Messrs. Marler, Raymond, McCrea and Mitchell, who rise in Parliament and raise their voices against but continue to vote with the Government in power and for the iniquitous tariff they themselves condemn.

Another closed factory means $110,000 a year out of the pockets of the wage earners of Canada and another $1,000,000 into the pockets of the people of other countries whose woollen goods to that value come into Canada; another section added to the employed army of Canada and a renewed trek to the United States. But wait! Listen to the long distance again: "Give the King-Robb tariff changes a chance."

These were not the slogans of the Conservative regimes nor of the regime of the Laurier-Fielding Government. These were days with a full dinner pail, days of employment in plenty and a money jingle in the pocket. Where do you see a full dinner pail to-day?"

Press Opinions

THE BORROWED ESCUTCHEON
(Manchester Guardian)

The town council of Hastings has refused to part with the escutcheon from the gates of Quebec which their famous fellow-townsman, General Murray, brought back when, as Wolfe's right-hand man, he helped to take that fortress a hundred and forty years ago. Their reluctance to part with so interesting a relic is natural; and it seems to have been strengthened by the fact that the request for the return was made from private sources. That surely was an error in tactics. One does not hand over historic escutcheons as though they were personal mementoes. If Quebec feels that she should have the escutcheon back (and what vital and memorable deeds in the shaping of Canada it must have seen from its place on the gates of the first city of the Dominion), the request should be made with all ceremony by the mayor and corporation of Quebec to their civic fellows in Hastings. This is a matter for decorous letters from town clerk to clerk. Indeed, but for the expense a special embassy of the Quebec council might properly visit Hastings to bear away with dignity this ancient jewel of their town's furnishings. At least, if they want it, they will no doubt try again and more ceremoniously. In that event we doubt if Hastings could harden its heart.

EMPIRE MIGRATION
(The Sailor, Toronto)

It is a sad commentary on the immigration policy of the dominions of the Empire when many of the officers of the navy, retired since the war, have made their homes in France and Belgium on the score of economy. They could not live in England on their pension. But what a splendid opportunity has been missed by Canada and other parts of the Empire in not securing a population that would have been a strength to them for all time. It is unfortunate that we have within the Empire no statesmen with a large enough outlook to formulate a policy that would bring about a better distribution of the population of the Empire. As far as Canada is concerned, we should try to lay a foundation in the best of the population of Britain, and not in the races of southern Europe who care nothing for the flag.

USES OF ADVERTISING
(Niagara Falls Review)

Advertising has been much in the limelight lately, but it is questionable if any one ever put the case for it more succinctly than Mark Twain did on occasion. When the great humorist was editor of a Missouri paper a reader wrote to him saying that he found a spider in his copy of the current issue. Would the editor please say if this was a sign of good luck? To this Mark Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward.—London Tit-Bits.

Welty stages barn dances in his spacious dairy quarters and declares that on the nights when the strains of jazz thrill the younger element the cows themselves rise to the occasion and give more milk.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Taxes

THE publication of the income taxes recently in the newspapers, apparently with the authority of the United States Government, has turned out to be a veritable hoax.

The law authorizing this publication was put through by the Progressives, the Democrats and a portion of the Republicans, contrary to the advice of Secretary Mellon recently. The publication was made just previous to the election, and it is thought the time of making this publication was due to an effort to influence the choice of the people.

The fact, according to Mr. Elmer Schlessinger, who is an authority on tax questions, is that no one can tell by reading the list what a man's income is. There are a hundred ways of legally evading payment on large taxes. No one of them is overlooked by the business man.

The only man who is paying to the limit is the man of medium salary. The operation of the tax is unfair, and highly iniquitous, and the published lists are absurd in their distortion of the real facts.

One way of dodging the tax is to sell a huge block of stock and buy it back at a lower price. In this case, a man still has the stock, and he is no worse off in capital value, and much better off as far as taxes are concerned.

Another way is to buy real estate, or any property which is not paying dividends, but which will eventually increase in value. While holding this property a man has no income tax to pay, for there are no dividends, but when accretion comes, he realizes a profit, and is only amenable to a tax of twelve and one-half per cent.

Another method is to form a corporation. By this method Henry Ford, for instance, only has to pay a little over fourteen million dollars, because his income is only that of a corporation. Although the interest from these securities, is not large, and at a lower rate than non-tax exempted, still, being free of tax, it amounts to more in the long run.

It is impossible to tell a man's income from his tax. There are a dozen ways to avoid this tax, and he uses them in countless combinations. The wife, the competitor and the merely curious are fooling themselves if they think the tax list shows them anything.

Thirty Years Ago

One lone tramp slept beneath the city time-piece last night.

The midnight train was derailed near Brighton by a drift. The auxiliary went up from this station and by 7 a.m. got "midnight" off on its journey again.

Mr. E. W. Cooley of Geo. Ritchie and Co. guessed within 15 yards of the exact quantity on a large pile of Crum's prints which the firm had just opened yesterday. The different employees guessed from 4000 to 20,000 yds and the correct quantity was 12,015 yards. Mr. Cooley guessed 12,000 yds.

While dancing at the Chosen Friend Assembly last evening Harry Vandervoort slipped on the waxed floor and dislocated his knee-cap. He is suffering severely and will be laid up for several weeks.

Lincoln J. Carter's "Fast Mail" Company arrived from Peterboro this morning and are registered at the Queen's.

Feared Stepmother Hid In A Barn

Boy in Prince Edward Island Froze His Toes

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Feb. 7.—A pitiful tale was told by a little boy, Albert Liddstone admitted to hospital in Summerside where some of the toes are being amputated from his right foot after having been frozen, when fear of his stepmother prompted him to hide in a barn on a zero day last December. The boy said he had been sent on an errand by his stepmother and suffered so from the cold that he could not go on. Fearing to return home without accomplishing his errand the little fellow crawled into a barn and was found there late that night by a searching party and taken to his home.

His story finally reached the ears of the Children's Aid Society and the stepmother was taken before Judge McQuarrie in Summerside who had the boy placed in a foster home at O'Leary. The frost bites he suffered became so serious that he had been taken to the hospital and may lose all the toes from his right foot. His father is said to be in the United States. A sister was taken from the stepmother some time ago and placed in a foster home.

Deaths And Funerals

SYLVESTER THRASHER

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. Sylvester Thrasher took placen and many relatives and friend attended. At the residence of Mr. D. W. Latta, Sidney street, Rev. E. Farnsworth of Cannifton conducted a service and officiated at the interment at Casnnifton cemetery. Bearers were grandsons of deceased namely, Jas. Thrasher, Frank Barnum, William Greatrix, John Stevens, Adam and Harry Redcliffe.

TEMPERATURES

morning.

Scared Stiff

"Why," he said, "my wife woke me up in the middle of the night. She pointed out the window and said she just saw three flashes in sky. Crickey, I was scared stiff."

Mrs. Augustina Reidt, blue eyed and comely, started the day with psalm singing and house cleaning.

"Put ye your house in order," saith the Lord. Her wide fervent eyes were afire with faith.

"We have told every thing," she said. "There is nothing more to say."

Then she talked for ten minutes straight

Nerves are tense and imaginations are ablaze. The devotion of Reidt and his flock is true. They know they stand on the thin edge of doom. They will see the dark cloud sail over the shoulder of Irion to-night.

Reidt expects to get a harp. He has already learned to play the zither, or "zitter" as he calls it.

Reidt declares he has been grossly misreported. Tonight will not see the ruin of the world. It will take seven days, he says, for the black cloud to reach earth. In that time the world will have been visited by fire, flood, pestilence and plague. People will drink blood and die.

At the end of the cloudy journey the world will have been nearly depopulated The Lord, Reidt declares, will be borne to a California mountain and the faithful 144,000 will be transported to Heaven after a splendid epiphany.

Anti-gossip Law Works In Kentucky

Gossiper Guilty Unless He Proves That He Investigated Source

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 7.—With the avowed purpose of curbing the malicious wagging of tongues, the Kentucky anti-gossip law is being invoked and is securing convictions.

Frowning upon the repeating or scattering of false rumors or reports of a slanderous or harmful nature, it places a $10 to $100 fine or 10 to 50 days' imprisonment, or both as punishment.

The gossiper is deemed guilty unless he is able to show to the satisfaction of a judge or jury that he carefully investigated the source and foundation of the bandied remarks, and proved that they had reasonable grounds.

To make available proper defense, the gossiper must furnish for the public court record "the name or names of the person or persons furnishing information upon which the rumor or report was based."

The law laid idle in the bound acts of the last general assembly until recently. At Owensboro a woman was fined $10 for remarks linking policemen, alleged bribes, and bootleg cases. The latest case at Paducah began when a warrant, charging a councilman with gossiping that he had seen the name of a county judge on the Ku Klux Klan roster, was sworn out.

Gossip "detrimental to the character or standing" of a private citizen or officer or candidate for office was made a misdemeanor when Governor Fields signed his approval to the measure after State Senator H. L. McElroy, Lebanon, Ky., secured legislative passage without trouble.

Curiosity Makes Magic Dollars

Necromancer Tells How He Keeps Out of Poor-House

Blackstone, the popular magician who will appear in this city Thursday, February 12th, matinee and night, has written the following article especially for this newspaper.—The Editor.

(By Blackstone)

Curiosity is one of the most potent traits that flesh and blood are heir to. It is this ever present desire to know the why and wherefores that makes magicians solvent. Aside from the conjurer's provision of sheer entertainment I contend that our profession is a stimulus to progress. We whet the appetite for knowledge. Minus that constant quest we would still be living in the stone age and civilization would be unknown.

Dr. Frank Crane declares that the necromancer is a boon to society in that his art brings to mind that most of the so-called spiritualistic phenomena can be accomplished by purely scientific means. The professional magician is the foe of superstition.

In the large cities where several performances are played it is not infrequent that men and women come back time after time in an effort to solve my illusions. Fortunately for my bank account I have been able to maintain an aura of perplexity comparable with an income tax report. My ability to "keep 'em guessing" is my greatest stock in trade.

It is surprising the number of magicians, active and vicarious, there are. Mostly everyone is more or less interested in the art. Many can perform tricks and are eager to learn more. Ther is an amateur magi in Ohio who built a theatre for his sole use. He has nearly $100,000.00 invested in the playhouse and equipment although he never has been on the professional stage. This is a typical instance of those who are devotees of the art but are unknown to the public.

One of the greatest assets of our profession is that it appeals to the entire family, from youngsters to grey beards. Above all the entertainment is clean. It is seldom that we do not play to several clergymen and teachers at each performance. I believe that this freedom from dirt is one of the strongest stones in the foundation of my success.

Sundown Great Picture Of West

Stampede of 100,000 Cattle Forms Super-Thrill of Masterpiece

"Sundown," First National's powerful spectacular feature, opens at the Griffin Theatre Monday night.

Since the advent of motion pictures there have been but a few that really can be called "great." "Sundown" is one of them and can rightfully take its place beside "The Birth of a Nation," "The Four Horsemen," "Intolerance," and "The Covered Wagon."

There is no one big moment. No clash of physical forces is depended upon to lift the film from the ordinary run of celluloid drama— yet it is so far ahead of the usual "big feature," in entertainment value and for its inspiring and emotion-stirring qualities that there is no comparison.

For its theme, the author, Earl Hudson, has taken a page from current history, basing the story on the disintegration of the West of yesteryear the romantic West of story and song.

The picture dramatises the passing of the big cattle owners who, gradually forced to the wall by the steady encroachment of the homesteaders and farmers on the vast plains, are compelled to seek new grazing lands in Mexico.

"Sundown" tells the story of the last big group of cattle owners who, faced with bankruptcy, resolve to mass their herds for a long trek into a new country. As the cattle progress, the pioneers meet all of the natural hazards of the country, romance injecting itself into their grim march when the cattlemen meet a family of homesteaders, representatives of the class that is forcing them from their homes.

Through the unreeling of the story the cattle plod onward—a majestic background to the simple, human romance of the son of one of the cattle kings and the daughter of a city weakling. The thousands of cattle, ever moving, present an inspiring spectacle. Watching the picture one is conscious that there are millions in the massed herds rather than thousands.

The simplicity and the human-ness of "Sundown" are its principal charm. One is gripped with the intensity of the drama that it pictures. And there are thrills, too. These when the huge herd stampedes and the homesteaders are caught in the path of onrushing maddened cattle, and again when the cattle and their owners are entrapped by fire.

An ideal cast has been entrusted with the telling of this soul-stirring story. Bessie Love is most capable and captivating in the part of the city girl who finds herself homeless when the stampeding cattle wreck her little prairie home. Roy Stewart is an ideal Westerner, shy, diffident, yet romanite.

Hobart Bosworth is all that could be desired in the stern role of the principal cattle owner, who is ever conscious that he is being forced from the country he helped pioneer. Excellent comedy relief is supplied by Charles Murray, the famous movie comedian, who plays the part of a chuck wagon driver, a past master in the art of profanity.

Other well-known players in the well balanced cast are Charles Sellon, Charles Crockett, Wilfred North, Jere Austin, Hal Wilson and Margaret McWade.

CROWDS LISTENED TO CHILD PREACHER

Minneapolis, Feb. 7—A 12-year-old girl substituting for her pastor-father in the pulpit, drew such large crowds to a small house of worship here one Sunday recently that police were necessary to keep the overflow crowd from interrupting her sermon.

Speaking from familiar texts, Marion Crawford the young daughter of the Rev. R. H. Crawford, pastor of the Minnehaha Congregational church, told those who crowded every nook in the little place of the value of the Bible to the youth of today. She preached for an hour and then was acclaimed by her listeners.

Marion's occupation of the pulpit followed that of her 15-year-old brother Stuart the Sunday previous. The children receive their incentive from their father, who holds the theory that preachers cannot start too young.

"Children ofen know the needs of other children far better than grown folk can," the father declared. "If the country is to improve and crime to stop, the children must take an active part in church life."

ABLE TO DO HOUSEWORK NOW

Sick a Year. Got Great Benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomington, N. S.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains and backache, also for nervousness, sick headaches and sleeplessness. I was troubled in this way for over a year, and a friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and induced me to take it. I must say I have received great benefit from it and am able to do my housework now. I recommend the Vegetable Compound myself and am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonal."—Mrs. WILLIAM MORSE, Bloomington, Annapolis County, N. S.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Mrs. Morse is simply another case of a woman receiving "great benefit." Women suffering from the troubles so common to their sex should listen to what other women say who have experienced the same sufferings and found relief. Give this dependable medicine a chance—and at once. It is sold at all drug stores.

NEW BOOK MAKES ROMANCE OF HISTORY

Tells Story of Canadian Pacific Railway and Building of Dominion

R. G. MacBETH

A facetious American once referred to the Canadian Pacific Railway as "Canada on Wheels." Great as it is, the Canadian Pacific would be the last to appropriate such an appellation. It can be truthfully said, however, that to understand the recent history of the Dominion one must know that of the Canadian Pacific. Now at last comes a volume, well illustrated with photographs, which presents that history in its most palatable form—that is, in a form emphasizing the human factor,—"The Romance of the Canadian Pacific Railway," by R. G. MacBeth (the Ryerson Press, Toronto, $2.50).

The author, who has a number of historical works to his credit, is singularly well equipped. Apart from his literary skill, he has the advantage of having lived in the Canadian West all his life. He has always been in close touch with the Canadian Pacific, though he is careful to point out that he has never been connected with it and has written and published his book independently.

Mr. MacBeth here traces the amazing story of the company's development into the world's greatest transportation system; of the steamships, of the telegraph and express; colonization; irrigation; hotels and bungalow camps; of its war service and of all its activities, with a wealth of interesting detail which illustrates the brilliant administrative and organizing ability of its executive.

Canadians should be proud, as Mr. MacBeth reminds them, that their country approved the construction of this pioneer transcontinental when the population was only 4,000,000, though the United States had not dared to undertake a similar road till she had ten times that number. The frightful difficulties, political, technical and financial, through which the company's sponsors and founders fought their way to victory are well summarized. For instance, it is recalled that sections of the line north of Lake Superior cost $500,000 a mile to build, and a muskeg east of Winnipeg swallowed seven tracks before it was conquered. The author shows that the triumphant accomplishment of the work was especially creditable because it took place in a period of immense depression.

Sir William Van Horne, general manager and later president, that man of tireless energy, vision and determination, is the central figure in the volume and there are many anecdotes illustrating his versatile character. But all the other great men of the company — Mount Stephen, Shaughnessy, Beatty, Angus and a host of others—receive their due. Lord Shaughnessy's fine words: "The shareholders and directors of the company have always been impressed with the idea that the interests of the company are intimately connected with those of the Dominion and no effort or expense has been spared to help in promoting the development of the whole country" are amply backed by the company's deeds. And the author makes a statement which is very a propos when he says: "The country and the railway, in such a case as this, must stand or fall together. Each is necessary to the prosperity of the other. Hence for one to attempt the destruction of the other is practically a roundabout but effective way for that one to commit suicide."

London—British plane being constructed which will fly three hundred miles per hour.

Society Comedy At Belle Theatre

"The Fast Set" an Interesting Story Well Played

Go to your rival for the best advice on how to win back your wife! If you can't steal his thunder, ask him to loan it to you! It is done in "The Fast Set," in which Betty Compson plays the wife, Adolphe Menjou has the part of the intriguing "great lover" and Elliott Dexter appears as the husband.

The situation is one of the most unique in motion pictures, and, as handled by William de Mille, who produced the picture, is delightfully satiric.

"The Fast Set" was written by Clara Beranger from Frederick Lonsdale's stage success, "Spring Cleaning," and presents the brilliant society comedy in all its sparkle.

The husband, as author, prefers "high brow" company and is hurt that his wife does not feel flattered by his attitude that his friends can elevate her mind. She is bored by the men and women who recite their own poetry by the hour and seeks more cheerful company in other circles.

She becomes involved in a "fast set." A notorious philanderer pays her marked attention and when her husband insults her and her friends by bringing a girl of the streets as guest at a dinner party, she decides to leave him.

Then the author goes to his rival for help. He is coldly informed that inasmuch as the husband did not pay his wife the attentions she deserved, he, the philanderer, should be praised for having shown the young woman appreciation. In a delightfully humorous manner the husband and wife are brought together again.

In the featured cast with Miss Compson, Menjou and Dexter, is Zasu Pitts, as the human pawn, who is used by the husband in his daring exploit to keep his wife from making a fool of herself.

Native movietics will have an opportunity of seeing "The Fast Set" when it opens next Monday at the Belle Theatre.

Toronto—Government will not grant increased allowances to Ontario hospitals.

London—Britain's return to gold standard now confidently predicted.

THE WELL LIGHTED CORNER HAS THE WELL WORN CHAIR

WHEN everybody makes a bee line for a certain corner of the living room, or looks with envious eyes on its occupant, it's time to get the other chairs into use. Light will do it, by the generous use of floor and table lamps, well shaded to kill the glare.

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

You will be surprised at the wonderful difference an extra floor or table lamp makes to your living room.

To obtain the best results, choose wide shades that throw the light upward and downward. Use 50 or 75-watt white Edison Mazda Lamps. Put 25-watt all frosted Edison Mazda Lamps in small decorative table lamps, wall brackets and candlesticks, always using shades.

Near you is an Edison Mazda Lamp store, recognizable by the yellow and blue cartons. There you can obtain real information about good lighting.

White Edison Mazda Lamp most suitable for portable lamp use, as the filament cannot be seen.

Was Bitter Game For Rinky Dinks

Good Scores Featured Ladies' Fixture at "Y" Alleys

Neither of the competing teams in last night's league fixture of the Ladies' Loop had any reason to be ashamed of the scores they were able to chalk up.

Starting out strong, the Rinky Dinks gave decided evidences of being returned winners when they were leading by fifty two points at the end of the first string. At this stage of the game, however, their luck, good fortune, skill and whatever else holds sway in this game, suffered a severe jolt, whereas on the other side of the house "Bowling Stock" took a decided rise and as a result the Bellevues were well out in the lead at the end of the second stanza. The losers came back with renewed vigor in the last string but failed to keep pace their fast travelling opponents.

Misses Lafferty and Goyer shared honors for the aggregate score while to Miss Lafferty, "Honorable Mention" is due for her outstanding performance—a single game score of 263. Miss Ross of he Rinky Dinks set no snail's pace when she rolled a three string score of 530 with three well-averaged games.

PRESTON WINS OUT IN OVERTIME GAME

Preston, Feb. 7—Preston Riversides defeated Galt by 2 to 1 in twenty minutes overtime here last night. This is the second time this season that the locals defeated the Terriers in overtime. Ashley scored both goals for Preston and was the hero of the game Preston's big defence player obtained the winning goal one minute before the finish of the second ten minute overtime period. The game in itself was only a fair exhibition. Ice conditions prevented brilliant hockey and combination was almost impossible, individual rushes resulting. In addition to hockey there were two free-for-alls among the players, the old time ill-feeing between the teams being renewed. Teams:—

Galt—Goal, Murray; defence, Hoffman and G. Himes; centre, N. Himes wings, A. Gauthier and Al Gauthier; reserves, Woods and Kress.

Rreston—Goal,Farrell; defence, Ashley and Skelly; centre Arnott; wings Clark and Butterfield; reserves, Woodley and Talbot.

Refere—Harold Farlow, Toronto.

National Castings Beat Corbyvill

In Interesting City League Fixture Here Last Night

The National Castings beat Corbyville in the city hockey league at the Arena last night 3-2 and the Wolves of the North, and Plumbers meet the bers by 4-2. C. Frechette referred the first game and "Nap" Goyer the second. Some real good hockey was displayd, and although a fair crowd was out there should be a lot more, and the boys would appreciate it if more fans would come to the games. There is a good brand of hockey played. The next game is on Wednesday when Point Anne plays the Wolves of the oNrth, and Plumbers meet the Moguls.

STRATFORD ENTERS BIG SIX PLAY-OFF

Stratford, Feb. 7—While Kitchener Green Shirts were sounding the death knell to London's chances of getting into the Big Six O.H.A. play-off, Stratford was paying strict attention to Niagara Falls at the local Arena, winning 9-4. The game was probably the best and most exciting of the season and the teams played to a capacity house of 5,500 fans. That the Falls were out to win was apparent from the style of hockey they played from the drop of the hat but the Indians proved too good, and during the greater part of the play were masters of the situation. Gene Fraser, one of the visitor's regular players, was absent but Seibert and Kitchen made a good pair on the defense. There was considerable heavy bodychecking and numerous penalties were handed out for this and other minor offences, but the tilt was full of excitement, with the possible exception of the last six or seven minutes when the Falls conceded their defeat and the locals contented themselves with long-range shooting.

KITCHENER OUSTS LONDON SENIORS

London, Ont., Feb. 7.—The Kitchener Green Shirts put London A.A.A seniors out of the O.H.A. running before the smallest crowd of the season, grabbing a 3-1 verdict here last night. George Hiller proved athorn in the sides of the locals' aspirations. He accounted for two goals in the first period, giving the Green Shirts the edge and plenty of confidence. And with a lead of 2 to 0 in the spasm they played a strong defensive game throughout. The lone counter secured by the locals with five minutes to go was scored by Starkings after he had beaten the Kitchener defence. It was the five-man defence tactics that bewildered the locals, who atempted many sorties towards Woods, both single-handed and in combination, but to no avail.

London outshot Kitchener by 37 to 20, and Krug made the score 3-0 when he took a face-off and beat Denaud from far out i neight minutes of play in the second period.

PRINCE OF WALES COMMUNITY CLUB

Another of those enjoyable evenings was spent at the Prince of Wales School last evening. Mr. Harold Armstrong, president, occupied the chair. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a fountain pen to the past president, William Thomas Bamford. The address was read by Mrs. H. Varley and the presentation made by Evelyn Christie. The following artists contributed to the program:

Bagpipe Selection — The Canadians at Vimy, composed by Professor A. Johnstone, played by Mr. Alex Foster.

Recitation—Evelyn Christie.

Piano Solo—Miss Bernice Bamford.

Medly selection vocal—Miss Gladys Crow.

Dialogue—Violet Grant and Maxwell Quinn.

Comic Songs—Mr. Haley and Edwards.

Character Reading — Miss Mildred Lloyd.

Clog Dancing—The Two Rays.

Guitar Selection—James Elliott.

Recitation—Master Peter Murray.

Piano Solo—Mr. Edmondson.

Step Dance—Mrs. J. Shortts and Mr. Frank Shortts.

Musical Selection — Mrs. Harkins, Miss B. Harkins, Miss M. Harkins, Miss G. Leeman, Master E. Harvey.

Comic Speciality—Mr. T. Mason, Mr. Maraskas, Mr. H. Eves.

Piano Solo—Miss Grace Leeman.

Bag Pipe Selection—Entitled Happy Weeping all together by Mr. Alex Foster

These concerts are put on in a competitive way by six vice-presidents, two of which arrange for a concert every two weeks. The concert last night was a success from start to finish, upwards of five hundred people being present.

COMMENCE FIRST OF SING SONG SERIES

Tomorrow evening after church, there will be held at the Y.M.C.A. the first of a series of sing songs under the auspices of the various Young People's Societies of the city. The Baptist Young People's Union will be in charge. There will be two musical numbers and Dr. Ernest Thomas of Toronto will give a brief talk. It is the hope that this series will be as popular as the series held last year. The public are welcome.

PEKING CELEBRATES ITS TROLLEY CARS

Peking, Feb. 7—The street railway has become an actuality in Peking, after overcoming various technical and financial difficulties and much opposition on the part of guilds and chambers of commerce. Notwithstanding several postponements during the past ten months, the enterprise has at last been launched with appropriate ceremonies, including the cutting of a gigantic cake and official trolley parties in wonderfully bedecked cars.

Opposition to operation of the trams has been based ostensibly on the hardship they would impose upon the ricksha coolies through loss of fares. The French promoters, however, appear to have known how to overcome it, and among other things have promised to build a factory wherein a lot of coolies can find employment.

Major A. E. Cole, Lieut. Col. G. G. Way and staff were in Picton Friday evening for the purpose of installing the officers of Picton Canton.

Sinical Sadie Sees

Spring is coming! Sinical Sadie saw several small boys playing marbles on Front Street last Saturday. That beats the "Globe robin", does it not?

Will the man (it couldn't have been a woman) who removed the old-fashioned quilt from Sinical Sadie's car, kindly return same,—no questions asked. It has a sentimental value being made of pieces of ancestor's frocks, and handed down three generations. Have a heart!

An optimist is a man who orders oysters with the hope of paying for them with the pearl.

"Many new bags are adorned with a stork cut out in silver. Sinical Sadie's other half thinks that is adding insult to injury—the "long bill" don't you know?

Even when marriage is a "perfect match" there are bound to be occasional "flare-ups."

When a man says "Love," he means woman, but when a woman says Love, she means—Life!

Love more frequently dies of indigestion than of starvation.

By wearing a pedometer, a housewife has discovered that she walked on an average five miles each day in preparing meals for her family.

It is with honor just as with snow; both never get back their lost splendor if they have once lost it.

There has never yet been a man in our history who led a life of ease, whose name is worth remembering.

Sick Man (gloomily):—"If I should die, dear, what in the world will become of you and the children?"

Wife:—"Now, you mustn't worry, John; the doctor says it is bad for you. I'll find some one to take care of us."

The sick man got well.

HE HADN'T TIME

The funeral procession that held you up as you were driving along the street, was in honor of a man who hadn't time. He was only 54, yet in that brief span of years had built a fine, substantial business. He couldn't be enticed away from his desk. One meeting followed up another. One conference crowded up another. His daily correspondence was a veritable mound. He hadn't time for anything but business until they called in the undertaker. Most of us have the promise of a good three score years and ten. Twenty-five of these we spend in growing up and getting prepared to make good. Then we work madly for another twenty-five years, or so, promising ourselves to sit down and enjoy the last ten or twenty years, with a big roll in the bank. But the life insurance statistics suggest that that promise is not always performed. So, why make the promise? Why delay the fun of living until that golden moment of your dreams when you are going to take it easy? Why wait? Life is only so long. Nobody can crowd all the good things it offers into a decade. Even thought you live, age will creep on to take away the bloom from the things you try to do. You can't remotor across the Continental Divide at 60 and get the same punch out of it you could have gotten at 40. At 60 you cannot hike in the woods and brave the dangers of the outdoors and as you did when young. What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and then shuffle off? What is the sense of making a great pile of money and lose the power to enjoy it?. Horace Greeley who died untimely at 61 promised a friend shortly before his end, that he expected to quit the game soon and go fishing. But he never did. He hadn't time. Have you?

MOTHERS CAN CHECK BABIES AT CHURCH

Atlantic City, N.J., Feb. 7—Beginning next Sunday mothers who are members of the Ventnor Community Church may check their little ones at the church entrance until the services are over, the church announced today.

"We found that a good many mothers stayed away from church because the children became restless and disturbed the services," said Leroy Berglund, a church officer. "We have therefore established the church nursery, which will be in charge of Miss Mary Raith, who will care for the children while their parents are attending the service."

Miss Raith has mailed cards telling of the innovation to all mothers in the parish.

NATURE LORE

By

Wallace Havelock Robb

Once, years ago, when I was a little boy in Belleville, Ontario, Canada, there came a very strange bird into our orchard.

We had plenty of apple trees then and we climbed up and down playing tag or chasing each other with the apple tree spray full of water, or we played monkey at the end of a branch, till it would not hold us and would bend down until we all fell off. Do you suppose we missed any of the very bark wrinkles even? Do you suppose there could be any part of any tree that we did not know?

You are right, there wasn't.

It just naturally happened then, that we knew every bird's nest and we noticed this lovely strange bird come and make a nest. This was the cedar waxing. How lovely they were, with their yellow tip tails, their satin finished coats that the finest tailor in the city could not match. We all looked upon those birds as a gift from the fairies and we tried to behave like gentlemen but someone found out our secret and one day we found the nest robbed. That is why we should keep our bird secrets to ourselves, so nobody will rob the poor birds.

We were very much upset. Somebody blamed it on me and I felt very badly indeed, for I was perhaps more sorry than anyone.

Many years after, in the Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal, I again saw this same wonderful beauty. I had never seen it before it came into our garden when I was a lad and I never again saw one until I was a man and had almost forgotten.

As soon as I saw it I remembered it. It was then a real bird and not a fairy fancy. How glad I was to see it and I can tell you it did not take me long to find some books and learn about the cedar waxwing that comes into the gardens in summer.

Now, when one begins to take an interest in birds, there are some queer things to find out. One of the queer things I found out, first crack off the bat was this—The fairy bird of my dreams was very real and just as lovely as I had dreamed him all the years since I first saw him but the funniest thing of all was to read that he has a full blooded Canadian cousin that is really and truly a Canadian.

Gee! Did I quit reading that book? I certainly did not. I wanted to know about the first cousin and how anyone could figure out that a bird could be a real Canadian for, did I not know that the birds went to United States and such like in winter? Ah! that was the trouble, I thought I knew but here was a guy saying I had only seen half the fairy secret. I read more and more. It said that the bird I had seen in my garden when a boy, was a cedar waxwing alright and that he went south in winter but that sometimes his place was taken in our gardens in winter, by his cousin a full blooded Canuck and a real aristocrat, much more beautiful and a bird that stays in Canada. Of course he may take a little week end visit into New England or so but he does not do it very often.

It sort o' makes a fella curious, don't you know?

I read more. It said this beautiful Canadian bird is much more beautiful than the Cedar Waxwing and is called the Bohemian Waxwing.

Of course I wanted to get up and run out right there and then and see for myself.

Where would I find him?

Surely a book would not tell lies and yet, here was this book telling me that this magnificent Canadian was a sort of wanderer and a lad might go a whole lifetime and never see one.

Had you been I, would you have shut the book and said, "I don't want to know about that bird"? I'll bet you would have read and read and read. That is what I did.

I found out that the Bohemian Waxwing is really a very beautiful bird, that he is called the Wandering Chatterer because he wanders all over Canada and lives a sort of gypsy life. He or they, just as you like, come from the northern part of Canada in winter and visit wherever they take a fairy fancy to go. They go in flocks and men and women who have seen their picture and have read about them have come many miles to see them, when someone has been fortunate enough to find them And you want to know the secret of how I found them, eh? I was tipped off by a fairy. Yes, I saw them and it was or surely must have been fairy magic. I will tell you in the very next story.

Answers to Correspondents

"Student"—You are not very clear as to what you want. I know of no poem by Bret Harte about fame. Perhaps you are thinking of one by another American, O. W. Holmes, entitled "Bill and Joe". One verse goes,

Oh, pensive scholar, what is fame?
A fitful tongue of leaping flame;
A giddy whirlwind's fickle gust,
That lifts a pinch of mortal dust;
A few swift years, and who can show
Which dust was Bill and which was Joe

"Curious"— The American way is to cut the meat with the knife and fork, then the knife is placed across the side of the plate. The fork is transferred to the right hand and you proceed to eat the piece of meat cut. Sounds like a lesson in physical culture, doesn't it? The English way is as you say. the fork not being transferred, so why not let us follow the Motherland customs. "For you cannot beat the English after all." We copy our neighbors to the South of us entirely too much.

"S.D."—Hiccough is quite a common experience with little or no significance in the average case. I am told that the most frequent cause is overeating, though of course there are other causes. A simple remedy is sipping very cold or very hot hot water, or holding the breath and counting. Drinking the juice of half a lemon with half a teaspoon of salt in it is also recommended. Of course, for severe forms a doctor should be consulted.

UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD

(Chatham News)

Premier Baldwin of Great Britain has expressed the belief that people who talk most freely about universal brotherhood talk about it before they have any real conception of it. There is a suspicion that this may be true, and there is more than a suspicion that some of those who talk quite freely about universal brotherhood would be terribly shocked if compelled to put up with even a limited measure of brotherhood.

Worries In The Home

IT IS THESE THAT CAUSE MANY A BREAKDOWN IN HEALTH

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily with little worries in her household affairs. They may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but it is the same little worries that break down the health of so many women. Their effect may be noticed in nervous headaches, fickle appetite, indigestion, pains in the side or back, and a sallow complexion. To those afflicted in this way Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, by improving and purifying the blood. bring speedy relief. Among thousands of weak women who have tested and proved the merits of this medicine is Mrs. Gustave Hult, Bruxelles, Man., who says "It is with profound thanks that I write to tell you what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. Before I began taking these pills I was weak, and my blood thin and watery. I was so thin that I looked like a skeleton. I was troubled with headaches and indigestion, did not sleep well and was terribly constipated. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I soon found that they were just what I needed. Under their use my appetite returned, my food digested properly, and I slept better at night, and gained in flesh as well as strength. The result is that now I am a perfectly healthy woman. and there is no doubt that it is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a supply of which I always keep in the house, and I would advise other women to do the same."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville. Ont.

On Saturday Premier King in Ottawa, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, in New York, ridiculed the idea, in public speeches that any sentiment favoring annexation to the United States exists in Canada.

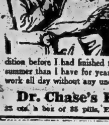
"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes:



"During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent urination, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Percy Levant stood with folded arms looking thoughtfully into vacancy, his handsome face grave and sombre.

"Miss Marlowe has gone to her own room," he said, in a low voice. "Yes, it may have been the heat and the scent of the flowers." As he spoke he took the society journal from his pocket and opened it. "What was it Lady Despard was reading when—when Miss Marlowe fainted Churchill?" and he bent his dark eyes keenly upon the placid face.

"Really, my dear Percy, I forget. Wasn't it something about that floral fete to the Amalgamated Charity Children? Or was it the account of Lady Brabazon's ball? Miss Marlowe's sudden and alarming indisposition so startled me that it drove the matter out of my head."

Percy Levant looked at him fixedly, then opened the paper and scanned it carefully; then his eyes flashed as he came across the paragraph respecting Lord Cecil's engagement, and he read it aloud.

"That was it, was it not?"

"N—o, I don't think so, but I really can't be sure. To tell you the truth I wasn't paying much attention. You see, I'd read the paper coming across."

"It was this, and you know it," said Percy Levant in a low voice.

"Was it? I daresay. But what has that to do with Miss Marlowe's swoon?" inquired Spencer Churchill, with a patient smile.

Percy Levant paced up and down, his head sunk upon his breast.

"I don't know," he muttered, inaudibly; "but I will know!"

"Don't look so distressed, my dear Percy!" purred Spencer Churchill, leaning his head on his elbow, and watching him through half-closed eyes. "I trust there is nothing to be really anxious about. Miss Doris will be well and honor us with her presence at lunch, or, at dinner at latest. Of course, I can understand your anxiety, but don't give way to it, my dear Percy. Will you come and sit down? I want to talk to you for a few moments."

Percy Levant stopped short in his pacing to and fro, and looked down at him.

"Well?" he said, impatiently.

"I want to speak to you about the marriage," said Spencer Churchill.

"What marriage?" demanded Percy Levant, with a frown.

Spencer Churchill opened his eyes and laughed softly.

"Why, your marriage, my dear fellow," he returned; "yours and Miss Doris'. I don't know whether you agree with me, but I am, on principle, strongly opposed to long engagements. When two young hearts are yearning for each other— Percy, this marriage must take place at once," he broke off with a sharp and sudden change of voice.

"Why?" he asked.

Spencer Churchill smiled blandly.

"For several reasons; one, and not the least being my anxiety to see two young people in whom I am deeply interested, made happy; another, if I may be candid, is because I am anxious to complete our contract and destroy the bond," and he touched his breast pocket.

A strange expression came into Percy Levant's face, came and passed like a flash.

"You want your money?" he said.

"Naturally, and you want your bride. So that we are of one mind, my dear Percy?"

"And what if I say I will go no further in this vile business; if I say that I will no longer be a party in this conspiracy against a helpless girl!" said Percy Levant in a low voice, and with a sudden crimson rising to his face.

Spencer Churchill smiled blandly.

"But you won't say any such nonsense, my dear fellow," he retorted blowing a thin wreath of smoke from his complacent lips; "and it would be nonsense sheer nonsense, for you could not draw back if you would, because, my dear Percy, you are so completely and madly in love with her!"

Percy Levant grew pale, and he clenched his hands.

Spencer Churchill laughed softly.

"I think she will consent—in fact, I am sure she will." He leaned forward on his elbow, and whispered the ensuing words insidiously: "She must be made to!"

"Made to?"

"Yes. Tut, tut, don't look so black. Moral force, not physical, my dear Percy, is what I mean. Listen to me. Do you know Pescia?"

Percy Levant nodded.

Treat Colds Externally

For sore throat, bronchitis or deep chest colds, rub Vicks VapoRub briskly over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts in two ways—both direct: absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. A quick relief for the cold troubles of all the family.

JUST IN PASSING

In Giving We Find Our Quest

It is in loving, not in being loved, the heart is blessed;
It is in giving, not in seeking gifts, we find our quest.
Whatever be thy longing or thy need, that do thou give,
So shalt thy soul be fed and thou indeed shalt truly live.
—M. E. Russell.

Rabbits vs. Babbits!

A man was heard recently to say that he was going rabbit-hunting with his boy and they were going to talk over a lot of things to be seen in the woods and country. That is the kind of father every boy should have. But, unfortunately for many boys, their dad's leisure hours are so much taken up with being "Babbits," they haven't time for rabbits!

Music Hath Charms

We have just read of a Parisian milliner who uses a phonograph to provide suitable music during the sale of hats. When she is trying a costly and jewel-ornamented hat on a customer the "Jewel Song" from "Faust" is switched on. If the customer's fancy turns to a snappy creation the milliner meets her mood by a jazz record. Here is a bright idea for Belleville merchants. The furniture dealers whilst showing their furnished rooms to prospective brides and grooms might have the victrola play, "The Love Nest," and "Let the Rest of the World Go By." Meat patrons would appreciate the "Dead March," and perhaps "Have a Heart." Customers could listen to "Watch Your Step," while trying on shoes. A landlady might have her phonograph playing "Abide With Me" while she was showing her rooms. May I suggest, "Tumble In" as the record for car salesmen to use and "Oh Promise Me" for bankers and collectors. Beauty parlor patrons would be soothed with "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and I cannot resist one for the fruit stores (even if I have to dodge) "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

CANDIES FOR VALENTINE DAY

Hickory Nut Caramels

Place three-fourth of a cupful of thin cream, three tspn. of butter, one cup of sugar and one cup molasses in a saucepan. Bring the mixture to the boiling point, add three squares of unsweetened chocolate. Stir it carefully until the chocolate has melted and continue to let the mixture boil until the syrup forms a firm ball when dropped into cold water. Remove it from the fire and add one-half tsp. of vanilla and one cup of chopped hickory nuts. Turn the mixture into an oiled pan. When it is cold, cut it into squares and wrap each square in waxed paper.

Frosted Fig Fudge

Make a chocolate fudge and pour it into a pan the depth of one inch. Cover it thickly with coarse chopped dried figs. Boil one cupful of sugar and one-fourth of a cup of water until the syrup will spin a thread and then pour it over the white of one egg beaten stiff. Add one tsp. of vanilla and continue to beat it until it is stiff Pour it over the layers of fudge and figs and cut it into squares when it is cold.

Almond Sea Foam

Boil three cups of light-brown sugar. one cup of water and one tsp. of vinegar together without stirring it until the syrup spins a thread when dropped from the spoon. Remove it from the fire and pour the boiling syrup over the whites of two eggs beaten stiff. Beat the mixture until it is firm enough to hold its shape, then add one-half tsp. of almond extract and one heaping cup of almonds that have been blanched and broken Drop it quickly from a teaspoon on sheets of waxed paper.

Butternut Fudge

Boil one cup of maple syrup (or one cup of honey), one cup of sugar, one-half cup rich milk and one-half cup of water until the syrup forms a ball when dropped into cold water. Cool it slightly; then beat it until it is creamy. Add two thirds of a cup of broken butternut meats and turn the candy into an oiled pan and cut it into square pieces.

Brazilian Fluff

Cover the bottom of an oiled candy pan with marshmallows in which slits have been cut. Slip a brazil nut into each slit and fore the edges together. Pour a rich chocolate fudge over the marshmallows and when it is cold cut the candy into squares.

Supreme Nut Candy

Put one and one-half cups of molasses and three-fourths of a cup of sugar into a saucepan; boil it until the syrup forms a hard ball when tested in cold water. Add three-fourths of a cup of butter and continue boiling the syrup until the "cracking point" is reached; then remove it from the fire at once. Beat in a pinch of baking soda and ad one-half pound of fine chopped figs and dates, or figs and dates in equal proportion, one cup each of coarse chopped pecan, filbert and walnut meats and one-half cup of blanched, shredded almonds. Pour the mixture into an oiled pan and keep it in a cool place overnight. If you wish, add a tsp. each of almond and vanilla extract just before pouring the candy into the pan.

"JUST A NAIL."

Did you ever see an old bent, rusty nail lying in the road Of course you have. And have you ever stopped to think what trouble it might cause if it is left there? When the road becomes muddy a vehicle might run over it and turn the point up; the mud will hold it in this position, perhaps a horse may step on it and get it into his foot, lose months of work or possibly get lockjaw and die. Or a child may be walking barefooted and tread upon it, and the injury may prove fatal. A doctor may be called upon to come quickly to attend to some very sick person, perhaps a member of our own family, and be delayed by the nail getting into his tire, or you may get it into your own tire and have an hour or so of unpleasant work.

A little trouble removing it may save you or your friends a lot of trouble later on.

BREWERS WANT THE YOUNG

(Contributed by the W.C.T.U.)

The English Brewers' Journal of Feb. 15th, 1923, uttered these significant words:

"We mean to reiterate in these columns a factor which we believe to be at the bottom of all publicity in relation to alcohol; it is that yearly, tens of thousands of alcohol drinkers die. With the rising generation and whether or not they take alcohol rests the future of the trade commercially, politically, and economically. The rising generation has certainly greater discouragement to become alcohol consumers than any previous generation in modern times. First of all, the cost of alcohol is a powerful incentive to teetotalism; and secondly, the nets which the teetotalers spread to ensnare the young are strengthened year by year".

Here is encouragement to the temperance workers among the young. More power to the nets you spread! And food for thought for parents. How many Belleville parents wish their children to qualify to fill up the vacancies left in the ranks of the drunkards by those who die off yearly?

To two cups mashed and highly seasoned potatoes, add the beaten yolks of two eggs. Beat the whites very stiff and add to the mixture. Fry brown as pancakes. Place a spoonful of hot and well-seasoned salmon in the middle of each and roll over. Serve hot. Hot, cooked pork sausage used instead of salmon is good too.

POEMS Old And NEW

AN OLD YEAR PRAYER

O glad New Year, take not these things from me—
The olden faiths; the shining loyalty
Of friends that long and searching years have proved—
The glowing hearthfires and the books
I loved;
All wonted kindnesses and welcoming—
All safe, hard-trodden paths, to which I cling!
O young New Year, fresh with the thrill of spring—
Leave me the ways that were my comforting!
—L.S.

TO A BABY

Little rosy babykin with little rosy hands
Petal-like—yet metal-like with strength of iron bands!
Holding me and folding me in love's ecstatic mesh—
Love's ethereal spirit has been alchemized to flesh!

Dimpled little baby with a smile like honey-dew,
What has any human done to earn such wage as you?
Search my life of sin and strife however much I may,
Nothing half deserving you is found along the way.

Still we hold each other with a gladness
all complete—
Gladness that is heavenly and wonderfully sweet.
I can only thank my stars for such a lovely fate—
Gosh! This makes a dozen lines; the editor told me eight!
—Strickland Gillilan.

LOST—LITTLE DOG BROWNIE

My little dog's lost
Please hunt him for me;
I'm sure you will know him
From others, for he Always turns roun' and roun'
Before he lies down;
When this you see,
Please bring him to me!

He had fringe on his tail,
And fringe on his legs;
He will give you his right paw,
He sits up and begs;
And he turns roun' and roun'
Before he lies down;
When this you see,
Please bring him to me!

He's all over brown,
Except his black nose;
He takes his tail with him
Wherever he goes;
And he turns roun' and roun'
Before he lies down;
When this you see,
Please bring him to me!

He is small for his age,
You can very soon see—
But if you're not quite sure
It really is he,
If he turns roun' and roun'
Before he lies down,
It Brownie must be!
Lead him straight home to me!
—Margaret Madden.

Society Flourishes

That the Storrington Agricultural Society is in a flourishing condition was shown by the very excellent reports which were received at the annual meeting held in the Agricultural Hall, Inverary, on January 10th, at which the treasurer reported that after all expenses for the year were paid the Society had on hand the splendid balance of $105.93. The Fair last year was one of the most successful in the history of the Society and plans for the present year were discussed at length and this year's exhibition promises to be better than any held so far.

A Miscellaneous Shower

At Bell's Crossing, Leeds country, a very pleasant evening was spent on Jan 23rd, when Mr. and Mrs. David Thom were tendered a miscellaneous shower in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Verna Ellis. Over 100 were in attendance and the many gifts and envelopes attested the popularity of the bride-to-be. A very suitable address was read by Mrs. Harold Richard which was ably responded to by the guest of honor.

Water Geyser

Campbellford, Feb. 7.—While harvesting ice in Barrie's Lake, near Campbellford, ice-cutters got a bad scare when a huge spurt of water, resembling a fountain, shot up in the air a distance of fifteen feet, continuing nearly half an hour. The lake is a small one, covering only about 10 acres. Air pressure is given as the cause. Needless to say, the men and teams made a quick run to the shore the sight being something new in these parts. Operations were suspended for the day.

Ice in this district ranges from 1? to 18 inches n thickness, and every available team is on the job getting ready for the good old summer time.

SURPRISE PARTY AT BETHANY

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Jared Hanna, gathered at their home on Friday evening, Jan. 30th, to spend a social evening with them before their removal to their new home at Salem.

The following address was read by Mr. Blake Way and Mr. S. C. Way and Mr. Chas. Cole made the presentation.

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, and Evert.

"We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here to-night to remind you of the kind feelings we hold toward you as a family.

"Some months ago we learned with regret that you had decided to move from our midst. We realize that we are going to miss you, but we trust there will be many happy days for you in your new home and while you will no longer reside in this neighborhood, we look forward to meeting you from time to time. We can only refer to this occasion as one of those times when we realize what true friendship means.

"We have found we could count on you in time of sorrow as well as in times of rejoicing and your home has ever spelled true hospitality.

"During the years you have been among us, you have all been willing workers in our church and at social gatherings and we as a community would express our sincere appreciation of your united eforts in all activities for good.

"Mrs. Hanna, our Women's Missionary Society feels its loss of a faithful worker and we know our loss will be another's gain.

"We feel we cannot let you depart from our midst without some slight token of our high esteem. We ask you Mr. and Mrs. Hanna to accept these chairs and Evert, these cuff links. In the years to come may they ever bring happy memories of your life at Bethany appointment.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbors of 3rd and 4th con. Thurlow.

SAMUEL C. WAY
E. BLAKE WAY.

Mr. Hanna made a suitable reply, after which the company sang "For they are jolly good fellows."

Lunch and a social time followed. The party breaking up about midnight, all wishing them many years of success in their new home.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

A SAFE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS
10 DAYS' TREATMENT FREE.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened; and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free trial treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c., will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her address. Enclose three stamps and address:

Sulphur Safe To Heal Skin

BROKEN OUT SKIN AND ITCHING ECZEMA RELIEVED AT ONCE

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Letters To The Editor

MR. BARNJUM ISSUES A CHALLENGE

To the Editor:
Sir,—

My attention has been called to the fact that some of the organized opponents of an embargo on pulpwood are stating that in trying to arouse public opinion to the seriousness of our forestry situation, I am acting for certain interests and for a selfish purpose.

In reply, let me say that I will pay five thousand dollars apiece to the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, to be used in the cause of forest fire prevention, upon presentation of any proof that my campaign has not been conducted solely by myself or that it has been actuated by any other motive than that of public welfare.

If my detractors are sincere and want to do some good for the cause of forestry, let them accept this challenge; otherwise the public will know what to think.

FRANK J. D. BARNJUM,
Montreal, February 5th, 1925.

THE CARE OF SOULS

(London Daily Express)

The pay of clergymen in the Chichester diocese is to be established at a minimum of £300 a year. While this does not represent a large income for educated men, with heavy duties and responsibilities, it will, nevertheless, bring relief to no fewer than forty incumbents in the diocese. It would be well if similar action were taken elsewhere. The pay of our poorer clergy is a shame upon Christian England. Thousands of country vicars are pinched for the merest necessities of life; their meagre incomes are swallowed up in the preservation of an appearance of respectability, essential for the proper conduct of their work, and in the provision of educaton for their children.

PRECEPT AND PRACTICE

(Glasgow Herald)

Mr. Ramsay McDonald, in his comments upon the King's Speech, was surprised at the mild and friendly terms in which reference was made to Russia. It would have been more surprising if Russia had been dealt with in censorious terms. We have no interest in following provocative policies; it is our main business, indeed, to refrain from answering fools according to their folly, or, to put the case not less pertinently, we offer to the present rulers of Russia an example in moderation and sobriety which would be worthy of their emulation.

Baby's Welfare During February

February is one of the hardest months of the year on little ones. It is a month of cold, blustery days that prevent the mother taking her baby out for the fresh air so necessary to its welfare. Baby is consequently confined to the home. More often than not the rooms are overheated and badly ventilated and the little one catches cold or grippe. What is needed to keep the baby well is a gentle laxative that will regulate the stomach and bowels; banish constipation and indigestion and in this way will either prevent or break up colds and grippe. Such a laxative is Baby's Own Tablets. They are mild but thorough in action; are absolutely safe as they are guaranteed to contain no opiates or narcotics. They never fail to be of benefit to little ones and may be given to either the newborn babe or the growing child. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAIDS HE SWINDLED NOW HELP HIM OUT

Berlin, Feb. 7.—A super Don Juan is revealed in Berlin in the person of "Handsome Oscar," who has been lodged in jail on a charge of having swindled numerous maids and widows of divers amounts of money and jewels under promizes of marriage.

"Handsome Oscar," whose last name is Becker, was arrested after complaints were made by at least a dozen women. They all forgave him, however, as soon as they were brought face to face with him at police headquarters and saw his handsome eyes fill with tears.

But one stony-hearted one insisted that Oscar must be punished, and so Oscar was kept behind the bars.

Now the rest of the deceived women have formed an association of Oscar's fiancees, and the members visit him daily to supply him with the best delicacies Berlin has to offer.

Goettingen, Feb. 7.—German scientists are still being ignored in connection with international congresses, though the world war is over, according to a compilation of facts presented by the German Universities Association.

During 1923 and 1924, the report points out, 91 international scientific and technical congresses took place. In the case of 58 of them no Germans were invited; in the case of the remaining 33 certain allied countries, notably France and Belgium either refrained entirely from sending delegates as soon as it became known that Germans also were to participate or else sent unrepresentative delegations.

MAXWELL

Excels All Other Fours By Right of Excess Values

Stated in the simplest terms, the reason why the new good Maxwell deserves to outsell all other cars in its field is because it offers the greatest value on the market.

It took a great organization, great plants, great facilities and resources to create such values at Maxwell prices, but it also took the engineering genius of the Maxwell-Chrysler staff to develop in a four-cylinder car the qualities you find in the new good Maxwell.

No other four has ever been able to combine 8 miles an hour, an acceleration that sweeps the car from 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, a fuel economy that carries you an average of 30 miles with a gallon of gasoline.

No other four produces so much power with so little effort, with such a complete absence of vibration. No other four carries you so comfortably at all speeds and under all road conditions. No other four handles so easily.

These excess values that set the new good Maxwell apart from all other fours cover every phase of performance and ownership. Many of them a single ride reveals.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

CUSTOMS MEN HOPE TO CATCH BOOZE RUNNERS

Captain of Big Boat Caught Saturday Has Confessed

HAD $600,000 CARGO

Greatest Capture Made Under United States Volstead Act

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 9.—Following the capture on Long Island Sound Saturday, of the British steamer, "Homestead" with twenty-eight prisoners and whiskey valued at $600,000, United States' customs officials have announced their intention of questioning all arrested rum runners concerning their citizenship.

Customs officials are convinced that rum runners are combining their business with the smuggling of aliens.

The Homestead was captured by the coast guard cutter Red Wing, after a thirty-six hour chase at sea. The coast guard cutter bombarded the vessel before it was brought to bay, shots tearing several holes in the hull above the water.

Mark Gilbert, captain, said by customs officials to be the king of rum-runners, was captured and is reported to have made a confession to his captors which will enable prohibition authorities to break the powerful smuggling ring. Homestead was formerly U.S.S. Lebanon. It is reported that forty thousand cases of liquor were seized.

Crew Wounded

The Homestead, the largest and most valuable prize since prohibition sent coast guard chasers to "Rum Row," was anchored last night off the Statue of Liberty. There she took her place beside other rum runners too bulky to be moored at the Barge Office.

Rumors that several wounded men were on the Homestead suffering from machine-gun bullets or shots fired by three-pounders of the steamship's Coast Guard captors were verified in part last night.

Admitted Shots Were Fired

It was admitted shots had been fired to stop the Homestead, which was seized off the eastern end of Long Island by the Coast Guard chasers Red Wing and Jewett.

Orders to the Coast Guard now are to shoot when occasion demands, and it was said the Homestead had given this provocation.

Rev. H. B. Kenny Is Invited To Stay

He Accepts Subject to Formal Approval of Conference

Subject to the approval of the Conference, Rev. Captain H. B. Kenny, Pastor at Tabernacle Methodist church this city, has accepted a unanimous invitation from the congregation of that church to remain there for another year.

The very cordial and unanimous invitation was recently extended at a full meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the church.

Rev. Captain Kenny is now completing his second year as pastor at Tabernacle church and the church has enjoyed great prosperity during his pastorate.

ASSESSOR OF CITY NAMED ON EXECUTIVE

At a meeting on Saturday at the City Hall Toronto of assessors from various municipalities in Ontario, a Provincial Assessors' Association was organized. Among the objects of the new association will be an attempt to arrange for closer co-operation between suburban and city assessors for income tax collections.

The following officers were elected: President, George W. Farley, Chief Assessor, Toronto; Vice-President, H. A. Webster, Windsor; Secretary-Treasurer, Harry Nixon, Toronto; Executive—R. H. James, Oshawa; J. W. Young, St. Catharines; T. E. Ketcheson, Belleville; T. R. Robertson, Hamilton; and A. E. Burwell, London.

The Provincial Assessors' Association will meet again in June when by laws will be drafted which will govern Assessment Commissioners for the various municipalities in the Province.

ENGLISH BOY IS UP ON THEFT CHARGE

A healthy appearing seventeen-year-old English boy, who the court agreed did not appear like a "bad actor," appeared before Magistrate Masson this morning, charged with theft of a gold watch and other stuff from a Front street boarding and rooming house.

He was remanded for one week and his finger prints were taken.

In the meantime police will discuss his future with Mr. W. H. Merry, superintendent of Marchmont Home here, of which Home the lad is a ward.

After the alleged theft, the boy went to the country, where he worked for a farmer who lives just across the bay. He was arrested at the farmer's home early this morning by city police officers and taken to the station house here.

It was difficult to take his finger prints, for the tips of his fingers gave evidence of manual labor, the lines being worn away.

Jew And Dane Are Suspicious Visitors

Hebrew Youth admits Spending Year in Custody To Police

When Knut Maisel, aged 20, and his companion Samuel L. Davis, aged 23, came under the watchful eye of Sergeant of Detectives John Truaisch Saturday night, their appearance and actions did not satisfy him, so after halting them on Front street and interviewing them he arrested the pair.

This morning they were remanded to the county jail for one week when they appeared before Police Magistrate Masson and their finger prints were taken.

Davis, who is a Jew from Montreal admits having been convicted at Georgetown on a breaking and entering charge and spent one year in custody. Maisel maintains that he has never been in trouble since coming to Canada from Denmark. He speaks fairly good English.

Davis, it appears, was soliciting financial assistance among the Jewish people of Belleville Saturday night, and when arrested he had six dollars tucked up in the lining of his coat sleeve. At first he said he had no money, but detectives are accustomed to such stories. When pressed he "fished out" his "roll" from a tiny hole in the lining.

They told the officer they were searching for work in Belleville, but suspicions were aroused when he heard that they had sold a suit to a second hand dealer for $1. Davis said he got the suit from a cousin in Montreal

Maisel wears a bowler, and the few head pieces of that brand worn in 'conservative" Belleville made him an easy mark. The pair had separated and had just rejoined one another, when the officer grabbed them. Maisel carried his passport.

Boy Detained As Last Resort

Many Try to Help Him, But All Have Failed

Arrested Friday while in hiding at Chisholm's Mills, a young Belleville boy who has given authorities no end of trouble owing to his determination, not to attend King George school, was sentenced to Mimico Industrial School until he is twenty-one years of age.

This case is remarkable in many ways. It has tried the patience of school principal, class teacher, truant officers, Chief constable, magistrate, and Inspector of Childrens' Aid Society to the limit, and all have done everything in their power to assist the boy who would not respond to any consideration shown him.

The case had been enlarged eight times in order to give the boy a chance, his parents always promising to do their part. Officers believe that the failure of the parents to do their part, resulted in the boy's present fate.

Twice, Truant Officer F. W. Ashley, had the case in court, and he then turned the matter over to Inspector T. D. Ruston of the Childrens' Aid Society who pursued the case to the climax, as the law empowers him to do.

Inspector Ruston states that the father sold out and attempted to cross to the U. S. A. with the family when the trouble pot commenced to seethe. Then the family moved to Oshawa, Sulphide and Chisholm's Mills in turn. He states that at Chisholm's Mills the boy lived apart from his parents and was in hiding. Inspector Ruston, and Provincial Constable S. Elliott ferretted him out on Friday however, and showed those concerned the folly of "sneezing" at British law.

Once before at Deseronto the father was fined, the fine and costs amounting to $25, for not sending the boy to school.

Officers here believe that this and other obstinate cases of similar nature are encouraged by parents who do not interest themselves in the education of their children.

Mrs. Annie Clift, wife of Thomas Clift, of 852 Elias street, London, and mother of Ald. Cliff, of Ward 4, died in Victoria Hospital, Friday, in her 73rd year.

CHAPLIN AND BRIDE DISMISSED LAWYERS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Los Angeles, Feb. 9— Negotiating between the attorneys of Charlie Chaplin and those of his wife, formerly Lita Grey, of the movies, has been halted and the screen comedian and his 16-year-old bride have decided not to have anything more to do with lawyers, The Los Angeles Times today quotes Mrs. Lillian Spicer, bride's mother, as saying.

Teachers Not Out For Money Alone

Federation Stands For Best In Education, Speaker Declares

A very enjoyable luncheon was held at the Hotel Quinte on Saturday by the Women Teachers of Belleville Public Schools and was presided over by their President, Miss Sullivan. It was attended by teachers from Trenton, Deseronto and the neighbouring district.

The guest of the day was Miss Roberts of Hamilton President of the Women Teachers' Federation of Ontario, who gave a splendid address on the origin, aims and accomplishments of the Federation. All present thought it was worth while to belong to the oldest and largest Teachers' Federation of Canada. The prevailing idea of the general public has been that the Federation was an organization for financial purposes only, but Miss Roberts in her address showed clearly that while not despising the dollar, the Federation has also meant to stand for all that is fine, true and splendid in their work as educators.

At the close of the address a vote of thanks was moved by Miss Lounsberry and seconded by Miss White of Trenton. This was followed by words of appreciation from other teachers.

The luncheon was enlivened by singing, with Miss Rankin at the piano.

Very Heavy Fog Engulfs Gotham

Accidents Result With Two Deaths and Many Injured

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 9.—Two men were killed and more than fifty persons were hurt in a series of collisions on New York's transit lines to-day, while one of the heaviest fogs of recent years enveloped the city. Harbor and river traffic was virtually paralized as a result of the lowering fog that clung close to the surface of the water.

The fog was reported general, extending along most of the Atlantic seaboard and affecting shipping both on land and sea over a wide area. Early reports indicated that the most serious of the series of accidents on cities transit lines occurred in the Bronx where an elevated train smashed into the rear of a subway train on the elevated structure. Two were known to have been killed in this collision while the estimate of injured ran well above forty. The dead are a motorman and a passenger.

MR. LEO. RIGGS AT THE ORGAN PLEASES

A very fine program of high-class music was given on the organ at St. Andrew's Church last night, when Mr. Leo B. Riggs celebrated in New York as an organist, charmed an audience that filled the church. Mr. Riggs has been acting as organist for the past two weeks at St. Andrew's and the hope was expressed that the would repeat the performance at an early date. The program presented a great variety of some of the finest organ compositions. These included the "War March of the Priests" by Mendelsohn, "Andantino" by Mozart, "Largo" by Handel, "Christmas in Sicily" by Yon "A Southern Melody" by Lemare and Wagner's "Pilgrim's Chorus."

A vote of appreciation was expressed after the recital to Mr. Riggs.

MISSIONS BENEFIT BY CONCERT GIVEN

A most interesting, musical program presented under the auspices of the Young Women's Association of John Street Presbyterian Church, Friday evening, was a feature of the church concert held in the Sunday school rooms. The proceeds will be used for missions.

All musical numbers heard, proved to be very interesting and entertaining.

Messrs. Connor, Ross and Moore gave a piano and violin number.

Readings were given by Miss Jessie B. Tuite, solos by Messrs. Hugh Middlemiss, James Bankier, Professor S. Anglin, Mrs. M. P. Duff and Mrs. Singer.

Organ numbers were given by Mr. D. Nicholson, organist of John Street Church, violin solos by Dr. I. R. Hough, a piano solo by Mr. William Connor and Messrs. Connor and Ross also gave a piano and violin number.

RAIN IS LATEST HINDRANCE FOR MINE WORKERS

Seeping Water in Shaft Halts Progress Toward Collins

PRISONER LIVES YET

Scientists Are Sure Amplifier Indicates He Is Moving

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 9—Mother nature today had another obstacle to the efforts of men to rescue Floyd Collins from the grip of a boulder trap in the depths of sand cave, sending torrents of rain last night with the promise of more today. Despite precautions to keep water out of the perpendicular shaft aimed at Collin's prison, seepage crept into the bottom of the shaft and added heavily to the burden of volunteer diggers. They kept doggedly at it as the tenth day of Collin's imprisonment ended at ten o'clock this morning. The shaft was then less than half way to Collins, sixty or seventy feet below the surface.

Experiment Failed

The effort to find another passage leading to Collins has been unsuccessful. Banana oil was poured into the opening of the sand cave tunnel in the hope that the odor would be carried by a heavy down draft to the other cave openings at which men were posted, and thus the one by which Collins had entered might be found. There was no odor of oil detected at the other openings, however.

The scientists are positive now that Collins is still alive. They set up a powerful amplifier today, and immediatey they reported that they detected intermittent rustlings which they are positive was caused by Collins moving in the cave.

Fear Pneumonia and Starvation

The real danger to Collins is pneumonia and starvation. There is a constant dripping of water on Collins, and he has not had anything to eat or drink since Wednesday morning.

The Cave City Committee tonight sent out a new appeal for funds. The commissary, where the men are fed, was nearly forced to close last night for lack of food. Only $2,400 has been sent in.

Thirty Feet Deep

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 9—Shaft throug which rescuers hope to reach Collins in sand cave was approximately thirty feet deep at 9 o'clock this morning, four days after it was started. At present rate, level where Collins is though to be will not be reached before Thursday or Friday.

Prepare To-day For Parliament Opening

Railway Extension and Temperance May Supply Real Problems

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 9.—There is unusual activity at Queen's Park today in preparation for the opening of the second session of the 16th Legislature tomorrow. Many members from remote constituencies have already arrived. There has been no announcement as to what legislation may be expected in the speech from the throne. Besides that already predicted there is a rumor around the buildings that the speech will mention a branch extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway into the new mining district of Rouyn. There is also a report that the Government may go ahead with the immediate construction of this line. It is generally agreed that the temperance issue will be a live one, but none will hazard even a guess as to what form the proposed amendments by "wets" will take.

SAYS SHIPPING COMBINE HALTS EXPORT TRADE

W. T. R. Preston Reports to Government on His Investigation

REPORT IS TABLED

Export Duty on Canadian Wheat May Be Warranted

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—"The North Atlantic Shipping combine is an obvious menace to the natural development of the export trade of the country and an evident deterrent to prosperity and the welfare of the population of the Dominion. The moving spirits in this gigantic world-wide martime organisation have conspired, combined, agreed, and arranged to unduly limit the facilities for ocean transportation. They are preventing, limiting and lessening competition in ocean transportation to and from Canadian ports."

In these words, W. T. R. Preston, who was appointed by Government, to inquire into operation of an alleged North Atlantic Steamship combine," summarizes some of the conclusions he has reached as a result of his investigation.

Impost Warranted

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Export duty on Canadian wheat entering United States is discussed in the report of the Royal Commission which last year investigated the Canadian grain trade and the report says that.

"While as a general thing export duties are to be deprecated, the exceptional situation that arises in this instance might warrant such an impost."

Every phase of the grain trade is discussed in the report which is signed without dissent by all four commissioners, of which the chairman is Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, Judge in Saskatchewan court of apepal. The report was tabled in the House of Commons to-day.

Does Not Regret Wedding Chinaman

But Nineteen - Year - Old White Girls Sees Superintendent

Hamilton, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Dan Hong, formerly Kathleen Turner, 19-year-old white orphan girl, who was married here last week by Rev. J. L. Alexander, pastor of First Congregational Church, on a license obtained from City Clerk Kent by her 45-year-old Chinese husband, left Friday afternoon for Toronto to interview the lady superintendent of the Barnardo Homes, of which she is a ward.

Mrs. Hong, who is a rather pretty bobbed-haired bride, said that she did not have to do anything now. She stated that the lady superintendent wished her to get a separation from Hong.

"But," said Mrs. Hong, "I'm not a ward of the Barnardo Homes any more, and I can do as I please about remaining here."

"What do you intend to do?"

"Well, Im going to stay with my husband, so far as my present intentions are concerned. He's quite willing for me to make this trip to Toronto."

'Is it true that the Barnardo Home paid your board at the Y.W.C.A. at Brantford and that you didn't have to leave there?"

"The superintendent of the home in Toronto paid my board for only one week while I was sick."

"Where are the two girls who came here with you?"

"I paid their fare back to Brantford."

"Is there any reason why you should leave your husband?"

"No; there has been enough scandal about my marriage."

When interviewed about the marriage which he performed, Rev. Mr. Alexander was asked the question: "Had you no scruples about marrying a white girl to a Chinaman much older than herself?

He replied: "No, not necessarily. I'm not a tyro at this marrying business. I have been familiar with the local Chinese for some time. Before I performed the ceremony I made sure the license was all right. I called up to verify it. The girl seemed in her right mind, and I knew the Chinese group to which the groom belong, and I understood she was a Barnardo Home girl."

Leonard Seppalla, champion musher of Alaska, is shown above with the dog-team with which he faced death in order to rush antitoxin to diphtheria-stricken Nome. Despite the fact that he had been warned that the ice of Norton Sound was breaking up and drifting out to sea, Seppalla ignored personal danger and headed his string of malamutes straight across the danger zone. By so doing he saved many valuable hours and established a new Alaskan record, travelling 300 miles in a little over eight hours.

Gun Was Harmless Accused Explains

Charge Against Belleville Man Dismissed in Police Court To-day

Charged with having pointed a revolver at his wife on Sunday February first, a local man appeared before Magistrate Masson this morning The charge was dismissed after accused, his wife and daughter had testified.

The sequel will likely be a separation, but ample provision is to be made for the two bright children who are getting along well in public school.

Holding that his wife's unfaithfulness had cost him worry and money, accused told of the chamber having been previously removed from the revolver which by nature of his employment he is allowed to lawfully carry. He always removed the chamber so that if the children happened to get the gun, they would not be in danger. When he held the revolver in his hand he testified, the chamber with cartridges was in his pocket.

His wife sent the boy for a constable on that occasion and a charge was laid.

O. A. Payne defended accused.

Find Baby Inside Club Bag On Train

North Bay Mother Had Written Instructions for Conductor

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—Mr. A. G. Brouce, travelling inspector for the Mothers' Allowance Board, spent the week-end at his home in Lindsay, and relates a remarkable experience which he had while on the North Bay train Friday. A six-months' old babe was found on a rear seat of the passenger coach, inside of a club bag, and covered with a newspaper. Mr. Bruce picked the infant out and was instrumental in delivering it to the Children's Aid authorities.

It appears that the baby was placed in the coach by a young mother at North Bay. It was asleep and not a sound came from the club bag. Mr. Bruce got on the train at a station lower down on the line and was sitting with a traveller when the traveller noticed the paper over the opening in the club bag moving. A few seconds later and a baby began to cry. The traveller got the conductor and Mr. Bruce lifted the tiny, bright little infant out of its hiding place.

A label was pinned to the child's dress, read: "In care of the conductor, see instructions inside." On the little under shirt was found a note stating that the baby's name was Olive Martin, and that the mother wanted it left at St. Mary's home, Toronto. The boy was a cute little tiny tot, full of chuckles and fat with wrinkles. It was given over to the authorities of the C. A. Society.

VIC FOLEY MEETS JOHNSTON TO-NIGHT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 9—"Vic" Foley, Canadian bantamweight champion, will meet Jackie Johnston, of Toronto, former amateur 118 pound champion in a ten round championship bout at Coliseum here tonight. Foley is regarded by Tex Rickard fight impresario of the United States, as one of the ten best bantams in the world at the present time, while Johnston's rise from amateur ranks to his present position as leading contendor for the title in the monied class has been little short of meteoric. The men will fight at 118 pounds which may slightly weaken Johnston.

URGE FIVE YEAR PERMIT

BELLEVILLIANS OF WATERTOWN COME IN BODY

Under Present Arrangements For Old Boys' Re-Union

SUGGESTIONS MADE

Would Have Informal Re-Union For Former Scholars

That there will be a good delegation from Watertown, N. Y. to the Old Boys' Re-Union in Belleville during the first week in August and that arrangements are being made to bring over a patrol of Boy Scouts from that place, is interesting information contained in a letter to Mayor Mikel from Byng Hayes. Byng was formerly mayor of the Boys' Council in this city and is now residing in Watertown. This letter follows:

"Well how is the Re-union progressing. I hope it is a hum-dinger. I am making arrangements for a Patrol of Scouts to come over and would like accommodation, that is a place for the boys to sleep.

"I would like to suggest an idea. Why not have each city school hold an informal re-union of all former scholars, like the Pinnacle School, Station, Octavia, Grier St., Canifton Road and High School. There will be hundreds here who have attended these schools and would be delighted at a get-together with old friends and former teachers. I started in at the Pinnacle St. school under Miss Mackay and would help out for that school. I am planning on a re union of my old Troop of Scouts during the celebration. If you want me to I will act as a volunteer Secretary for N. Y. State in arranging accommodations on the ferry from the Cape to Kingston. There will be a good delegation from Watertown and we will try and come in a body.

Yours sincerely,
Charles Hayes.

Trace Mrs Caniff Or Heirs Of Hers

Los Angeles Company Have Located Property Needing Attention

Does anyone in Belleville know where Mrs. Helen Caniff is living, or is she alive?

The Assets Realization Company, suite 820, Black Building, Los Angeles, Cal., would like to know, and the manager, John C. Vanek, has written The Intelligencer asking the aid of the newspaper in locating Mrs. Helen Caniff.

The letter which is dated February 3rd, 1925, states that she is the widow of one M. W. Caniff who was a resident of Los Angeles during the years of 1909 to 1913.

"We understand," the letter explains "That many branches of the family live in the vicinity of Belleville.

"We have located some property that is in need of the attention of the above mentioned party, or if she has died, then the attention of her heirs-at-law," continues the letter.

The Intelligencer would be pleased to hear from this woman, or any relatives of city and district.

JAPAN AND CHINA

Rumors are increasing of a forthcoming alliance between Japan and China. The menacing encroachments of Russia are assigned as one reason for such an alliance. The soviet government has done much to disturb both countries, its emissaries having recently stirred up the jingo element in Japan, and fomented civic strife in China. Against Russia these countries have reason for a defensive alliance.

But there are possibly other reasons for an alliance. To both Japan and China there is one big problem in common—room for their expanding populations. Northern Asia controlled by Russia presents the nearest opportunity for solution so long as the alien laws of other countries remain in force. An alliance could work in both directions, and probably would, the two nations undertaking jointly what neither could singly accomplish.

PLAIN, EVERY-DAY HERO

What is courage?

A little girl living in the crowded East Side section of New York City was taken to a hospital, where it was found it would be necessary for her to undergo a serious operation, involving blood transfusion. Her little brother, as dirty and unkempt as the patient, was asked whether he would be willing to give his blood to save the life of his sister. He hesitated just an instant as pallor crept beneath the grime of his face, and then uttered a courageous "sure". The transfusion was made, and while the surgeon was working over the girl he felt a tug at his sleeve. He turned to behold the face of the boy, pale as death now that the dirt had been washed off and the blood loss had begun to tell, and was met by this inquiry:

"Say, doc., when do I croack?"

Here is a story to which the mere embroidery of words can add but little. That little East Side urchin, dirty on the outside but with a heart of gold, believed that his life was asked to save that of his sister, and all the tales of heroism in history contain no simpler, grander story than that expressed in the one word:

"Sure!"

MUSSOLINI'S COUP

Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has successfully executed another coup. Having cowed the people, especially that portion of them opposed to him, he has secured a new cabinet, every member of which is in full sympathy with his plans. Mussolini apparently is again master of Italy.

The word "apparently" is used advisedly for there is in Italy a decided reaction from Mussolini rule. A large portion of the people feel he has not kept faith with them, and a considerable portion believe has has exploited the kingdom. These may be cowed by Mussolini's display of force but not convinced of error. All they need is a leader to bring them together into a formidable opposition.

Had Mussolini been less a dictator and more a leader the situation might be different and the prospect more satisfactory. Necessity for a coup itself demonstrates the existence of conditions that are menacing.

THE WORLD MOVES

The world does move, and sometimes it does seem that there may be something new under the sun. A few days ago the news came from Nome that there was an epidemmic of diphtheria there and no antitoxin. There was an appeal to the outside world; the response was prompt; but Nome was far away and the road was difficult. Dog teams were started out along the frozen mail trails with supplies of the precious anti-toxin; but though records for dog teams may have been broken, their speed was not fast enough, and so it was decided to send an airplane.

A good deal of space has been given in the newspapers to the situation at Nome with an epidemic of diphtheria and no anti-toxin; but, as a contemporary has pointed out, it is not many years ago since the whole world was in the same situation, so far as the absence of anti-toxin is concerned. It is not so long ago since diphtheria was regarded as one of the most dreadful of diseases, and since an epidemic of it would mean a horrifying death-rate.

It is recalled, too, that when antitoxin was first introduced it encountered opposition and even derision. There are still people who deny its usefulness, just as there are still people who scoff at vaccination as a protection against smallpox.

CHEERFUL THOUGH HUNGRY

Breakfast is an important institution to most people. Firemen are not the exception. The alarm for the blaze at Thompson's warehouse on Saturday morning came just when Belleville's fire fighters were changing shifts, and before half of them had eaten. Yet they all turned out cheerfully and worked cheerfully and hard until nearly noon—for their day's pay certainly—but mostly for the protection of their fellow citizens The brigade here set a praiseworthy example to the rest of us.

Press Opinions

THINKING NATIONALITY

Brandon Sun:

The greatest enemies to Canadian national thought today are shallow bluster and superficial thought which produce a black stratum of disrespect to the duties of citizenship. There are those who propose national isolation as a substitute to nationalism or a broader mission for the united Canadian people. We have to participate in the life and the work of a continent and insular groups are wrecking our old ideals of a commonwealth or a clearer one-ness from sea to sea. Canada can never prosper in sections or progress by selfish groups. We must advance as one people, that people must be open-minded, public minded and world-minded, Canada first, but Canada always, and a nation spirit.

WEMBLEY, 1925

Perth Western Mil:

Western Australia in the sale of her apples alone has derived an advertisement which could have been secured through other avenues only at great cost. Wembley is the best publicity Western Australia has ever received for products. It is estimated that only 7,000,000 people will view the exhibition next year compared with 17,000,000 this year. That is deemed sufficient to cover the cost of opening the exhibition throughout 1925. To drop the project in such circumstances would be most regrettable. Wembley is more han a collection of ornate pavilions. It is the British Empire's pacific statement of its unity of purpose and the dependence of its parts, London as well as Albany, one upon the other.

FEW FARMERS FAIL

St. Thomas Times-Journal:

The habit of complaining seems ingrained in a large proportion of those who are engaged in farming. It is handed down from generation to generation until it has become almost second nature to farmers to belittle their task in life. The outcome of it all is that the rising generation, hearing their elders bewail conditions to each other in the home and in the market place, early resolve that farm life is not for them and they hie to the cities. An examination of bankruptcy records for Canada shows comparatively few failures among farmers, and those that do occur are mainly among inexperienced men who took up farming without knowing how to farm. One hears of the occasional strikes made by city dwellers, but the percentage of failures, or just ordinary and less than ordinary livings made by city dwellers is too high to attract notice. Not long ago, a farmer whose attention was called to the rise of an immigrant who struck gold in the north many years ago, truly remarked: "I and my father before me have taken more money out of this land than they'll ever get out of a good many gold mines, and its full of gold for my children and grandchildren."

HERRIN'S TROUBLES

Border Cities Star:

Sheriff Galligan, of Herrin, the man who has probably the most troublesome job in America at the present moment, is going to make a determined effort to stop the bloody warfare that has made his own notorious all over the continent. What the sheriff proposes is to place a strict curb on the carrying of firearms by private citizens, and to restrict the issuance of permits to "tote" the weapons. To this one factor alone can most of the little town's troubles be laid.

In any community where there is laxity in this regard, potential murderers walk the streets. The man with a gun in his pocket is a menace to society and should be punished as such. When a condition of affairs exists under which the plea of "self-defense" is sufficient to obtain for any irresponsible person the authority to go about armed trouble is brewing for the community.

The very fact that citizens feel the need of armed protection shows laxity in the control of firearms. The only safe method is practically an absolute ban on private ownership of guns which lend themselves to concealment on the person.

THE ART OF BLAMING OTHERS

It is often said and taught that we should not blame others.

But there are times when others are wrong, and we are right—at least, we feel so. There are times when we must stand firmly by our own convictions, no matter what the world says.

There is a time to take your own part against the whole world, just as there is a time to admit your own failure, if caused by inner collapse.

It is very necessary to maintain a proper balance between blaming ourselves and others. All life, for that matter, is a balance, and a question of judgment and there is nothing in which the distinction should be more sharply drawn than in the matter of holding others to be at fault on the one hand and ourselves on the other.

If you will read the life of any man of achievement, you will be struck by his absolute confidence in his own great ideas.

The whole world may have laughed at him, but he knew that the world was wrong.

It is written: "To the jaundiced honey tastes bitter, and to those bitten by mad dogs water causes fear, and to little children a ball is a fine thing." So says Marcus Aurelius.

So it is an art calling for all our faculties to know whether it is ourselves or our friends who are little children or bitten or jaundiced.

Napoleon realized this when he said: "To succeed one must be sometimes very bold and sometimes very prudent."

If we are always blaming others, we become disagreeable. It is a bad habit to which we are all liable, that of laying our blame of failure on other peope.

But it is also a bad habit to be so blind and to so lack spiritual backbone as to be a continual doormat.

There are times when we must stand up for ourselves.

This perfect balance is indicated in the teaching of Scripture, which says: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." If there is no intelligent love of oneself, there can be none that is of value for one' neighbor.

It is important to know when we are wrong, and important to know when the world is wrong. It is all a part of the difficult art of life.

Letters To The Editor

AN EMBARGO THE ONLY THING

To the Editor:

Sir:—It is to be regretted that the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has seen fit to go on record in favour of an export duty on pulpwood rather than for total and immediate restriction of exports. An export duty would not meet the situation. A duty of $5 to $10 a cord which has been suggested by some advocates of this measure would produce a revenue of seven to ten million dollars while if the wood was kept here and manufactured in Canada the resultant revenue would be from fifty to sixty millions and in addition our Canadian railways would benefit by from thirty to forty million dollars by the additional traffic.

The actual loss Canada sustains by allowing this exportation of unmanufactured wood in reality amounts to more than $100,000,000, a year, without taking into account its effect in shortening the existence of our own wood-using industries, reducing the efficiency of our water powers and crippling, as it eventually must do, our agricultural interests. (It is significant that while our farmers in the West are expending considerable sums of money in planting shelter belts of trees to protect their crops, farmers and settlers in the East are being encouraged to denude their land for the paltry price they receive for their pulp wood.

Every cord of wood we now cut means depletion our woods capital. The loss from wind and waste in operating more than offsets the gross annual growth, the further loss caused by fungi, insects, fire and cutting constituting a net drain on capital How long can a country remain solvent that is living on capital?

Canadians must face the fact that the pulp and paper industry is fast approaching its peak in Eastern Canada. It is, in fact, already over-developed, and with the completion of the new construction now under way the reasonable ratio of mill capacity to wood supply will have passed the safety point,—in fact it has already done so.

Export taxes will not furnish raw material for our pulp and paper mills. When our wood is exhausted all the export taxes in the world will not satisfy the voracious maw of these 110 mills, for a single day.

It is very generous on the part of the Canadian pulp and paper manufacturers to offer to allow their American competitors to continue to abstract their raw material from Canada's rapidly diminishing supply by the simple payment of a tax, which would in any event merely be a contribution towards the cost of protecting this exportable wood from fire. This however, will not satisfy the vast body of Canadian people who have invested their money in Canadian pulp and paper securities and who demand of the Government that their investments be safeguarded, nor will it restore our wood once it has become exhausted. There is a public interest at stake in this issue, quite apart from that of the paper mills, which, at worst, would merely have to put up their shutters for lack of raw material. The public interest should came before all others.

Rain, Radio, Hubbies Keep Phones Busy

At Five in the Evening the Traffic Increases Greatly

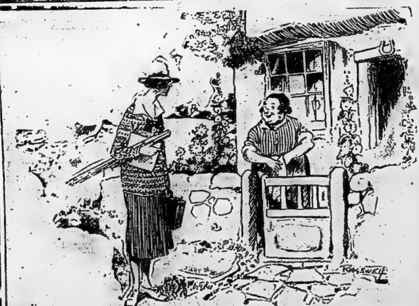
(Associated Press Despatch)

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Daily conferences held after business hours in Los Angeles mount up into the thousands, according to N. R. Powley and G. De Nevers, Southern California Telephone officials, who say that around 5 o'clock every evening several thousand business men call up to inform their wives that they can't get home to dinner, usually because of a "Conference."

"During the brief period between 4.45 and 5.10 p.m., the telephone girls handle more calls a minute than at any other time during the day," said Mr. Powley. "The bulk ofthem are men calling up their wives about not being able to get home to dinner."

Various other factors that make the traffic in telephone calls jump and cause switchboards to light up like the proverbial Christmas tree, said Mr. De Nevers, are fires, explosions and radio announcers requesting listeners-in to "call up and let us know how you hear us." If a day opens with clear weather and rain comes up later the number of phone calls increases unbelievably, the officials said. Everybody seems to be calling up to cancel engagements or to rent taxi cabs.

Checking over the 1,750,000 calls a day, the telephone operators say that the popular notion is correct, men can not compete with women in long conversations.



"I wonder if I may make a sketch of your carming cottage?" "Certainly, miss. If ye ain't in no 'urry I'll just pop in and give the windows a bit of a clean."—London Tatler.

FIRE STARTED AGAIN

When debris in the elevator shaft at the William Thompson Company Limited began to smoulder again Saturday evening, firemen were required to lay one line of hose and extinguish any signs of fire. The store is open for business as usual to-day.

HIGHER TEMPERATURES

Saturday and Sunday mild weather was experienced and especially on Sunday when the minimum temperature was 33 degrees above zero. To-day was also mild, snow disappearing quite freely. A year ago to-day we were experiencing a severe cold snap, it being 11 degrees below zero. Figures for the two dates for this and last year are as follows:

Feb. 7th, 1925—39.16.
Feb. 8th, 1925—48.33.
Feb. 7th, 1924—26.10.
Feb. 8th, 1924—27.1 below zero.

HEN COOP BURNED

Fire in a hen coop in connection with Mr. H. Davison's home on Stone Street, gave the fire brigade a run on Sunday evening. The small frame structure was destroyed. There were no fowl in the coop at the time. It is surmised that some one entered the coop looking for chickens and struck a match which caused the blaze. The loss sustained was not of a serious nature.

SNOW BY-LAW

The attention of the Public is called to the Snow By-Law which requires everyone to remove the snow and ice from the sidewalks under a penalty of not more than $50.00 and not less than $1.00.

It is important to take advantage of the mild weather to have this done at once.

Speaker Boosts Hotel Quinte

Belleville Would Rather Lose Two Industries, H. F. Ketcheson Says

"We would rather lose two of our best industries in Belleville than lose our Quinte Hotel," said Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, ex-Mayor of Belleville in an address before a group of prominent citizens of Oshawa, who met to hear about the proposed new hotel in that City.

Continuing, Mr. Ketcheson said: "Nothing so benefits a city as a good hotel. It will do more to advertise your city than anything else you can secure. If you put up a good hotel here you will never regret it."

These were some of these salient points made in the address. The gathering was presided over by Mr. A. G. Storie, Chairman of the local Hotel Committee. It was attended by some fifteen prominent business men, who were aroused to a pitch of enthusiasm by the spirited address given by the visitor from Belleville and by several local citizens.

Mayor Schell introduced the chief speaker of the evening, pointing out that he was one of the prominent citizens of Belleville, and that he had a message for the people of Oshawa. Mr. Schell took the occasion to heartily endorse the undertaking for a new hotel, and urged that the citizens get behind it and make it a success.

The Need of a New Hotel

Mr. Ketcheson told in an interesting graphic way the history of Belleville both before and after it had secured a good hotel. The "before stage" sounded very much like Oshawa's present condition where travellers are unable to find accomodation, where conventions pass the city because they cannot be accommodated; where executives of big corporations must bring their own sleeping cars.

"Have a Gold-Mine"

"In 1895 the old Quinte Hotel was opened and shortly after, sold to its present owner, Mr. Jenkins, who paid for it in four or five years. When the hotel burned and he was urged by some citizens to retire on the money he made, he replied that 'I have a gold mine here. I am going to rebuild' and he rebuilt a larger and better hotel at a cost of $125,000. Since that time it has been enlarged and today the owner is a wealthy man."

"The hotel has brought many advantages to our city. It has increased the value of real estate. It has made the city known all over the continent It brings tourist traffic and the tourist leaves a lot of good money with the merchants of the city."

Hotel Brought New Industry

One striking illustration told by the speaker, made a profound impression "At the present time we have the American Optical Co., in Belleville, employing seventy-five hands and adding to the number constantly. We got that industry entirely through our hotel. A man was sent over from the head office in the United States to make a survey of several towns such as Lindsay, Peterboro Bowmanville, Trenton and Brockville. He spent a week making his survey and then when it came Saturday night he found himself in Trenton. He was advised to go to Belleville to spend Sunday, as there was a good hotel there. He did so and while there met the President of the Chamber of Commerce, who showed him around the city, with the result that this man recommended Belleville as the logical location for the Canadian branch of this factory, although Belleville was not among the places he was asked to visit. The president of the company then came over and he too, was so favorably impressed with the good hotel accommodation that he endorsed the findings of his advance agent with result that the factory is located and doing extremely well, as they handle the entire export business of the American Optical Company."

In concluding his address, Mr. Ketcheson reiterated his statement that they would rather lose two of their best industries than lose their hotel. He urged that the citizens get behind the project as he was confident that they would never regret such a move. He also made a plea for a good live Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce.

Hotel Would Pay

Other speakers at the banquet were Capt. Dickinson who analyzed the prospective earnings of a hotel and showed the advantages which would accrue to a city from the possession of a first class hotel. He was very optimistic regarding the amount of tourist traffic which could be secured, and also pointed out that substantial earnings could be made through the holding of conventions, etc.

CENTENARY

A very quiet but pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs David Thrasher on Wednesday night when about seventy of the neighbors of this community gathered there to wish their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Hall nee Muriel Thrasher and her husband a long and happy wedded life. The chair was ably taken by Mr. G. Cannings. Mrs. Hall's S.S class of little girls marched into the room and Elinor Roblin read an address and Anna Adams presented their teacher with a pyrex pie plate set in silver. Miss Clara Adams read an appropriate address and Miss M. ellman on behalf of the community presented the young couple with a dozen silver knives, a doz. forks and half dozen silver teaspoons (Old Colony). Mr. and Mrs. Hall made a suitable reply thanking the donors for the gifts and inviting them all to visit them at their home at Bayside. Following is the address:—

Dear Muriel,—

We, your friends and neighbors, both young and old have gathered here tonight not only to show our esteem and respect for you but also to wish you and your husband many long years of prosperity and happiness You have been a faithful worker in the League, Sunday School and choir and all branches of church work; always ready and willing to do your bit whenever called upon and we will miss you not only in the church but in the community wherein you have grown up from childhood, for we have learned to love you for your many noble qualities. We hope that in your new home you will still continue to work in the Master's Vineyard where in all true happiness is found and that you may be a blessing to those with whom you come in contact.

We ask you to accept these gifts as but a small token of our appreciation; and we hope you will always have a warm spot in your heart for the old associates at Centenary.

Province Decides To Help Its Cities

Ferguson Government works Out Plan For Unemployment Situation

Toronto, Feb. 9.—The Ferguson Cabinet announced over the week-end a program of unemployment relief to be extended to Ontario citiese. One-third of the exces cost over normal of municipal works and of relief is to be shouldered by the province as its share in alleviating conditions of striking necessity. The term "relief" is not to include the giving of cash doles.

In announcing this policy, Premier Ferguson made it plain that his Government was not accepting any theory of provincial responsibility for unemployment, but was simply acting because of its inability to overlook the distress which exists through no fault of the people but because of the stagnation of industry. He declared his surprise at Ottawa's attitude upon the crisis and upon the unique refuge which it had taken behind the British North America Act. Premier Ferguson pointed out that Parliament was a sovereign body and could not be hindered by the British North America Act from voting money for any purpose which it might deem fit.

The announcement of the Government followed the appeal made last week by a large deputation representative of all Ontario municipalities which declared the unemployment problem to be one of human urgency, beyond the ability of municipalities to meet. Ottawa's defection in the crisis, offering the "British North America Act in place of bread," was stated, and the province was urged to extend its good offices in the matter.

Consideration has now been given to the appeal by the Cabinet, and the following statement by Premier Ferguson details the policy which is being adopted.

Prime Minister's Statement

"A large deputation representative of the various municipalities of the province waited on the Government last week to present to them the conditions regarding unemployment in the various districts and urging the necessity for provincial aid. It was pointed out that the municipalities are now laboring under a very heavy burden of expenditure and that the Dominion Goverment had refused to make any contribution towards relieving the strain. The view of the Provincial Government is that the responsibility for the care of its citizens rests primarily with the municipality This has already been pointed out by the Prime Minister in a letter addressed to the Mayor of Toronto some months ago. In times of prosperity the municipality invites an influx of population which is essential to the organization and the carrying on of their various industrial enterprises. The municipality profits by the taxes and expenditures with all the other advantages that come from increased population and its earnings. In times of depression it surely is the duty of the same municipality to help these people who have contributed to its success. The responsibility rests secondarily with the Dominion Government, which has control of and encourages immigration, and not always with due care to proper selection. Moreover from the broad national view of citizenship the Dominion Government certainly owes it to all Canadian citizens to help maintain their position in the country under abnormal conditions.

"It would appear, however, that the Dominion Government has declined to lend assistance in the present critical condition. The alleged reason given I understand, is that under the British North America Act the Dominion Government is precluded from giving aid under such circumstances. I am sure that this will bea surprisingly novel interpretation of our constitution to our people. Parliament surely is supreme and can vote public monies for any purpose it may deem proper. So that this Government is unable to see that there is any force or substance in the position taken by the Dominion Government.

"Although this Government adheres to the view that it has no direct responsibility in the matter, we realize that the condition has reached such a serious point that there is no time to cavil about the question of responsibility. Many of our people are in dire distress and must be provided with the means of sustenance for themselves and their families. After thoroughly surveying the whole situation and weighing carefully the representations made to us by this large and influential deputation, the Government feels that the people of Ontario will approve of its holding out a helping hand to the man who may be in distress through no fault of his own, but entirely on account of stagnation in industry and the lack of opportunity for employment. We are prepared to share with municipal corporations under the regulations set out hereafter the expenditure upon unemployment relief incurred between the first day of February, 1925, and the fifteenth day of April, 1925, upon the following basis:

"(a) One-third of the excess labor cost over the normal labor cost incurred by a municipal corporation in respect of any work wholly or partly constructed during the said period solely for the purpose of relieving unemployment: and

"(b) One-third of the excess expenditure incurred by a municipal corporation during the said period in respect of other unemployment relief measures over the normal expenditure as determined by the average of such expenditure of such corporation during the same period in the last preceding two years."

No Cash Doles

The regulations which the Government has drafted detail the works and relief to which the assistance shal lextend. It is stated that 'works' for the purpose of the grant shall include "all useful municipal works undertaken by a municipal corporation during the Winter of 1924-25 solely for the purpose of providing work for unemployed persons. It is immaterial when the construction of the work was initiated or when the work was completed; the share to be borne by the Province relates solely to the expenditure incurred between the 1st of February and the 15th of April, 1925. The expenditure to be shared by the Province is to include only the excess cost of Winter work due to the inefficiency of labor and the substitution of labor for machinery, and not the difference, if any, between Winter prices paid for materials and the price in effect during the normal working season."

"Relief measures shall include only food, fuel, boots, shoes, and underclothing supplied by municipal corporations for families and unemployed single persons in circumstances requiring assistance, but shal not include the giving of cash doles."

Remaining regulations provide that municipalities shall appoint a relief officer who shall certify the giving of relief and through whom relief shall be administered in accordance with forms supplied by the Provincial Minister of Labor. Provision is also made for the presentation of accounts by the municipalities to the Province and for an audit of the accounts by the Province should it desire one.

Your Rexall Drug Store What Is It?

Near your home there's a certain drug store. On its window a sign says "The Rexall Store". Over its counter you are served by the greatest drug store enterprise on earth.

The Rexall system was founded 22 years ago. Forty Retail Druggists formed an organization for better drug store service.

Then they established in Boston a cooperative company to manufacture merchandise which they could guarantee and sell at moderate prices. They called this concern the United Drug Company. To-day there are 10,000 Rexall Stores—all partners in this great enterprise—al lhelping each other to help you shop with safety.

Last year the busines of the Rexall Stores totalled half a billion dollars. The United Drug Company, which serves your Rexall Store at partner prices, is the largest drug concern in existence. It owns the 300 Liggett Drug Stores in the busiest locations of America's greatest cities. (Liggett's Drug Stores are also Rexall Drug Stores.)

It controls Boots, Ltd., in England, comprising not only the largest drug manufacturing plants in the British Empire, but 700 retail drug stores—the biggest drug store chain in the world.

It owns 12 manufacturing plants in the United States, devoted to the production of drug store commodities—famous advertised brands such as these: Puretest Preparations for health and hygiene, Kantleek Rubber Goods, Jonteel Toilet Articles, Klenzo Dentifrice and Mouth Wash, Rexall Products, First Aid Sick Room Supplies, Symphony Lawn Stationery, Liggett's Chocolates and Pure Food Staples, each class made in its own manufacturing unit. These products can be purchased only at a Rexall Drug Store.

The entire effort of the United Drug Company—its world wide command of resources—its short-cuts in direct selling—the skill of its many experts, the price saving on huge sales volume—new products, new methods, new ideas for store management—all this is centred in your Rexall Store and passed on to you in every purchase you make there.

Your Rexall Druggist is a local man. He runs a local business, yet he offers you all the advantages of a great international institution. He offers you a Drug store service, raised and held to definite standard. The quality of your Rexall purchase is always uniform, always reliable.

He offers you all that other drug stores sell and many things that can be purchased only at a Rexall Store. He offers you a money-back guarantee on every United Drug product.

Shop with Safety at Your Rexall Drug Store.

Echoes Carried Back From The World's Missionary Convention

Belleville Party Had Interesitng Time Sight-Seeing Apart From Serious End of the Trip

(By a Belleville Delegate)

On Wednesday the 28th of January, 1925, there opened at the City of Washington in the District of Columbia, the World's Missionary Convention. The last one held previous to that date was in Edinburgh, fifteen years before.

The Convention was held in the Washington Convention Auditorium, which was only opened the proceeding week and which has not yet been completed. The Auditorium will seat six thousand persons and is one of the finest and by means of seven amplifiers every speaker could be distinctly heard in every part of the auditorium.

The committee of arrangements showed great ability in details of the Convention and the hotels of the city gave special rates to the delegates and ample provision was made for accommodation of all. Three thousand eight hundred registered from distant points while the thousand delegates came from the city of Washington and its vicinity, making a total roll of four thousand eight hundred.

The delegates were admitted to the Convention Hall by ticket and the ticket holders were numerous enough to fill the Convention Hall. Twelve hundred additional tickets were issued to the citizens of Washington who took advantage of the great Convention, and these tickets were used by different people during the Convention.

The place of meeting is particularly suitable for it. The city is, in the opinion of those who have seen the great capitals of the world, the most beautiful of them all. It being planned and the buildings erected especially for the capital of the United States. The magnificent public buildings are not assembled in one group, but scattered throughout the City, so that wherever a visitor travels in the City the eye meets with one or more of the magnificent public buildings of the capital.

The most noted one is the Capital itself, which presents a magnificent appearance from the hill upon which it is erected. It is 750 ft long and 350 ft wide, covers four acres of ground and cost about twenty-nine millions. There are fifty-two acres of ground surrounding the building, beautifully laid out and carefully kept.

In the Capitol are the Senate Chambers, the house of representatives, the Supreme Court and the Rotunda with its wonderful paintings.

The Belleville delegates together visited the Senate and the House of Representatives, and in both cases found the members speaking to empty benches, not more than a corporals guard being present.

Not far from the Capitol stands the Congressional Library, which is the finest Library building in the World, here art has erected for literature, a fitting home. It is a palatial building of Italian Renaissance style, of architecture. The cost of the building was twenty millions the Murals and mosaics symbolical of the muses, are among the most beautifully in the world. The rary contains four million– volumes The top of the ceiling or dome above the Library floor is 196 feet from the floor. When the Belleville contingent visited the Library, the western sun was shining through the coloured windows and the beautiful effect of the same upon the colored marble columns, the beautiful decorations and the paintings reminds one of the Tomb of Napoleon with the afternoon sun shining upon it. Here, the original constitution of the United States is preserved, with the signatures of the patties who signed it.

We visited the Reading Room of the House of Representatives, which is in a wing of the Congressional Library, and can ay without fear of contradition that it is the most beautiful reading room in the world. The ceilings, walls and fire-places being constructed with the most beautiful designs, and decorations with an artistic taste it would be impossible to excel.

The White House was also visited, being the residence of the President. The different rooms were seen and the paintings of the wives of former presidents adorned the walls. This house is of stately simplicity, set in green lawns and shaded by ancient trees, built on the site selected by General Washington in 1792. Here may be seen the famous East room containing magnificent chandeliers, priceless vases presented by foreign countries and the beautiful gold lined piano, worth twenty-five thousand dollars.

We visited also the Corcoran Art Gallery, where a rare collection of paintings and sculpture may be seen. The National Museum was also very interesting.

Among the different places visited, the Cemetery at Arlington was of great interest. Here are buried sixteen thousand of the soldiers who gave their lives for their country and a monument of the unknown dead marks the common resting place of two thousand one hundred and eleven unidentified soldiers, who died on the battle fields of the Civil War.

The Amphi-theatre building at Arlington is a beautiful construction and every visitor to Washington should see it.

While we visited many places of interest, which space will not permit us to describe, the description would not be complete without a reference to the Lincoln Memorial, which has been constructed in honour of the great president, who was assassinated at the close of the Civil War. In this magnificent memorial which is built of white marble is an immense statue of Abraham Lincoln, seated in a large arm-chair, looking towards the Capitol, the Washington monument being in a direct line between the two buildings.

The delegates from this city stayed over a day to visit different points of interest and between sessions of the Convention were able to visit many of them.

Washington is a beautiful city and worthy of being the capital of the great American republic. For beauty of construction, plan of streets, the many circles constructed throughout the city and the ornate decorations of the buildings there is no city in existence which equals it.

NEW ZEALANDER MAKES APOLOGY

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The New Zealand school teacher whose adverse comments on the manners of Toronto men and other criticisms have aroused some comment here is still a resident of Toronto it is disclosed by an interview with her appearing in a Toronto paper. Fearing that the criticisms would be imputed to others, she admitted today that she was the author of the letter sent to New Zealand which represented things Canadian in an unfavorable light. During the interview the young woman wept and expressed deep regret that she had written the letter. "I should never have written the beastly thing—it was just an effort to be smart," she declared.

The New Zealand teacher was inclined however, to stand by some of her statements. Her assertion that Canadians were ill-mannered she thought was partly justified by the fact that men allow women to stand in street cars here. She had never seen anything like that in New Zealand. Her statement also that Canadian teaching methods were antiquated, she felt, was justified, though it might have been wiser to have used the term "old-fashioned."

QUEER OLD MAN HELPS UNEMPLOYED

London, Feb. 7.—The unemployed at Wivenhoe, near Colchester, have found a patron in an aged wealthy man from United States, Bayard Brown, who lives on his yacht Valfreya, high and dry in a local dock, and who made a substantial donation to the unemployed Christmas fund. Some years ago Mr. Brown made a similar donation to the unemployed at Brightlingsea, where his yacht was then laid up.

Mr. Brown has been somewhat of a mystery in English coast towns, as his yacht seldom puts to sea and its owner rarely leaves its deck.

Mutual Life Shows A Healthy Record

Pioneer Canadian Company Experienced Healthy and Progressive Year

The recently issued 55th Annual Statement of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada cannot fail to prove a source of deep satisfaction to the policyholders. By every test, this pioneer Canadian mutual life company has made record progress during the past year. In every phase of its business, the growth has been more than satisfactory.

By practically half-a-million dollars the previous high record of surplus earnings was surpassed, the 1924 total being $3,500,258. An increased distribution was made to policyholders of $579,962.33 more than was paid out in 1923. A total of $2,689,007.90 was paid out in dividends in 1924—a return to the policyholders of approximately 25 percent. of the total premiums received by the company.

As pointed out by the General Manager in his address, during the lifetime of The Mutual Life of Canada, $15,063,134.22 has been paid in dividends to policyholders and, of this amount, $12,870,044.28 was distributed during the last 10 years. It is clearly evident from these figures that the aim of the company—to furnish maximum protection at a minimum cost—is being splendidly realized.

The expansion of the Company's business has been healthy and progressive. During the year a total of $43,324,297 of new assurances was written, representing an increase in new policies issued of $4,283,719, or 11 percent more than in 1923. The business in force now amounts to $250,729,966 on 135,235 policies, compared with $269,982,566 at the end of 1923— a net increase of $25,747,300 last year.

The impregnable financial situation of the Company is well indicated in accummulated assets of $95,960,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,378.

Three of the factors contributing to the exceptionally high surplus earned for the policyholders were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets The percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from the previous best showing of 16.13 percent. in 1923 to 15.52 percent. in 1924. This reduction was accomplished despite the fact that the new policies issued in 1924 exceeded the 1923 total by over 4 1-4 millions of dollars.

Another Record Broken

Another record was broken in the matter of low mortality. The ratio of actual to expected death claims was only 36.01 percent, as against 39.26 percent in 1923, the previous low record in recent years. Very careful consideration of risks by the Company's officers in the field is indicated by the extraordinary light death claims made in 1942. The policyholders benefit in the increased surplus thus made possible.

A third source of the increased surplus earned for policyholders was the high average interest yield on invested assets—6.41 percent. This gratifying average was achieved in the face of a downward trend in interest rates, and is notable in view of the amount invested in high-class bonds in which so large a part of The Mutual Life's assets is invested. The Directors' farsighted policy in investing funds was again strikingly justified in 1924.

The Mutual Life of Canada has an unbroken record of development during its 55 years of existence. The principle of Mutuality—whereby the profit-participating policyholders receive back the entire net profits—has been abundantly justified. As remarked by the President: "The results of the year 1924 are sufficient to paint the moral that co-operation, scientifically employed as it is in our case, eliminate the middleman and his profits, and thus assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution."

DROVE SINCE 1896, FINED FIRST TIME

Birmingham, Feb. 7—Frederick William Lanchester, who designed and built the first petrol-driven motor car in Great Britain and who since 1896 has held a license for driving, recently was summoned for the first time for a breach of the rules and regulations of the road.

His offense was failing to obey the signal of a policeman. The magistrate dismissed the case on condition that Lanchester pay the costs.

LOST LIFE TRYING TO SAVE HIS DOG

St. Catharines, Feb. 9.—Cecil Jones, 14-year-old son of Mrs. William Jones of Ontario Street, lost his life Saturday afternoon in an attempt to save his little playmate dog. The Jones boy, with some other lads, was playing beside the old Welland Canal.

The mild weather had made the ice unsafe for boys to venture upon, but when the playful little dog scurried out on to it, the other boys say, there seemed but one thing in the mind of its little master: fear that it would be drowned, and determination to rescue it at all costs. The boy ventured out, the ice gave beneath him and he sank from sight. In the swift current he had no chance. He was carried under the ice and away.

The little dog, perhaps ignorant of the tragedy it had caused, made its way to shore.

Attempts at rescue of the boy were futile.

The little victim and his mother seem to have been marked by evil fate. The lad himself while lighting the kitchen fire some years ago burned his hand so severely that the arm had to be amputated.

Two years ago the father was drowned in the canal.

The whole city sympathises.

COUNTY COMMITTEE IN SESSION TO-DAY

The finance committee of the county council, of which Mr. B. McGuire of Stirling is chairman, was in session here this afternoon. Matters for consideration were the indemnity liability insurance and the providing of certain articles of furniture for the court room, also making some improvement to the Judges' room adjoining the court room.

SENATORS TRIMMED LEAGUE LEADERS

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Playing just as close a game as the score indicates, Hamilton and Ottawa fought 12½ minutes overtime here Saturday night before the locals landed the tally that gave them a 3 to 2 victory. As was the case on the two former occasions on which these teams met here the game was a thriller from start to finish, and immensely pleasing to a capital house.

Swinging down left wing, eluding McKinnon, and then splitting the Langlois-Randall defense, Cy Denneny went whirling through to drive a back-hand shot out of Forbes' reach for the odd goal in five.

"Red" and "Shorty" Green were the bright lights for Hamilton. Randall played a very effective game, his "drifters" being a continual worry to Connell. Langlois and McKinnon were both prominent as was Roach, who was the only sub used.

Referee—Cooper Smeaton, Montreal.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME TO WINNER OF QUINTE

The Irishmen of Kingston came to themselves in the third period of last night's game against Napanee at Napanee in the Bay of Quinte League fixture long enough to win out by six to five, after the Napanee team had made it two to one in their favor at the end of the first period and held it four to three for themselves at the end of the second period. The game was fast all through and free from roughness. Babcock, the Napanee goalie, was struck on the mouth near the close of the first period by a flying puck and had to retire.

Monday's game here against Point Anne promises to be a hummer. It will practically decide the winner of the second section of the B. of Q. League, in which the Irishmen now lead.

JACK DEMPSEY HAS MARRIAGE LICENSE

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 9.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion pugilist, and Estelle Taylor, motion picture actress, shortly before noon Saturday obtained a marriage license at the office of the county clerk here.

"We do not intend to get married until Monday night," said Dempsey. "We have not yet decided who will perform the ceremony. As it is we plan on getting married Monday night and then leave for Los Angeles, after which we will plan our honeymoon."

But they were married on Saturday.

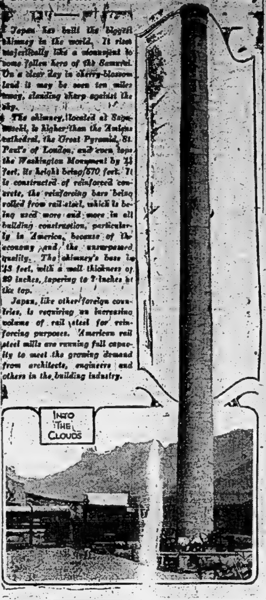
Tower Higher Than the Great Pyramid Gives Japan World's Tallest Chimney



Japan has built the biggest chimney in the world. It rises majestically like a monument to some fallen hero of the Samurai. On a clear day in cherry-blossom land it may be seen ten miles away, standing sharp against the sky.

The chimney, located at Saganoseki, is higher than the Amiens cathedral, the Great Pyramid, St. Paul's of London, and even tops the Washington Monument by 15 feet, its height being 570 feet. It is constructed of reinforced concrete, the reinforcing bars being rolled from rail steel, which is being used more and more in all building construction, particularly in America, because of the economy and the unsurpassed quality. The chimney's base is 43 feet, with a wall thickness of 30 inches, tapering to 7 inches at the top.

Japan, like other foreign countries, is requiring an increasing volume of rail steel for reinforcing purposes. American rail steel mills are running full capacity to meet the growing demand from architects, engineers and others in the building industry.

Although Aged 52 He Plays Football

Bill Lunday Expects to Play Better Next Season Too

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—James W. ("Bill") Lundy, 52 years old, believes he ranks well toward the top of active football players today.

Lundy who is an assistant sergeant-at-arms in the state House of Representatives plays with his home town grid team and last season was not pulled out of the game either by injury or by the coach. He was a member of the House two years ago and accepted appointment this session to be with the old crowd."

At Sargent, Neb., where Lundy owns a farm and power station, his achievements on the football field, the baseball diamond and in the hemped ring have gained him prominence. For four years, during the time his son, Albro, played with the high school team the father played with the town team against his son. Later the younger Lundy joined his father's team playing center. Albro took up wrestling at the University of Nebraska here.

The elder Lundy weighs 212 pounds but it has not hindered his offensive power. "Next season I will be better than ever," he said. "Each morning I take setting up exercises and in the spring I start preparing for the football season."

Congress To Wage A Tariff Battle

Agricultural Rates Loom up As Very Important Question

Washington, Feb. 9.—(By Canadian Press).—The next session of the U.S. Congress, the first session of the newly elected Senate and House, is almost sure to witness a battle over tariffs.

The question at issue will be, in a large measure, whether the tariff question is to be opened up with a view to increasing agricultural rates to a prohibitory point. Any action in this regard will react on Canadian exporters of agricultural products. The question of higher duties would have been opened at the present session of Congress were it not for the fact that the time before the session ends March 4, would have been too short to accomplish anything.

A large part of the agricultural membership in the House and Senate and most of the farm organizations of the United States are still in favor of the principle underlying the present tariff bill—the McNary-Haugen Bill. The purpose of this bill is to encourage agricultural exports and at the same time to shut out of the United States competing agricultural products. The agricultural commission appointed by President Coolidge has been unfriendly to this bill and recently made recommendations that would not be acceptable to the supporters of the bill. This, however, will not prevent the powerful agricultural interests from pressing for legislation providing for higher tariffs. A recent demand for a duty on hides which are now on the free list, is a symptom of the persistence of the agricultural high tariff advocates.

It will prove impossible to revise the agricultural rates without giving an opportunity for advocates of other tariff changes to air their views. The opening of the tariff bill to revision will be fought by those satisfied with the present bill on the ground that it may lead to a lowering, instead of raising of the rates and a head-on collision between the agricultural factions would be inevitable. If the Democrats unite with the extreme wing of the agricultural bloc they could command a majority and force an opening of the tariff bill to revision.

ST. PATRICKS BEAT CANADIENS 5-4

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Thrilling hockey featured the St. Patrick's-Canadiens tilt here on Saturday night, when the largest crowd of the season saw the Irish match their speed against the Flying Frenchmen and come out on top by 5 to 4. The visitors tried every trick they knew in an effort to win and make sure of a place in the playoff series, but they found the locals ready for the test, and when it was over they had no excuses to offer. St. Patrick's were never headed. They led at the end of the first period by 2 to 1, and at the next intermission by 4 to 3.

Early in the season the locals did not look like a championship contender, but they have improved rapidly, and on Saturday they played high-class hockey, and won on their merits. It was the first time this season that they were able to outscore the Canadiens at the local Arena. All the Irish players did their part, but at that "Happy" Day and Goalkeeper Roach were the outstanding performers. Day ran second to no one in regard to speed. He scored two goals and received vociferous applause.

Canadiens might have said that they lost the game owing to the five penalties served by Aurel Joliat. The latter was not in good humor, and he ran wild after he engaged in a wrestling match with Jack Adams early in the game. In all, he watched the struggle from the penalty box for thirteen minutes and his absence made a whole lot of difference. Joliat earned every penalty he received. He was on the warpath and came home a bad second.

RECREATION ALLEYS

The Fruit Merchants had a bitter pill to swallow at the Recreation Alleys on Friday night when they lost their second straight game, losing this game by 11 pins after leading for the first and second game. Capt Quattrocchi was high bowler for the Fruit Merchants. Reg. Arnott for the Hikers rolled his highest three string score spilling the maple for a total score of 711.

The Road Dept won from the Station in the C. N. R. league by over 400 pins the winners being in their best form since the league opened and getting better every day, for the winners G. Dickey was high bowler and Beaton was high for the losers.

In the C. I. League, the Industrials won from the Bottlers after getting off to a bad start losing the first game by 35 pins, but coming back strong in the second and third. High bowlers were T. Barrett for the winners and Luppencte for the losers.

In the junior league the K of C. showed up with only two bowlers so the game was defaulted to the Baby Shoes.

Saturday Night

In the C. N. league on Saturday night the Express Dept. won from the M.P. Office by 242 pins. It was a case of the losers starting off too strong when they rolled 801 against the winners 735 but in the second and third they fell badly when they rolled 653 and 597 against the Express 761 and 794. For the Express, Wallace was high bowler and Easton led the way for the M. P. Office. Players and scores.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

"A charming little place, my dear Percy. So quiet and secluded and so much healthier than Florence. I think I shall venture to suggest to Lady Despard that she and Doris go there for a few weeks. You, of course, go with them. You are there, say a fortnight or three weeks, when I write to offer you an engagement at a large salary in Australia."

Percy Levant listened intently, his brilliant eyes covered by their long dark lashes, so that Spencer Churchill could not see the expression that gleamed in them.

"It is a tempting offer," Churchill went on, "but alas! poor as you are, you cannot bring yourself to leave your ladylove, for years, perhaps forever, as the song says. And what so natural and reasonable as the suggestion that you should marry her, and take her out with you? There is a charming little English church in Pescia, the very church for a quiet wedding."

"It is a clever plan," said Percy Levant. "But, clever as it is, you will spoil it. Do you think Lady Despard will not suspect that there is something wrong when you dog our footsteps and follow us about——"

Mr. Spencer Churchill laughed.

"But I do not intend to inflict my presence upon you, my dear Percy. I shall ask dear Lady Despard's permission to remain here at the villa, in charge, as it were, during her absence."

A curious expression almost one of satisfaction, shone for a moment in Percy Levant's dark eyes.

"I understand," he said quietly. "I am willing to follow your instructions; and all I ask is that which you have consented to: that you keep away from Pescia."

To himself he muttered:

"Yes, I'll do it!—I'll do it! Oh, my beautiful angel, it is for your sake!"

As he turned away a footman came across the lawn with a telegram.

It was from Lord Cecil, and had been forwarded from Meuriguy's. Mr. Spencer Churchill took it and opened it. It ran:

"The marquis' condition is unaltered. —Cecil Neville."

CHAPTER XXXI.
RETRIBUTION

The Marquis of Stoyle did not die but, strange to say, while his physical strength grew daily, his mind was, to some extent impaired. He could not remember clearly the later years of his life. Thinking that a change of scene might be beneficial he went, with his valet, to Pescia, where he rented the Villa Vittoria.

At Pescia, on the day when she had consented to marry Percy Levant two weeks hence, Doris met the marquis. The old man had eluded his valet and had walked too far for his strength. Doris saw him leaning weakly against a bridge, and went to his assistance.

The young woman experienced a severe shock when she learned the name of the man she had succored, but because he was old and ill, she went to see him, and took with her Percy Levant.

The marquis, who was slowly recovering his memory, told his visitors how Spencer Churchill had assisted him to break off the engagement between his nephew and an actress. The old man's memory failed him here, and he could not recall the name of the woman, but from Doris' white face and agitated manner, Percy guessed the truth.

He led Doris gently home. She, having learned that the letter breaking Cecil's engagement to her was a forgery, was unable to conceal her despair from Percy's keen eyes. That evening he offered to free her from her engagement to him, but Doris, knowing that Cecil was pledged to Lady and fully aware of Percy's love, did not accept his sacrifice.

"We are to be married on the sixteenth, Doris," Percy concluded. "I ask only that you trust me. Will you?"

And Doris inclined her head in sign of assent.

Meanwhile, the marquis, greatly excited by the recital of his tale and its effect upon his visitors had been growing weaker. So serious had his condition become that his physician had telegraphed secretly to Lord Cecil Neville.

That young man, burdened with Lady Grace and a chaperon traveled rapidly toward Pescia, and arrived at the Villa Vittoria as Percy was telling the marquis a cheerful story. The two lovers of Doris met for the first time and left the room together at Percy's request.

A lengthy conversation ensued between them, at which much was explained to Lord Cecil Neville. Then grasping hands cordially, the men separated.

Percy Levant sent word to Spencer Churchill to come to the Villa Vittoria at four on the afternoon of the sixteenth, as he was to be married in the morning of that day and wished to settle all matters between them as soon as possible.

The Villa Vittoria, like most of its fellows in Pesca, covered a long space of ground, its rooms being arranged on two stories, with very few stairs and fewer corridors.

The apartments which the marquis occupied for his own personal use consisted of a sitting-room, and a dressing room and bedroom adjoining, the latter divided from the sitting-room by heavy curtains. On the other side of the center room was a small anteroom which the marquis had not used; it was intended as a reception-room for tradespeople or persons who paid visits of business.

Percy Levant on his visits to the marquis had noticed the arrangement of rooms, and at half-past three on the afternoon of the sixteenth the valet, who had received his instructions from Percy, ushered that gentleman, Lady Despard and Doris into the anteroom and softly closed the door.

"Now, I am going to leave you," Percy said gravely as they heard the valet speaking to some one in the hall. He left them closing the door behind them.

"My dear Percy, may I congratulate you? May I?"

"You may," said Percy Levant, giving him a hand. "You can understand why I sent for you," he continued, seating himself opposite to Spencer Churchill, whose back was turned to the curtains which divided this room from the marquis' dressing room. "My part of the contract being fulfilled I want to know what my position really is, and whether this nonsense of yours has any truth in it?"

Spencer Churchill stared indignantly.

"Young man," he exclaimed solemnly, "this is the first time I have ever been accused—to my face—of falsehood! This nonsense! You allude to the agreement—the perfectly legal agreement, which you signed, and which I hold—you will discover that it is anything but nonsense."

I'm delighted to hear it of course," said Percy Levant; "don't be angry! Well, then, seeing that I am to give you ten thousand pounds as a fee for your assistance in procuring me a wife I should like to know all about my wife's property."

"Your wife! How well it sounds!" chuckled Spencer Churchill; then his face grew suddenly suspicious. "By the way, have you the marriage certificate? I should like to see it, my dear boy."

"Certainly," assented Percy Levant cheerfully; "I'll go and ask my wife for it. Indeed, she may as well be present——"

"No no," interrupted Spencer Churchill, putting out his hand. "Never mind; don't trouble. I'll—I'll take a little brandy, my dear Percy—a capital and useful spirit, if used in moderation."

NEW YORK BILL
FIRST BLUE LAW

Albany, Feb. 9.—A return to the 'Blue Sunday' of Puritan days is sought in a bill now before the Assembly. It was introduced at the request of the Lord's Day Alliance.

The bill would prohibit barbering, labor and all sports on Sunday except with the express approval of the voters. Theatrical performances, motion picture exhibitions, public or social dancing and skating would be specifically prohibited on the Sabbath when an admission fee is charged.

This is the first of a series of "blue law" measures planned for introduction at this session.

Most Spectacular Romance To Date

"Sundown" Cast Includes Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart

California, Arizona and Texas rounded up their last great herds and Mexico received them as the actual forerunner of the transference of the cattle business from America to the southern republic when First National filmed "Sundown," the super-drama of the West which opens at the Griffin Theatre to-night.

The story describes how the cattleman has been forced out of American history by the encroachment of "nesters" and how the great herds are being broken up.

Taking advantage of the dramatic movement of the massed heard, Director Hudson took his First National company to a ranch near El Paso and the Mexican line and there filmed the romantic theme of the story against a constantly moving background of cattle on the trail.

Because it is truly a tragic chapter of American history and because it accurately describes the plight of the cattle-owners, "Sundown" received the co-operation of ranchers in the filming and is described by critics as the most sepctacular romance of the West ever filmed.

The cast includes such celebrated names as Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart, Charlie Murray, Charles Sellon, Arthur Hoyt and others, but they appear as living figures of the old and new West rather than as players, and "Sundown" is a unique example of a production without a deep-eyed villian and without a pretty matinee idol. A beautiful love story runs through the picture.

"Starring" in the production, if the ill-used word can be applied, will be 100,000 cattle, moving through three states to Mexico to close a chapter of American history and leave an indelible imprint upon the romantic memory of the West.

Paramount Secured Popular Comedy

"The Fast Set" at the Belle Theatre The Result

William de Mille recently came off victor in one of the keenest competitions ever staged by rival producers for a Big Broadway success. While he was in New York some time ago, Mr. de Mille attended a performance of "Spring Cleaning" at the Eltinge Theatre. And from that moment on the popular Paramount director had a new ambition—to produce this brilliant comedy for the screen. After a lively bidding, Paramount executives secured the picture rights of this stage play, and de Mille realized his ambition a few weeks ago when he finished "The Fast Set", the picture version of Frederick Lonsdale's "Spring Cleaning", adapted to the screen by Clara Beranger.

"The Fast Set" which opens tonight at the Belle Theatre, is a comedy of smart society life and the main theme is furnished by a fine man who resorts to a clever and astonishing method of saving his wife from undesirable friends and of exposing a notorious "great lover" who is paying her unusual attention.

How can a man keep his wife from making a fool of herself? Is the question this photoplay asks and answers. It is a question that has been answered in many ways but probably never in a more entertaining and dramatic manner than it is in this picture. Betty Compson, Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith and ZaSu Pitts are featured in the principal roles.

William Kelly, 71, passed away at his residence, 328 Marlboro street, Brantford, after a brief illness. He was born at Middleport and became a resident of Brantford 35 years ago.

The Chatham Board of Education will establish an auxiliary class for backward pupils in the public schools Miss Mary Park, a member of the teaching staff, has been appointed teacher of the new class.

Hamilton will support Toronto officials in their move to have the Attorney-General investigate recent increases in price of gasoline, which are considered unreasonable. The city will also ask for an investigation of the rumors of an oil combine in the province.

Millionaire Tells How He Does It

Blackstone Fools Audiences Because They Want to be Fooled

(By Blackstone)

All show business is bunk. It is bogus in so far as it is all make believe. The magic art is the result of ability to fool folk. Modesty forbids me to tell how much money I have made in deceiving the American public but if I don't invest in oil stock or German marks I will be able to stall off the wolf to past the proverbial span of man's existence.

I fool my audience because they want to be fooled. That is where the entertainment comes in. Nearly every magic fan thinks he or she knows how the various tricks and illusions are performed. Not one in a hundred guess the correct manner. One who will solve one trick will miss the next one. When appearing before King George, by special command at Windsor three years ago, I was greeted by His Majesty and an entourage of some fifty or sixty persons. As part of the entertainment I requested that those present write out their ideas as to how each trick was accomplished. I presented no less than 20 different experiments. Two correct answers were turned in, each from a different person. My creed is to make my performance as mystifying as possible but such excellent quality that all will say they were not fooled about its being a wonderful entertainment. Above all else my show was, is and always will be—clean.

War To The Knife Thought Imminent

Shipping Combine and Canadian Government Dispute Over Rates

London, Feb. 9.—War to the knife has been declared quietly and without any overt declaration between the North Atlantic Shipping combine on the one hand, the Canadian Government and Sir William Peterson on the other.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained on both sides as to their strategy and course of action. The combine officials both here in London and at their official headquarters in Liverpool maintain a silence and absolutely refuse to disclose the slightest inking of their plans. Sir William Peterson on the other hand merely smiles when questions are put up to him, and intimates that the time is not yet ripe for him to show his plan. He obviously believes that if there is any talking to be done it should properly come from the combine.

Sure of Victory

Officials of the various companies in the pool, however, do not hesitate to say unofficially that they are confident that the attack on them will fail. They declare that the emigrant traffic across the Atlantic is now being carried at the lowest economic rates as is also freight, and that these rates cannot be lowered without courting disaster. They prophesy that the only result of the action of the Canadian government as forecast in the cables from Ottawa will be a gain for them, and the Peterson line and a necessary item for the government, and the failure of the whole experiment of interference in rate-making on sea-borne freight.

The combine directors seem extremely confident as to this result, and without indicating what action they will take, one of the moving spirits of the combine who is one of the best men in the British shipping world, does not hesitate to hint that the combine may just sit back and wait developments. "We have only got to give them enough rope," he said significantly.

Have to Close Down

"There is no room for more lines government lines or others," Chairman Dance, of the London section of the North Atlantic conference, is quoted by the Westminster Gazette as saying, with reference to the Canadian government's subsidy of a fleet of ten ships of the Peterson line. "There is too much tonnage already for the traffic available," Mr. Dance added in the interview, "and none of us can make a living. If the rates have to be cut further then we shall have to close down."

Mr. Dance, at the outset of his statement to the Gazette said: "Until we know more about the Canadian government's scheme officially, it is impossible to say what we will do."

No One Can Tell If You Darken Hair

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

THE INTERNAL PARASITE

Causes About Fifty Per Cent. of All Poultry Disease

How They Weaken the System—The Lye Treatment Is Best—Tapeworm Troubles—Greed Feed for Poultry —The Farm Water Supply.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Internal parasites are responsible either directly or indirectly for fifty per cent. of the poultry losses. This means that millions of dollars are lost each year through the presence of these undesirable creatures.

How Parasites Weaken the System.

Frequently autopsies of healthy birds reveal the presence of a considerable number of intestinal worms which have apparently, up to the time, not caused the bird any great physical harm. In many cases, however, birds become thin, emaciated and finally die. Heavily infested birds are much more susceptible to other diseases, as fowl cholera, tuberculosis, and roup. Practically all the nematodes infesting poultry have no intermediate host. Eggs passed with the droppings develop quickly if the soil of the poultry yard and the weather are favorable into the larval stage. The infective larvae are picked up by the same or other birds of the flock, and finally develop within the intestinal tract, into mature worms. The cycle goes on, more worms, more eggs, more worms, unless the poultry owner wakes up and decides to destroy the parasites that take his profits. The destruction of the parasite is easy.

The Lye Treatment Is Best.

A teaspoonful of concentrated lye mixed with each four quarts of grain, and cooked slowly for two hours and allowed to cool. The birds are given their ordinary feed one morning, and then nothing else until the next morning, when they are given as much of the lye mixture as they will eat. See that the water pan is filled. This treatment should be given twice during the summer. A four-week interval between treatments is essential. then removal of the birds to clean runs.

How to Deal With Tapeworms.

Cestodes or tapeworm infesting fowl differ from the nematodes or round worms in that they require an intermediate host to carry on their life cycle. It has been demonstrated that the various species of snails, slugs, worms and flies that may be found about poultry plants are intermediate hosts of the tapeworms that infest chickens. These white, ribbon like, segmented worms can be successfully combatted with the lye treatment as given for round worms.

Sanitary precautions and rational treatment of the soil in the poultry runs is very essential in keeping tapeworm under control. Concentrated lye is cheap and effective. Why permit your poultry to continue as a convenient host to profit reducing parasites. The chickens cannot get rid of their tormentors unless you help them.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

GREEN FEED FOR POULTRY.

The Best Hatches Are Generally Due to the Vitamines In Grass, Cabbage, Sprouted Oats, Etc.

The old-time poultry man knew that it was necessary for the breeding birds to get outdoors during the hatching egg production season, if the results were to be really favorable. Why the outdoor life made the difference he did not know, but we have learned since that the outdoor life had little to do with the hatchability of the eggs. The success was due to what the hen ate while free outdoors. Green grass and clover, cabbage, lettuce, kale, sprouted oats carry the fat soluble Vitamine D, which is essential for fertility and hatchability of the egg and the utilization in the body of phosphates of lime, so essential in bones. The fat soluble Vitamine A is also present in all green feeds, and to a lesser extent in turnips, mangels, and rutabagas. The use of green feed in some form is absolutely essential if the hatchability of the egg and the vigor of the chick is to reach a high standard. Many poor hatches in late winter and early spring are due to the breeding stock not receiving the vitamine carrying green feeds. Sprout oats and let them grow four inches high before feeding. Stock the feed storage cellar or pits with turnips, mangels and cabbage, and let the breeding stock have all such green feed as they care to consume.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

The Farm Water Supply.

There are two main sources, namely, well and spring (both hard water) and rain water (soft). Any one thinking of installing a modern water system and plumbing in his home should make sure that his water supply is both plentiful and safely protected from all possible sources of contamination. Much more water will be used daily under modern than under old conditions of service—about 30 gallons per person per day. Ask the O. A. College to assist you in solving the following problems in this matter of water supply. So says Prof. R. R. Graham:

1. How to increase the well and spring supplies of water.
2. How to safeguard these supplies from surface contamination.
3. How to make more use of the rain water supply.
4. How to get that fine spring water running through your house and stables by installing the hydraulic ram near the spring.

Mayor Received Bad News

Mayor Angrove of Kingston received depressing news Saturday morning to the effect that his brother, William J. Angrove, is seriously ill in hospital at East Orange, N.J., following an operation. Mr. William Angrove was in Kingston last summer and has a host of friends here, who will hope for his speedy recovery.

To Open Store in Belleville

Kingston takes a great deal of interest and pride in the announcement that two Kingston young men, R. M. Davis and E. J. Steacy, are opening a Radio store in Belleville this week. The two young men are both very well known locally and their many friends wish them every success in their new field. The store is located at 349 Front street, Belleville, and they will handle all the best lines of radio equipment. The store, itself, is a very fine one and the two local boys promise to make a success of their work.

Deseronto Customs High

Deseronto, Feb. 7. Customs and excise returns for the port of Deseronto for the month of January, 1925, were $68,257.31 and for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1924, the collections were $441,666.40. Very few towns, and, in fact, several cities of Ontario can show collections in excess of those collected at this port, and all cities, towns and almost all villages in Ontario can show a larger Government expenditure than the amount expended by the Government in Deseronto.

Salts Clears A Pimply Skin

PIMPLES ARE IMPURITIES SEEKING AN OUTLET THROUGH SKIN PORES

Pimples, sores and boils, usually result from toxins poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

To Restore Train

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—On Thursday President John McCrae, of the Board of Trade, and Mr. Wm. Flavelle waited on Superintendent J. D. McMillan of Belleville, in his private car at local C. N. R. station relative to the restoration of the Lindsay-Belleville train. A petition signed by the commercial men praying for the restoration of this service was submitted to the Superintendent. The assurance was given the deputation that the train would be restored this spring.

Rescue "Pole" Cat

Oshawa, Feb. 9.—The fire department was recently called out to remove a Thomas cat from a pole on First avenue. This is but one of the phases of the work which the fire laddies are called upon to discharge. The fire brigade, however, is not the only local organization which is bothered to any extent. Calls frequently come in to the Hydro office of urgent cases which in order to save the life of somebody's feline pet requires prompt action.

Writs Issued

Oshawa, Feb. 9.—Acting for A. E. Garbutt, supervising principal of the public schools, D. A. J. Swanson Saturday morning issued two writs, one naming the Alger Pres and the Oshawa Telegram as defendants and the second W. J. Trick and John G. Russell as defendants. Each of the two latted are sued for $25,000. The plaintiff's claim against The Alger Press and the Oshawa Telegram is $25,000, as damages for libel, making a total of $75,000.

The second writ states: "The defendant, John G. Russell is the maker and publisher of the said libel and as against the defendant, W. J. Trick, that he was publisher of the said libel.

In the action against the Oshawa Telegram, "The plaintiff's claim is for $25,000 as damages for libel. The libel complained of was published in the Oshawa Telegram in its issue of Monday, January 5th, 1925, and which said issue is number 288 and said libel was published on page one of the said issue and the said Oshawa Telegram is published by the Alger Press Limited. Certain averments and statements as above set out were libellous."

Pleaded Not Guilty

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—Gordon Ouderkirk of Carden township appeared before County Police Magistrate Bradford at Lindsay Friday on a charge under the Inland Revenue Act of having an illicit still and mash suitable for the manufacture of liquor. Accused pleaded not guilty to the charge but after the Crown had put in its evidence plea was changed to not guilty. A fine of $200 and costs or six months in default was imposed by the Magistrate. Fine and costs were paid.

The seizure was made by Inspector Floody, Inland Revenue Enforcement Officer of Toronto, assisted by Constable Veitch.

Old Man Huddled By Fireless Stove

So Badly Frozen, Little Hope Held For Recovery

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—As a result of the extreme frost of a few days ago and the inability to help himself, Benjamin Cowie, who lives nar Balsover, Victoria County, is in the hospital awaiting the result of attention as to whether he will lose both feet and an arm as the result of frost bites.

Cowie, a man well on to the eighty mark, and lived alone in a poorly appointed house. For some days he had not been seen, and the neighbors finally decided to investigate. On entering the house the old man was found huddled beside the stove in which no fire had been for a long time, he being too feeble to help himself. He was found to be badly frozen. Owing to his advanced age, and the fact that his limbs were badly frozen, little hope is held out for his recovery.

Pretty Young Girl, Innkeeper In France, Had Poor Impression Of Marshal Petain

(Associated Press Despatch)

Menton, France, Feb. 9.—Marshal Petain, as a second lieutenant 40 years ago, served two years in a small post near Sospel on the French-Italian frontier. Second Lieutenant Petain, whose resources were rather slim, took his meals at a modest inn kept by a young girl of remarkable beauty.

Recently Marshal Petain, representing the French army at the unveiling of a monument to the war dead here, decided to take the trip into the mountains and visit the scene of his garrison life as a second lieutenant. The marshal admitted to his aides that he was anxious to see how the former beauty of the inn looked after 40 years.

He found both the inn and its owner grown considerably larger. Forty years had worked a great contrast, however, in their respective appearance. The inn refreshed with paint and reconstruction, had become considerably younger, while all the paint in the world could not hide the havoc that the years had wrought upon its once fair owner.

"Don't you recollect a second lieutenant called Petain who frequented your place some 40 years ago," the marshall asked of the old woman at the end of the meal when he saw that she had failed to recognise him.

"Oh, yes," the landlady replied simply, "little Petain, why he must be at least a captain by this time."

PATIENT TOOK LIFE OF NURSE HE LOVED

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 9—Because she refused his attentions, Miss Mildred Neilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Neilson, of Vancouver, formerly of Toronto, was shot to death in the Trail, B.C., Hospital, on Friday. Paul Hanley is charged with the murder. Hanley, who police say never recovered from nervous shock caused by overseas service had been a patient in the hospital and treated by the girl. He came to Vancouver to find the attitude of the parents and taken a parcel back to their daughter. After killing his nurse he attempted to kill himself. The Neilsons came here from Toronto twenty years ago.

CANADIAN-BORN ACTOR PASSES AWAY

London, Feb. 9—Douglas L. Secord, one of the most widely-known of Canadian born actors died at his home Saturday morning, his death following with startling suddenness that of his wife, Adeline Secord, who was buried on Thursday.

The deceased who was grandnephew of Laura Secord, was about 70 years of age, and was a veteran actor and manager of 50 years' experience on the stage in the United States and Canada. He was born at Niagara-on-the-Lake and educated there and at Queen's University.

Fake Indian Chief "Takes In Italy"

Made Fine Impression while It Lasted; Formerly in Lindsay

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—"White Elk," the Indian chief, who made Lindsay his camping ground in September 1923, and who played on the susceptibilities of many pale faces much to their sorrow, is again in the lime-light after a some what thrilling career in Europe, where he was dined, feted and lionised in Britain and on the continent. A copy of the London (England) Graphic to hand contains the following item which will make interesting history:—

"After being feted and received with great ceremony in all the big cities and many of the small towns in Italy, a mysterious individual who styled himself a Redskin Chief," head of the White Elk tribe, has been bundled into prison at Bellingona, Switzerland.

"He landed in Italy in the fantastic dress of an Indian chief, and for five months the newspapers vied with each other in putting him on the highest pedestal.

"He threw bank notes to boys in the streets, and mayors and corporations with bands turned out to meet him where ever he went. Italy was fascinated, more especially because he announced that he was a great admirer of Mussolini, and wanted to become a Fascist. He applied for an audience with the Pope, but, instead received a portrait.

"But, with the stage filled with all the glitter and pomp, behind the scenes he favored an old Austrian family with his acquaintance, and extracted a loan of £8,000.

"The money eventually gave out, and he was next heard of in Switzerland, where a Neuchatel hotelkeeper discovered that he could not pay his bills.

"He is now in prison as Edgar Le Planti, of Connecticut, who landed in Europe from the United States on cinema business. He is to be expelled from the country."

A Wonder Year for Mutualists

Record Surplus of $3,500,258 earned for Policyholders of Mutual Life of Canada

Previous High Mark Passed by Half a Million Dollars

A YEAR of most gratifying results was reported to the policyholders of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada at their 55th Annual Meeting on February 5th. In every phase of its business, the growth of Canada's pioneer Mutual Life Company was eminently satisfactory during 1924.

The real test of a life insurance company operating on the participating plan is its surplus earnings from year to year. It is, therefore, of supreme interest to our policyholders—who alone constitute the company—that the 1924 surplus earnings reached the record total of $3,500,258.

Increased Distribution to Policyholders

During the past year an increased distribution was made to policyholders of $579,962.33 more than was paid out in 1923, a total of $2,689,007.99 having been paid out in dividends This sum is most significant when it is realized that it meant a RETURN to the policyholders of approximately 25% of premiums received by the company during the year.

Healthy Increase in Business

During the year a total of $43,324,297 of new assurances was written, representing an increase of $4,283,179 over that of 1923. This increase shows a healthy, progressive expansion of the company's business—expansion as rapid as compatible with the best interests of the policyholders.

The business in force now amounts to $295,729,866 on 135,285 policies, compared with $269,982,566 at the end of 1923—a net increase for 1924 of $25,747,300, after allowing for policies revived and bonuses, as well as new business, and deducting the various terminations.

The Company's Exceptional Strength

Three effective factors contributed to the exceptionally high surplus earned for policyholders. These factors were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets.

Despite the fact that the new policies issued for the past year exceeded that of 1923 by over 4¼ millions of dollars, the percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from 16.15% to 15.52%.

The mortality experienced during the year was extraordinarily low, the ratio existing between actual and expected death claims being only 36.01%, as against 39.26% in 1923, the previous low record in recent years.

Likewise, in the face of a downward trend in interest rates—especially on high-class bonds in which so large a part of the company's assets is invested—the average interest yield on our invested assets was 6.41%—reflecting the satisfactory earning power of the company's investments.

The company's happy situation is further revealed in accumulated assets of $65,960,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,378. The consistent prosperity enjoyed by the company invites the confidence of the insuring public.

Striking Statements from Addresses

The results of the year are sufficient, you will agree, to point the moral that co-operation, scientifically employed, as it is in our case, eliminates the middle-man and his profits and, thus, assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution.

—Hume Cronyn, President.

• • •

A Mutual Company exists for the express purpose of furnishing maximum protection at a minimum cost and its success is indicated in the amount by which the cost of protection is reduced. When it is said that, during the lifetime of The Mutual of Canada, $15,963,134.22 was paid in dividends to policyholders and that, of this amount, the large sum of $12,870,044.28 was paid out during the past ten years, it will be self-evident that the aims of the company are being realized, and that it is functioning in accordance with the altruistic motives of its founders.

TWO CHAMPION "ALL BLACKS"
The New Zealand "All Black" undisputed rugby football champions of Great Britain and France, who passed through Canada en route home, after an invasion of England and France where they won 30 games and lost none, are a husky lot. Among the members are three Maoris, two of them being shown above. Top, L. Paewal, and below, Geo. Nepia, native-born Maoris.

BOHEMIANS MOVE FROM GREENWICH

New York, Feb. 9.—New York's ultra

New York, Feb. 5.—New York's ultra-free artists, stifled by the commercial spirit that has invaded Greenwich Village, are seeking to locate the town's Bohemia several blocks to the eastward, beyond the Bowery, Tompkins Square, in the heart of the naive East Side, is the site chosen for the new aesthetic center.

Several of the more "advanced" poets have established a poets' theatre in the basement of St. Mark's Chapel. The church is an adjunct of St. Mark's-in-the Bouwerie, and already houses the Leonardo da Vinci Art School and a Polish congregation. In the poets' theatre poets will be employed as playwrights and actors.

DISILLUSIONED FOLK LODGE COMPLAINTS

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Officials investigation of the "millennium" which failed to materialize as predicted by Mrs. Margaret Rowan, leading prophetess of the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists, was launched Saturday by Los Angeles authorities.

Complaints of disillusioned followers that they had disposed of their earthly possessions in anticipation of the world's end at midnight, as forecast by Mrs. Rowan, prompted Chief Investigator Poland, of the city prosecutor's office, to order a complete inquiry.

The estimates for the Hamilton police department submitted to the commission by Chief Coulter Friday, showed an increase of $75,000 over last year's figures. The matter was dropped and chances for an increase in the strength of the department are slim.

Dr. S. B. Sinclair, Provincial inspector of auxiliary classes, in an address at the Normal School at London stated that the Provincial Department of Education is considering extending the auxiliary class idea to select scholars of especially brilliant mentality.

THEY THINK ITS COLD
Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 9.—The record cold weather of this winter froze salt water in this section heavily for the first time in the history of the weather bureau. There was ice enough to provide skating, and the fishing fleet at Gig Harbor was frozen in. Skaters skimmed around the fleet for a radius of a quarter of a mile.

The temperature was six degrees above zero, the lowest ever registered here.

Pains Stopped for millions in this way

Remember this when you feel a pain. Millions have learned how to stop it at once. For 65 years they have done so by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

All the pains allied with rheumatism, with soreness, backache or lameness. And chest colds are checked at the start.

Just rub the sore spot with St. Jacobs Oil. It causes counter irritation Or it relieves the congestion by bringing the blood to the surface. Then the pain is ended, and you can wait in comfort while Nature cures.

Now there are several ways offer to do this. But remember St. Jacobs Oil, has for 65 years stood the test. It has proved itself to millions. Nobody has ever found anything better, and nobody ever will.

Don't wait until the pain starts. Keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. It may save nights of suffering. Rub the sore spot as soon as a pain appears, or a chest cold. Get relief at once. Think what protection this means to you, and the cost is only 35 cents.

CUSTOMS MEN HOPE TO CATCH BOOZE RUNNERS

Captain of Big Boat Caught Saturday Has Confessed

HAD $600,000 CARGO

Greatest Capture Made Under United States Volstead Act

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 9.—Following the capture on Long Island Sound Saturday, of the British steamer, "Homestead" with twenty-eight prisoners and whiskey valued at $600,000, United States customs officials have announced their intention of questioning all arrested rum runners concerning their citizenship.

Customs officials are convinced that rum runners are combining their business with the smuggling of aliens.

The Homestead was captured by the coast guard cutter Red Wing, after a thirty-six hour chase at sea. The coast guard cutter bombarded the vessel before it was brought to bay, shots tearing several holes in the hull above the water.

Mark Gilbert, captain, said by customs officials to be the king of rum-runners, was captured and is reported to have made a confession to his captors which will enable prohibition authorities to break the powerful smuggling ring. Homestead was formerly U.S.S. Lebanon. It is reported that forty thousand cases of liquor were seized.

Crew Wounded

The Homestead, the largest and most valuable prize since prohibition sent coast guard chasers to "Rum Row," was anchored last night off the Statue of Liberty. There she took her place beside other rum runners too bulky to be moored at the Barge Office.

Rumors that several wounded men were on the Homestead suffering from machine-gun bullets or shots fired by three-pounders of the steamship's Coast Guard captors were verified in part last night.

Admitted Shots Were Fired

It was admitted shots had been fired to stop the Homestead, which was seized off the eastern end of Long Island by the Coast Guard chasers Red Wing and Jewett.

Orders in the Coast Guard now are to shoot when occasion demands, and it was said the Homestead had given this provocation.

Rev. H. B. Kenny Is Invited To Stay

He Accepts Subject to Formal Approval of Conference

Subject to the approval of the Conference, Rev. Captain H. B. Kenny, Pastor at Tabernacle Methodist church this city, has accepted a unanimous invitation from the congregation of that church to remain there for another year.

The very cordial and unanimous invitation was recently extended at a full meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the church.

Rev. Captain Kenny is now completing his second year as pastor at Tabernacle church and the church has enjoyed great prosperity during his pastorate.

ASSESSOR OF CITY NAMED ON EXECUTIVE

At a meeting on Saturday at the City Hall Toronto of assessors from various municipalities in Ontario, a Provincial Assessors' Association was organized. Among the objects of the new association will be an attempt to arrange for closer co-operation between suburban and city assessors for income tax collections.

The following officers were elected: President, George W. Farley, Chief Assessor, Toronto; Vice-President, H. A. Webster, Windsor; Secretary-Treasurer, Harry Nixon, Toronto; Executive—R. H. James, Oshawa; J. W. Young, St. Catharines; T. E. Ketcheson, Belleville; T. R. Robertson, Hamilton; and A. E. Burwell, London.

The Provincial Assessors' Association will meet again in June when by laws will be drafted which will govern Assessment Commissioners for the various municipalities in the Province.

ENGLISH BOY IS UP ON THEFT CHARGE

A healthy appearing seventen-year-old English boy, who the court agreed did not appear like a "bad actor," appeared before Magistrate Masson this morning, charged with theft of a gold watch and other stuff from a Front street boarding and rooming house.

He was remanded for one week and his finger prints were taken.

In the meantime police will discuss his future with Mr. W. H. Merry, superintendent of Marchmont Home here, of which Home the lad is a ward.

After the alleged theft, the boy went to the country, where he worked for a farmer who lives just across the bay. He was arrested at the farmer's home early this morning by city police officers and taken to the station house here.

It was difficult to take his finger prints, for the tips of his fingers gave evidence of manual labor, the lines being worn away.

MR. CHAS. WESLEY FLINT

Chancellor of Syracuse University, visited the University of Toronto during the week end, and delivered the university sermon in Convocation Hall. He was born in Stouffville, Ontario.

Jew And Dane Are Suspicious Visitors

Hebrew Youth admits Spending Year in Custody To Police

When Knut Maisel, aged 20, and his companion Samuel L. Davis, aged 23, came under the watchful eye of Sergeant of Detectives John Truaisch Saturday night, their appearance and actions did not satisfy him, so after halting them on Front street and interviewing them he arrested the pair.

This morning they were remanded to the county jail for one week when they appeared before Police Magistrate Masson, and their finger prints were taken.

Davis, who is a Jew from Montreal admits having been convicted at Georgetown on a breaking and entering charge and spent one year in custody. Maisel maintains that he has never been in trouble since coming to Canada from Denmark. He speaks fairly good English.

Davis, it appears, was soliciting financial assistance among the Jewish people of Belleville Saturday night, and when arrested he had six dollars tucked up in the lining of his coat sleeve. At first he said he had no money, but detectives are accustomed to such stories. When pressed he "fished out" his "roll" from a tiny hole in the lining.

They told the officer they were searching for work in Belleville, but suspicions were aroused when he heard that they had sold a suit to a second hand dealer for $1. Davis said he got the suit from a cousin in Montreal.

Maisel wears a bowler, and the few head pieces of that brand worn in "conservative" Belleville made him an easy mark. The pair had separated and had just rejoined one another, when the officer grabbed them. Maisel carried his passport.

Boy Detained As Last Resort

Many Try to Help Him, But All Have Failed

Arrested Friday while in hiding at Chisholm's Mills, a young Belleville boy who has given authorities no end of trouble owing to his determination not to attend King George school, was sentenced to Mimico Industrial School until he is twenty-one years of age.

This case is remarkable in many ways. It has tried the patience of school principal, class teacher, truant officers, Chief constable, magistrate, and Inspector of Childrens' Aid Society to the limit, and all have done everything in their power to assist the boy who would not respond to any consideration shown him.

The case had been enlarged eight times in order to give the boy a chance, his parents always promising to do their part. Officers believe that the failure of the parents to do their part, resulted in the boy's present fate.

Twice, Truant Officer F. W. Ashley, had the case in court, and he then turned the matter over to Inspector T. D. Ruston of the Childrens' Aid Society who pursued the case to the climax, as the law empowers him to do.

Inspector Ruston states that the father sold out and attempted to cross to the U. S. A. with the family, when the trouble got commenced to seethe. Then the family moved to Oshawa, Sulphide and Chisholm's Mills in turn. He states that at Chisholm's Mills the boy lived apart from his parents and was in hiding. Inspector Ruston, and Provincial Constable S. Elliott ferretted him out on Friday however, and showed those concerned the folly of "sneezing" at British law.

Once before at Deseronto the father was fined, the fine and costs amounting to $25, for not sending the boy to school.

Officers here believe that this and other obstinate cases of similar nature are encouraged by parents who do not interest themselves in the education of their children.

Mrs. Annie Clift, wife of Thomas Clift, of 852 Elias street, London, and mother of Ald. Clift, of Ward 4, died in Victoria Hospital, Friday, in her 73rd year.

CHAPLIN AND BRIDE DISMISSED LAWYERS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Los Angeles, Feb. 9— Negotiating between the attorneys of Charlie Chaplin and those of his wife, formerly Lita Grey, of the movies, has been halted and the screen comedian and his 16-year-old bride have decided not to have anything more to do with lawyers, The Los Angeles Times today quotes Mrs. Lillian Spicer, bride's mother, as saying.

Teachers Not Out For Money Alone

Federation Stands For Best In Education, Speaker Declares

A very enjoyable luncheon was held at the Hotel Quinte on Saturday by the Women Teachers of Belleville Public Schools and was presided over by their President, Miss Sullivan. It was attended by teachers from Trenton, Deseronto and the neighbouring district.

The guest of the day was Miss Roberts of Hamilton President of the Women Teachers' Federation of Ontario, who gave a splendid address on the origin, aims and accomplishments of the Federation. All present thought it was worth while to belong to the oldest and largest Teachers' Federation of Canada. The prevailing idea of the general public has been that the Federation was an organization for financial purposes only, but Miss Roberts in her address showed clearly that while not despising the dollar, the Federation has also meant to stand for all that is fine, true and splendid in their work as educators.

At the close of the address a vote of thanks was moved by Miss Lounsberry and seconded by Miss White of Trenton. This was followed by words of appreciation from other teachers.

The luncheon was enlivened by singing, with Miss Rankin at the piano.

Very Heavy Fog Engulfs Gotham

Accidents Result With Two Deaths and Many Injured

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Feb. 9.—Two men were killed and more than fifty persons were hurt in a series of collisions on New York's transit lines to-day, while one of the heaviest fogs of recent years enveloped the city. Harbor and river traffic was virtually paralized as a result of the lowering fog that clung close to the surface of the water.

The fog was reported general, extending along most of the Atlantic seaboard and affecting shipping both on land and sea over a wide area. Early reports indicated that the most serious of the series of accidents on cities transit lines occurred in the Bronx where an elevated train smashed into the rear of a subway train on the elevated structure. Two were known to have been killed in this collision while the estimate of injured ran well above forty. The dead are a motorman and a passenger.

MR. LEO. RIGGS AT THE ORGAN PLEASES

A very fine program of high-class music was given on the organ at St. Andrew's Church last night, when Mr. Leo B. Riggs celebrated in New York as an organist, charmed an audience that filled the church. Mr. Riggs has been acting as organist for the past two weeks at St. Andrew's and the hope was expressed that the would repeat the performance at an early date. The program presented a great variety of some of the finest organ compositions. These included the "War March of the Priests" by Mendelsohn, "Andantino" by Mozart, "Largo" by Handel, "Christmas in Sicily" by Yon "A Southern Melody" by Lemare and Wagner's "Pilgrim's" Chorus."

A vote of appreciation was expressed after the recital to Mr. Riggs.

MISSIONS BENEFIT BY CONCERT GIVEN

A most interesting, musical program presented under the auspices of the Young Women's Association of John Street Presbyterian Church, Friday evening, was a feature of the church concert held in the Sunday school rooms. The proceeds will be used for missions.

All musical numbers heard, proved to be very interesting and entertaining.

Messrs. Connor, Ross and Moore gave a piano and violin number.

Readings were given by Miss Jessie R. Tuite, solos by Messrs. Hugh Middlemiss, James Bankier, Professor S. Anglin, Mrs. M. P. Duff and Mrs. Singer.

Organ numbers were given by Mr. D. Nicholson, organist of John Street Church, violin solos by Dr. I. R. Hough, a piano solo by Mr. William Connor and Messrs. Connor and Ross also gave a piano and violin number.

RAIN IS LATEST HINDRANCE FOR MINE WORKERS

Seeping Water in Shaft Halts Progress Toward Collins

PRISONER LIVES YET

Scientists Are Sure Amplifier Indicates He Is Moving

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 9—Mother nature today had another obstacle to the efforts of men to rescue Floyd Collins from the grip of a boulder trap in the depths of sand cave, sending torrents of rain last night with the promise of more today. Despite precautions to keep water out of the perpendicular shaft aimed at Collin's prison, seepage crept into the bottom of the shaft and added heavily to the burden of volunteer diggers. They kept doggedly at it as the tenth day of Collin's imprisonment ended at ten o'clock this morning. The shaft was then less than half way to Collins, sixty or seventy feet below the surface.

Experiment Failed

The effort to find another passage leading to Collins has been unsuccessful. Banana oil was poured into the opening of the sand cave tunnel in the hope that the odor would be carried by a heavy down draft to the other cave openings at which men were posted, and thus the one by which Collins had entered might be found. There was no odor of oil detected at the other openings, however.

The scientists are positive now that Collins is still alive. They set up a powerful amplifier today, and immediatey they reported that they detected intermittent rustlings which they are positive was caused by Collins moving in the cave.

Fear Pneumonia and Starvation

The real danger to Collins is pneumonia and starvation. There is a constant dripping of water on Collins, and he has not had anything to eat or drink since Wednesday morning.

The Cave City Committee tonight sent out a new appeal for funds. The commissary, where the men are fed, was nearly forced to close last night for lack of food. Only $2,400 has been sent in.

Thirty Feet Deep
(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 9—Shaft throug which rescuers hope to reach Collins in sand cave was approximately thirty feet deep at 9 o'clock this morning, four days after it was started. At present rate, level where Collins is though to be will not be reached before Thursday or Friday.

Prepare To-day For Parliament Opening

Railway Extension and Temperance May Supply Real Problems

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 9.—There is unusual activity at Queen's Park today in preparation for the opening of the second session of the 16th Legislature tomorrow. Many members from remote constituencies have already arrived. There has been no announcement as to what legislation may be expected in the speech from the throne. Besides that already predicted there is a rumor around the buildings that the speech will mention a branch extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway into the new mining district of Rouyn. There is also a report that the Government may go ahead with the immediate construction of this line. It is generally agreed that the temperance issue will be a live one, but none will hazard even a guess as to what form the proposed amendments by "wets" will take.

SAYS SHIPPING COMBINE HALTS EXPORT TRADE

W. T. R. Preston Reports to Government on His Investigation

REPORT IS TABLED

Export Duty on Canadian Wheat May Be Warranted

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—"The North Atlantic Shipipng combine is an obvious menace to the natural development of the export trade of the country and an evident deterrent to prosperity and the welfare of the population of the Dominion. The moving spirits in this gigantic world-wide partime organisation have conspired, combined, agreed, and arranged to unduly limit the facilities for ocean transportation. They are preventing, limiting and lessening competition in ocean transportation to and from Canadian ports."

In these words, W. T. R. Preston, who was appointed by Government to inquire into operation of an alleged North Atlantic Steamship combine," summarizes some of the conclusions he has reached as a result of his investigation.

Impost Warranted
(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Export duty on Canadian wheat entering United States is discussed in the report of the Royal Commission which last year investigated the Canadian grain trade and the report says that.

"While as a general thing export duties are to be deprecated, the exceptional situation that arises in this instance might warrant such an impost."

Every phase of the grain trade is discussed in the report which is signed without dissent by all four commissioners, of which the chairman is Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, Judge in Saskatchewan court of apepal. The report was tabled in the House of Commons to-day.

Does Not Regret Wedding Chinaman

But Nineteen - Year - Old White Girls Sees Superintendent

Hamilton, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Dan Hong, formerly Kathleen Turner, 19-year-old white orphan girl, who was married here last week by Rev. J. L. Alexander, pastor of First Congregational Church, on a license obtained from City Clerk Kent by her 45-year-old Chinese husband, left Friday afternoon for Toronto to interview the lady superintendent of the Barnardo Homes, of which she is a ward.

Mrs. Hong, who is a rather pretty bobbed-haired bride, said that she did not have to do anything now. She stated that the lady superintendent wished her to get a separation from Hong.

"But," said Mrs. Hong, "I'm not a ward of the Barnardo Homes any more, and I can do as I please about remaining here."

"What do you intead to do?"

"Well, Im going to stay with my husband, so far as my present intentions are concerned. He's quite willing for me to make this trip to Toronto."

'Is it true that the Barnardo Home paid your board at the Y.W.C.A. at Brantford and that you didn't have to leave there?"

"The superintendent of the home in Toronto paid my board for only one week while I was sick."

"Where are the two girls who came here with you?"

"I paid their fare back to Brantford."

"Is there any reason why you should leave your husband?"

"No; there has been enough scandal about my marriage."

When interviewed about the marriage which he performed, Rev. Mr. Alexander was asked the question: "Had you no scruples about marrying a white girl to a Chinaman much older than herself?

He replied: "No, not necessarily. I'm not a tyro at this marrying business. I have been familiar with the local Chinese for some time. Before I performed the ceremony I made sure the license was all right. I called up to verify it. The girl seemed in her right mind, and I knew the Chinese group to which the groom belong, and I understood she was a Barnardo Home girl."

Leonard Seppala, champion musher of Alaska, is shown above with the dog-team with which he faced death in order to rush antitoxin to diphtheria-stricken Nome. Despite the fact that he had been warned that the ice of Norton Sound was breaking up and drifting out to sea, Seppala ignored personal danger and headed his string of malamutes straight across the danger zone. By so doing he saved many valuable hours and established a new Alaskan record, travelling 300 miles in a little over eight hours.

Gun Was Harmless Accused Explains

Charge Against Belleville Man Dismissed in Police Court To-day

Charged with having pointed a revolver at his wife on Sunday February first, a local man appeared before Magistrate Masson this morning The charge was dismissed after accused, his wife and daughter had testified.

The sequel will likely be a separation, but ample provision is to be made for the two bright children who are getting along well in public school.

Holding that his wife's unfaithfulness had cost him worry and money, accused told of the chamber having been previously removed from the revolver which by nature of his employment he is allowed to lawfully carry. He always removed the chamber so that if the children happened to get the gun, they would not be in danger. When he held the revolver in his hand he testified, the chamber with cartridges was in his pocket.

His wife sent the boy for a constable on that occasion and a charge was laid.

C. A. Payne defended accused.

Find Baby Inside Club Bag On Train

North Bay Mother Had Written Instructions for Conductor

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—Mr. A. G. Brouce, travelling inspector for the Mothers' Allowance Board, spent the week-end at his home in Lindsay, and relates a remarkable experience which he had while on the North Bay train Friday. A six-months' old babe was found on a rear seat of the passenger coach, inside of a club bag, and covered with a newspaper. Mr. Bruce picked the infant out and was instrumental in delivering it to the Children's Aid authorities.

It appears that the baby was placed in the coach by a young mother at North Bay. It was asleep and not a sound came from the club bag. Mr. Bruce got on the train at a station lower down on the line and was sitting with a traveller when the traveller noticed the paper over the opening in the club bag moving. A few seconds later, and a baby began to cry. The traveller got the conductor and Mr. Bruce lifted the tiny, bright little infant out of its hiding place.

A label was pinned to the child's dress, read: "In care of the conductor, see instructions inside." On the little under shirt was found a note stating that the baby's name was Olive Martin, and that the mother wanted it left at St. Mary's home, Toronto. The boy was a cute little tiny tot, full of chuckles and fat with wrinkles. It was given over to the authorities of the C. A. Society.

VIC FOLEY MEETS JOHNSTON TO-NIGHT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 9—"Vic" Foley, Canadian bantamweight champion, will meet Jackie Johnston, of Toronto, former amateur 118 pound champion in a ten round championship bout at Coliseum here tonight. Foley is regarded by Tex Rickard fight impressario of the United States, as one of the ten best bantams in the world at the present time, while Johnston's rise from amateur ranks to his present position as leading contendor for the title in the monied class has been little short of meteoric. The men will fight at 118 pounds which may slightly weaken Johnston.

URGE FIVE YEAR PERMIT
(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington Feb. 9—The issuance of a five year permit to the Chicago Sanitary District to divert 8,500 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan has been recommended to secretary of war Weeks, by Major General Taylor.

That the fire at the Woolnough Block, at Niagara Falls on Monday midnight was incendiary, is the opinion of Marland Woolnough, owner of block, who is now in New York. Mr. Woolnough has instructed his local agents to notify Fire Marshal Heaton and ask for the holding of a fire inquest here.

BELLEVILLIANS OF WATERTOWN COME IN BODY

Under Present Arrangements For Old Boys' Re-Union

SUGGESTIONS MADE

Would Have Informal Re-Union For Former Scholars

That there will be a good delegation from Watertown, N. Y. to the Old Boys' Re-Union in Belleville during the first week in August and that arrangements are being made to bring over a patrol of Boy Scouts from that place, is interesting information contained in a letter to Mayor Mikel from Byng Hayes. Byng was formerly mayor of the Boys' Council in this city and is now residing in Watertown. This letter follows:

"Well how is the Re-union progressing. I hope it is a hum-dinger. I am making arrangements for a Patrol of Scouts to come over and would like accommodation, that is a place for the boys to sleep.

"I would like to suggest an idea. Why not have each city school hold an informal re-union of all former scholars, like the Pinnacle School, Station, Octavia, Grier St., Canifton Road and High School. There will be hundreds here who have attended these schools and would be delighted at a get-together with old friends and former teachers. I started in at the Pinnacle St. school under Miss Mackay and would help out for that school. I am planning on a re union of my old Troop of Scouts during the celebration. If you want me to I will act as a volunteer Secretary for N. Y. State in arranging accommodations on the ferry from the Cape to Kingston. There will be a good delegation from Watertown and we will try and come in a body.

Yours sincerely,
Charles Hayes.

Trace Mrs Caniff Or Heirs Of Hers

Los Angeles Company Have Located Property Needing Attention

Does anyone in Belleville know where Mrs. Helen Caniff is living, or is she alive?

The Assets Realization Company, suite 320, Black Building, Los Angeles, Cal., would like to know, and the manager, John C. Vanek, has written The Intelligencer asking the aid of the newspaper in locating Mrs. Helen Caniff.

The letter which is dated February 3rd, 1925, states that she is the widow of one M. W. Caniff who was a resident of Los Angeles during the years of 1909 to 1913.

"We understand," the letter explains, "That many branches of the family live in the vicinity of Belleville.

"We have located some property that is in need of the attention of the above mentioned party, or if she has died, then the attention of her heirs-at-law," continues the letter.

The Intelligencer would be pleased to hear from this woman, or any relatives of city and district.

JAPAN AND CHINA

Rumors are increasing of a forthcoming alliance between Japan and China. The menacing encroachments of Russia are assigned as one reason for such an alliance. The soviet government has done much to disturb both countries, its emissaries having recently stirred up the jingo element in Japan, and fomented civic strife in China. Against Russia these countries have reason for a defensive alliance.

But there are possibly other reasons for an alliance. To both Japan and China there is one big problem in common—room for their expanding populations. Northern Asia controlled by Russia presents the nearest opportunity for solution so long as the alien laws of other countries remain in force. An alliance could work in both directions, and probably would, the two nations undertaking jointly what neither could singly accomplish.

PLAIN, EVERY-DAY HERO

What is courage?

A little girl living in the crowded East Side section of New York City was taken to a hospital, where it was found it would be necessary for her to undergo a serious operation, involving blood transfusion. Her little brother, as dirty and unkempt as the patient, was asked whether he would be willing to give his blood to save the life of his sister. He hesitated just an instant as pallor crept beneath the grime of his face, and then uttered a courageous "sure". The transfusion was made, and while the surgeon was working over the girl he felt a tug at his sleeve. He turned to behold the face of the boy, pale as death now that the dirt had been washed off and the blood loss had begun to tell, and was met by this inquiry:

"Say, doc., when do I croack?"

Here is a story to which the mere embroidery of words can add but little. That little East Side urchin, dirty on the outside but with a heart of gold, believed that his life was asked to save that of his sister, and all the tales of heroism in history contain no simpler, grander story than that expressed in the one word: "Sure!"

MUSSOLINI'S COUP

Premier Mussolini, of Italy, has successfully executed another coup. Having cowed the people, especially that portion of them opposed to him, he has secured a new cabinet, every member of which is in full sympathy with his plans. Mussolini apparently is again master of Italy.

The word "apparently" is used advisedly for there is in Italy a decided reaction from Mussolini rule. A large portion of the people feel he has not kept faith with them, and a considerable portion believe has has exploited the kingdom. These may be cowed by Mussolini's display of force but not convinced of error. All they need is a leader to bring them together into a formidable opposition.

Had Mussolini been less a dictator and more a leader the situation might be different and the prospect more satisfactory. Necessity for a coup itself demonstrates the existence of conditions that are menacing.

THE WORLD MOVES

The world does move, and sometimes it does seem that there may be something new under the sun. A few days ago the news came from Nome that there was an epidemic of diphtheria there and no antitoxin. There was an appeal to the outside world; the response was prompt; but Nome was far away and the road was difficult. Dog teams were started out along the frozen mail trails with supplies of the precious anti-toxin; but though records for dog teams may have been broken, their speed was not fast enough, and so it was decided to send an airplane.

A good deal of space has been given in the newspapers to the situation at Nome with an epidemic of diphtheria and no anti-toxin; but, as a contemporary has pointed out, it is not many years ago since the whole world was in the same situation, so far as the absence of anti-toxin is concerned. It is not so long ago since diphtheria was regarded as one of the most dreadful of diseases, and since an epidemic of it would mean a horrifying death-rate.

It is recalled, too, that when antitoxin was first introduced it encountered opposition and even derision. There are still people who deny its usefulness, just as there are still people who scoff at vaccination as a protection against smallpox.

CHEERFUL THOUGH HUNGRY

Breakfast is an important institution to most people. Firemen are not the exception. The alarm for the blaze at Thompson's warehouse on Saturday morning came just when Belleville's fire fighters were changing shifts, and before half of them had eaten. Yet they all turned out cheerfully and worked cheerfully and hard until nearly noon—for their day's pay certainly—but mostly for the protection of their fellow citizens The brigade here set a praiseworthy example to the rest of us.

THINKING NATIONALITY

Brandon Sun:

The greatest enemies to Canadian national thought today are shallow bluster and superficial thought which produce a black stratum of disrespect to the duties of citizenship. There are those who propose national isolation as a substitute to nationalism or a broader mission for the united Canadian people. We have to participate in the life and the work of a continent and insular groups are wrecking our old ideals of a commonwealth or a clearer one-ness from sea to sea. Canada can never prosper in sections or progress by selfish groups. We must advance as one people. that people must be open-minded, public minded and world-minded, Canada first, but Canada always, and a nation spirit.

WEMBLEY, 1925

Perth Western Mil:

Western Australia in the sale of her apples alone has derived an advertisement which could have been secured through other avenues only at great cost. Wembley is the best publicity Western Australia has ever received for products. It is estimated that only 7,000,000 people will view the exhibition next year compared with 17,000,000 this year. That is deemed sufficient to cover the cost of opening the exhibition throughout 1925. To drop the project in such circumstances would be most regrettable. Wembley is more han a collection of ornate pavilions. It is the British Empire's pacific statement of its unity of purpose and the dependence of its parts, London as well as Albany, one upon the other.

FEW FARMERS FAIL

St. Thomas Times-Journal:

The habit of complaining seems ingrained in a large proportion of those who are engaged in farming. It is handed down from generation to generation until it has become almost second nature to farmers to belittle their task in life. The outcome of it all is that the rising generation, hearing their elders bewail conditions to each other in the home and in the market place, early resolve that farm life is not for them and they hie to the cities. An examination of bankruptcy records for Canada shows comparatively few failures among farmers, and those that do occur are mainly among inexperienced men who took up farming without knowing how to farm. One hears of the occasional strikes made by city dwellers, but the percentage of failures, or just ordinary and less than ordinary livings, made by city dwellers is too high to attract notice. Not long ago, a farmer whose attention was called to the rise of an immigrant who struck gold in the north many years ago, truly remarked: "I and my father before me have taken more money out of this land than they'll ever get out of a good many gold mines, and its full of gold for my children and grandchildren."

HERRIN'S TROUBLES

Border Cities Star:

Sheriff Galligan, of Herrin, the man who has probably the most troublesome job in America at the present moment, is going to make a determined effort to stop the bloody warfare that has made his own notorious all over the continent. What the sheriff proposes is to place a strict curb on the carrying of firearms by private citizens, and to restrict the issuance of permits to "tote" the weapons. To this one factor alone can most of the little town's troubles be laid.

In any community where there is laxity in this regard, potential murderers walk the streets. The man with a gun in his pocket is a menace to society and should be punished as such. When a condition of affairs exists under which the plea of "self-defense" is sufficient to obtain for any irresponsible person the authority to go about armed trouble is brewing for the community.

The very fact that citizens feel the need of armed protection shows laxity in the control of firearms. The only safe method is practically an absolute ban on private ownership of guns which lend themselves to concealment on the person.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

THE ART OF BLAMING OTHERS

It is often said and taught that we should not blame others.

But there are times when others are wrong, and we are right—at least, we feel so. There are times when we must stand firmly by our own convictions, no matter what the world says.

There is a time to take your own part against the whole world, just as there is a time to admit your own failure, if caused by inner collapse.

It is very necessary to maintain a proper balance between blaming ourselves and others. All life, for that matter, is a balance, and a question of judgment and there is nothing in which the distinction should be more sharply drawn than in the matter of holding others to be at fault on the one hand and ourselves on the other.

If you will read the life of any man of achievement, you will be struck by his absolute confidence in his own great ideas.

The whole world may have laughed at him, but he knew that the world was wrong.

It is written: "To the jaundiced honey tastes bitter, and to those bitten by mad dogs water causes fear, and to little children a ball is a fine thing." So says Marcus Aurelius.

So it is an art calling for all our faculties to know whether it is ourselves or our friends who are little children or bitten or jaundiced.

Napoleon realized this when he said: "To succeed one must be sometimes very bold and sometimes very prudent."

If we are always blaming others, we become disagreeable. It is a bad habit to which we are all liable, that of laying our blame or failure on other peope.

But it is also a bad habit to be so blind and to so lack spiritual backbone as to be a continual doormat.

There are times when we must stand up for ourselves.

This perfect balance is indicated in the teaching of Scripture, which says: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." If there is no intelligent love of oneself, there can be none that is of value for one' neighbor.

It is important to know when we are wrong, and important to know when the world is wrong. It is all a part of the difficult art of life.

Letters To The Editor

AN EMBARGO THE ONLY THING

To the Editor:

Sir:—It is to be regretted that the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has seen fit to go on record in favour of an export duty on pulpwood rather than for total and immediate restriction of exports. An export duty would not meet the situation. A duty of $5 to $10 a cord which has been suggested by some advocates of this measure would produce a revenue of seven to ten million dollars while if the wood was kept here and manufactured in Canada the resultant revenue would be from fifty to sixty millions and in addition our Canadian railways would benefit by from thirty to forty million dollars by the additional traffic.

The actual loss Canada sustains by allowing this exportation of unmanufactured wood in reality amounts to more than $100,000,000, a year, without taking into account its effect in shortening the existence of our own wood-using industries, reducing the efficiency of our water powers and crippling, as it eventually must do, our agricultural interests. (It is significant that while our farmers in the West are expending considerable sums of money in planting shelter belts of trees to protect their crops, farmers and settlers in the East are being encouraged to denude their land for the paltry price they receive for their pulp wood.

Every cord of wood we now cut means depletion our woods capital. The loss from wind and waste in operating more than offsets the gross annual growth, the further loss caused by fungi, insects, fire and cutting constituting a net drain on capital How long can a country remain solvent that is living on capital?

Canadians must face the fact that the pulp and paper industry is fast approaching its peak in Eastern Canada. It is, in fact, already over-developed, and with the completion of the new construction now under way the reasonable ratio of mill capacity to wood supply will have passed the safety point,—in fact it has already done so.

Export taxes will not furnish raw material for our pulp and paper mills. When our wood is exhausted all the export taxes in the world will not satisfy the voracious maw of these 110 mills, for a single day.

It is very generous on the part of the Canadian pulp and paper manufacturers to offer to allow their American competitors to continue to abstract their raw material from Canada's rapidly diminishing supply by the simple payment of a tax, which would in any event merely be a contribution towards the cost of protecting this exportable wood from fire. This however, will not satisfy the vast body of Canadian people who have invested their money in Canadian pulp and paper securities and who demand of the Government that their investments be safeguarded, nor will it restore our wood once it has become exhausted. There is a public interest at stake in this issue, quite apart from that of the paper mills, which, at worst, would merely have to put up their shutters for lack of raw material. The public interest should came before all others.

Rain, Radio, Hubbies Keep Phones Busy

At Five in the Evening the Traffic Increases Greatly

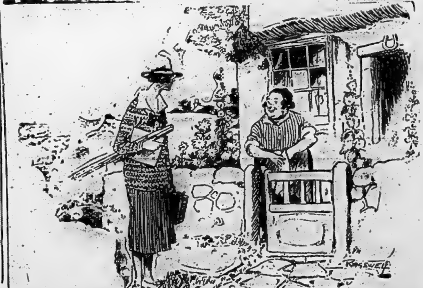
(Associated Press Despatch)

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Daily conferences held after business hours in Los Angeles mount up into the thousands, according to N. R. Powley and G. De Nevers, Southern California Telephone officials, who say that around 5 o'clock every evening several thousand business men call up to inform their wives that they can't get home to dinner, usually because of a "Conference."

"During the brief period between 4.45 and 5.10 p.m., the telephone girls handle more calls a minute than at any other time during the day," said Mr. Powley. "The bulk of them are men calling up their wives about not being able to get home to dinner."

Various other factors that make the traffic in telephone calls jump and cause switchboards to light up like the proverbial Christmas tree; said Mr. De Nevers, are fires, explosions and radio announcers requesting listeners-in to "call up and let us know how you hear us." If a day opens with clear weather and rain comes up later the number of phone calls increases unbelievably, the officials said. Everybody seems to be calling up to cancel engagements or to rent taxi cabs.

Checking over the 1,750,000 calls a day, the telephone operators say that the popular notion is correct, men can not compete with women in long conversations.



"I wonder if I may make a sketch of your carming cottage?" "Certainly, miss. If ye ain't in no 'urry I'll just pop in and give the windows a bit of a clean."—London Tatler.

FIRE STARTED AGAIN

When debris in the elevator shaft at the William Thompson Company Limited began to smoulder again Saturday evening, firemen were required to lay one line of hose and extinguish any signs of fire. The store is open for business as usual to-day.

HIGHER TEMPERATURES

Saturday and Sunday mild weather was experienced and especially on Sunday when the minimum temperature was 33 degrees above zero. To-day was also mild, snow disappearing quite freely. A year ago to-day we were experiencing a severe cold snap, it being 11 degrees below zero. Figures for the two dates for this and last year are as follows:

Feb. 7th, 1925—30.16.
Feb. 8th, 1925—48.33.
Feb. 7th, 1924—20.10.
Feb. 8th, 1924—27.1 below zero.

HEN COOP BURNED

Fire in a hen coop in connection with Mr. H. Davison's home on Stone Street, gave the fire brigade a run on Sunday evening. The small frame structure was destroyed. There were no fowl in the coop at the time. It is surmised that some one entered the coop looking for chickens and struck a match which caused the blaze. The loss sustained was not of a serious nature.

SNOW BY-LAW

The attention of the Public is called to the Snow By-Law which requires everyone to remove the snow and ice from the sidewalks under a penalty of not more than $50.00 and not less than $1.00.

It is important to take advantage of the mild weather to have this done at once.

Speaker Boosts Hotel Quinte

Belleville Would Rather Lose Two Industries, H. F. Ketcheson Says

"We would rather lose two of our best industries in Belleville than lose our Quinte Hotel," said Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, ex-Mayor of Belleville in an address before a group of prominent citizens of Oshawa, who met to hear about the proposed new hotel in that City.

Continuing, Mr. Ketcheson said: "Nothing so benefits a city as a good hotel. It will do more to advertise your city than anything else you can secure. If you put up a good hotel here you will never regret it."

These were some of these salient points made in the address. The gathering was presided over by Mr. A. G. Storie, Chairman of the local Hotel Committee. It was attended by some fifteen prominent business men, who were aroused to a pitch of enthusiasm by the spirited address given by the visitor from Belleville and by several local citizens.

Mayor Schell introduced the chief speaker of the evening, pointing out that he was one of the prominent citizens of Belleville, and that he had a message for the people of Oshawa. Mr. Schell took the occasion to heartily endorse the undertaking for a new hotel, and urged that the citizens get behind it and make it a success.

The Need of a New Hotel

Mr. Ketcheson told in an interesting graphic way the history of Belleville both before and after it had secured a good hotel. The "before stage" sounded very much like Oshawa's present condition where travellers are unable to find accomodation, where conventions pass the city because they cannot be accommodated; where executives of big corporations must bring their own sleeping cars.

"Have a Gold Mine"

"In 1896 the old Quinte Hotel was opened and shortly after, sold to its present owner, Mr. Jenkins, who paid for it in four or five years. When the hotel burned and he was urged by some citizens to retire on the money he made, he replied that 'I have a gold mine here. I am going to rebuild' and he rebuilt a larger and better hotel at a cost of $125,000. Since that time it has been enlarged and today the owner is a wealthy man."

"The hotel has brought many advantages to our city. It has increased the value of real estate. It has made the city known all over the continent It brings tourist traffic and the tourist leaves a lot of good money with the merchants of the city."

Hotel Brought New Industry

One striking illustration told by the speaker, made a profound impression "At the present time we have the American Optical Co., in Belleville, employing seventy-five hands and adding to the number constantly. We got that industry entirely through our hotel. A man was sent over from the head office in the United States to make a survey of several towns such as Lindsay, Peterboro Bowmanville, Trenton and Brockville. He spent a week making his survey and then when it came Saturday night he found himself in Trenton. He was advised to go to Belleville to spend Sunday, as there was a good hotel there. He did so and while there met the President of the Chamber of Commerce, who showed him around the city, with the result that this man recommended Belleville as the logical location for the Canadian branch of this factory, although Belleville was not among the places he was asked to visit. The president of the company then came over and he too, was so favorably impressed with the good hotel accommodation that he endorsed the findings of his advance agent with result that the factory is located and doing extremely well, as they handle the entire export business of the American Optical Company."

In concluding his address, Mr. Ketcheson reiterated his statement that they would rather lose two of their best industries than lose their hotel. He urged that the citizens get behind the project as he was confident that they would never regret such a move. He also made a plea for a good live Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce.

Hotel Would Pay

Other speakers at the banquet were Capt. Dickinson who analyzed the prospective earnings of a hotel and showed the advantages which would accrue to a city from the possession of a first class hotel. He was very optimistic regarding the amount of tourist traffic which could be secured, and also pointed out that substantial earnings could be made through the holding of conventions, etc.

CENTENARY

A very quiet but pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs David Thrasher on Wednesday night when about seventy of the neighbors of this community gathered there to wish their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Hall nee Muriel Thrasher and her husband a long and happy wedded life. The chair was ably taken by Mr. G. Cannings. Mrs. Hall's S.S class of little girls marched into the room and Elinor Roblin read an address and Anna Adams presented their teacher with a pyrex pie plate set in silver. Miss Clara Adams read an appropriate address and Miss M. ellman on behalf of the community presented the young couple with a dozen silver knives, a doz. forks and half dozen silver teaspoons (Old Colony). Mr. and Mrs. Hall made a suitable reply thanking the donors for the gifts and inviting them all to visit them at their home at Bayside. Following is the address:—

Dear Muriel,—

We, your friends and neighbors, both young and old have gathered here tonight not only to show our esteem and respect for you but also to wish you and your husband many long years of prosperity and happiness You have been a faithful worker in the League, Sunday School and choir and all branches of church work; always ready and willing to do your bit whenever called upon and we will miss you not only in the church but in the community wherein you have grown up from childhood, for we have learned to love you for your many noble qualities. We hope that in your new home you will still continue to work in the Master's Vineyard where in all true happiness is found and that you may be a blessing to those with whom you come in contact.

We ask you to accept these gifts as but a small token of our appreciation; and we hope you will always have a warm spot in your heart for the old associates at Centenary.

Province Decides To Help Its Cities

Ferguson Government works Out Plan For Unemployment Situation

Toronto, Feb. 9.—The Ferguson Cabinet announced over the week-end a program of unemployment relief to be extended to Ontario citiese. One-third of the exces cost over normal of municipal works and of relief is to be shouldered by the province as its share in alleviating conditions of striking necessity. The term "relief" is not to include the giving of cash doles.

In announcing this policy, Premier Ferguson made it plain that his Government was not accepting any theory of provincial responsibility for unemployment, but was simply acting because of its inability to overlook the distress which exists through no fault of the people but because of the stagnation of industry. He declared his surprise at Ottawa's attitude upon the crisis and upon the unique refuge which it had taken behind the British North America Act. Premier Ferguson pointed out that Parliament was a sovereign body and could not be hindered by the British North America Act from voting money for any purpose which it might deem fit.

The announcement of the Government followed the appeal made last week by a large deputation representative of all Ontario municipalities, which declared the unemployment problem to be one of human urgency, beyond the ability of municipalities to meet. Ottawa's defection in the crisis, offering the "British North America Act in place of bread," was stated, and the province was urged to extend its good offices in the matter.

Consideration has now been given to the appeal by the Cabinet, and the following statement by Premier Ferguson details the policy which is being adopted.

Prime Minister's Statement

"A large deputation representative of the various municipalities of the province waited on the Government last week to present to them the conditions regarding unemployment in the various districts, and urging the necessity for provincial aid. It was pointed out that the municipalities are now laboring under a very heavy burden of expenditure and that the Dominion Goverment had refused to make any contribution towards relieving the strain. The view of the Provincial Government is that the responsibility for the care of its citizens rests primarily with the municipality This has already been pointed out by the Prime Minister in a letter addressed to the Mayor of Toronto some months ago. In times of prosperity the municipality invites an influx of population which is essential to the organization and the carrying on of their various industrial enterprises. The municipality profits by the taxes and expenditures with all the other advantages that come from increased population and its earnings. In times of depression it surely is the duty of the same municipality to help these people who have contributed to its success. The responsibility rests secondarily with the Dominion Government which has control of and encourages immigration, and not always with due care to proper selection. Moreover from the broad national view of citizenship the Dominion Government certainly owes it to all Canadian citizens to help maintain their position in the country under abnormal conditions.

"It would appear, however, that the Dominion Government has declined to lend assistance in the present critical condition. The alleged reason given —I understand, is that under the British North America Act the Dominion Government is precluded from giving aid under such circumstances. I am sure that this will bea surprisingly novel interpretation of our constitution to our people. Parliament surely is supreme and can vote public monies for any purpose it may deem proper. So that this Government is unable to see that there is any force or substance in the position taken by the Dominion Government.

"Although this Government adheres to the view that it has no direct responsibility in the matter, we realize that the condition has reached such a serious point that there is no time to cavil about the question of responsibility. Many of our people are in dire distress and must be provided with the means of sustenance for themselves and their families. After thoroughly surveying the whole situation and weighing carefully the representations made to us by this large and influential deputation, the Government feels that the people of Ontario will approve of its holding out a helping hand to the man who may be in distress through no fault of his own, but entirely on account of stagnation in industry and the lack of opportunity for employment. We are prepared to share with municipal corporations under the regulations set out hereafter the expenditure upon unemployment relief incurred between the first day of February, 1925, and the fifteenth day of April, 1925, upon the following basis:

"(a) One-third of the excess labor cost over the normal labor cost incurred by a municipal corporation in respect of any work wholly or partly constructed during the said period solely for the purpose of relieving unemployment: and

"(b) One-third of the excess expenditure incurred by a municipal corporation during the said period in respect of other unemployment relief measures over the normal expenditure as determined by the average of such expenditure of such corporation during the same period in the last preceding two years."

No Cash Doles

The regulations which the Government has drafted detail the works and relief to which the assistance shal lextend. It is stated that 'works' for the purpose of the grant shall include "all useful municipal works undertaken by a municipal corporation during the Winter of 1924-25 solely for the purpose of providing work for unemployed persons. It is immaterial when the construction of the work was initiated or when the work was completed; the share to be borne by the Province relates solely to the expenditure incurred between the 1st of February ,and the 15th of April, 1925. The expenditure to be shared by the Province is to include only the excess cost of Winter work due to the inefficiency of labor and the substitution of abor for machinery, and not the difference, if any, between Winter prices paid for materials and the price in effect during the normal working season.

"Relief measures shall include only food, fuel, boots, shoes, and under clothing supplied by municipal corporations for families and unemployed single persons in circumstances requiring assistance, but shal not include the giving of cash doles."

Remaining regulations provide that municipalities shall appoint a relief officer who shall certify the giving of relief and through whom relief shall be administered in accordance with forms supplied by the Provincial Minister of Labor. Provision is also made for the presentation of accounts by the municipalities to the Province and for an audit of the accounts by the Province should it desire one.

Your Rexall Drug Store What Is It?

Near your home there's a certain drug store. On its window a sign says "The Rexall Store". Over its counter you are served by the greatest drug store enterprise on earth.

The Rexall system was founded 22 years ago. Forty Retail Druggists formed an organization for better drug store service.

Then they established in Boston a cooperative company to manufacture merchandise which they could guarantee and sell at moderate prices. They called this concern the United Drug Company. To-day there are 10,000 Rexall Stores—all partners in this great enterprise—all helping each other to help you shop with safety.

Last year the busines of the Rexall Stores totalled half a billion dollars. The United Drug Company, which serves your Rexall Store at partner prices, is the largest drug concern in existence. It owns the 300 Liggett Drug Stores in the busiest locations of America's greatest cities. (Liggett's Drug Stores are also Rexall Drug Stores.)

It controls Boots, Ltd., in England, comprising not only the largest drug manufacturing plants in the British Empire, but 700 retail drug stores—the biggest drug store chain in the world.

It owns 12 manufacturing plants in the United States, devoted to the production of drug store commodities—famous advertised brands such as these: Puretest Preparations for health and hygiene, Kantleek Rubber Goods, Jonteel Toilet Articles, Klenzo Dentifrice and Mouth Wash, Rexall Products, First Aid Sick Room Supplies, Symphony Lawn Stationery, Liggett's Chocolates and Pure Food Staples, each class made in its own manufacturing unit. These products can be purchased only at a Rexall Drug Store.

The entire effort of the United Drug Company—its world wide command of resources—its short-cuts in direct selling—the skill of its many experts, the price saving on huge sales volume—new products, new methods, new ideas for store management—all this is centred in your Rexall Store and passed on to you in every purchase you make there.

Your Rexall Druggist is a local man. He runs a local business, yet he offers you all the advantages of a great international institution. He offers you a Drug store service, raised and held to definite standard. The quality of your Rexall purchase is always uniform, always reliable.

He offers you all that other drug stores sell and many things that can be purchased only at a Rexall Store. He offers you a money-back guarantee on every United Drug product.

Shop with Safety at Your Rexall Drug Store.

Echoes Carried Back From The World's Missionary Convention

Belleville Party Had Interesitng Time Sight-Seeing Apart From Serious End of the Trip

(By a Belleville Delegate)

On Wednesday the 28th of January, 1925, there opened at the City of Washington in the District of Columbia, the World's Missionary Convention. The last one held previous to that date was in Edinburgh, fifteen years before.

The Convention was held in the Washington Convention Auditorium, which was only opened the preceding week and which has not yet been completed. The Auditorium will seat six thousand persons and is one of the finest and by means of seven amplifiers every speaker could be distinctly heard in every part of the auditorium.

The committee of arrangements showed great ability in details of the Convention and the hotels of the city gave special rates to the delegates and ample provision was made for accommodation of all. Three thousand eight hundred registered from distant points, while one thousand delegates came from the City of Washington, and its vicinity, making a total roll of four thousand eight hundred.

The delegates were admitted to the Convention Hall by ticket and the ticket holders were numerous enough to fill the Convention Hall. Twelve hundred additional tickets were issued to the citizens of Washington who took advantage of the great Convention, and these tickets were used by different people during the Convention.

The place of meeting is particularly suitable for it. The city is, in the opinion of those who have seen the great capitals of the world, the most beautiful of them all. It being planned and the buildings erected especially for the capital of the United States The magnificent public buildings are not assembled in one group, but scattered throughout the City, so that wherever a visitor travels in the City the eye meets with one or more of the magnificent public buildings of the capital.

The most noted one is the Capital itself, which presents a magnificent appearance from the hill upon which it is erected. It is 750 ft long and 350 ft wide, covers four acres of ground and cost about twenty-nine millions. There are fifty-two acres of ground surrounding the building, beautifully laid out and carefully kept.

In the Capitol are the Senate Chambers, the house of representatives, the Supreme Court and the Rotunda with its wonderful paintings.

The Belleville delegates together visited the Senate and the House of Representatives, and in both cases found the members speaking to empty benches, not more than a corporals guard being present.

Not far from the Capitol stands the Congressional Library, which is the finest Library building in the World. Here art has erected for literature, a fitting home. It is a palatial building of Italian Renaissance style, of architecture. The cost of the building was twenty millions the Murals and mosaics symbolical of the muses, are among the most beautifully in the world. The rary contains four million volumes The top of the ceiling or dome above the Library floor is 196 feet from the floor. When the Belleville contingent visited the Library, the western sun was shining through the coloured windows and the beautiful effect of the same upon the colored marble columns, the beautiful decorations and the paintings reminds one of the Tomb of Napoleon with the afternoon sun shining upon it. Here the original constitution of the United States is preserved, with the signatures of the parties who signed it.

We visited the Reading Room of the House of Representatives, which is in a wing of the Congressional Library, and can say without fear of contradition that it is the most beautiful reading room in the world. The ceilings, walls and fire-places being constructed with the most beautiful designs, and decorations with an artistic taste it would be impossible to excel.

The White House was also visited, being the residence of the President. The different rooms were seen and the paintings of the wives of former presidents adorned the walls. This house is of stately simplicity, set in green lawns and shaded by ancient trees, built on the site selected by General Washington in 1792. Here may be seen the famous East room containing magnificent chandeliers, priceless vases presented by foreign countries and the beautiful gold lined piano, worth twenty-five thousand dollars.

We visited also the Corcoran Art Gallery, where a rare collection of paintings and sculpture may be seen. The National Museum was also very interesting.

Among the different places visited, the Cemetery at Arlington was of great interest. Here are buried sixteen thousand of the soldiers who gave their lives for their country and a monument of the unknown dead marks the common resting place of two thousand one hundred and eleven unidentified soldiers, who died on the battle fields of the Civil War.

The Amphi-theatre building at Arlington is a beautiful construction and every visitor to Washington should see it.

While we visited many places of interest, which space will not permit us to describe, the description would not be complete without a reference to the Lincoln Memorial, which has been constructed in honour of the great president, who was assassinated at the close of the Civil War. In this magnificent memorial which is built of white marble is an immense statue of Abraham Lincoln, seated in a large arm-chair, looking towards the Capitol, the Washington monument being in a direct line between the two buildings.

The delegates from this city stayed over a day to visit different points of interest and between sessions of the Convention were able to visit many of them.

Washington is a beautiful city and worthy of being the capital of the great American republic. For beauty of construction, plan of streets, the many circles constructed throughout the city and the ornate decorations of the buildings there is no city in existence which equals it.

NEW ZEALANDER MAKES APOLOGY

Toronto, Feb. 7—The New Zealand school teacher whose adverse comments on the manners of Toronto men and other criticisms have aroused some comment here is still a resident of Toronto it is disclosed by an interview with her appearing in a Toronto paper. Fearing that the criticisms would be imputed to others she admitted today that she was the author of the letter sent to New Zealand which represented things Canadian in an unfavorable light. During the interview the young woman wept and expressed deep regret that she had written the letter. "I should never have written the beastly thing—it was just an effort to be smart," she declared.

The New Zealand teacher was inclined however, to stand by some of her statements. Her assertion that Canadians were ill-mannered she thought was partly justified by the fact that men allow women to stand in street cars here. She had never seen anything like that in New Zealand. Her statement also that Canadian teaching methods were antiquated, she felt, was justified, though it might have been wiser to have used the term "old-fashioned."

QUEER OLD MAN HELPS UNEMPLOYED

London, Feb. 7.—The unemployed at Wivenhoe, near Colchester, have found a patron in an aged wealthy man from United States, Bayard Brown, who lives on his yacht Valfreya, high and dry in a local dock, and who made a substantial donation to the unemployed Christmas fund. Some years ago Mr. Brown made a similar donation to the unemployed at Brightlingsea, where his yacht was then laid up.

Mr. Brown has been somewhat of a mystery in English coast towns, as his yacht seldom puts to sea and its owner rarely leaves its deck.

Mutual Life Shows A Healthy Record

Pioneer Canadian Company Experienced Healthy and Progressive Year

The recently issued 55th Annual Statement of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada cannot fail to prove a source of deep satisfaction to the policyholders. By every test, this pioneer Canadian mutual life company has made record progress during the past year. In every phase of its business, the growth has been more than satisfactory.

By practically half-a-million dollars the previous high record of surplus earnings was surpassed, the 1924 total being $3,500,258. An increased distribution was made to policyholders of $379,962,33 more than was paid out in 1923. A total of $2,689,007.93 was paid out in dividends in 1924—a return to the policyholders of approximately 25 percent. of the total premiums received by the company.

As pointed out by the General Manager in his address, during the lifetime of The Mutual Life of Canada, $15,963,134.22 has been paid in dividends to policyholders and, of this amount, $12,870,044.23 was distributed during the last 10 years. It is clearly evident from these figures that the aim of the company—to furnish maximum protection at a minimum cost—is being splendidly realized.

The expansion of the Company's business has been healthy and progressive. During the year a total of $43,224,297 of new assurances was written, representing an increase in new policies issued of $4,283,719, or 11 percent. more than in 1923. The business in force now amounts to $259,729,896 on 135,235 policies, compared with $203,982,566 at the end of 1923—a net increase of $25,747,330 last year.

The impregnable financial situation of the Company is well indicated in accummulated assets of $63,960,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,379.

Three of the factors contributing to the exceptionally high surplus earned for the policyholders were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets The percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from the previous best showing of 16.15 percent. in 1923 to 15.53 percent. in 1924. This reduction was accomplished despite the fact that the new policies issued in 1924 exceeded the 1923 total by over 4 1-4 millions of dollars.

Another Record Broken

Another record was broken in the matter of low mortality. The ratio of actual to expected death claims was only 33.01 percent. as against 39.26 percent in 1923, the previous low record in recent years. Very careful consideration of risks by the Company's officers in the field is indicated by the extraordinary light death claims made in 1942. The policyholders benefit in the increased surplus thus made possible.

A third source of the increased surplus earned for policyholders was the high average interest yield on invested assets—6.41 percent. This gratifying average was achieved in the face of a downward trend in interest rates, and is notable in view of the amount invested in high-class bonds in which so large a part of The Mutual Life's assets is invested. The Directors' far-sighted policy in investing funds was again strikingly justified in 1924.

The Mutual Life of Canada has an unbroken record of development during its 55 years of existence. The principle of Mutuality—whereby the profit-participating policyholders receive back the entire net profits—has been abundantly justified. As remarked by the President: "The results of the year 1924 are sufficient to point the moral that co-operation, scientifically employed as it is in our case, eliminate the middleman and his profits, and thus assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution."

DROVE SINCE 1896, FINED FIRST TIME

Birmingham, Feb. 7—Frederick William Lanchester, who designed and built the first petrol-driven motor car in Great Britain and who since 1896 has held a license for driving, recently was summoned for the first time for a breach of the rules and regulations of the road.

His offense was failing to obey the signal of a policeman. The magistrate dismissed the case on condition that Lanchester pay the costs.

LOST LIFE TRYING TO SAVE HIS DOG

St. Catharines, Feb. 9.—Cecil Jones, 14-year-old son of Mrs. William Jones of Ontario Street, lost his life Saturday afternoon in an attempt to save his little playmate dog. The Jones boy, with some other lads, was playing beside the old Welland Canal.

The mild weather had made the ice unsafe for boys to venture upon, but when the playful little dog scurried out on to it, the other boys say, there seemed but one thing in the mind of its little master: fear that it would be drowned, and determination to rescue it at all costs. The boy ventured out, the ice gave beneath him and he sank from sight. In the swift current he had no chance. He was carried under the ice and away.

The little dog, perhaps ignorant of the tragedy it had caused, made its way to shore.

Attempts at rescue of the boy were futile.

The little victim and his mother seem to have been marked by evil fate. The lad himself while lighting the kitchen fire some years ago burned his hand so severely that the arm had to be amputated.

Two years ago the father was drowned in the canal.

The whole city sympathizes.

COUNTY COMMITTEE IN SESSION TO-DAY

The finance committee of the County council, of which Mr. B. McGuire of Stirling is chairman, was in session here this afternoon. Matters for consideration were the indemnity liability insurance and the providing of certain articles of furniture for the court room, also making some improvement to the Judges' room adjoining the court room.

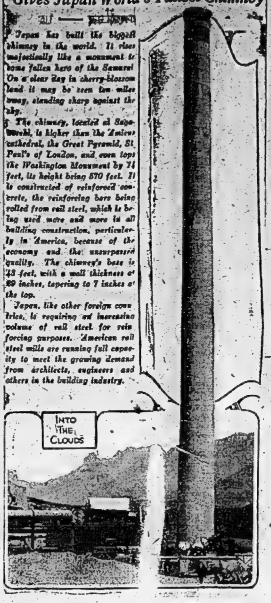
Tower Higher Than the Great Pyramid Gives Japan World's Tallest Chimney

Japan has built the biggest chimney in the world. It rises majestically like a monument to some fallen hero of the Samurai. On a clear day in cherry-blossom land it may be seen ten miles away, standing sharp against the sky.

The chimney, located at Saganoseki, is higher than the Amiens cathedral, the Great Pyramid, St. Paul's of London, and even tops the Washington Monument by 71 feet, its height being 570 feet. It is constructed of reinforced concrete, the reinforcing bars being rolled from rail steel, which is being used more and more in all building construction, particularly in America, because of the economy and the unsurpassed quality. The chimney's base is 43 feet, with a wall thickness of 29 inches, tapering to 7 inches at the top.

Japan, like other foreign countries, is requiring an increasing volume of rail steel for reinforcing purposes. American rail steel mills are running full capacity to meet the growing demand from architects, engineers and others in the building industry.



SENATORS TRIMMED LEAGUE LEADERS

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Playing just as close a game as the score indicates, Hamilton and Ottawa fought 12½ minutes overtime here Saturday night before the locals landed the tally that gave them a 3 to 2 victory. As was the case on the two former occasions on which these teams met here, the game was a thriller from start to finish, and immensely pleasing to a capital house.

Swinging down left wing, eluding McKinnon, and then splitting the Langlois-Randall defense, Cy Denneny went whirling through to drive a back-hand shot out of Forbes' reach for the odd goal in five.

"Red" and "Shorty" Green were the bright lights for Hamilton. Randall played a very effective game, his "drifters" being a continual worry to Connell. Langlois and McKinnon were both prominent as was Roach, who was the only sub used.

Referee—Cooper Smeaton, Montreal.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME TO WINNER OF QUINTE

The Irishmen of Kingston came to themselves in the third period of last night's game against Napanee at Napanee in the Bay of Quinte League fixture long enough to win out by six to five, after the Napanee team had made it two to one in their favor at the end of the first period and held it four to three for themselves at the end of the second period. The game was fast all through and free from roughness. Babcock, the Napanee goalie, was struck on the mouth near the close of the first period by a flying puck and had to retire.

Monday's game here against Point Anne promises to be a hummer. It will practically decide the winner of the second section of the B. of Q. League, in which the Irishmen now lead

Although Aged 52 He Plays Football

Bill Lunday Expects to Play Better Next Season Too

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—James W. ("Bill") Lundy, 52 years old, believes he ranks well toward the top of active football players today.

Lundy who is an assistant sergeant-at-arms in the state House of Representatives plays with his home town grid team and last season was not pulled out of the game either by injury or by the coach. He was a member of the House two years ago and accepted appointment this session "to be with the old crowd."

At Sargent, Neb., where Lundy owns a farm and power station, his achievements on the football field, the baseball diamond and in the hemped ring have gained him prominence. For four years, during the time his son, Albro, played with the high school team the father played with the town team against his son. Later the younger Lundy joined his father's team playing center. Albro took up wrestling at the University of Nebraska here.

The elder Lundy weighs 212 pounds but it has not hindered his offensive power. "Next season I will be better than ever," he said. "Each morning I take setting up exercises and in the spring I start preparing for the football season."

Congress To Wage A Tariff Battle

Agricultural Rates Loom up As Very Important Question

Washington, Feb. 9.—(By Canadian Press).—The next session of the U.S. Congress, the first session of the newly elected Senate and House, is almost sure to witness a battle over tariffs.

The question at issue will be, in a large measure, whether the tariff question is to be opened up with a view to increasing agricultural rates to a prohibitory point. Any action in this regard will react on Canadian exporters of agricultural products. The question of higher duties would have been opened at the present session of Congress were it not for the fact that the time before the session ends March 4, would have been too short to accomplish anything.

A large part of the agricultural membership in the House and Senate and most of the farm organizations of the United States are still in favor of the principle underlying the present tariff bill—the McNary-Haugen Bill. The purpose of this bill is to encourage agricultural exports and at the same time to shut out of the United States competing agricultural products. The agricultural commission appointed by President Coolidge has been unfriendly to this bill and recently made recommendations that would not be acceptable to the supporters of the bill. This, however, will not prevent the powerful agricultural interests from pressing for legislation providing for higher tariffs. A recent demand for a duty on hides which are now on the free list, is a symptom of the persistence of the agricultural high tariff advocates.

It will prove impossible to revise the agricultural rates without giving an opportunity for advocates of other tariff changes to air their views. The opening of the tariff bill to revision will be fought by those satisfied with the present bill on the ground that it may lead to a lowering, instead of raising of the rates and a head-on collision between the agricultural factions would be inevitable. If the Democrats unite with the extreme wing of the agricultural bloc they could command a majority and force an opening of the tariff bill to revision.

ST. PATRICKS BEAT CANADIENS 5-4

Toronto, Feb. 9.—Thrilling hockey featured the St. Patrick's-Canadiens tilt here on Saturday night, when the largest crowd of the season saw the Irish match their speed against the Flying Frenchmen and come out on top by 5 to 4. The visitors tried every trick they knew in an effort to win and make sure of a place in the playoff series, but they found the locals ready for the test, and when it was over they had no excuses to offer. St. Patrick's were never headed. They led at the end of the first period by 2 to 1, and at the next intermission by 4 to 3.

Early in the season the locals did not look like a championship contender, but they have improved rapidly, and on Saturday they played high-class hockey, and won on their merits. It was the first time this season that they were able to outscore the Canadiens at the local Arena. All the Irish players did their part, but at that "Happy" Day and Goalkeeper Roach were the outstanding performers. Day ran second to no one in regard to speed. He scored two goals and received vociferous applause.

Canadiens might have said that they lost the game owing to the five penalties served by Aurel Joliat. The latter was not in good humor, and he ran wild after he engaged in a wrestling match with Jack Adams early in the game. In all, he watched the struggle from the penalty box for thirteen minutes and his absence made a whole lot of difference. Joliat earned every penalty he received. He was on the warpath and came home a bad second.

RECREATION ALLEYS

The Fruit Merchants had a bitter pill to swallow at the Recreation Alleys on Friday night when they lost their second straight game, losing this game by 11 pins after leading for the first and second game. Capt Quattrocchi was high bowler for the Fruit Merchants. Reg. Arnott for the Hikers rolled his highest three string score spilling the maple for a total score of 711.

The Road Dept won from the Station in the C. N. R. league by over 400 pins the winners being in their best form since the league opened and getting better every day, for the winners Gt Dickey was high bowler and Beaton was high for the losers.

In the C. I. League, the Industrials won from the Battlers after getting off to a bad start losing the first game by 35 pins, but coming back strong in the second and third. High bowlers were T Barrett for the winners and Lupencte for the losers

In the junior league the K of C. showed up with only two bowlers so the game was defaulted to the Baby Shoes.

Saturday Night

In the C. N. league on Saturday night the Express Dept. won from the M.P. Office by 242 pins. It was a case of the losers starting off too strong when they rolled 801 against the winners 735 but in the second and third they fell badly when they rolled 653 and 597 against the Express 764 and 794 For the Express, Wallace was high bowler and Easton led the way for the M. P. Office. Players and scores.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

"A charming little place, my dear Percy. So quiet and secluded and so much healthier than Florence. I think I shall venture to suggest to Lady Despard that she and Doris go there for a few weeks. You, of course, go with them. You are there, say a fortnight or three weeks, when I write to offer you an engagement at a large salary in Australia."

Percy Levant listened intently, his brilliant eyes covered by their long dark lashes, so that Spencer Churchill could not see the expression that gleamed in them.

"It is a tempting offer," Churchill went on, "but alas! poor as you are, you cannot bring yourself to leave your ladylove for years, perhaps forever, as the song says. And what so natural and reasonable as the suggestion that you should marry her, and take her out with you? There is a charming little English church in Pescia, the very church for a quiet wedding."

"It is a clever plan," said Percy Levant. "But, clever as it is, you will spoil it. Do you think Lady Despard will not suspect that there is something wrong when you dog our footsteps and follow us about——"

Mr. Spencer Churchill laughed.

"But I do not intend to inflict my presence upon you, my dear Percy. I shall ask dear Lady Despard's permission to remain here at the villa, in charge, as it were, during her absence."

A curious expression almost one of satisfaction, shone for a moment in Percy Levant's dark eyes.

"I understand," he said quietly. "I am willing to follow your instructions; and all I ask is that which you have consented to: that you keep away from Pescia."

To himself he muttered:

"Yes, I'll do it!—I'll do it! Oh, my beautiful angel, it is for your sake!"

As he turned away a footman came across the lawn with a telegram.

It was from Lord Cecil, and had been forwarded from Meurigny's. Mr. Spencer Churchill took it and opened it. It ran:

"The marquis' condition is unaltered. —Cecil Neville."

CHAPTER XXXI.
RETRIBUTION

The Marquis of Sloyle did not die but, strange to say, while his physical strength grew daily, his mind was, to some extent impaired. He could not remember clearly the later years of his life. Thinking that a change of scene might be beneficial he went, with his valet, to Pescia, where he rented the Villa Vittoria.

At Pescia, on the day when she had consented to marry Percy Levant two weeks hence, Doris met the marquis. The old man had eluded his valet and had walked too far for his strength. Doris saw him leaning weakly against a bridge, and went to his assistance.

The young woman experienced a severe shock when she learned the name of the man she had succored, but because he was old and ill, she went to see him, and took with her Percy Levant.

The marquis, who was slowly recovering his memory, told his visitors how Spencer Churchill had assisted him to break off the engagement between his nephew and an actress. The old man's memory failed him here, and he could not recall the name of the woman, but from Doris' white face and agitated manner, Percy guessed the truth.

He led Doris gently home. She, having learned that the letter breaking Cecil's engagement to her was a forgery, was unable to conceal her despair from Percy's keen eyes. That evening he offered to free her from her engagement to him, but Doris, knowing that Cecil was pledged to Lady and fully aware of Percy's love, did not accept his sacrifice.

"We are to be married on the sixteenth, Doris," Percy concluded. "I ask only that you trust me. Will you?"

And Doris inclined her head in sign of assent.

Meanwhile, the marquis, greatly excited by the recital of his tale and its effect upon his visitors had been growing weaker. So serious had his condition become that his physician had telegraphed secretly to Lord Cecil Neville.

That young man, burdened with Lady Grace and a chaperon traveled rapidly toward Pescia, and arrived at the Villa Vittoria as Percy was telling the marquis a cheerful story. The two lovers of Doris met for the first time and left the room together at Percy's request.

A lengthy conversation ensued between them, at which much was explained to Lord Cecil Neville. Then grasping hands cordially, the men separated.

Percy Levant sent word to Spencer Churchill to come to the Villa Vittoria at four on the afternoon of the sixteenth, as he was to be married in the morning of that day and wished to settle all matters between them as soon as possible.

The Villa Vittoria, like most of its fellows in Pesca, covered a long space of ground, its rooms being arranged on two stories, with very few stairs and fewer corridors.

The apartments which the marquis occupied for his own personal use consisted of a sitting-room, and a dressing room and bedroom adjoining, the latter divided from the sitting-room by heavy curtains. On the other side of the center room was a small anteroom which the marquis had not used; it was intended as a reception-room for tradespeople or persons who paid visits of business.

Percy Levant on his visits to the marquis had noticed the arrangement of rooms, and at half-past three on the afternoon of the sixteenth the valet, who had received his instructions from Percy, ushered that gentleman, Lady Despard and Doris into the anteroom and softly closed the door.

"Now, I am going to leave you," Percy said gravely as they heard the valet speaking to some one in the hall. He left them closing the door behind them.

"My dear Percy, may I congratulate you? May I?"

"You may," said Percy Levant, giving him a hand. "You can understand why I sent for you," he continued, seating himself opposite to Spencer Churchill, whose back was turned to the curtains which divided this room from the marquis' dressing room. "My part of the contract being fulfilled I want to know what my position really is, and whether this nonsense of yours has any truth in it?"

Spencer Churchill stared indignantly.

"Young man," he exclaimed solemnly, "this is the first time I have ever been accused—to my face—of falsehood! This nonsense! You allude to the agreement—the perfectly legal agreement, which you signed, and which I hold—you will discover that it is anything but nonsense."

"I'm delighted to hear it of course," said Percy Levant; "don't be angry! Well, then, seeing that I am to give you ten thousand pounds as a fee for your assistance in procuring me a wife I should like to know all about my wife's property."

"Your wife! How well it sounds!" chuckled Spencer Churchill; then his face grew suddenly suspicious. "By the way, have you the marriage certificate? I should like to see it, my dear boy."

"Certainly," assented Percy Levant cheerfully; "I'll go and ask my wife for it. Indeed, she may as well be present——"

"No no," interrupted Spencer Churchill, putting out his hand. "Never mind; don't trouble. I'll—I'll take a little brandy, my dear Percy—a capital and useful spirit, if used in moderation."

NEW YORK BILL

FIRST BLUE LAW

Albany, Feb. 9.—A return to the 'Blue Sunday' of Puritan days is sought in a bill now before the Assembly. It was introduced at the request of the Lord's Day Alliance.

The bill would prohibit barbering, labor and all sports on Sunday except with the express approval of the voters. Theatrical performances, motion picture exhibitions, public or social dancing and skating would be specifically prohibited on the Sabbath when an admission fee is charged.

This is the first of a series of "blue law" measures planned for introduction at this session.

Most Spectacular Romance To Date

"Sundown" Cast Includes Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart

California, Arizona and Texas rounded up their last great herds and Mexico received them as the actual forerunner of the transference of the cattle business from America to the southern republic when First National filmed "Sundown," the super-drama of the West which opens at the Griffin Theatre to-night.

The story describes how the cattleman has been forced out of American history by the encroachment of "nesters" and how the great herds are being broken up.

Taking advantage of the dramatic movement of the massed heard, Director Hudson took his First National company to a ranch near El Paso and the Mexican line and there filmed the romantic theme of the story against a constantly moving background of cattle on the trail.

Because it is truly a tragic chapter of American history and because it accurately describes the plight of the cattle-owners, "Sundown" received the co-operation of ranchers in the filming and is described by critics as the most sepctacular romance of the West ever filmed.

The cast includes such celebrated names as Bessie Love, Hobart Bosworth, Roy Stewart, Charlie Murray, Charles Sellon, Arthur Hoyt and others, but they appear as living figures of the old and new West rather than as players, and "Sundown" is a unique example of a production without a deep-eyed villian and without a pretty matinee idol. A beautiful love story runs through the picture.

"Starring" in the production, if the ill-used word can be applied, will be 100,000 cattle, moving through three states to Mexico to close a chapter of American history and leave an indelible imprint upon the romantic memory of the West.

Paramount Secured Popular Comedy

"The Fast Set" at the Belle Theatre The Result

William de Mille recently came off victor in one of the keenest competitions ever staged by rival producers for a Big Broadway success. While he was in New York some time ago, Mr. de Mille attended a performance of "Spring Cleaning" at the Eltinge Theatre. And from that moment on the popular Paramount director had a new ambition—to produce this brilliant comedy for the screen. After a lively bidding, Paramount executives secured the picture rights of this stage play, and de Mille realized his ambition a few weeks ago when he finished "The Fast Set", the picture version of Frederick Lonsdale's "Spring Cleaning", adapted to the screen by Clara Beranger.

"The Fast Set" which opens tonight at the Belle Theatre, is a comedy of smart society life and the main theme is furnished by a fine man who resorts to a clever and astonishing method of saving his wife from undesirable friends and of exposing a notorious "great lover" who is paying her unusual attention.

How can a man keep his wife from making a fool of herself? is the question this photoplay asks and answers. It is a question that has been answered in many ways but probably never in a more entertaining and dramatic manner than it is in this picture. Betty Compson, Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith and ZaSu Pitts are featured in the principal roles.

William Kelly, 71, passed away at his residence, 328 Marlboro street, Brantford, after a brief illness. He was born at Middleport and became a resident of Brantford 35 years ago.

The Chatham Board of Education will establish an auxiliary class for backward pupils in the public schools. Miss Mary Park, a member of the teaching staff, has been appointed teacher of the new class.

Hamilton will support Toronto officials in their move to have the Attorney-General investigate recent increases in price of gasoline, which are considered unreasonable. The city will also ask for an investigation of the rumors of an oil combine in the province.

Millionaire Tells How He Does It

Blackstone Fools Audiences Because They Want to be Fooled

(By Blackstone)

All show business is bunk. It is bogus in so far as it is all make believe. The magic art is the result of ability to fool folk. Modesty forbids me to tell how much money I have made in deceiving the American public but if I don't invest in oil stock or German marks I will be able to stall off the wolf to past the proverbial span of man's existence.

I fool my audience because they want to be fooled. That is where the entertainment comes in. Nearly every magic fan thinks he or she knows how the various tricks and illusions are performed. Not one in a hundred guess the correct manner. One who will solve one trick will miss the next one. When appearing before King George, by special command at Windsor three years ago, I was greeted by His Majesty and an entourage of some fifty or sixty persons. As part of the entertainment I requested that those present write out their ideas as to how each trick was accomplished. I presented no less than 20 different experiments. Two correct answers were turned in, each from a different person. My creed is to make my performance as mystifying as possible but such excellent quality that all will say they were not fooled about its being a wonderful entertainment. Above all else my show was, is and always will be—clean.

War To The Knife Thought Imminent

Shipping Combine and Canadian Government Dispute Over Rates

London, Feb. 9.—War to the knife has been declared quietly and without any overt declaration between the North Atlantic Shipping combine on the one hand, the Canadian Government and Sir William Peterson on the other.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained on both sides as to their strategy and course of action. The combine officials both here in London and at their official headquarters in Liverpool maintain a silence and absolutely refuse to disclose the slightest inkling of their plans. Sir William Peterson on the other hand merely smiles when questions are put up to him, and intimates that the time is not yet ripe for him to show his plan. He obviously believes that if there is any talking to be done it should properly come from the combine.

Sure of Victory

Officials of the various companies in the pool, however, do not hesitate to say unofficially that they are confident that the attack on them will fail. They declare that the emigrant traffic across the Atlantic is now being carried at the lowest economic rates as is also freight, and that these rates cannot be lowered without courting disaster. They prophesy that the only result of the action of the Canadian government as forecast in the cables from Ottawa will be a gain for them, and the Peterson line and the government, and the failure of the whole experiment of interference in rate-making on sea-borne freight.

The combine directors seem extremely confident as to this result, and without indicating what action they will take, one of the moving spirits of the combine who is one of the best men in the British shipping world, does not hesitate to hint that the combine may just sit back and wait developments. "We have only got to give them enough rope," he said significantly.

Have to Close Down

"There is no room for more lines government lines or others," Chairman Dance, of the London section of the North Atlantic conference, is quoted by the Westminster Gazette as saying, with reference to the Canadian government's subsidy of a fleet of ten ships of the Peterson line. "There is too much tonnage already for the traffic available," Mr. Dance added in the interview, "and none of us can make a living. If the rates have to be cut further then we shall have to close down.

Mr. Dance, at the outset of his statement to the Gazette said: "Until we know more about the Canadian government's scheme officially, it is impossible to say what we will do."

No One Can Tell If You Darken Hair

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

THE INTERNAL PARASITE

Causes About Fifty Per Cent. of All Poultry Disease

How They Weaken the System—The Lye Treatment Is Best—Tapeworm Troubles—Green Feed for Poultry—The Farm Water Supply.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Internal parasites are responsible either directly or indirectly for fifty per cent. of the poultry losses. This means that millions of dollars are lost each year through the presence of these undesirable creatures.

How Parasites Weaken the System.

Frequently autopsies of healthy birds reveal the presence of a considerable number of intestinal worms which have apparently, up to the time, not caused the bird any great physical harm. In many cases, however, birds become thin, emaciated and finally die. Heavily infested birds are much more susceptible to other diseases, as fowl cholera, tuberculosis, and roup. Practically all the nematodes infesting poultry have no intermediate host. Eggs passed with the droppings develop quickly if the soil of the poultry yard and the weather are favorable into the larval stage. The infective larvae are picked up by the same or other birds of the flock, and finally develop within the intestinal tract, into mature worms. The cycle goes on, more worms, more eggs, more worms, unless the poultry owner wakes up and decides to destroy the parasites that take his profits. The destruction of the parasite is easy.

The Lye Treatment Is Best.

A teaspoonful of concentrated lye mixed with each four quarts of grain, and cooked slowly for two hours and allowed to cool. The birds are given their ordinary feed one morning, and then nothing else until the next morning, when they are given as much of the lye mixture as they will eat. See that the water pan is filled. This treatment should be given twice during the summer. A four-week interval between treatments is essential, then removal of the birds to clean runs.

How to Deal With Tapeworms.

Cestodes or tapeworm infesting fowl differ from the nematodes or round worms in that they require an intermediate host to carry on their life cycle. It has been demonstrated that the various species of snails, slugs, worms and flies that may be found about poultry plants are intermediate hosts of the tapeworms that infest chickens. These white, ribbon like, segmented worms can be successfully combatted with the lye treatment as given for round worms.

Sanitary precautions and rational treatment of the soil in the poultry runs is very essential in keeping tapeworm under control. Concentrated lye is cheap and effective. Why permit your poultry to continue as a convenient host to profit reducing parasites. The chickens cannot get rid of their tormentors unless you help them.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

GREEN FEED FOR POULTRY.

The Best Hatches Are Generally Due to the Vitamines In Grass, Cabbage, Sprouted Oats, Etc.

The old-time poultry man knew that it was necessary for the breeding birds to get outdoors during the hatching egg production season, if the results were to be really favorable. Why the outdoor life made the difference he did not know, but we have learned since that the outdoor life had little to do with the hatchability of the eggs. The success was due to what the hen ate while free outdoors. Green grass and clover, cabbage, lettuce, kale, sprouted oats carry the fat soluble Vitamine D, which is essential for fertility and hatchability of the egg and the utilization in the body of phosphates of lime, so essential in bones. The fat soluble Vitamine A is also present in all green feeds, and to a lesser extent in turnips, mangels, and rutabagas. The use of green feed in some form is absolutely essential if the hatchability of the egg and the vigor of the chick is to reach a high standard. Many poor hatches in late winter and early spring are due to the breeding stock not receiving the vitamine carrying green feeds. Sprout oats and let them grow four inches high before feeding. Stock the feed storage cellar or pits with turnips, mangels and cabbage, and let the breeding stock have all such green feed as they care to consume.—L. Stevenson, Director of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

The Farm Water Supply.

There are two main sources, namely, well and spring (both hard water) and rain water (soft). Any one thinking of installing a modern water system and plumbing in his home should make sure that his water supply is both plentiful and safely protected from all possible sources of contamination. Much more water will be used daily under modern than under old conditions of service—about 30 gallons per person per day. Ask the O. A. College to assist you in solving the following problems in this matter of water supply. So says Prof. R. R. Graham:

1. How to increase the well and spring supplies of water.
2. How to safeguard these supplies from surface contamination.
3. How to make more use of the rain water supply.
4. How to get that fine spring water running through your house and stables by installing the hydraulic ram near the spring.

To Open Store in Belleville

Kingston takes a great deal of interest and pride in the announcement that two Kingston young men, R. M. Davis and E. J. Steacy, are opening a Radio store in Belleville this week. The two young men are both very well known locally and their many friends wish them every success in their new field. The store is located at 349 Front street, Belleville, and they will handle all the best lines of radio equipment. The store, itself, is a very fine one and the two local boys promise to make a success of their work.

Deseronto Customs High

Deseronto, Feb. 7. Customs and excise returns for the port of Deseronto for the month of January, 1925, were $68,257.31 and for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1924, the collections were $441,666.40. Very few towns, and, in fact, several cities of Ontario can show collections in excess of those collected at this port, and all cities, towns and almost all villages in Ontario can show a larger Government expenditure than the amount expended by the Government in Deseronto.

To Restore Train

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—Thursday President John McCr[illegible] the Board of Trade, and Mr. [illegible] Flavelle waited on Superintendent J. D. McMillan of Belleville, at his private car at local C. N. R. station relative to the restoration of the Lindsay-Belleville train. A petition signed by the commercial men praying for the restoration of this service was submitted to the Superintendent. The assurance was given the deputation that the train would be restored this spring.

Rescue "Pole" Cat

Oshawa, Feb. 9.—The fire department was recently called out to remove a Thomas cat from a pole on First avenue. This is but one of the phases of the work which the fire laddies are called upon to discharge. The fire brigade, however, is not the only local organization which is bothered to any extent. Calls frequently come in to the Hydro office of urgent cases which in order to save the life of somebody's feline pet requires prompt action.

Writs Issued

Oshawa, Feb. 9.—Acting for A. E. Garbutt, supervising principal of the public schools, D. A. J. Swanson Saturday morning issued two writs, one naming the Alger Pres and the Oshawa Telegram as defendants and the second W. J. Trick and John G. Russell as defendants. Each of the two latter are sued for $25,000. The plaintiff's claim against The Alger Press and the Oshawa Telegram is $25,000, as damages for libel, making a total of $75,000.

The second writ states: "The defendant, John G. Russell is the maker and publisher of the said libel and as against the defendant, W. J. Trick, that he was publisher of the said libel.

In the action against the Oshawa Telegram, "The plaintiff's claim is for $25,000 as damages for libel. The libel complained of was published in the Oshawa Telegram in its issue of Monday, January 5th, 1925, and which said issue is number 288 and said libel was published on page one of the said issue and the said Oshawa Telegram is published by the Alger Press Limited. Certain averments and statements as above set out were libellous."

Pleaded Not Guilty

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—Gordon Ouderkirk of Carden township appeared before County Police Magistrate Bradford at Lindsay Friday on a charge under the Inland Revenue Act of having an illicit still and mash suitable for the manufacture of liquor. Accused pleaded not guilty to the charge but after the Crown had put in its evidence plea was changed to not guilty. A fine of $200 and costs or six months in default was imposed by the Magistrate. Fine and costs were paid.

The seizure was made by Inspector Floody, Inland Revenue Enforcement Officer of Toronto, assisted by Constable Veitch.

Salts Clears A Pimply Skin

PIMPLES ARE IMPURITIES SEEKING AN OUTLET THROUGH SKIN PORES

Pimples, sores and boils, usually result from toxins poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

Old Man Huddled By Fireless Stove

So Badly Frozen, Little Hope Held For Recovery

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—As a result of the extreme frost of a few days ago and the inability to help himself, Benjamin Cowie, who lives near Bolsover, Victoria County, is in the hospital awaiting the result of attention as to whether he will lose both feet and an arm as the result of frost-bites.

Cowie is a man well on to the eighty mark, and lived alone in a poorly appointed house. For some days he had not been seen, and the neighbors finally decided to investigate. On entering the house the old man was found huddled beside the stove in which no fire had been for a long time, he being too feeble to help himself. He was found to be badly frozen. Owing to his advanced age, and the fact that his limbs were badly frozen, little hope is held out for his recovery.

Pretty Young Girl, Innkeeper In France, Had Poor Impression Of Marshal Petain

(Associated Press Despatch)

Menton, France, Feb. 9.—Marshal Petain, as a second lieutenant 40 years ago, served two years in a small post near Sospel on the French-Italian frontier. Second Lieutenant Petain, whose resources were rather slim, took his meals at a modest inn kept by a young girl of remarkable beauty.

Recently Marshal Petain, representing the French army at the unveiling of a monument to the war dead here, decided to take the trip into the mountains and visit the scene of his garrison life as a second lieutenant. The marshal admitted to his aides that he was anxious to see how the former beauty of the inn looked after 40 years.

He found both the inn and its owner grown considerably larger. Forty years had worked a great contrast, however, in their respective appearance. The inn refreshed with paint and reconstruction, had become considerably younger, while all the paint in the world could not hide the havoc that the years had wrought upon its once fair owner.

"Don't you recollect a second lieutenant called Petain who frequented your place some 40 years ago," the marshall asked of the old woman at the end of the meal when he saw that she had failed to recognize him.

"Oh, yes," the landlady replied simply, "little Petain, why he must be at least a captain by this time."

PATIENT TOOK LIFE OF NURSE HE LOVED

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 9—Because she refused his attentions, Miss Mildred Neilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Neilson, of Vancouver, formerly of Toronto, was shot to death in the Trail, B.C., Hospital, on Friday. Paul Hanley is charged with the murder. Hanley, who police say never recovered from nervous shock caused by overseas service had been a patient in the hospital and treated by the girl. He came to Vancouver to find the attitude of the parents and taken a parcel back to their daughter. After killing his nurse he attempted to kill himself. The Neilsons came here from Toronto twenty years ago.

CANADIAN-BORN ACTOR PASSES AWAY

London, Feb. 9—Douglas L. Secord, one of the most widely-known of Canadian born actors, died at his home Saturday morning, his death following with startling suddenness that of his wife, Adeline Secord, who was buried on Thursday.

The deceased who was grandnephew of Laura Secord, was about 70 years of age, and was a veteran actor and manager of 50 years' experience on the stage in the United States and Canada. He was born at Niagara-on-the-Lake and educated there and at Queen's University.

Fake Indian Chief "Takes In Italy"

Made Fine Impression while It Lasted; Formerly in Lindsay

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—"White Elk," the Indian chief, who made Lindsay his camping ground in September 1923, and who played on the susceptibilities of many pale faces much to their sorrow, is again in the lime-light after a somewhat thrilling career in Europe, where he was dined, feted and lionized in Britain and on the continent. A copy of the London (England) Graphic to hand contains the following item which will make interesting history:—

"After being feted and received with great ceremony in all the big cities and many of the small towns in Italy, a mysterious individual who styled himself a Redskin Chief," head of the White Elk tribe, has been bundled into prison at Bellingona, Switzerland.

"He landed in Italy in the fantastic dress of an Indian chief, and for five months the newspapers vied with each other in putting him on the highest pedestal.

"He threw bank notes to boys in the streets, and mayors and corporations with bands turned out to meet him where ever he went. Italy was fascinated, more especially because he announced that he was a great admirer of Mussolini, and wanted to become a Fascist. He applied for an audience with the Pope, but instead received a portrait.

"But, with the stage filled with all the glitter and pomp, behind the scenes he favored an old Austrian family with his acquaintance, and extracted a loan of £8,000.

"The money eventually gave out, and he was next heard of in Switzerland, where a Neuchetel hotelkeeper discovered that he could not pay his bills.

"He is now in prison as Edgar Le Planti, of Connecticut, who landed in Europe from the United States on cinema business. He is to be expelled from the country."

DISILLUSIONED FOLK LODGE COMPLAINTS

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Officials investigation of the "millennium" which failed to materialize as predicted by Mrs. Margaret Rowan, leading prophetess of the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists, was launched Saturday by Los Angeles authorities.

Complaints of disillusioned followers that they had disposed of their earthly possessions in anticipation of the world's end at midnight, as forecast by Mrs. Rowan, prompted Chief Investigator Poland, of the city prosecutor's office, to order a complete inquiry.

The estimates for the Hamilton police department submitted to the commission by Chief Coulter Friday, showed an increase of $75,000 over last year's figures. The matter was dropped and chances for an increase in the strength of the department are slim.

THEY THINK ITS COLD

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 9.—The record cold weather of this winter froze salt water in this section heavily for the first time in the history of the weather bureau. There was ice enough to provide skating, and the fishing fleet at Gig Harbor was frozen in. Skaters skimmed around the fleet for a radius of a quarter of a mile.

The temperature was six degrees above zero, the lowest ever registered here.

Pains Stopped for millions in this way

Remember this when you feel a pain. Millions have learned how to stop it at once. For 65 years they have done so by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

All the pains allied with rheumatism, with soreness, backache or lameness. And chest colds are checked at the start.

Just rub the sore spot with St. Jacobs Oil. It causes counter irritation. Or it relieves the congestion by bringing the blood to the surface. Then the pain is ended, and you can wait in comfort while Nature cures.

Now there are several ways offer to do this. But remember St. Jacobs Oil has for 65 years stood the test. It has proved itself to millions. Nobody has ever found anything better, and nobody ever will.

Don't wait until the pain starts. Keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. It may save nights of suffering. Rub the sore spot as soon as a pain appears, or a chest cold. Get relief at once. Think what protection this means to you and the cost is only 35 cents.

A Wonder Year for Mutualists

Record Surplus of $3,500,258 earned for Policyholders of Mutual Life of Canada

Previous High Mark Passed by Half a Million Dollars

A YEAR of most gratifying results was reported to the policyholders of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada at their 55th Annual Meeting on February 5th. In every phase of its business, the growth of Canada's pioneer Mutual Life Company was eminently satisfactory during 1924.

The real test of a life insurance company operating on the participating plan is its surplus earnings from year to year. It is, therefore, of supreme interest to our policyholders—who alone constitute the company—that the 1924 surplus earnings reached the record total of $3,500,258.

Increased Distribution to Policyholders

During the past year an increased distribution was made to policyholders of $579,962.33 more than was paid out in 1923, a total of $2,689,007.99 having been paid out in dividends. This sum is most significant when it is realized that it meant a RETURN to the policyholders of approximately 25% of premiums received by the company during the year.

Healthy Increase in Business

During the year a total of $43,324,297 of new assurances was written, representing an increase of $4,283,179 over that of 1923. This increase shows a healthy, progressive expansion of the company's business—expansion as rapid as compatible with the best interests of the policyholders.

The business in force now amounts to $295,729,866 on 135,285 policies, compared with $269,982,566 at the end of 1923—a net increase for 1924 of $25,747,300, after allowing for policies revived and bonuses, as well as new business, and deducting the various terminations.

The Company's Exceptional Strength

Three effective factors contributed to the exceptionally high surplus earned for policyholders. These factors were economy in administration, remarkably favorable mortality and high interest rate on invested assets.

Despite the fact that the new policies issued for the past year exceeded that of 1923 by over 4¼ millions of dollars, the percentage of income required to cover general expenses of administration was reduced from 16.15% to 15.32%.

The mortality experienced during the year was extraordinarily low, the ratio existing between actual and expected death claims being only 36.01%, as against 39.26% in 1923, the previous low record in recent years.

Likewise, in the face of a downward trend in interest rates—especially on high-class bonds in which so large a part of the company's assets is invested—the average interest yield on our invested assets was 6.41%—reflecting the satisfactory earning power of the company's investments.

The company's happy situation is further revealed in accumulated assets of $65,960,767, an increase over the previous year of $6,233,378. The consistent prosperity enjoyed by the company invites the confidence of the insuring public.

Striking Statements from Addresses

The results of the year are sufficient, you will agree, to point the moral that co-operation, scientifically employed, as it is in our case, eliminates the middle-man and his profits and, thus, assures to the policyholders a more generous distribution.

—Hume Cronyn, President.

A Mutual Company exists for the express purpose of furnishing maximum protection at a minimum cost and its success is indicated in the amount by which the cost of protection is reduced. When it is said that, during the lifetime of The Mutual of Canada, $15,963,134.22 was paid in dividends to policyholders and that, of this amount, the large sum of $12,870,044.28 was paid out during the past ten years, it will be self-evident that the aims of the company are being realized, and that it is functioning in accordance with the altruistic motives of its founders.

GOVERNMENT OF ONTARIO FAVORS STRONGER BEER

Speech From Throne Announces Amendment to O. T. A.

PREMIER EXPLAINS

Would Permit Sale of 4.4 Per Cent. Alcoholic Strength

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 10.—The Speech from the Throne announces an increase in the alcholic content of beer sold under the Ontario Temperance Act. The section in the Speech from the Throne reads:

"Legislation will be introduced to amend the Ontario Temperance Act by enacting that liquor with an absolute alcholic content by volume of more than two and a half per cent. shall be conclusively deemed to be intoxicating, and to further amend the Act to facilitate enforcement."

Premier Ferguson, explaining the amendment to the O.T.A. proposed in the Speech from the Throne, said the amendment would permit the sale of beer of 4.4 per cent. alcoholic strength instead of 2.50 per cent. Beer of this strength, he said, was not intoxicating, as laboratorial tests had proved.

The present section of the Ontario Temperance Act dealing with the strength of beer permitted to be sold, specifies that beer of more than two and a half per cent proof spirits, by voume shall be deemed intoxicating and, therefore prohibited under the Act. The permission of the manufacture of beer of strength up to two and a half per cent. alcoholic content as proposed in the amendment will, in the opinion of laboratory experts double the alcoholic strength of beer permitted to be sold.

C.N.R. Passengers to Be Supplied With Dictionaries Now

Montreal, Feb. 10.—The vogue of the crossword puzzle is nation wide. It has outrun the borders of cities and towns and has extended its influence to the trains that speed across the continent. At least this is the opinion of Walter Pratt, general manager of the sleeping, dining and parlor car department of the Canadian National Railways who announced Monday that in response to numerous requests from passengers, he had order dictionaries placed on all cars of the system that are equiped.

FEWER MARRIAGES IN JANUARY PAST

During January just passed, there was a decrease in the number of marriages, a decrease of births but an increase in deaths, in comparison with January of 1924.

During the past month, 24 deaths occurred in this city. During January 1924, there were but 19.

During January 1924, 26 babies were born which number is 4 more than the number for the first month of 1925.

Only seven couples launched into matrimony during the past month, while twelve couples were married in January 1924.

Of the 22 births, 12 were baby girls and ten boys.

Of the deaths, 10 were females and 14 males.

But one baby under a year old died during the past month and there were no deaths between the ages of one to ten years. From 10-18 years there was 1; 18-30 years, 2; 30-50 years, 3; 50-70 years, 10, and over 70 years 7.

Leaders Clashed On Floor Of House

Mr. Meighen Shows Over 2,000 Factories Fail In 3 Years

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 10.—Premier Mackenzie King and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, clashed in debate on the floor of the House of Commons yesterday. It was the opening day of debate on the address. Following the more or less formal speeches of the mover and seconder, Mr. Meighen declared that the Government had precipitated transportation anarchy and chaos. It made an abortive attempt to control lake freight which had ended in having to eat crow at the hands of American vessel owners

But—so continued Mr. Meighen—undaunted by its failure, the Government was now taking to the broad Atlantic and, singlehanded, expected to control ocean rates. Here, Mr. Meighen referred to the reported arrangement for subsidizing ten steamers of the Petersen Line and quoted Sir William Petersen as having recently advised the Petersen Line shareholders not to sacrifice their shares at a discount but to hold out for par because he hoped to see Petersen ships soon sailing "under very much more prosperous conditions."

Mr. Meighen charged that the Canadian Government had in three years spent $9,102,000 to bring 322,000 immigrants to Canada, while during the same time over 600,000 Canadians had gone to the United States.

Outlook Bright

Premier King challenged Mr. Meighen's criticisms. He quoted United States authorities as declaring that Canada's industrial outlook was bright. American statistics showed, he declared that relatively unemployment conditions were much worse in the United States than in Canada. Mr. King quoted figures to show that Canada's trade balance was more favorable than it had been since the war, and that manufacturers of agricultural implements had been able to meet foreign competition and realize a profit since the reduction in the tariff on agricultural implements in last year's budget.

Export markets were essential, the Prime Minister went on. A new combine had been forming and seeking to control the entire ocean commerce. It was to be hoped that Canada would have the support of the other Dominions and of other countries in breaking this ocean combine.

Mr. Meighen spoke one hour and 20 minutes on the address, and Premier King took two hours and 40 minutes to reply. Neither speaker was at his best, but the leader of the Opposition was at least distinct and definite in his assertions and arguments, but the Prime Minister was more indefinite and inaccurate than usual.

Mr. Meighen was particularly definite in warning the Government against further entanglement in the Geneva protocol which was signed last year by a member of the Government. He declared his adhesion to the League of Nations as a supervising body, but was pronounced against the proposal to make it a super state and told the Government that they should not contribute to the view that Great Britain should underwrite the security of the world's structure.

On domestic matters he pointed out the failure of the Government in immigration, as in 1919-20-21 the late Government had spent approximately $4,000,000 and secured 354,000 settlers while in 1922-23-24 the present Government had spent $9,000,000 and secured only 322,000, while during the latter period 600,000 Canadian had left Canada for the United States.

Over 2,000 Factories Fail

On economic conditions he pointed to the report of R. G. Dun and Company that in three years 2,040 factories had failed in Canada. This did not include many large concerns that had closed their plants and ceased business without going into bankruptcy. He said the Government had solved the housing problem by driving people from the country, and pointed out that for the first ten months in this year of the Government's era of prosperity the expenditure had increased $2,300,000 and the revenue decreased $50,200,000. He concluded that it was uslees to ask the Government even in face of this failure to surrender the sweets of office, but he urged them "To admit their error, reverse their policy and give Canada a chance."

Premier King denied that Canada was unprosperous, that it was losing people or that factories were closing. He based all his assertions on a comparison

CROWDS ATTEND AS PARLIAMENT OPENED TO-DAY

Eager to Hear Statement of Conservative Government's Policy

TO DEVELOP MARKET

Interests of Ontario Dairy Men Will be Regarded

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 10.—The second session of the sixteenth legislature of Ontario was opened this afternoon with all the usual ceremony by His Honor Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt. There was an unusually large crowd who were this year anxious to hear the Speech from the Throne because of the general opinion that it will contain an announcement on the temperance question and a statement of the government's policy.

They were not disappointed, because near the end of the address there was an important announcement in this respect. The effect of the amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act, proposed by the Government, is simply to allow two and a half per cent. alcohol in beer by volume instead of by weight, as at present. This doubles the strength of beer that will be allowed to be sold if the proposal passes the house. Another outstanding feature of the Speech is the announcement that sessional indemnities and cabinet ministers' salaries would be increased and that there will be a redistribution bill submitted during the session.

The speech announces that steps will be taken to develop opportunities in the British market for Ontario dairy products.

On the question of electrical power the speech says that the Hydro Commission now finds that all the power available is required to mete the demands, and trusts that initial steps taken toward the development of the St. Lawrence River will not meet with delay.

Communists Wound Catholic Members

Attempt to Break Up Meeting of New Organization

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Marseilles, Feb. 10.—Nearly one hundred persons were wounded or bruised during an attempt by Communists to break up a meeting of the newly organized Catholic party, presided over by Gen. de Castelnau, here last night. The list of casualties at first estimated at slightly more than a score was almost tripled during the course of the forenoon by reports from hospitals and police stations where many of the victims presented themselves. The population of Marseilles is at a high state of feeling, especially Catholics who resent interference with their meetings and allege that police failed to afford it proper protection.

Kiwanians Taken On Interesting Trip

When Dr. Fred Mallot and Fred Deacon Recount Experiences

So interesting were the addresses given by Rev. Dr. Fred Mallot and Mr. Fred Deacon on Washington and New York respectively, at the regular Kiwanian luncheon today, Kiwanians had almost all the benefits of the actual trip.

Dr. Mallot and Mr. Fred Deacon, two Kiwanians, were delegates to the World's Missionary Convention there and attended the Kiwanis Club luncheon during their stay.

One of the most significant Congresses ever held in connection with foreign missions, the speaker said, in describing the convention, and one of the most interesting speakers was a missionary from India, a cousin of P. C. MacLaurin of Belleville.

Washington was one of the most beautiful cities in the world, he said. There were no manufacturers. It was not laid out to be a commercial city.

Laid out by engineers under Washington's guidance, for a number of years the place was a laughing stock, but by 1873, it began to take on real character and now it was in every sense a modern city. Streets were broad and clean, public buildings beautiful and the dome of the Capital by night was a thing of beauty.

The Congressional library, occupying ten acres of ground, was one of the most impressive of the world, having cost all told twenty million dollars.

The party attended the House of Congress and House of Representatives and found the former well attended. The latter had but a slim number present, though an important speech was being made.

The White House

The White House was not as pretentious as the Governor-General's residence in Canada.

Washington was a city of five hotels but it was not a cheap service. Taxicab service was fine and exceedingly moderate.

Mr. Deacon, who lived in New York thirty years ago, told of the great changes which had taken place at that time, impressing his listeners with the artificial life into which New Yorkers had grown and comparing the advantages of living in a place like Belleville.

George Lee, chairman of the committee in charge of the dance, reported total receipts and expenditures, showing a net profit of $143.20 for the club's good purposes. Members were pleased.

Guests introduced were Mr. G. A. Strang of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company and Phil Taylor of the Canada Paint Company.

Those who went along to Ottawa to attend the opening of Parliament reported a rare good time at the hands the Kiwanis Club of Ottawa. They were impressed with the work of the Ottawa Kiwanians among the underprivileged boys there.

A letter of appreciation from International Headquarters was read by secretary George Griffin for the prompt contribution of twenty-five dollars for the Harding Memorial in British Columbia.

Sisters Sue For $2,400 From Estate

Bring Action Against Executors of Late Gilbert Parks

An interesting case commenced here before Judge G. E. Deroche, this morning, and after evidence had been submitted it was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

It is an action brought by Lillie and Mellas Parks, sisters, against the executors of the late Gilbert Parks, claiming compensation to the extent of $2,400 for taking care of their mother after the death of their father. The parties in the action reside in the Township of Hungerford. The amount clamed by the two sisters is disputed.

Four lawyers are engaged in the case namely, E. J. Butler for the Executors; R. D. Ponton for the official guardian; C. A. Cameron for the claimants, and A. B. Collins for the residuary legatees.

MIRROR BETRAYED HIM

Montreal, Feb. 10.—While his twelve-year-old sweetheart awaited him on the next street, he went into a drug store for the present he had promised to bring back. A handsome array of lip-sticks, compacts and other feminine embellishments greeted his eye. The attendant was at the back of the store. He seized the opportunity and a few dollars worth of cosmetics. Unfortunately the act was detected by way of the mirror arrangement designed for such as him. Love had proven too strong as did the Juvenile officer who escorted him before Judge Lacroix in the Juvenile Court Monday. Trial was set for Wednesday.

Urges Canadians To Ever Be Neighborly

Many Hear Bishop Brewing's Lecture at Emmanuel Church

Bishop Willard Brewing spoke at Emmanuel church Monday evening, where a good sized crowd congregated to hear him. The Bishop based his remarks on "Our Neighbor", suggesting first our community interests and our duty to one another. The speaker wondered if we were making the best of our community when Canadians always beat a retreat from the districts occupied by aliens. Then spreading our community interests farther we should hope for increasing friendliness and a growing appreciation for the United States and becoming still broader this shoud embrace the whole world. Connected as we are by radio and modern inventions we are becoming better acquainted with "our neighbors."

Bakers of England have noticed a great decrease in the sale of white bread and an increase in consumption of whole meal products.

Open Investigation On Collin's Plight

Believe Entombed Man Still Lives; Hear Heart Beats

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 10—The cloud of rumors of distrust and suspicion of the story of Floyd Collins' imprisonment in the sand cave began to separate early today, as a board of state militry officials met to hold an official inquiry into the cave man's predicament. Lieut.-Gov. H. H. Denhardt heads military board.

State officials, geological and medical experts are firmly convinced that Collins was accidentally imprisoned, and very likely is still alive basing these beliefs on tests with an electric amplification device which apparently recorded Collins' breathing.

Johnny Gerald, who was driven away from the cave by state troops, because he insisted the tunnel could be cleared and who quoted Collins as saying to him that he could live for two or three weeks down in the case as long as he was fed, insisted the suspicion directed toward him based on rumors of ill feeling toward Collins was absolutely wrong. He is expected to be one of the chief witnesses at the inquiry.

Others who have been caled to testify are Collin's brothers, Homer, Marshall and Andrew; and his father, Lee, William B. Miller, Courier Journal reporter who made many trips into the cave and others who headed the rescue parties down the sand cave tunnel. The shaft headed for Collin's prison early to-day had crossed the 33 foot mark.

Are Canadians Satisfied to Make Good Losses on Non-Profit Basis?

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 10.—The Times, commenting on the proposal of the Canadian Government to subsidize a fleet of ten steamship in an effort to lower the ocean freight rates, says that Canada is perfectly at liberty to arrange for shipping services to be conducted on a non-profit making basis, if she considers it to the advantage of the whole Dominion that tax payers should make good any losses which might result. Canadians' experiences of the Government Transport Service have already been costly and it is not yet explained why, if she is prepared to go on meeting losses by means of large drafts on tax payers' money, she should not compete with her Government owned ships instead of calling into being a new fleet under private management, comments the Times.

OFFICERS RETURNED BY PARKS BOARD

When the Belleville Parks Board members met at the Council Chambers here last night, the same body of officers which served so well last season, were returned to office.

The officers returned are T. P. J. Power, chairman; J. C. Panter, treasurer; H. W. Greenleaf, secretary.

Wharf street debating club requested the use of the Agricultural park for June 17, and last night, the request was granted subject to reservations.

President N. P. North, of the Belleville C. N. R. baseball team club, on behalf of the baseball association asked for similar arrangements for the ball park this season as were enjoyed last season. They were granted.

Find Man 95 Years Who Cannot Wait Even Half Hour For Busy Tacoma "Scribe"

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 10.—A 95-year-old man has no time to waste, in the opinion of Ezra Meeker trail blazer, who in the early days crossed the plains in a covered wagon and recently went over the same route in an airplane.

Mr. Meeker visited a newspaper office here recently and inquired for a friend. He was asked to wait for him half an hour.

"Good gracious," answered Mr. Meeker. "I'm 95 years old and I have no half hours to spare."

Brother Plowmen Unearth Golden Vases, So Gather Up Spoils And Quit Grape Farm

Pleven, Bulgaria, Feb. 10.—Two brothers, plowing a field to plant it to grapevines, recently turned up some heavy objects that to their ignorant eyes seemed like gold. They were vases and statues, 15 in all. To be on the safe side the two men gathered up their finds and disappeared.

But rumors of the occurrence got out and the local authorities started to investigate. They found in the field the cover of a vase that had been overlooked. It weighed 90 grams and an assay proved it to be pure gold.

PROVINCE WILL HELP

The Dominion government having dodged its responsibility in the matter of assisting in the relief of unemployment, the burden has been thrown upon the shoulders of the municipalities and the province. Following the lead of the federal authorities, the Ontario legislature might easily have refused to lend a hand, but there will be grateful appreciation of the action of Premier Ferguson in hearkening to the representations of those who have waited upon the government, including the Hamilton deputation. Any work undertaken with the object of relieving unemployment will receive financial assistance from the provincial government to the extent of one-third of the excess labor cost over the normal cost. In addition, one-third of the excess expenditure incurred by municipalities in respect of other relief measures over the normal relief expenditure will be made good by the government. It is explained that the latter assistance is granted only for the provision of food and clothing, and that no relief must be given from government funds in the form of cash doles.

Premier Ferguson is unsparing in his criticism of the failure of the Dominion government to help in the present crisis. "There is no time to cavil about the question of responsibility," he declares. As for the position of the province, he contends that it has no direct responsibility in the matter. The onus of caring for the destitute rests first he says on the municipality and secondly on the Dominion government, "which has control of and encourages immigration, and not always with due care to proper selection." When conditions are "abnormal", he holds that the Dominion has a duty to perform toward needy citizens. The technicality by which the federal government evades its responsibility is described by Premier Ferguson as a "surprisingly novel interpretation of our constitution." Parliament can vote money for any purpose it deems proper, and therefore cannot shield itself behind such an excuse. Half a loaf is better than no bread, however, and the timely assistance of the provincial authorities will be gratefully approved by the public of Ontario.—Hamilton Spectator.

IN COLD CASH

What a four-year high school course, college or technical training means in the pay envelope of the average man has been made the subject of a study by Dean Everett W. Lord, of the College of Business Administration of Boston (Mass.) University.

He finds that $33,000 is the average cash value of four years in high school, and $72,000 the cash value of a college of technical education.

The untrained man, states Dean Lord, begins work at 14, reaches his maximum income at 30, receiving on the average less than $1,200 a year, and has earned by the time he is 60 about $45,000. During the four years that would have given him a high school education he earns not more than $2,000.

The high school graduate goes to work at 18, rises to his maximum income of $2,800 a year at 40, and has earned by the time he is 60 about $78,000. His four years in high school, at an immediate loss of $2,000 in earnings, has increased his total earnings by $33,000.

The college or technical trained man begins work at 22, rises to his income of $2,200 a year at 40, and maximum of $6,000 at 60, and earns in all about $150,000.

That's the story in a nutshell.

FRANCE AND THE SOVIET

France has no intention of being trapped into a treaty with Soviet Russia unless there is perfect understanding with regard to certain fundamentals to any such an agreement. M. Krassin, on behalf of the Soviet Government, has used all his powers of persuasion to get France to sign a commercial treaty with his country, but France is too old a bird at the game of diplomacy to be tempted with this Moscow bird-lime. France stipulates that before there is even a conference for the discussion of such a treaty certain information must be supplied by Moscow to M. Herbette, the French Ambassador at the Russian Capital. The primary conditions of the making of any treaty are that Russia shall completely and fully recognize all pre-war debts without distinction between large and small holders of bonds, and that such an agreement is not to be conditional on the granting of any loan or credit by France. France also demands that the principle of the obligation of the Soviet Government to compensate French citizens for damages suffered by them shall be acknowledged.

It would have been well for Britain if she had adopted the same course.

NO MUSSOLINI

The Hamilton Herald does not approve the Montreal Star's suggestion that Premier Mackenzie King become a Canadian Mussolini. "It is hoped," says the Hamilton paper, "that Mackenzie King will not act on the suggestion of The Montreal Star that he be a Canadian Mussolini. The most conspicuous recent achievement of the Italian dictator was the muzzling of the press. But there is no demand in Canada for the muzzling of the press—not even for the muzzling of The Montreal Star."

Mayor Jutten of Hamilton is of the opinion that if the Provincial Government imposes a tax on gasoline, that the municipalities in which it is collected should be entitled to a share of it.

"My Back"

Rub with Red Pepper

Backache calls for red pepper.
So do rheumatic pains, soreness, lameness, cold in chest, etc.
You need penetrating heat.
The modern way is Red Pepper Rub. It so excels old ways that there is no comparison. Nothing creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat as red pepper. And heat that doesn't hurt.
The tingling heat comes instantly. In three minutes it seems to penetrate the depths. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. The aches and the pains depart.
The quick results seem magical. Relief is usually but a matter of minutes. Red Pepper Rub is now saving people millions of painful hours.
Every home needs it often, and one never knows when. The Rub should always be on hand. Then, night or day, when pain starts relief is at your call.
Go get this new-day method now. Pains you can stop are folly.

THE MIRROR OF PARLIAMENT

The Globe:

Parliament is back in operation its daily record is written in Hansard, and that neat little daily is offered to the general public at three dollars for the session. There have been occasional moves for the abolition of Hansard, as an expensive part of government, and one tending to prolong sessions by the opportunity for members to see their words in print. The suggestion has not, however, been seriously entertained. Like other features, it is sometimes abused, but it is difficult to think of Parliament, the highest court of the land, deprived of a record of its debates.

IT'S OUR PROBLEMS, NOT THE PEOPLE'S

Mail and Empire:

The national problems that confront Parliament at the beginning of the present session are extremely grave. Urgent as they were a year ago, they are more urgent now. The unrest from which the country suffered in the years of reconstruction following the war passed. It is being succeeded by an unrest of which the Ottawa Government is the sole moving cause. The course of that Government could not be more adverse to the national interests if it were acting in trust for Canada's most aggressive competitors. From a Canadian Administration the Canadian people are surely entitled to sympathy, but what they are getting from that Administration is what might come from an enemy of the country. Instead of fostering our industries the present Government has done much to blight those industries, to ease the burden of taxation by broadening its basis, and to increase the traffic and the earnings of our National Railway, the King Governemnt by its tariff reduction and tariff instability has brought hundreds of factories to idleness, has put a large part of our working population out of employment, and has driven hundreds of thousands of Canadians to the protected industries of the United States. Instead of solving the country's problems the King Government has multiplied and aggravated these problems.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Indirect Benefit

THE Income Tax, the Surtax and other taxes devised to bear especially upon the rich are not wholly harmful to business in their consequences.

It is true they drive rich people out of the investment field. They invest their money in tax-exempt securities or indulge in stock speculation, or do anything except put it into legitimate business.

In the meanwhile business must have capital, and is forced to look for it in another place. It seeks it among the moderately well-to-do, in other words, it goes after the small investor.

Therefore the extreme taxes upon the rich compel industry to seeks its capital from the small investor.

The consequence is, as Mr. B. C. Forbes says, "America has more 'customer owners' of securities to-day than the total number of security owners in the whole country ten years ago.

"Also, there are more employee subscribers for stocks to-day than the total number of stockholders in America before the war."

He states that during 1924 electric light and power companies alone have sold nearly two hundred million dollars worth of their securities through customer ownership campaigns.

Many companies in seeking new capital have turned to the small investor. He has not much money, but there are "a lot of him." Many a little makes a mickle. And just as the success of a product depends upon the number of its customers at a small profit, so on the other hand the success of a capitalistic investment rest upon the number of its investors at small amounts.

Within the next few years, electric light and power companies are going to need a good deal of capital for their development. If some plan is devised for them to seek this capital from the small man their business will rest upon a much firmer basis than by seeking capital from wealthy persons.

Seeking money from small investors implies winning the popular confidence and the confidence of consumers. It implies making every employee an investor and a plugger for his concern. It humanizes the whole business, and if some means can be devised for seeking it easily, it is the best form of capitalization.

Mr. R. H. Ballard of the Southern California Edison Company has done much in this direction since he has been President of the National Electric Light Association.

Did You Ever Think

(By B. K. Sandwell in Saturday Night)

"Did you ever think," asked "H. D." the American lady poet, in her latest book entitled "Heliodora"—

"Did you ever think
A girl's mouth
Caught in a kiss
Is like a lily that laughs?"

No, "H.D." we will be perfectly frank, we never did. And what's more we have been thinking the thing over carefully, in the light of our admittedly limited experience, and we don't yet. And what's more than that we don't believe we ever shall. But we admit that our experience is limited. It is hard enough in these times for us to get hold of a girl's mouth caught in a kiss, so that we can study it as we should like to; but the great difficulty is with the lily that laughs. Our florist says he can't do anything for us; we have advertised, but without results; we have written to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Experimental Farms Branch, and have been referred to the Museum of Fine Arts; and to the Canadian Authors Association; and to the C.A.A. and been referred to the Toronto Society for the suppression of Merriment; and when we have saved up enough to buy another postage stamp we shall write to that. But so far no lily that laughs has ever come within range of our yearning eye.

All the same, we gather from numerous American critics, notably a gentleman writing in The New York "Herald-Tribune" that this "Did you ever think" stuff is great poetry. Says the "Herald-Tribune" man: "There is a beat of something insistent in this fragile verse, like the banjo in jazz, something that tells you you are imbued with a passionate rythm. If it isn't the banjo, it's the thin wail of an Oriental flute, or posibly the pipes of "Pan." That helps. We have always wanted to write something that would sound like the banjo in jazz and also like an Oriental flute, thinly wailing. And we don't want "H. D." to think that just because we don't right away off the bat get that kissed-mouth-laughing-lily business we are low-brows with no thinking capacity of our own. So we have compiled here a few little questions formulated in the same flute-banjo jazz music, and we should like to have "H.D.'s" answers to them as frankly stated as our answers to the kiss-lily thing. We have preserved the metre with perfect accuracy, suspecting that it might have something to do with the jazz effect, and we have also preserved, at considerable trouble, the alliteration of the last line. We ask you, isn't this just as Oriental-flute-like as the original?

"Did you ever think
A girls hat
Caught in the rain
Is like a laundry that limps?"

Now be honest. Did you? If you didn't, we win. On the other hand, if you did, all we have to do is get 'em up in the other alley. We can keep this thing up all night if the editor will let us.

"Did you ever think
A cat's tail
Caught in a door
Is like a limpet that limps?"

Of course you didn't. But it is, isn't it? Or isn't it? Think it over hard and don't dismiss it until you have found a leaping limpet and examined him pretty carefully; you can get him in almost any garden where they keep the laughing lilies.

"Did you ever think
A Ford car
Stuck to a stamp
Is like a lotus that loafs?"

That is better than the others because we have managed to get an illiteration in the third line as well as in the last, and it is a stronger alliteration even than the one "H.D." got Here's betting, "H. D." wishes she had thought of that herself instead of that commonplace subject, a kissed mouth. And now that we are really under way they are coming along at a terrific pace. We must be getting imbued with that passionate rhythm that the "Herald-Tribune" man noticed.

"Did you ever think
A gold ring
Dropped in a drain
Is like a label that's lost?"

Hang it, that might mean something; we must be more careful. That's what comes of being carried away by the rhythm.

"Did you ever think
A small flask
Held at the hip
Is like a lighthouse that lurks?"

And again:

"Did you ever think
A free verse
Put into print
Is like a lantern that leaks?"

And

"Did you ever think . . . .
"Did you ever . . . .
"Did you . . . .
"Goodnight!"

—B. K. Sandwell.

DAY OLD BABY BOY FOUND IN A CAR

Bridgeburg, Feb. 10.—The body of a day-old baby boy was found Saturday at noon on top of a gondola car loaded with soft coal on a train which had just pulled into the Canadian National Railway yards from the Pennsylvania yards at Ebenezer N.Y., by Car Inspector Frank Fickel of Courtright street.

The body was wrapped in an edition of one of the Buffalo evening papers, which was dated February 8. Coroner Stockhouse of Ridgeway was called, and after examining the remains ordered them transferred to the morgue on Dufferin street.

An investigation is being conducted by Joel Smith of the Canadian National Railways and by the provincial police.

Sundown Can Be Truly Called Great

Takes its Place With Covered Wagon and Four Horsemen

"Sundown," First National's powerful, spectacular feature opened last night at the Griffin Theatre.

Since the advent of motion pictures there have been but few that really can be called "great." "Sundown" is one of them and can rightfully take its place beside "The Birth of a Nation," "The Four Horsemen," "Intolerance," and "The Covered Wagon."

There is no one big moment. No clash of physical forces is depended upon to lift the film from the ordinary run of celluloid drama—yet it is so far ahead of the usual "big feature," in entertainment value and for its inspiring and emotion-stirring qualitites that there is no comparison.

For its theme, the author, Earl Hudson, has taken a page from current history, basing the story on the disintegration of the West of yesteryear—the romantic West of story and song.

The picture dramatizes the passing of the big cattle owners who, gradually forced to the wall by the steady encroachment of homesteaders and farmers on the vast plains, are compelled to seek new grazing lands in Mexico.

"Sundown" tells the story of the last big group of cattle owners who, faced with bankruptcy, resolve to mass their herds for a long trek into a new country. As the cattle progress, the pioneers meet all of the natural hazards of the country, romance injecting itself into their grim march when the cattlemen meet a family of homsteaders, representatives of the class that is forcing them from their homes.

Throughout the unreeling of the story the cattle plod onward—a majestic background to the simple, human romance of the son of one of the cattle kings and the daughter of a city weakling. The thousands of cattle, ever moving, present an inspiring spectacle. Watching the picture one is conscious that there are millions in the massed herds rather than thousands.

The simplicity and the humanness of "Sundown" are its principal charm. One is gripped with the intensity of the drama that it pictures. And there are thrills, too. These when the huge herd stampedes and the homesteaders are caught in the path of onrushing, maddened cattle, and again when the cattle and their owners are entrapped by fire. An ideal cast has been entrusted with the telling of this soul-stirring story. Bessie Love is most capable and captivating in the part of the city girl who finds herself homeless when the stampeed of cattle wreck her little pairie home. Roy Stewart is an ideal Westerner, shy, diffident, yet romantic.

Hobart Bosworth is all that could be desired in the stern role of the principal cattle owner, who is ever conscious that he is being forced from the country he helped pioneer. Excellent comedy relief is supplied by Charles Murray, the famous movie comedian, who plays the part of a chuck wagon driver, a past master in the art of profanity.

Other well-known players in the well-balanced cast are Charles Sellon, Charles Crockett, Wilfred North, Jere Austin, Hal Wilson and Margaret McWade.

Deaths And Funerals

MRS. JANE A. WANAMAKER

There passed peacefully away on January 24, 1925, at the home of Mr and Mrs. J. R. Marvin, Allisonville Jane Ann Wanamaker, wife of the late Samuel Wanamaker, and daughter of the late William Poole and Elizabeth Wilson.

She was born in Perth Co., March 6, 1830, her parents coming from Ireland over one hundred years ago. They later moved to Hastings Co. and settled in Madoc Tp., when she was a small child, and she resided there until after the death of her husband about eleven years ago, when she went to live with her daugher, Mrs Marvin, at Allisonville.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. MacTavish on Monday January 26, at 2.30 at Burr's church The text was taken from Psalms 116:15.

Interment in Wellington vault till Spring, and then to be interred in the family plot at Eldorado.

The deceased was one of the oldest and highly respected citizens of Madoc Tp. In religion she was an Anglican Her mind was clear until the last, and she liked to recall the early pioneer days when there were only a couple of log houses in the woods where Madoc village now stands. She read many papers without the aid of glasses, and was a subscriber of the Intelligencer and Madoc Review since their first publications.

The last time she left her home was to poll her vote in favor of the O.T.A. She leaves to mourn her loss, one son John W. of Stirling, and three daughters, Mrs. Jos. Anson, Mrs. Elizabeth Wanamaker, Bannockburn, and Mrs J. R. Marvin, Allisonville. One son and three daughters pre-deceased her. She also leaves 39 grandchildren, 67 great grandchildren and 15 great great grandchildren.

The late Mrs. Wanamaker was of sterling worth and her demise is deplored by a large number of relatives and friends.

LEVI CURLETTE

At the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred G. Osborne, 2121 seventh street west, Calgary, Alta., Mr. Levi Curlette recently passed away in eighty-fifth year. Mr. Curlette was well and favourably known in Belleville for many years when he lived here and many will recall him as having been in the piano business.

Deceased had many close staunch friends in and about Belleville. He taught school in Prince Edward County for many years and from this famous county chose his life companion Miss Lucinda Badgley.

Mr. Curlette was with his wife in Ontario sojourning, during the past summer in Prince Edward County and Belleville, and evidence of frailty was then noticeable. He had however been seriously ill but a couple of months.

Those left of the immediate family to mourn are his wife, one son, Blake of Calgary, two daughters Mrs. F. G. Osborne, and Mrs. Philip Spring, both of Calgary and three sisters. The funeral and interment was held at Calgary.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Wheat underwent a sharp setback in price today during early dealings. General selling on part of commission houses took place. This selling was ascribed largely to a pronounced break in Liverpool values and to suggestions that price fluctuations in this country are artificially restricted. The openingfi which ranged from 1 to 3 1-4 lower with Maq $1.88 to $1.89 and July $1.60 to $1.60 1-2 was followed by a further downturn to 1-86 3-4 for May and then moderate rally.

Increasing stocks of corn, together with slowness of cash corn demand, had a depressing effect on prices of corn and oats. After opening at 5-8c to 1-3c off, May $1.32 3-8 to $1.33 corn market sagged a little further and then recovered a little. Oats started 1-8 to 5-8c down May 59 3-4 to 60 and later continued to weaken. Provincial were about steady.

Have you ever noticed that after a big storm we usually hear of phone trouble or of bad service? What is the first thing we do? Why, that's simple—we notify the lineman. What does he do? He goes out and looks over the line between your phone and central, and what does he find? Nine chances out of ten a tree has fallen across the line or a branch or something is interfering with it. At once the obstruction is removed and service is the result.
Have you ever noticed that after a blow, a fall or a hockey match or a hundred and one other things, that one has been bothered with that lame back, headache, pain in the shoulder, stomach trouble, etc.
Here is the whole cause. You have dislocated one or more of the bones (vertebrae) in your spine, causing them to press on the nerves leading from the brain to the other parts of the body, resulting in these different troubles. For instance, if it is your kidney, you wil lhave kidney trouble; if it is your bowels, you will have constipation, etc. If it is your shoulder it will be neuritis.
This has been my case and that of many others. Come in and be examined. CONSULTATION FREE.

League Of Nations Reviews Its Work

Settled Number of Political Questions in Pursuing Peace

(Associated Press Despatch)

Geneva, Feb. 9.—The problem of eliminating war by a carefully organized system of arbitration, of reduction of armaments and of mutual assistance against a covenant-breaking nation, ranks foremost among the questions before the League of Nations in 1924, says an official communique, issued here which presented a detailed review of events which came last year before the Geneva peace organization. But while bringing its main efforts to bear on this peace problem, the summary goes on to say, the League settled a certain number of political questions pursued its administrative work, and by the agency of its technical organizations, promoted international co-operation in the most varied fields. A summary of the review follows:

The League's work during the past year in connection with the prevention of war may be said to begin with the draft treaty of mutual assistance prepared by the fourth assembly, and to culminate in the protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes drawn up by the fifth assembly. The draft treaty of mutual assistance, was debated in September, and subsequently the assembly adopted a joint resolution "to strengthen the solidarity and security of the nations of the world by settling by pacific means all disputes which contained a system of arbitration from which no international dispute, whether legal or political, should escape. It provided for a military, financial and economic co-operation, which, by guaranteeing the security of states, would render possible a considerable reduction of national armaments. Thus the three factors of the problem namely, arbitration, security and reduction of armaments were combined.

With regard to the investigation of Austrian, Bulgarian German and Hungarian armaments, the council drew up a scheme for the exercise, if and when required of its right of control as contemplated in the peace treaties. This control would be exercised through commissions appointed by the council.

A draft convention on the supervision of the arms traffic was elaborated during the year and will be finally discussed at an international conference convened for May 4.

Boundary Dispute

In the political field several were submitted to the council for mediation, as provided by the covenant. The status of the Memel territory, long in dispute between the principal allied powers and Lithuania and the Jaworzyna boundary dispute between Czechoslovakia and Poland were both settled in March.

The question of the frontier about Mosul, between Irak and Turkey, came before the council, which sent a special commission of three members to investigate on the spot. As frontier incidents had taken place, the Council laid down a provisional boundary between the territories occupied or administered by the British and Turkish governments.

The question of the Greeks of Constantinople also was brought before the council in virtue of the Treaty of Lausanne. The permanent court of international justice has been requested to give an advisory opinion on this question.

Finally, the council intervened with the conference of ambassadors with a view to obtaining a prompt settlement of the Albanian frontier question.

The permanent court of international justice, in June of 1924, dealt with the Mavromatis affair, with the Greek and British governments as parties before the court; a dispute between Greece and Bulgaria, and the question of St. Naoum, involving the frontier between Serbia and Bulgaria.

Important progress was made in the domain of international law, a committee of experts representing the principal legal systems of the world, being constituted for the purpose of drawing up a provisional list of the subjects of international law, the regulation of which by international agreement would seem desirable and realizable at the present moment.

A series of questions relating to the protection of minorities was dealt with by the League during the year. On the basis of an agreement with the Polish government, the council succeeded in setling the question of the German settlers in Poland.

As a result of the coming into force of the treaty of Lausanne and of the treaty of Sevres concerning the protection of minorities, the provisions contained in these treaties with regard to the protection of minorities were placed under the guarantee of the League of Nations. Consequently the questions of the Moslems of Albanian origin in Greece; Greek minorities in Bulgaria, and Bulgarian minorities in Greece were dealt with.

Helped Hungary

The economic and financial organization of the League framed a schedule for the financial reconstruction of Hungary; and continued the financial reconstruction of Austria. Also it drew up a program for more effective protection against unfair competition, and provided for the protection of consumers against worthless goods.

During 1924 the organization for communications and transit was called upon to act as an organ of conciliation in the settlement of inter-state disputes in connection with the application of articles of the peace treaties concerning the jurisdiction of the Oder and the European Danube commissions.

The health organization, in the course of the year, prepared drafts for international conventions on various urgent questions. It initiated anti-malarial research work, placed technical advisers at the disposal of the Albanian, Greek and Persian governments and authorized the League epidemic commission to pursue its investigation into outbreaks of plague, typhus and cholera.

The committee on intellectual co-operation developed its system of national committees, serving as intermediaries between the international committee and intellectual workers in the various countries.

This committee dealt with the question of the equivalent value of diplomas and the co-ordination of the courses in different universities. It also endeavored to promote the exchange of professors and students.

Two international opium conferences met in Geneva in Nov. and were still in session at the end of the year one dealing with prepared opium, the other with manufactured narcotics. A delegation from the United States took part in the work of the second conference.

In the course of the year the council furthermore took various measures with a view to facilitating the work of the advisory committee on traffic in women and children, which has been reconstituted as the committee on traffic in women and protection of children.

A committee of exports began an investigation on the subject of slavery. It drew up its plan of work and classified the various forms of slavery known at the present day.

Finally, the membership of the League was increased to 55 states by the entry of the Dominion Republic. During the year, also, the German government addressed a not to the League as to its membership. The United States took part in a number of conferences and commissions, while the Soviet Republic was represented on the health committee and in connection with naval disarmament.

BOY WAS BURNED IN BLAST FURNACE

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 10—Albert Lee Greaver, a 12-year-old boy, was so severely burned in a blast furnace of the National Forge Company here, that he died a few hours afterward. His parents and a negro janitor at the plant are unable to explain how the child happened to be inside the furnace which is used for melting iron.

A negro janitor, John Jones, 50, lighted the furnace at 6.20 this morning, he told oficials of the company. A ball of fire leaped from the flaming interior a moment afterward, he said.

Flames flared up and filled the entire interior of the furnace, according to the janitor's version. Jones said he walked away and then heard a scream. He turned and the boy, a flaming torch, jumped from the opening. Before the flames were smothered the boy's clothes had been burned off and his hands, face and body severely scorched.

Albert was unconscious for several hours. He talked to his mother a short time, during a lucid interval, and said he went into the room last night and laid down beside the furnace. He fell asleep and when he awakened his clothes were on fire.

Warns Of Danger For Certain Youths

Who Carry on Physical Training Until It is Harmful

London, Feb. 10—Discouragement of what was termed the gladiatorial spirit which has been reported creeping into the British schools, was urged recently by Dr. H. Crichton Miller in an address to members of the British Association of Physical Training on the subject of "Hygene for Adolescents." Educationalists, he said, sought simplification of life in generalizations, and the physical training expert was liable to believe that everybody needed physical training. Dr. Miller, however, did not believe this to be niversally true, and there were certain youths for whom physical training was bad.

Referring to Greek mythology, Dr. Miller spoke of Narcissus who fell in love with his own reflection in the waters of a spring. There were Narcissians today who made themselves the objects of their own love and who cultivated their own bodies to an extent which was actually dangerous. He challenged the generalizations on which he said many physical culturists based their enthusiasm. Dr. Miller contended that generations hence self confidence among school boys would be based entirely upon the values of intellect and character.

To day the physical animal factor predominated, and consequently a great many adolescent boys were going wrong in their character development owing to their physical make up.

Dr. Miller advised the association members not to think merely in terms of chest expansion when dealing with individual requirements of their pupils, but rather of character.

"We have here in London a stadium accommodating 120,000 persons which has been used for a boxing match that was all over in 60 seconds," asserted the speaker. "This should furnish us something to think about. Even in schools, the way in which watching a game of football is considered as part of school loyalty far greater than playing the game, is a serious tendency."

PRINCE DANCES WELL WITH BLIND GIRL

London, Feb. 10—The Prince of Wales has had the unusual experience of dancing with a blind girl. At the British Legion's ball at Melton Mowbray he was informed Miss Southgate one of the guests, had been sightless for six years.

He at once expressed a wish to have her as a partner and steered her successfully through the crowd on the floor during the dance and three encores.

London Typographical Union, No. 133, at a meeting Saturday night, endorsed a resolution calling upon the Dominion Government to impose a tariff of ten per cent. on all foreign magazines and periodicals entering Canada.

Canadians Make Pilgrimage to Holy City

St. Peter's, Rome.

His Eminence Cardinal Begin who will head the Canadian Pilgrimage to Rome, leaving Montreal and Quebec on May 5 next on board the Minnedosa.

Canadian response to the Papal Bull promulgating the "Holy Year Universal Jubilee" is, according to reports of transportation companies operating between this continent and Europe, assuming unexpected proportions. Canadian Pacific officials report that applications for accommodation on the "S.S. Minnedosa", chartered by the Hone Tours Incorporated to carry Holy Year pilgrims to Bordeaux this summer, are steadily pouring in from all over Canada and the United States and that the Canadian contingent will be accompanied by many distinguished members of the episcopate, clergy and religious orders. His Eminence Cardinal Louis-Nazaire Begin, of Quebec, has signified his intention of sailing on the Minnedosa as have several other high dignitaries of the Church in Canada.

The opening rites of Holy Year have already been performed and the Papal Bull, formally announcing its commencement and inviting Catholics the World over to assemble in Rome has been issued. The purposes of the Great Jubilee as set forth in the Papal Bull are to live the year in expiation of sin, and to achieve peace through the unity of all men in divine charity. The opportunities to assist in the impressive Pentecostal ceremonies and the special audience afforded them by His Holiness Pope Pius XI, are powerful factors in the decision of many to visit the Holy City.

The Minnedosa sails from Montreal and Quebec on May 5th next, one of the first sailings from the St. Lawrence season for Bordeaux where the pilgrims will disembark and continue their journey by rail, stopping at Lourdes, Carcassone, Marseilles, Nice and Genoa en-route to Rome. This vessel has accommodation for seven hundred passengers and in view of the special low rate quoted for the tour, it is expected that the Minnedosa will carry a capacity passenger list.

Although born in Levis, Quebec, in 1840, Cardinal Begin is well known in Rome as it was there in 1865, that the present head of the Roman Catholic church in Canada was ordained to the priesthood. In 1888 he was created bishop of Chicoutimi and, in another three years, Archbishop of Cyrene and coadjutor of His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau. In 1894 he took over the administration of the diocese of Quebec, being elevated to the Cardinalate in 1914.

Sun Life Makes Greatest Advance

Fifty-fourth Annual Meeting Shows New Records Set Up

Montreal, Feb. 10—New records in Canadian life assurance history were established by the Sun Life of Canada during 1924, when the Company made the greatest advance since it began operations over half a century ago. It therefore maintains the proud title of being the largest Company in the British Empire writing ordinary life assurance.

At the 54th annual meeting of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, held at the Head Office here, President T. B. Macaulay presented the Annual Statement for 1924. Notable increases were made during the year, every feature of the statement telling a story of progress, indicative of strength. In fact, the Company yearly adds strength to strength achieving remarkable progress and eclipsing its own wonderful records of the past. The Sun Life is a great financial institution of which all Canadians should be proud. It has carried the name of Canada to all parts of the globe, practically making the whole world its field. This farsighted efficient organization transacts a large volume of business in Canada and in all parts of the British Empire except New Zealand and Australia. Last year the Company extended its operations in the United States with increased activity, opening divisions in many large centres. It also maintains active organizations in the West Indies, Argentina, Central America, Chile, Colombia, Peru, Egypt, Japan, China, India, The Philippine Islands, Hawaii and Cuba.

During 1924 tremendous gains were made, bringing the total amount of assurance in force, after deducting reassurances, to nearly nine hundred million dollars, an increase of approximately one hundred and sixty eight millions over 1923. It is safe to predict that the billion mark of assurances in force will be passed in the near future.

At the end of 1924 the assets totalled $274,130,407, an increase of nearly 65 millions. New policies actualy issued and paid for during 1924 reached $137,466,384.

Since the Sun Life began business $183,798,128 has been paid to policyholders and beneficiaries in death claims, matured endowments, etc. Of this amount over thirty-one million was paid out in 1924. Profits paid during the twelve month period amounted to $6,631,653. After making heavy allocations of over nine millions to Reserves and contingency funds the undivided surplus of the company increased by over four million dollars bringing the total to $22,107,357.

The cash income from Premiums, Interest, Rents, etc., amounted to $62,245,681 an increase of $15,280,042 over 1923.

For the fifth year in succession the Sun Life announced a material increase in the scale of profits to policyholders.

In referring to the financial statement, President T. B. Macaulay in the Directors report says:

"While many factors have contributed to this remarkable showing, the most noteworthy has been the large earning from investments. As has been mentioned in previous reports, it has for many years been the policy of the Company to invest in long term bonds and similar choice securities, in order that by this means the high rates of interest then prevailing as a result of the abnormal conditions produced by the war, might be projected into future years. This policy is now bearing fruit. Current rates of interest, though still very satisfactory, are materially lower than those of former years, and as a consequence there has been a marked rise in the quotations for most of the securities owned by the Company. During the past year some of those increased values have been capitalized by sales, and a net profit of $2,891,250.48 has been realized from this source. In addition there has been an increase of $6,331,377,69 in the market valueofthe securities still held. Although most of this increased value is undoubtedly permanent, and due merely to the readjustment of interest rates to a more normal basis, it will noted that the company has carried $4,-$4,000,000 of the amount to contingency accounts."

The remarkable growth in the company's operations is perhaps best told in the following table. It clearly tells a story of progress, which can easily be characterized as wonderful. It is a story not of luck or chance but of management and method of which Canada is proud.

The Company's Growth, Since 1872 one Year After it Began Business:

Year 1872—Income $48,210.73; Assets $96,461.95; Life Assurances in force $1,064,350.

Year 1891—Income $1,373,506.60; Assets $4,616,419.63; Life Assurances in force $31,528,569.74.

Year 1904—Income $1,561,930.19; Assets $4,616,419.63; Life Assurances in force $31,528,569.74.

Year 1914—$15,052,275.24; Assets $64,187,656.38; Life Assurance in force $218,299,835.03.

Year 1921 — Income $62,215,631.44; Assets $274,130,407.60; Life Assurances in force $871,636,457.62.

ALL DOGS ARE GOOD UNTIL THEY BITE

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Coke's age-old maxim, "Every dog is entitled to one bite," was applied here recently by Judge Thompson of the Superior Court in finding for a damage suit defendant whose dog was alleged to have bitten a baker's boy.

No one denied that Max, the dog, had helped himself to a nip out of the baker boy's arm. The statement of the defendant that the nip had been the first indulged in by Max, likewise was undisputed, so motion for non-suit was granted.

In delivering the finding the court said:

"It is ancient rule of the law that every dog is entitled to one bite. The owner of a dog of known vicious character is charged with responsibility for its acts, but how shall a dog who never has manifested any vice be supposed by its owner to be a dog of vicious character? There obviously must be a first bite, and hard as it may be upon the unfortunate victim of this, so to speak, maiden bite, he apparently is left without recourse."

Chose Sand Hills For Queer Life

Honor Graduate of Chicago University Went Back To Nature

Chicago, Feb. 10—Diana of the Dunes an honor graduate of the University of Chicago who went to live amidst the sandy wastes along Lake Michigan between Michigan City and Gary, Ind., is dead after nine years of privation in the nature life she loved.

A Phi Beta Kappa Stellar mathematician, and editorial secretary of the obtruse astrophysical journal, a university publication, the then pretty Alice Gray, reputed member of a wealthy family "in the east" retired to the sand hills.

Her first winter in the dunes was uneventful but she became an object of general interest the next spring when deputy sheriffs scouted through the sand hills to find a nymph who in the light of the moon was wont to disport in nature's garb along the lake shore.

Three years ago she was joined in this wild life by a giant of whom nothing but the name Paul Wilson ever has been known. They were married and Wilson took up his bride's close-to-nature life.

They lived in a shack by the lake at the station which bears his name It was in Wilson's arms that Diana died, scorning medical attention, preferring death in the dunes to lingering in a hospital.

A doctor was called yesterday only after she had become unconscious.

She asked her husband to cremate her body and scatter her ashes to the winds from the top of Mount Tom, the highest sand pile along the lake shore.

Gay Best Sellers Caused Man's Fal

Ontario Man in Montreal in Court for First Time

Montreal, Feb. 10.—In the jaunty raiment provided for them by an admiring publisher, two "best sellers" of modern fiction made their appearance in the witness box of the dingy little Arraignment Court to bear mute testimony.

On Friday the books were on a shelf in Goodwin's Limited store. Their brightly colored jackets attracted the roving eye of Richard McGuiness, who hails from somewhere in Ontario. He hesitated, then, unable to repel the lure held for him by the world of romance, was lost. Tucking the volumes under his arm, he made for the door and kept moving till his progress was interrupted by the store detective, who politely demanded of him if he had a receipt. McGuiness had not.

The poetry of the situation was lost for McGuiness when he stood in the prisoner's dock before Judge Perrault and heard Clerk Ovide Leclair rapidly stating: "Richard McGuiness, you are charged with havink on the seventh day of January, 1925 in the district, stolen two books valued at $4, said books being the property of Goodwin's Limited, of the said district. What say you to the charge? Guilty or not guilty?"

"I'm guilty, your honor," pleaded the accused, a florid, heavily set man of middle age.

"Have you anything to say for yourself?" asked the court.

"Well, judge," answered McGuiness "the only thing I can say is that it is my first offence, I've never been in trouble in my life before, and I'm sure it won't happen again if you let me go. Something seemed to come over me all of a sudden. I didn't really mean to take the books, but I acted before realising what I was doing?"

The store detective, holding the book in his hand, was called into the witness box.

"We are informed," he testified, "that this man stole the books with the intention of selling them."

Judge Perrault considered a few moments then, turning to the accused, said: "McGuiness I am going to let you off this time, that is, I will give you a suspended sentence. See that you do not come before this court again."

"Thank you," murmured McGuiness as he left the dock a free man.

Kingston Wins Game From Trenton Six

Take Second Round Tilt by 3—1 on Soft Ice

Trenton, Feb. 10.—Kingston defeated Trenton 3 to 1, in an intermediate O. H. A. second round game here last night, scoring two goals and going to the front in the second period after the home team had held their opponents even during the first twenty minutes of play. The ice was very heavy and there was considerable overskating of the puck. Rooney, Reynolds and Joe Smith starred for the winners, while Shaniker, Anderson and Burns were the outstanding players for Trenton. Kingston players received five of the six penalties. The line-up:—

Prepare Now For Season At Club

Country Club Directors Engage W. J. Fairweather As Golf Pro.

The directors of the Country Club have been making some preliminary arrangements for the 1925 season, which will commence in less than two months now. They have engaged a very highly recommended professional from Scotland. Mr. W. J. Fairweather, who is not only a first class golfer himself, but is also a splendid coach for beginners. They have also engaged Mrs. Bromley again, who was so successful last year in handling the restaurant end of the Club. Mr. George Graham will take charge of the grounds and the club is looking forward to a very successful season. A dock is being provided for boating and bathing for the younger members.

PLAYED TENNIS ON ICE AT LAKEFIELD

Lakefield, Feb. 10—On Friday morning the rink was marked off as a tennis court and a net put up and two local devotees of the game, Dr. Smith and Langley Lawless donned their skates and proceeded to enjoy the novelty of playing their favorite game in an ice court. Both gentlemen are expert skaters and the witnesses of the impromptu game are enthusiastic in their praise of the performance.

Play 5 Games On Recreation Alleys

Good Bowling Features Big Evening of Fun and Competition

The Wanderers won from the Strikers in the ladies league at the Recreation alleys last night by over 600 pins the Wanderers rolling one of their best scores. Mrs. Goyer led the way for the winners with 563 and Mrs. Salisbury was high for the Strikers.

In the senior league the Wanderers weren't as fortunate as the ladies when they lost one of the hardest games ever lost and the only game up until the present time that the handicap has made a difference. The Wanderers went into the third game with over 300 pins to the good but in the last game the Hikers came back strong as they did in their previous game and cut down their opponents lead to 142 and with the 150 handicap that the Hikers get they won the game by 3 pins. Haffner and Frost rolled the highest scores for their teams.

In the best game played yet in the C. I. A. League the Requisitioners won from the Ink Slingers by an even 10 pins both teams rolling high scores. The first game was close only 11 pins difference, but in the second game the Ink Slingers broke away when they rolled 996 against 741, in the third game the scores were just reversed the high bowlers were Boyle 590 and Tedman 670.

The Natural Tread broke into the win column after losing two straight at the expense of the Bankers the Natural Tread rolling 2729 and the Bankers 2490. Allen and Lent rolled the highest scores.

In the C. N. League the Official's team No. 1 were in there best form when they won three straight games from the Station the Officials rolled 2205, with Mr. Duff high bowler, for the Station Jack Williams was high. Players and scores.

of conditions between Canada and the United States much to the economic advantage of this country. He felt that all the evils of the country had arisen with the late Government and his predecessors were responsible for his failure to secure new settlers. He claimed there had been a reduction in the cost of living, and that Canada was not only prosperous but entering on a period of unparalleled expansion.

A Marvelous Recovery

Major-General Sir Eugene Fiset, (he prefers to be known as Dr. Fiset) moved the reply to the address. He was elected for Rimouski and during the campaign discarded both his civil and military titles and declared his abhorrence of conscription he enforced and advocated while Deputy Minister of Militia. Two years ago he retired on a large pension on the plea of ill-health. Mr. Meighen, in welcoming him to Parliament, congratulated him on the marvelous recovery of his health and also of his having survived the abhorrence he felt in enforcing a law repugnant to his sense of justice.

Charles A. Hanna, the victor in West Hastings, seconded the address and convinced Parliament that his contribution was greater to the Liberal victory than it will be to Parliamentary debate.

KAISER DISPLEASED AT SON'S ACTIONS

London, Feb. 10.—The Daily Telegraph quotes recent visitors to Doorn, Holland, as declaring that the former German emperor was extraordinary excited by the news that an agreement had been reached between Japan and Soviet Russia.

"This treaty protends a tremendous change in the world's outlook," he is reported to have said. "The peril which I alone among the rulers of Europe predicted a quarter of a century ago now has materialized.

"The repercussions of this event will shortly be felt in the relations of all the European states, and it is bound to cause deep thinking and heart searching in Germany and among the allies France is backing the black races, Russia is backing the yellow, and America and England are backing the white. Where will Germany stand? Where should she stand?"

It is reported from the same source that Wilhelm is displeased over the prominence the former crown prince is courting in Germany and the attention paid him by the nationalists and militarists, as the ex-kaiser still regards himself as the only lawful claimant of the Hohenzollern throne.

BASEBALL COMEDIAN LOST HIS DIME

Al Schact, who pairs up with Nick Altrock as a member of the team of Altrock and Schact, baseball comedians extraordinary, has a keen sense of humor.

Schact is quick to grasp a situation. His pantomine on the ball field could well be copied by some of the so-called comedians of the films.

Down in Washington they tell this one on Schact:

Walking down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, one would think that all the bananas in the world had been consigned to that city. At intervals of about thirty feet are vendors featuring the "banan."

It so happened that a certain Italian merchant looked as if he was to be stuck with some over-ripe fruit that probably wouldn't last through the night. He was loudly calling his wares at a reduced price:

"Tene-doz," "Ten-e-doz," shouted the banana dealer in a raucous voice.

Now if there is one pastime that Schact is partial to, aside from baseball, it is African golf. Al has better control of the cubes than he ever had of a ball as a pitcher. In fact, he's so good he can almost call his point.

As Schact heard the shout of "Ten-e-doz," over and over again, he briskly walked over to the banana stand and throwing a dime on top of the cart, came right back with:

"Tene-e-don't, Ten-e-don't."

The quip went right over the "Wop." He didn't get Al's stuff, but not caring to lose the sale, he pocketed the dime and passed Schact a dozen bananas."

A colored merchant close by was seen to smile and reach into his pocket for his bank roll, as a tip to Schact that he was ready to give him competitions with the "bones."

BROWN OFFERED CONTRACT

Kingston, Feb. 10. — Freddie Brown, crack centre player of the Hamilton Rowing Club in the senior O.H.A., and former star of the Kingston Intermediates, has been offered a contract by the Montreal Club of the National Hockey League.

Brown's playing in the senior O. H. A. has been a revelation of the year. He has been the mainstay of the H.R.C. forward line, and the Montreal pros were quick to see that he would doubtless be a star in professional ranks. Brown, on receipt of the offer, asked for a five-year contract, which apparently is an indication that he doesn't care much about joining the ranks of the pros just yet.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

Percy Levant rose to get the decanter. As he did so, the curtain parted and Lord Cecil Neville stood in the opening.

Percy Levant made a circuit so as to approach him.

"Remember our understanding, my lord, and wait!" he said, in a whisper.

Lord Cecil seemed to hesitate, then he dropped the curtain, which again concealed him.

"There you are! And now to business, Churchill."

"Yes to business," said Spencer Churchill unctuously. "My dear Percy, are you aware that your wife was once engaged to Lord Cecil Neville, the marquis' nephew, the heir to the title? Eh?" he chuckled.

"Really!"

"Yes, yes! Oh, it's true, and I assure you that they would have made a marriage of it but for me. It was a troublesome affair, and cost me a deal of thought. And ra—ther risky, too!" he added, thoughtfully. "Forged letters—ahem!—that is, fictitious correspondence though rendered inevitable by the circumstances of the case, is dangerous."

"I see," said Percy Levant, distinctly. "You forged letters from Cecil Neville to Miss Marlowe. But, after all, this is not my business. I want to know——"

Spencer Churchill leaned forward and dropped his voice ,but not to so low a pitch but that the listeners on either side of the room could hear distinctly.

"You want to know whom you have married. I'll tell you. Wait, you don't know the Marquis of Stoyle?"

"I've seen him," said Percy.

"My friend the marquis was once married. He was married——" Churchill stopped and laughed with unctuous enjoyment. "When I think of it, my dear boy, I'm always tickled by the desire to laugh. You must know that the young lady had three lovers—the marquis, a certain Jeffrey Flint, and—myself!" and he laid his hand upon his heart and bowed.

As he did so the curtains opened and three figures stood in the opening. They were those of Cecil, Lady Grace—and the trembling ,emaciated form of the marquis himself. White, deathly white, the old man stood, clinging to Cecil's arm, his piercing eyes fixed on the smooth, long-haired head of Spencer Churchill.

Percy Levant rose, and, under the pretence of filling Spencer Churchill's glass, made a warning gesture to them. Lady Grace seemed about to speak, but the marquis turned upon her with an awful ferocity, which seemed to deprive her of the power to speak or move.

Percy Levant sank back in his seat.

Spencer Churchill sipped his brandy and water.

"Well, the case stood thus: The girl was engaged to the fellow Jeffrey. Consequently there was no chance for me. So, my dear Percy, I decided as most men of common sense would have decided, to—ahem!—assist the marquis. I did so, and, bewildered and fascinated by the offer of a marchioness' coronet Lucy accepted and married the marquis. The result was—er—rather disastrous. I don't wish to be hard upon a fellow mortal, but if there is anything worse, more cruel and selfish and altogether unscrupulous than a fiend, then that being may yield the palm to the Most Honourable the Marquis of Stoyle! Well, the natural result followed. The marchioness fled. Where, and to whom Why, to her former lover, Jeffrey Flint. No, my dear Percy, her conduct was blameless. She died within a few hours after reaching him. She died, but she left a child a girl, behind. That girl Jeffrey Flint adopted and called—can you guess her name?"

"Doris Marlowe," said Percy Levant, hoarsely, and with white lips—for this was a revelation to him.

Spencer Churchill lolled back in his chair.

"Right! Quite right, my dear Percy! Doris Marlowe! That is—ah, ah!—Mrs. Percy Levant!"

The marquis staggered, and clutched at Lord Cecil, and Lady Grace was rushing forward, but Cecil raised his hand, and, holding her face in her hands, she sank back.

"So Doris Marlowe is Lady Mary Neville the daughter of the Marquis of Stoyle?" said Percy Levant.

"Just so," assented Spencer Churchill. "And now, the money! I think you won't regret your offer when I tell you that her mother's portion amounts to five and twenty thousand a year and that her father has made a will which will leave all he can leave to her."

"Which he can unmake!" said Percy Levant.

"I think not," murmured Spencer Churchill. "There have been later wills, I think but—ahem!—I have taken charge of them——"

"You are a clever fellow, Churchill," said Percy Levant. "But—pardon me!—although I believe every word you say most implicity, I am afraid the world including the marquis, will want some proofs. It is all very well to say that Miss Marlowe—that is, my wife," he put in, hurriedly—"is Lord Stoyle's daughter; but proof, proof, my dear fellow!"

"You're no fool, either, Percy," said Spencer Churchill. "Of course, we want proofs and here they are!" and he took some papers from his pocket. "Here is the certificate of marriage of Lucy—Miss Marlowe's mother—to the marquis; the certificate of Miss Marlowe's, otherwise, Lady Mary Neville's birth, a full and exhaustive statement of Lady Stoyle on her deathbed, duly attested; and a statement of Jeffrey Flint. The papers are at your service; indeed, I consider that they belong to you——"

He pushed the papers across the table, and Percy Levant leaned forward to take them, when a thin, wasted had clutched them and a harsh voice said:

"No! They are mine!"

Percy Levant sank back into his chair and wiped the perspiration from his brow; but Spencer Churchill sprang from his seat, and grabbed at the papers mechanically. Then, as he encountered the piercing eyes fixed upon him, he, too, sank back, and in a terrified voice, gasped:

"The marquis!"

Percy Levant turned to Lord Cecil, who with Grace, had come forward.

"You have heard the truth, my lord. One thing remains for me to do."

He went to the door of the anteroom, and taking Doris' hand led her toward the group.

"Doris," he said, in a low voice that trembled and broke for the first time. "Doris—your father!"

The "Fast Set" Is Witty And Clever

Showed at Belle Theatre for First Time Last Night

Is there a limit beyond which a husband should not go to hold a lovely wife who is fascinated by a philanderer? This is the intriguing question that William de Mille's brilliant Paramount photoplay, "The Fast Set," based on Clara Beranger's adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's tremendous stage success, "Spring Cleaning," raises and answers in eminently satisfactory fashion.

The audience last night at the Belle Theatre, where the picture had its first local showing was often thrilled, constantly interested and frequently amused during the projection of this screen play.

Witty, clever and entertaining, "The Fast Set" presents a new way of handling an old theme that revolves around the eternal triangle. It is a comedy of smart society life and the action is motivated by a fine man who resorts to a clever and astonishing method of saving his wife from undesirable friends and of curing her infatuation for a notorious "great lover" From start to finish the picture is packed with sparkling humor and entertaining action.

Mr. de Mille's shrewd direction and deft treatment of the various startling situations go a long way toward lifting this photoplay into the ranks of the super-films. With his usual knack of picking just the right people for the respective roles, he has assembled a cast, every member of which gives an excellent performance. Betty Compson is the foolish wife; Elliott Dexter, the husband-author; Adolphe Menjou, the philanderer; and Zasu Pitts, the social outcast, who becomes the amazing instrument that brings the erring wife to her senses.

"The Fast Set" must go on the list of films to see if one is looking for motion pictures de luxe!

Bizarre Scenes In Big Pageant

Oriental Night a Colorful Extravaganza at Griffin on Thursday

The orient has since time immemorial been the source of romance, mystery and beauty in song and story. Blackstone has drawn on this fertile field for the basis of the spectacular Oriental Nights, the opulent extravaganza which constitutes one of the episodes in the Blackstone Show. The attraction is scheduled to appear at the Griffin Opera House Thursday, Feb. 12, matinee and night.

Denuded of a press agent's panegyrics, the fact remains that Oriental Nights is the most pretentious pageant of its kind in the history of necromantic amusement. A far eastern scene is reproduced with a fidelity to the original that is praiseworthy. A corps of comely dancers, such as might be conceived as a Turk's idea of heaven, appears in the bizzare habiliments peculiar to the Levant. A real, living camel adds to the atmosphere. It may be mentioned in passing that the latter reference concerns not the reflex action on the olfactory nerves but is used in a figurative sense.

Gorgeous trappings, fraught with silver and gold and precious stones, adorn the numerous fair figurantes and their desert steeds.

It is amid this magnificence that Blackstone introduces his latest creations, The Enchanted Camel, Daughters of the Desert, Burned at the Cross Phantom Stallion, Shiek's Revenge, and many others.

The Blackstone show has in the past been noted for the magnitude of its production. The 1924-25 edition surpasses all previous efforts. Two double length railroad baggage cars are required to transport the paraphernalia. There are twenty-six scenes divided into two acts, in the Blackstone Show.

Both the management of the company and of the theatre guarantee that there will be no abridgement here and that the entire production will be staged.

BABY'S COLDS

Children's delicate digestions are easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Still, the little ones' cold troubles cannot be neglected.

At the very first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks VapoRub over the throat and chest. There is nothing to swallow—you just rub it on. Colds go over night, croup is usually relieved in 15 minutes.

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec. — "I am one of thousands who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. THOS. H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere. C

Girl Who Killed Fiance Is Acquitted

Polish Actress Puts an End To The Sufferings of Author

INCURABLE CANCER

Public Prosecutor Sympathizes and Jury Answers Immediately

Paris, Feb. 10—A jury acquitted Mlle Stanislawa Uminska the beautiful young Polish actress, who shot her fiancee and compatriot, the author, Jean Zyanowsky, at his own request to save him from further agony when he was lying at death's door, suffering from internal cancer. The unusual aspects of the case created a sensation, when last July Paris learned of the dramatic details of the tragedy.

Described as a "crime of charity" in many column-long articles in the Paris newspapers, the case rapidly assumed the proportions of a "cause celebre". Has anybody the right to kill another out of pity? was asked of public opinion, and from the very start the answer which a jury of Parisian citizens would give so far as Mlle Uminska was concerned hardly less than five minutes, the jury pronounced its verdict of acquittal.

Whatever may be the religious and philosophic aspect of the problem, there is no doubt that public opinion here will endorse the finding of the jury. So unusual indeed were both actors of the drama—described as intellectuals living in a world of their own imaginations—that from the very beginning Mlle Uminska received treatment such as was probably never before accorded to any person accused of murder. She was freed without bail and even was permitted by the magistrate to leave France in order to accompany her lover's body to Poland for burial. All that was asked of her was that she present herself in court on the day of the trial.

When the defendant arrived, accompanied by her attorney, Maitre Henri Robert, Mlle. Uminska was placed under technical arrest. Even then she was not placed in the criminals dock, but a chair was set aside for her in the criminal's dock, but a chair was set aside for her in the centre of the courtroom, which was jammed to overflowing by a crowd of people, including a number of well-known political personages and society woman.

Looks Like Mere Child.

Athough she is 23, the defendant apeared to be a mere child. Her small, slight figure was clothed in a simple black dress and hat, making her delicate pale face appear yet whiter. Replying to questions in a low, cultured voice, she said she know French well enough not to need an interpreter. Then piece by piece, under cross examination, she told the and story which led up to the tragedy in the Paris hospital.

Jean Zysnowsky was a talented young author, well-know throughout his own country. They were devoted to each other and became engaged. Her talent and success on the stage in Warsaw made their outlook appear bright until the tragic day when her fiancee learned that he was suffering from incurable tuberculosis and cancer.

Polish physicians advised radium treatment, which was not to be obtained in Poland. M. Zysnowsky was taken to Paris. Abandoning her career, Mlle. Uminska followed in order to devote her whole time to nursing him. Despite her great frailty, she did not hesitate to give her own blood in a transfusion operation. Nothing availed, however the disease gaining headway with alarming rapidity causing the author ceaseless, terrible suffering.

When for the first time, some weeks before the final tragedy, her lover asked Mlle. Uminska whether she would kill him to deliver him from his pain, she refused. Again and again, M. Zysnowsky begged to die. He told her he had bought a pistol which was hidden in a drawer, but which he then was too weak to use himself. But always she refused until one night when she was alone at his bedside.

"Suddenly I felt I must obey," she said, in a voice hardly above a whisper, but nevertheless heard throughout the silent court with terrible distinctness.

"When you realize that all hope is gone then for pity's sake save me unnecessary suffering. Shoot me in the mouth; that's the best place." These words of her lover, spoken at a time when he still had a little strength left, came back to her, and, taking the pistol from the drawer and holding the muzzle close to his loved lips, she turned away her head and fired.

The doctor's evidence showed that Mlle Uminska anticipated death only by a few days, a fact which weighed heavily with the jury. The public prosecutor, Donal Guigue, in his speech, told the court that nobody had the right to kill under any circustances. Mlle Uminska had no right to kill M. Zysnowsky, he said. A woman's hands were not made for that Yet he leaned toward the defending counsel and said.

"I envy you your job. Would I were standing in your place. This case is one in which the public prosecutor's role is not that of a sympathetic figure."

Henri Robert delivering one of his great orations, asked the jury to acquit "the young stranger here, and to give an answer without leaving this court room and this child."

Miss Mary Morrison

Picton, Feb. 10.—The death in Picton recently of Miss Mary Morrison, aged 94, removed a lady whom Frank W. Woolworth called the "mother of the five and ten-cent business." The late Miss Morrison lived for many years in Watertown, N.Y., moving to Picton about eighteen years ago, and she was a warm friend of the Woolworth's. It was in her Watertown home that Frank W. Woolworth the founder of the famous chain of stores, was married. Miss Morrison was frequently entertained by the leading members of the Woolworth family, up till the time that she went to Picton.

Fall Through Ice

Campbellford, Feb. 10.—As Mrs. Roy Scott and little nephew, Douglas Glenn, were crossing the canal on Saturday night, they went through the ice and the only thing that saved them was the ice holding ahead of them. This they hung on to and Mrs. Scott managed to keep the little fellow up and get him out and then climb up herself.

The mild weather makes the river unsafe and care shoud be taken to be sure it is strong enough to carry those who attempt to cross.

Want it All Back

Peterboro, Feb. 10.—Defrauded farmers demand one hundred cents on the dollar for live stock they sold to R. Sherman and Nathan Mersen, now on $11,000 bail. Montreal relatives of the accused offered a compromise restitution of fifty cents on the dollar for some $4,500 which worthless cheques obtained in goods from farmers of Peterboro, Victoria and North Northumberland Counties. Monday a member of the committee of five appointed by the thirty-five defrauded farmer to consider restitution prior to hearing of the case next June said that nothing less than payment in full will be considered. The farmers prefer to lose all sooner than have the Crown ask for leniency unless they get full payment.

Thinks He Saw Ambrose Small

Was at Famous Pleasure Resort in Jaurez, Mexico

Ambrose J. Small, the millionaire Toronto theatre magnate, who mysteriously disappeared about seven years ago from Toronto was seen at a famous pleasure resort in Jaurez, Mexico, by Harry Blackstone and his wife a short time ago.

Blackstone was well acquainted with the missing magnate and states that he just placed a bet on a roulette wheel when he saw his old friend enter the hall. he called to him and Small acknowledged the salutation by a wave. As Blackstone was unable to leave the table until he had seen how the wheel had turned, Small passed out of the hall just as quickly and mysteriously as he had faded from his many associates and his huge wealth in Toronto years ago. Although Blackstone left the resort immediately after in an attempt to locate his old chum he was unsuccessful. Mrs. Blackstone who was also well acquainted with Mr. Small, is certain that the man they saw and who acknowledged their salutation was no other than the missing theatrical magnate.

The Small case is probably the most unusual that the Toronto or Canadian police have ever been called upon to cope with. The whole world was circularised and for years a reward of $50,000 was offered for the missing man. Hundreds of clues were followed up in every quarter of the world, but to no avail. Doherty, Smalll's private secretary who disappeared about the same time, was later arrested working in a factory in the United States. It was then thought that the Small mystery would be rapidly cleared up, but Doherty when brought back for trial was unable to throw any light that would lead the police to the finding of his former employer.

KEEP OUT OF COURT IS LAWYER'S ADVICE

Peterboro, Feb. 10—"Keep out of litigation," was the advice given by Rotarian V. J. McElderry to his fellow Rotarians, in a most instructive and interesting address on "Law Suits" at the weekly luncheon of the club at the Empress Monday. Mr. McElderry spoke upon his Rotary classification and his treatment of the subject, while full of information, was brightened with a number of most amusing anecdotes with a legal twang to them.

Prefacing his address with some wholesome advice as to preventing law, Rotarian McElderry declared that a law suit was often the cause of worry and distress even to the winning side, and he advised his fellow members to avoid litigation, remarking that most lawyers nowadays followed Abraham Lincoln's advice and advised their clients against such actions.

The speaker then proceeded to trace the various steps necessary in law suit, the issuing of the writ, the defendant's reply, the statement of claim, the statement of defence and counter claim if any, the examination for discovery, the empanelling of a jury, the preliminary address of the counsel for the plaintiff, the evidence for the plaintiff, examination-in-chief cross-examination and re-examination the evidence for the defence, through the same three stages, and sometimes evidence in reply by the plaintiff, and then the address of the counsel to the jury or arguments to the judge as the case may be.

CANADIAN GIRLS ARE BEST DANCERS

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Banff, Alta., Feb. 9.—"Canadian girls are the best dancers we have seen since we left New Zealand last spring. Canadian winter sports and Western Canadian hospitality are things which will bring us back to Canada some day, if we have to work our way back on the boats.

This was the unanimous declaration of that superb empire aggregation known as the New Zealand All Blacks Football team, as they left Banff early yesterday for Vancouver. Every member of this fine, manly aggregation was overflowing with gratitude for Canadian goodfellowship when they pulled out this morning on their Canadian Pacific Railway special.

AUSTRALIAN PROBLEM

Melbourne, Feb. 10.—Replying to the Victorian government's protest against the unrestricted immigration of South-ern Europeans, Federal Prime Minister Bruce laid stress on the fact that no encouragement or assistance had been offered to aliens.

The federal government, he added, had announced recently that it desired to limit the issue of passport visas to Greeks and Jugo-Slavs to 100 a month for each nationality.

Whether it's an article you wish to rent or sell, or something you want to buy, make known your wants in the Intelligencer Classified Ad Columns and you'll be surprised at the quick response you'll get.

Battle Has Begun On Parliament Hill

Leader of Opposition Has Much Scope for Offering Criticism

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—Yesterday the battle in Parliament began. General Fiset, member for Rimouski, and C. E. Hanna, respectively the mover and seconder, of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, received the sympathetic consideration always accorded to new members who undertake this task. Then Mr. Meighen replies and the battle proceeds, he in turn being followed by the Prime Minister.

It is believed here that the legislative programme contained in the Speech affords more than usual scope for the display of the critical powers of the Opposition leader. It indicates a change of front on at least two of the major planks in the Liberal platform namely the tariff and Senate reform. Tariff reduction has been dropped so openly that the Conservatives required such action as a vindication of their policy, and it is certain that Mr. Meighen will make good use of this fact.

The volte face on the reform of the Senate occasions no surprise to those acquainted with the realities of the political situation. It has always been a thorny question to the Liberals. Under Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Liberals were eager to reform the Upper Chamber, but they failed to do so, and there is no reason to think that Mackenzie King will succeed where Sir Wilfrid Laurier failed. There is no likelihood of a conference between the Federal Government and the provinces evolving a method of reform that could be considered unanimous.

Much interest is being manifested in the Government proposals for the breaking of the North Atlantic shipping combine. Surprise is expressed that with such heavy deficits on the Canadian National Railways and the Mercantile Marine, the Government should have been persuaded to back another venture that will at least cost the country over a million dollars a year. The last financial statement submitted by the Mercantile Marine showed that the total deficit was over $9,000,000 on the year's operations, including interest and fixed charges. If the new Petersen shipping service is effective, it will take business away from the Mercantile Marine, as well as from other lines: and in proportion as this is done the deficit will increase. So from present indications the Government's shipping losses will be larger than ever.

Some express the view that one of the objects of the new service is to place the Canadian National Railways in as good position as the Canadian Pacific in the matter of ocean feeders for their railway mileage. When war broke out the Canadian Northern operated two ocean liners. It may be taken for granted that being charged with responsibility for operating $70,000,000 of Government shipping the heads of the National system were made aware of the Government's intentions respecting the new service. It is also natural to think that the Petersen vessels will act as feeders to the Government railways.

From present indications it seems that another leak for Government revenue had been opened, and that at a time when, if anything, all leaks should be closed. One million dollars in the form of a subsidy will eat up 50 per cent. of all the saving in interest supposed to have been effected by the Government's last appearance in the money market.

Sane thinkers in the political world are asking when will all this extravagance and spending cease.

Misery

Stopped Instantly
The Head is cleared

When the nose is clogged with cold or catarrh it means a local germ attack. The treatment should be local. Combat those germs, clear the nostrils stop the cold.

The way is Ely's Cream Balm. Put a little in the nostrils and breathe it. Note how quickly the fumes clear the head.

Then remember that. Next time use the Balm at the first sign of a cold. Don't let it get a start.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Quell the cold at once, end misery. Then keep it on hand to stop future colds at the start.

Safe Fat Reduction

Why be fat? The answer of most fat people is that constant dieting is hard, continual exercise is tiresome and exhaustive—and then, too, it might be harmful to force weight down. That was the old-fashioned idea. Today in Marmola Prescription Tablets all these difficulties are overcome. Just a pleasant little tablet after each meal and at bedtime causes fat to vanish. This modern method is easy, entails no dieting or exercising and has the added advantage of cheapness.

Get a box of these tablets and start taking them now. Within a short time you will be getting rid of fat steadily and easily without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. You will be comfortable and able to enjoy the food you like and want. Even after taking off many pounds, there will be no flabbiness or wrinkles remaining. You will feel 100 per cent. better. All drug stores the world over sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box, or the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., will gladly send them to you on receipt of the price.

RESCUE PARTY MORE HOPEFUL EARLY TO-DAY

Odor of Banana Oil Seeps Through Shaft at Cave City

FAINT HOPE RAY

Amplifier Reveals Trapped Man Still Breathing; Everything Prepared

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 11—Hopes for the rescue of Floyd Collins, imprisoned cave explorer, ran high early today with the diggers in rescue shaft working through a dry sandy stratum presumed by geologists to overlay the roof of Collins cavern. The odor of banana oil, sprayed down Collins tunnel Sunday night and again Monday, rose through the floor of the shaft to hearten the tired diggers. Extra precautions in timbering shaft were made to protect the workmen should the roof of cavern be suddenly broken through. A small cleft in the side of the shaft towards the north of sand cave side was discovered at 38 1-2 feet indicating that the underground honey combed section was near at hand.

The daily test to discover if Collins still lives by means of an amplifying device hooked across the electric light circuit leading down to his prison, has strengthened the belief of doctors here that Collins is still alive. A faint motion of the electric light bulb around his neck as it moves in its socket with the rise and fall of the chest in breathing is so regular that they are convinced Collins is still alive.

The last test last night showed a series of jerky rasping noises presumed to indicate coughing followed by a fall in respiration noises from about twenty to twelve per minute.

Barring infection or gangrene, doctors' hopes are strong that they can save him if he is rescued soon. Every possible emergency need has been prepared in the Red Cross tent for transfusion amputation or other measures. Even a stretcher on which to raise Collins through the shaft has been constructed.

Getting Nearer

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Feb. 11.—Definite connection between rescue shaft and tunnel in which Floyd Collins had been imprisoned for twelve days was expected to be reached very soon, it was declared to-day by H. T. Carmichael.

"I am prepared at almost any time to find definite connection between shaft and cavern" Carmichael said. "More crevices are being found, rocks are getting larger, sand has given way to gravel and more cave crickets are reported."

Silence Reported

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Feb. 11.—For the first time amplifier tests across the electric light wire leading down to Collins failed this morning to record any thing in the head phones. The last successful test at midnight repeated breathing sounds at regular rate of 18 per minute, but H. G. Lane, manager of the electric apparatus at Cave, said that the test indicated the globe was out of the socket or burned out.

Many See The Play "Miss Superiority"

Presented by Bridge Street Methodist Young People

The Young People of Bridge Street Methodist Church presented an entertaining play last night, under the direction of Miss Jessie Tuite. The play was entitled "Miss Superiority", and Miss Helen Sulman, filled the role of Miss Superiority in an exceedingly capable manner. Mr. Arthur Barker was the "bashful bachelor" who sought the hand of Mrs. Pellender, a widow with a family of four children. Miss Greta Madden played the part of Mrs. Pellender, an indulgent mother, who was afraid of her eldest daughter, the one they term Miss Superiority. Lawrence Wray starred as the son of the widow, taking his part exceptionally well.

Misses Clara Blakely and Margaret Stewart played as the two other daughters. All the players took their parts well.

Mr. William Connor rendered a fine piano solo between the first two acts, and Mrs. N. McKinnon and Jack Deacon each contributed pleasing solos.

The room was well-filled in spite of several counter-attractions in other places, and the evening was regarded as very successful throughout.

RUMOR CAUSED ALARM

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 11—Considerable alarm was felt this morning over dispatches to a London newspaper, that a big liner had gone ashore on the Essex coast, and was sending up distress flares near Walton. The vessel turned out, however, to be the 100 ton, Ketch Rossina, which was swamped and sank. A life boat from Clackton-on-the-sea rescued her crew of four.

MEAD JOHNSON READY TO BEGIN IN FOUR WEEKS

Machinery for New Industry Being Set in Place Now

A MODEST START

With Modern Equipment, But Five Men Needed Next Month

Mead Johnson Company, newly acquired Belleville industry, will start to operate here four weeks from Monday next or March 23rd, when they will begin the manufacture of their well known Dextri-Maltose product, baby and invalid food.

As early as last Thursday morning H. E. Wickerson, plant superintendent with three men commenced to move the heavy machinery into the fine new factory building adjacent to the C.P.R. tracks near the Marsh Engineering Works.

When seen by the Intelligencer this afternoon, the men were busily engaged placing a huge piece of machinery in position, and superintendent Wickerson explained that all machinery which is to be used for the present is now inside the plant. The machinery was shipped from the Toronto plant which has ceased to produce, but the office will be conducted at the Toronto plant until April first.

When asked how many men would be employed when the plant commenced to produce he told the Intelligencer that for the present the five men would do the work.

"It is a work in which machinery plays a very great part," explained the superintendent, "and consequently there is not the need for a large number of men."

Had Busy Session At Court To-day

Five Young Fellows Given Chance to Keep Going Straight

B. O. T. A. breaking and entering and theft cases were the high spots in police court this morning.

One man, who has been on remand recuperating from the wrecking spirits of canned heat, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $10 and costs of $14. It was his first offence. A brother paid the fine and saved the accused from a twenty-one day sojourn.

Accused agreed that he had had "juice" from three cans of canned heat, procured at a local drug store.

"You had better quit that canned heat stuff" warned Magistrate Masson.

Accused agreed that he had had enough.

No Criminal Intent

Three local men, arrested recently at 2 a.m. in the morning in the apartments of John Butterfield, 329 1-2 Front street, were allowed to go this morning "with the blessing of the court", when Crown Attorney Donnan announced that he was not anxious to press the charge after having investigated the circumstances. The men were charged under section 439 of the criminal code, breaking and entering.

It was explained that they had probably visited Mr. Butterfield on other occasions in his apartment, and that while they forced the door which was held by a piece of wood and a spike, they had no intentions of stealing. One man held playing cards. Probably a card game was contemplated.

Urging them to keep well on the straight and narrow and to avoid cultivating evil habits which are more easily acquired than put aside, the bench allowed them to go.

Is Given a Chance

The Marchmont Boy charged with the theft of a silver watch and a pair of binoculars from his Front street boarding house on February fifth, was allowed out on suspended sentence this morning when he agreed to supply a bond of $100, and W. H. Merry, superintendent of the Marchmont Home here agreed to supply a surety for $50. Sentence was accordingly suspended for one year.

The boy who says he is not yet seventeen years of age has been working for a farmer near Foxboro, but twelve days ago came to Belleville to board and "blow his coin," as the Crown aptly termed it. Mr. Merry avers that according to the records which he had in court, the boy will be nineteen years of age next birthday.

"That is wrong", put in the boy.

The money which the boy had saved "went" more quickly than it had 'come', once he moved In Belleville. Radio, phonograph, a $7 fountain pen and other "necessities of 1925" were purchased.

After taking the watch and binoculars, he evidently apologized to his conscience by taking the stolen articles back before the officers laid the theft charge.

The Foxboro farmer with whom the boy was last employed, is anxious to take him back, though he is alleged to have forged two $1 cheques, which the farmer made him "work out" on his farm. Theft of a gold ring which was also returned before any charge was laid was also brought to the attention of the court by Chief Kidd.

The boy came to Canada in September 1920.

Must Attend School

Truant officer W. F. Ashley had a case in court this morning when a father appeared, charged with not having sent his child to school regularly. The case was dismissed, the father receiving a warning from the Magistrate.

J. C. McRUER,

Assistant crown attorney, who has gone to Los Angeles to represent the government at the Pepall extradition proceedings on February 11th. Mr. McRuer will take with him the evidence taken at the recent private hearing before Magistrate Jones.

GOVERNMENT TO STAND BACK OF O.T.A. PROPOSAL

Attitude Not Changed by Demands of Wets or Drys

WILSON IS ADAMANT

Will Go Ahead With Motion For Government Control

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The Ontario Government stands by its stronger beer amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act. Premier Ferguson stated to-day that the attitude of his government would not be changed by any demands from the extremists, either wet or dry.

He reiterated the remark of yesterday that the new beer now proposed was not intoxicating and that therefore there was no movement away from the principles of the O. T. A.

He stated that there would be no increase of license fees paid by standard hotels.

Liberal members of the Legislature are already seeking information from the Government and several questions have been placed on the order paper. W. J. Bragg, West Durham, is asking if the Government intends appointing a third members to the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission and if so when. A. P. Mewhinney, West Bruce, asks how much has been spent for maintenance of Provincial Highways and on what classes of roads the money was expended.

To Stand Firm

F. W. Wilson, M. L. A. Windsor, who has a motion on the order paper calling for the sale of wine, beer and liquors, under a system of government control, stated this morning that he intended to stand firm on his intention to introduce it in the House.

"I do not think the 4.4 beer goes far enough and I certainly will go ahead with it," he said.

Prohibitionists To Oppose Amendment

Meeting Here Yesterday Draws Up Resolution Of Protest

West Hasting's prohibitionists "view with alarm "that part of the speech from the Throne delivered Tuesday at Queen's Park in which amendments to the O.T.A. were indicated, and they pointed out at their meeting here in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday afternoon, that it was contrary to the pledged word of the Premier and his government. In fact a resolution was passed to this effect.

A strong resolution, to be framed later, will be forwarded to Toronto, and will express the views of the meeting on the matter.

Checking up on Premier Ferguson, the meeting passed a lengthy resolution in which it was reminded that:

As prohibition representatives of West Hastings they called for remembrance of assurances given by the Premier of Ontario that if the O.T.A. were sustained at the polls the government would strengthen the enforcement of the Act. They recognized the signs and more vigorous enforcement(of the law and assured the Premier and the government that in carrying out the pledges he would have the support of the prohibitionists regardless of party affiliations.

It was also decided to wait on the local member of the Ontario Legislature, and urge him to stand by the O.T.A. when the question comes up in the Legislature regardless of party affiliations.

Draws Comparison

That Ontario's present 2½% beverage is now twice as strong as beer sold in the United States, was pointed out by Rev. Dr. W. S. MacTavish. If the strength were doubled, that would make it four times as strong as the U.S.A. beer.

Dr. MacTavish who was secretary treasurer of the Prohibition Union during the autumn plebiscite campaign, also questioned whether the legislature had power to make the change since by a majority of the voters on October 23rd, 1924, the O.T.A. was sustained.

Chairman F. E. O'Flynn urged his hearers to continued good work, and emphasized that the O.T.A. must be enforced. He believed the enforcement officers in this district to be capable and conscientious men. Officers elected were:

Pres.—F. E. O'Flynn.

Vice-Pres.—T. J. Johnston, Trenton; H. W. Ackerman, Belleville; R. N. Bird, Stirling; and E. E. Sine, Frankford.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish was appointed secretary-treasurer, and also delegate to the Provincial convention.

THE WEATHER

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay—Fresh to strong northerly winds. local showers or snow flurries, somewhat colder tonight. Thursday fair and a little colder.

RADIO WILL NOT INJURE CHURCH BISHOP CLAIMS

In Interesting Address to Women's Canadian Club Last Night

WORLD GOING FAST

Morning Papers Come Out At Ten O'Clock at Night

"This Queer World" was the subject of the interesting talk which Bishop Willard Brewing gave at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, held in the lecture room at the Armouries last evening. The Bishop kept his audience entertained and amused through the whole lecture and interspersed some real truths and a bit of the philosophy of life as well, leaving his hearers something to carry away with them and think about.

In the course of his remarks he said:

"Every generation thinks that its own time is the best. Grandmother sits in her corner and criticizes her daughters and says that things were different in her day, girls never acted as they do now, but usually even our grandparents' youth cannot bear too close scrutiny. On the other hand, the granddaughter pities her grandmother for the ignorance of her youthful days."

The Bishop referred to the great health movement of recent years. The dread plague of small-pox had been driven off the world practically. Cases of typhoid fever were on the decrease, he said, and other diseases that used to strike terror into people's hearts had been bowed off the stage. Further, the average age of man had been lengthened by twelve years, and the average man who is old in years appeared younger than the men of past centuries. Youth has taken hold of the world.

Man is Improving

"But, some skeptical person may ask, 'what is the good of lengthening the span of a man's life? Is man improving himself?'

The answer to this was in the affirmative. Three-quarters of a century ago, slavery held sway over this land. Theology and slavery went hand in hand. As an instance of this he quoted an item that appeared in an American paper, about seventy-five years ago. It read: 'For sale by Auction, 2 donkeys in good condition, 2 donkey carts, 6 young slaves in good condition, and a small library consisting of work on theology.'

Prohibition had changed a great deal of money into children's clothes, and food, where it had formerly gone into breweries.

"It is a conservative and a queer world," he went on. "We never get settled down. Just as the old world gets settled comfortably in a home along comes an order to move out. New light changes all the old ideas, and we have to discard many things dear to us. The periods of greatest progress are the periods of the most poignant pain."

The Bishop described the eclipse as he saw it in the States, while on the train. The sky was absolutely clear and cloudless when gradually the bluish shadow spread over the snow. Because he understood this natural phenomenon, he was not startled but he thought then of primitive man, to whom this was a sign of God's anger, and what the awful spectacle must have meant to him.

When one considered that in all the great bodies hurling through space the same law of system existed, that in Mars it was the same as in Belleville, and the same as in Jupiter one could get a magnificent conception of the God who directs all these.

"But we must pay the price of human progress. There is not an institution which is not dear to someone, and when we must do away with them someone's heart is wrenched."

O.T.A. Talk

Rev. Ben Spence of the Ontario Prohibition Union said: "I am amazed that such a proposition should be considered for a moment in view of the clear-cut, definite statement made by the Prime Minister, when he says the Government would strengthen the act's weaknesses and give it active and vigorous enforcement. This beer proposition makes the enforcement of other provisions of the act immensely more difficult. Beer containing 5 per cent. proof spirits is intoxicating."

Attorney-General Nickle, when asked by The Globe yesterday, just where the 5 per cent. beer was to be permitted to be sold, said: "Everywhere." He declared that there was no violation on the part of the Premier of his pledge of O. T. A. enforcement that he could see, and declined to make further comment.

Tid-Bit for the Wets

W. H. Ireland, Conservative Whip, thought the move would satisfy 75 per cent. of the wets. J. A. Pinard, Liberal member for East Ottawa, declared emphatically that it would not satisfy—what was wanted was 7 per cent. beer. Edmond Proulx, Liberal member for Prescott, pointed out that it was exactly what he had advocated last session.

Urges Government To Raise Tariff

Vancouver Conservative Shows Fallacy of Present Course

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Opening placidly enough, debate on the address in the House yesterday broke into lively cross-firing, and sharp repartees and rejoinders. First came Robert Forke leader of the Progressives, followed by J. S. Woodsworth leader of the Labor group. Mr. Forke made it clear that Progressives wanted tariff reduction. "I want to give notice to the Government," he said, "that members who sit in this part of the House at least have not yet given up the idea of tariff reduction, and do intend to pres sfor further reductions along this line." He thought transportation the very centre of national life and the Progressives wanted the whole question of railway rates definitely settled. He thought the attitudes both of Premier King and Mr. Meighen in their speeches of yesterday were unsound. Theirs were interesting studies in extremes of mood.

Mr. Woodsworth declared that Labor throughout the country was disappointed that the Speech from the Throne contained no indication of the Government's intention to keep its promises to Labor.

Following Mr. Woodsworth came Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Meighen Government. His speech was punctuated with interruptions. He made a plea for protection, declaring that Canada must face the question whether it was better to sell pulpwood at half a cent a pound instead of paper at six cents a pound. He urged that Canada should place a tariff on imports from the United States commensurate with the American tariff on Canadian goods.

All Left To Government

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, said that there was too great a tendency to leave to the Government the work that really belonged to the whole nation. It would require supermen in the Government to carry out such tasks.

Mr. Forke thought that through the development of private enterprise and public utilities, rather than through the passage of legislation which met the mood of the moment and too often was forgotten as soon as it was on the statute books, would bring Canada out "of the land of bondage into the land of progress." In the development of resources, said the Progressive leader, Canada had been retrograde during the past two yeas.

One of the greatest evils of the present time was the tendency to blame the Government for all evils that exist. Mr. Forke recognized the truth of the saying that Canada was a difficult country to govern. The economic interests of different sections of the Dominion were not always parallel. For this reason it was not possible to leave national problems entirely to a Government to solve. It was a task for all Canadians to face and help with.

No amount of reasoning or argument could convince the people living out on the prairies, that protection would prove of any use to them. The much talked of home market would not slove the problem for the Western wheat producer. "We want a national policy for all the people of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific," said Mr. Forke.

There should be no immigration without colonization. There were more people leaving Canada to-day than Mr. Forke liked to see going. Some of the finest and best of our young people educated in Canada were drifting over the border. Canada should be made the best place to live in in order to keep these younger citizens.

The question of the natural resources of the Prairie Provinces should be conclusively settled, and an end should be put to the need for conferences between the Federal and Provincial authorities.

Fail to Convince

Hon. H. H. Stevens (Conservative, Vancouver Centre), stated that the Premier solution for unemployment was evidently the strengthening of immigration by bringing in more labor, but Mr. King could quote statistics in support of his argument until doomsday and fail to convince the people that "conditions in this country are happy."

Straight Vote On Policy Predicted

When Debate on Speech From the Throne is Closed

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 11—Legislation proposed by Canadian Railway Brotherhoods was under discussion this morning, when representatives of these organizations met Premier Mackenzie King and members of the Government.

When the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne is finished, probably about Thursday, of next week, it is thought it will close with a straight vote on the motion of Sir Eugene Fiset, Liberal, Rimouski, and no amendments will be before House. The first division of the session, therefore will come directly on the question of the Government's policy and will reveal the attitude of the third party, and especially of the Independent group within the Progressive party, to that policy.

WASTED LABOR

The humble man-in-the-street imagines that all famous folk have easy times, but he is wrong. The great have to face continual problems, as do the small, and often they are the same problems.

Mrs. Joseph Conrad, widow of the world-famous novelist who died recently, describes an amusing incident which occurred one time when she and her husband were striving to get a house. Hearing from an agent of a likely residence, they made their plans to rush off and see it as soon as possible, and did not even notify the family in occupation that they were coming. They reached the house soon after breakfast, and, as Mr. Conrad was being shown into the sitting room, he remarked pleasantly:

"We should like to see the bedrooms first."

This remark astonished both the maid and her mistress, but a young man, descending the stairs, provided the solution.

"O—I see what's happened," he exclaimed, half apologetically. "I suppose, sir, you—you were under the impression that this house was to let? We only moved in yesterday."

THE TRUTH WILL OUT

On more than one occasion the Toronto Star has seen fit to belittle the courageous statements of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen when he has dared to tell the people of Canada that industry of this country is suffering under the Mackenzie King regime. The Star has joined with other Liberal organs in pelting the Opposition leader with the epithet "Pessimist".

That was done, of course, in the interests of Mr. King. When the Star has its own battle to fight against Premier Ferguson, it is a horse of another color, however.

In condemning Mr. Ferguson for desiring to increase the indemnity for members, The Star has this to say:

"A multitude of citizens are out of work. Distressing poverty is on all sides. Industry is complaining about the burden of taxation. Those whose incomes remain normal have reason for thankfulness. Others whose incomes have shrunk or become non-existent will not cheerfully contribute their part of increased sessional indemnities."

LIFE HERE AND THERE

In an indirect manner, Mr. Fred Deacon supplied a splendid boost for the City of Belleville yesterday when he addressed the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Deacon lived in the city of New York for a number of years, in the days of thirty years ago, and recently made a return visit. He was much impressed with the vast changes that had taken place in the past three decades.

He told Kiwanians of one small firm paying over forty thousands of dollars for rental on a business street, of those of his acquaintance who payed thousands of dollars a year as rentals for cramped apartments, of those who travelled ninety miles every day to work in New York.

The boost for this city came in a reported conversation with an old friend who had plenty of money and played an important part in the business life of the metropolis, but who had few friends and did not know the people living in the adjoining apartment though they had lived together for years.

If he had his life to live over again, said this man to Mr. Deacon, he would live in a place like Belleville, where he could walk along the street and be able to meet many friends every day.

As Mr. Deacon said, we do not handle nearly as much money here as they do in New York, but we get more value for our money.

A WELL-KNOWN ART

"The art of love-making," says a Baltimore preacher, "should be taught young men and women." If so, then grandmother should be taught to crochet—which is proverbially impossible because the grandmothers of the proverb already know all that is to be known about it.

If there is one thing in which the youngsters do not lack knowledge, it is the art of love-making. There is a royal road to that knowledge which young hearts have no trouble in finding and travelling. The first man and woman were created with proficiency in the art, and since creation men and women have been born with it.—Montreal Herald.

Finding Many New Treasures In Abbey

As Renovators Proceed with Their Work at Westminster

London, Feb. 11.—With the renovation of the interior of Westminster Abbey, Englishmen are finding out that they have a much richer art treasure in the ancient structure than they had supposed. As the delicate work of renovating the fabric progresses, many new unsuspected pictures and colors are being brought to light.

The latest discovery is a large painting on the wall of the Henry V chantry chapel. The painting had been covered with a thick coat of paint probably for more than a century, but is now entirely exposed to view and the colors restored by the modern processes of renovating. The picture was painted evidently by some obscure monk and depicts the coronation of the king.

King Henry V's chapel, little known by the public, is built above the tomb of the king and contains six old statuettes surrounded by a group of smaller ones. The statuettes are being restored to their natural whiteness and have been found to be among the most valuable of the early examples of sculpture in the Abbey.

The work of removing the varnish and dirt from the walls has taken several months, but now the room and heraldic shields in the choir aisles have been brought into relief in their original medieval coloring.

Merchant Drives Hold-up Men Off

One Bandit is Killed and Druggist Was Wounded

Windsor, Feb. 11.—An unidentified negro was shot and instantly killed and Edgar R. Brown, of 1109 Lillian Street, Windsor, was seriously wounded late last night when David M. Pierce, manager of A. Cunningham's drug store, at 1200 Joseph Campeau Avenue, pluckily shot it out with three hold-up men, all armed. Brown, a clerk in the store, was taken to the Receiving Hospital. A bullet pierced his jaw. His condition is serious.

Twice during the past two weeks this sore has been an easy prey for the stick-up men. Last night, Pierce the manager, was ready for them. He was standing at the rear of the store when three negroes entered and ordered Brown to throw up his hands. As the clerk complied, Pierce, unobserved from a darkened point of vantage, opened fire with a revolver. One of the three intruders dropped, fatally wounded. His companions in panic scattered for the door, but recovered their equilibrium sufficiently to turn and direct a returning volley of shots, wounding Brown.

Two weeks ago Brown was on duty when three men robbed the cash register of $50, and four night ago he was on duty when two armed men forced him and two women patrons at the soda fountain to lie on the floor while they looted the register and stamp drawer of about $70.

A MYTH EXPLODED

You sometimes hear the statement made that the people of today are not made of the same heroic stuff as their ancestors, that the modern folk are soft and fine-grained and unable to stand up under the same circumstances as were those of the "good old days."

The war did much to change that viewpoint.

Young men who had never done a day's hard work in their lives underwent unheard of hardships—and many of them died as gamely as ever men died in the days when knights were bold.

And recent events show that peace as well as war can produce its heroes.

Within the last few weeks there have been stories of epic bravery and endurance that nothing in the annals of the brave days of old could surpass.

The school teacher standing in the flame-swept Oklahoma school building tossing children out of the window to safety until the fire reached her, and she disappeared; the newspaper reporter crawling 150 feet into a cave and scooping the earth away with his hands in a heroic effort to release a man entrapped by a falling rock, working until he collapsed, and returning three times to the task; the heroic dog team drivers speeding on through blinding blizzards that obliterated the trails, and through temperature often as low as 30 degrees below zero, carrying the precious anti-toxin serum 700 miles to plague-stricken Nome—match these epics with anything in history or fiction and the myth that the man of today is a weakling must disappear.

NEWSPAPERS AND CRIME

(Saturday Night)

It is a nice question as to the duty of the newspaper in respect to the reporting of crime. Obviously the newspaper owes something to its readers. It must keep them informed. On the other hand it owes something to the public in protecting it so far as is possible against crime. When a newspaper makes a hero out of a scoundrel like Red Ryan, as was the case some months ago upon the capture of that brigand, it is involving itself seriously in the business of crime promotion.

Obviously there was a middle course. The readers could have been given the facts, and at the same time the story could have been written in a manner that would have proved unattractive to people with their savage instinct partially developed and who only required this extra incentive to enter a life of crime.

AS SEEN IN THE WEST

(Calgary Albertan)

Once in every two years the eminent people of Ontario visit Quebec, and on the alternate years the eminent people of Quebec visit Ontario, and at these gatherings they tell each other how much they love each other and how utterly foolish not to so love each other and that the two Provinces are Canada, and that there should be unity and not discord. There is a limit to what can be achieved in speeches. It might be better to take for granted that there is neither discord nor hard feelings without stressing the harmony of prolonged speeches.

Pride And Crime

It is recognized that the chief characteristic of most criminals is that of pride.

A man is proud to be known as a leader in crime, proud of his thuggism, proud of his skill as a gunman.

It is a well-known fact that pride is one of the chief incentives to crime.

Newspaper publicity is sweet to the soul of the law-breaker.

The trouble is that crime is egocentric in its character. All criminals are individualists. They are at war with society. At the same time they care more for the plaudits of society than they are willing to admit.

One of the worst punishments of a criminal who has achieved some celebrity is to tell him that you have never heard of him.

It follows from this that one of the best cures of crime is obscurity. The criminal feeds upon notoriety.

Even when he is hung it is some consolation to know that he is in the spotlight. He is in the centre of the stage and he rejoices that his passing is dramatic.

All religion is religion of the other fellow. Its object is to induce a man to have respect for the rights of others. Irreligion of any kind is egocentric. A man dwells upon his own importance. His chief complaint is that enough attention is not paid to him.

Everything should be done to bring the criminal to a realization of the importance of his fellow men, that he is to live for them and work for them, and not for himself.

Letters To The Editor

A PLEA FROM THE FOOTHILLS

To the Editor,

Sir:—Okotoks is a little town in the foothills of Alberta, twenty-five miles south of Calgary. We have a river, some trees, a good mixed farming country around, and a splendid view of the mountains. We have a splendid school, and a fine crowd of healthy, happy boys and girls as can be found anywhere. We have also a United Church where the greater number of people worship, and most of the children attend Sunday School. In this church, for more than seven years, the people young and old, have been enjoying the blessings set forth in the one hundred and thirty-third Psalm. "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in Unity."

Since June, 1917, we have had a United Church self-supporting, in affiliation with the Presbyterian Church of Canada, and patiently waiting for the day when we should have the United Church of Canada from sea to sea, and carrying on its work in the far-flung line of Home and Foreign Missions. Already we have saved thousands of dollars of the Home Mission Funds, as each of the three little separate congregations were receiving all the aid they could get from the funds.

This saving may not appeal to people who live in great cities where wealth abounds, but in Alberta we could use scores of ordained Home Missionaries, if we had the money to support them till their work becomes self-supporting. We have been trying to work fields by supplying them with students for about five months of the year and hundreds of settlements have not even a student. So if we can do as good work in a United Congregation as in separate denominations, the gain is worth while.

The work in the large United Congregations has many other advantages. There is a general feeling among the people, that the spirit of Christ means unity among Christ's people, shown in some tangible way. Further there is the added advantage of diversity in unity. In our session we have different nationalities and types and the result is the finest body of elders I have ever known.

In Sunday School work it is better that boys and girls who are together in the public and High Schools should be together on Sunday. The young folks like it better, and they are happier than if they were scattered around in three different Sunday Schools. The members in The United Church Sunday School are constantly increasing; success breeds success. The music is bright, the teachers are enthusiastic, and the atmosphere is one of joy, the joy of brethren working together in unity. For the Minister there is a great pleasure in working a congregation where our Master's command "Love one another" is being lived. Having tried Union now for these years no one ever expresses a desire to go back to the old denomination.

Personally I hope that our people in places where the benefits of Union are not so successful as they are in the small places, will in charity and loving kindness think of the people situated as we are here who need a United Church.

APPEAL BOARD HERE

The Federal Board, representing the Department of Justice, commenced a session at City Hall yesterday hearing appeals of veterans against decisions of the Pension Board and the S. C. R refusing them recognition of war disabilities. The members of the Board are Col. C. W. Belton, chairman, Captain C. W. E. Meath and Major C. B. Tapp. Appellants are being represented by Mr. J. V. Conroy and Mr. C. A. Askwith. This session will last two days and arrangements are being made for further session here. Mr. A. Bedingfield is the accompanying secretary.

FORTY-TWO ABOVE

Mild weather still prevails, but the probabilities are that there will be a change to colder weather. A year ago to-day the records show it was 11 degrees below zero. Figures for the two dates are as follows:

1925—42.33.
1924—29. 11 below zero.

CHICAGO MARKEKT

(Canadian Pres aDespatch)

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Wheat took a decided upward swing in price to-day after a hesitating start. Speculators appear to be acting on opinions that rallies were to be looked for in view of recent drastic declines. Comparative strength of values at Liverpool and Buenos Aires tended also to encourage buying here. Opening which ranged from 1 3-8c. lower to 1-4 c. advance was fololwed by material gains all around, with May rising to $1.86. Scarcity of offerings except at outset gave lift to corn market. Opening at 1-4 to 1 1-8c. lower, corn soon scored general advance. Oats were relatively weak orwing to scattered liquidating sales on part of holders. Start was 1-2c. to 1 7-8c. off and subsequent rallies failed to hold. In line with hog market provision averaged lower.

attempting to solve the question of taxation. "There is grave inquiry in our income tax law. This is a method of taxation that is driving business out of Canada, and will drive more. Many Canadian business men in Vancouver are considering moving their head offices to Seattle and doing business there." Canadian corporations were taxed by the Federal Government on their profits, and in certain provinces, including British Columbia, a further tax was imposed. American concerns with headquarters on the other side, could transact business in Canada without the double burden imposed on Canadians.

"The Government has under its control a splendid fleet of ships. Why is it necessary to subsidise then a privately owned line when we have ships of our own operating", he asked. "The combine question raised by the Government in this matter has been only for the mystification of the public mind.'

Citisens Workers Required

Canada required citisen workers, but it was not fair to ask Canadian labor to compete on a free market with the labor of Europe and maintain a Canadian standard of living. It couldn't be done.

The Conservative party stood, not for the protection of any individual manufacturer, but for the protection of manufacturing industries.

Referring to Hon. Charles Stewart's utterances of last session, he said it was indicated that the Government intended to go on paring the tariff, and the Premier's utterances in the West last Fall indicated that he would proceed step by step to fulfillment of the 1919 Liberal platform.

"Canada should have a tariff on American products entering Canada," declared Mr. Stevens, "commensurate with the tariff on Canadian products entering the United States. You talk to Uncle Sam in his own language, dollars, cents and protection, and I venture to say that he will be knocking at our door asking consideration of a favorable treaty, not on their terms, but on ours."

Mr. Stevens declared that the crux of the whole question which the Government would have to confront was whether or not it was going to put on sufficient protective duties so that sufficient protective d uties so that our industries would thrive. Efforts should be made also by the Government to place some of the money in circulation which was now tied up in Victory Bonds so that sufficient capital would be afforded for manufacturing concerns to go ahead.

Rabio Will

fight against the introduction of machinery. for labour done by hand, and the automobile which has replaced the carriage. Now a machine performs in a minute what used to take weeks, done by hand.

Speaking of the industrial unrest, the Bishop believed that no solution would come so long as an attempt was made to make men and women simply cogs in a smoothly running machine.

The Bishop termed this as the most credulous age that ever was. Multitudes, he stated, would believe the wildest things as long as there was obviously no truth in them. Fiction was far more attractive than truth, just as a runaway horse is more interesting than a well driven horse. Let a hundred well driven horses trot down the street and the chances are no one would turn to look, but let one horse break away and go careening down the street, and immediately everybody is interested Many books of the present day are the products of runaway minds, which have caught the passing interest of the people.

The Bishop took occasion to remark on the kind of people who cried at a play, an imaginary scene that was well acted, and then got into their comfortable cars and drove home through scenes of real poverty and real sin, without a quiver, because truth appeals less than fiction.

He did not like the tendency of Canadian magazine to copy the more dangerous elements of American magazines. He had noticed the advertisements in one magazine and they were filled with ads for face cream and other beautifying articles. Any young girl, reading this might think that the greatest thing in life was to make her face look nice. And the superlatives used in such advertising and in describing little ordinary things, make it almost impossible to properly express real things.

A Speedy World

"This is such a speedy world. The morning papers are printed at 10 o'clock at night. We are going so fast that sometimes we seem to be going backwards—if we go east far enough we shall be going west."

The speaker referred to Cubis art and Futurist poetry as example of fevered extremes.

The greatest poetry ever produced in the Bishop's opinion, was the Psalms, because they had lasted for 3,000 years, they appealed to the sorrows and the joys of men; and it required no outward pressure to make people keep the Psalms against all encroachments of newer literature. The Psalms were eternal. while other literature would not last.

Advised Good Reading

He advised the reading of old books which were not written for the lure of gold, and had something lasting about them.

People became wildly enthusiastic about superficial things like baseball games, but no one is supposed to become aroused to any heights of enthusiasm over religion. If they did, they were looked at askance.

The Bishop did not believe that the radio would interfere with the attendance at church any more than the invention of the telephone prevented a young man from going to visit his sweetheart. It was not the same thing

The lecture was finished with the thought that the church was paying the price. It is said that the church is fading. The church is not the dominating figure it once was. The ringing note today is not domination, but permeation. Even as the great Niagara Falls is said to be becoming smaller, because great quantities of its water are diverted and brought to every little cottage and hamlet around, so the spirit of Christ is being carried everywhere and is found bubbling up in unexpected places.

Hinge Company Is Completing Plans

Arrange to Open Factory Here; Offers Stock To Public

Mr. Giffin is back in the city again to complete arrangements to open up a factory here for the purpose of manufacturing, buying, selling and dealing in metal products, including brass, steel, iron, specializing in manufacturing all classes of hinges.

This is a different line than the lock factories, and it will make a complete line of builders' hardware manufactured in Belleville. It will also make this city one of the biggest hardware manufacturing cities in Canada. In addition it will give employment to a large number of Belleville citizens. Some of Belleville's most prominent citizens are interested in this industry. W. C. Springer of the Springer Lock Company and Charles Hanna, M.P., of Walker Hardware Company have consented to become directors of the company.

Mr. Springer has a wide and long experience in manufacturing building hardware and is looked upon as being one of the most expert and successful manufacturers in Canada. Mr. Hanna as a hardware merchandizer cannot be equalled with his long experience in handling hardware of all descriptions. This experience makes him a big asset on the board of directors.

Mr. Giffin has had a very extensive experience in mechanical work and manufacturing. He understands the builders hardware business thoroughly.

The selling organization cannot be equalled for connection, reputation and experience. They have been marketing hardware lines in Canada for years and cover Canada from coast to coast several times a year.

The factory location will be made known as soon as negotiations are completed.

The Company has a wonderful market for its goods and with the two lock factories will make a great combination for both buying steel marketing and shipping.

An Investment Opportunity

The Company is offering to the people of Belleville and district an opportunity of purchasing some of their seven per cent. accumulation preference stock at twenty-five dollars a share par value, with a repurchase price of twenty-six dollars and a quarter for a term of five years. This should be a real sound investment and it is bringing to Belleville a factory which will help build a city and where you will have your money invested in your own town.

It is in the interests of every person in the community to invest some money in this company and if you are interested, write Mr. Giffin at the New Queen's Hotel.

ALL EVIDENCE IN; ARGUMENT STARTS

Evidence in the case of Misses Lillie and Melissa Parks of Hungerford Township, claiming $9400 as compensation for taking care of their mother after the death of their father the late Mr. Gilbert Parks as been completed. At three o'clock this afternoon before His Honor Judge Deroche, argument was started and will take some time as there are four solicitors in the case to be heard.

The contention of the executors under the will is that the amount claimed by the two sisters is exhorbitant; that after the father's death, they with the mother remained in the homestead as members of one family and continued to enjoy all the privileges of the home. It is also claimed that there was no expressed bargain whereby they could in any way collect from the estate any sum for the taking care of their mother. Under the will of their father the claimants in this case were given an equal share of the estate, which is valued at about $10,000.

The solicitors engaged in the case are E. J. Butler for the executors, R. D. Ponton for the official guardian C. A. Cameron for the claimants and A. B. Collins for the residuary legatees.

Looks Like Scandal In Guelph Attair

Housekeeper Involves Relief Officer and An Alderman

Guelph, Feb. 11.—Standing room was at a premium and the County Court House was packed to capacity during the first day of judical investigation into the conduct of the City Relief Department which opened Tuesday before his Honor Judge Spotton. His Honor was authorised to conduct inquiry into the methods of relief distribution, in connection with which it has been alleged there were irregularities, by the City Council.

The chief witness at the opening session was Mrs. Sarah Collins, nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital, Toronto, and former housekeeper from James Cassidy, City Relief Officer.

Mrs. Collins, who was under cross examination for over three hours, told of the insight into the workings of the Relief Department she had during the year and a half she lived at Cassidy's home, and in her testimony implicated one of the city's Aldermen, W. Phil Evans. The reference made to Ald. Evans was to the effect that groceries received on relief orders and delivered at Cassidy's residence had later been taken to the Alderman's home. She also went so far as to say that the Alderman himself had called at the Relief Officer's house for some of the goods in question.

Other statements made by Mrs. Collins on the witness stand were to the effect that fictitious names had been used on relief orders, and that blank orders had been handed out a number of times to her knowledge.

On instructions from the Relief Officer she claimed that she had signed his name on orders during his absence.

Another matter touched on by the former housekeeper in her evidence was with reference to relief slips being handed out to certain persons, which she alleged were given in lieu of money for work done for Mr. Cassidy, who holds the dual position of Relief Officer and caretaker at municipal headquarters.

Mrs. Collin's stated that Cassidy had called on her in Toronto twice within the last three weeks with reference to the investigation. She claimed that he had suggested that they get their two solicitors together and squash things, and also said that the Relief Officer had handed her a note Tuesday morning asking her to keep back as much as she could or he would get men to swear against her.

When the inquiry adjourned at 5 o'clock, Mrs. Collins was still on the stand.

PLAN NEW ELECTION FOR KITCHENER

Kitchener, Feb. 11.—Notices of the steps to upset the last municipal election having been served on the Aldermen, Kitchener's City Council, at a special meeting of the Aldermen, resigned Tuesday afternoon. All the members, with the exception of two who were not present, signed disclaimers, which will be filed with the County Judge as soon as the disclaimers of the eight defeated candidates have been filed. There is nothing in the way of a new election, which will likely be held Saturday, Feb. 28.

The question of continuing the investigation to learn the extent of the irregularities has not yet been disposed of.

The city's business in the meantime is in the hands of Mayor Asmussen, whose election was not contested. Efforts are being made to secure an acclamation for the new Council, but it is doubtful whether they will succeed.

THIEF IDENTIFIED THROUGH PHOTOS

Peterboro, Feb. 11.—From photos on a police criminal record card Dr. D. C. King, this city, says he identifies Robert John McCullough, in custody in Montreal on the charge of stealing valuable jewelry and silverware as the Dr. R. J. Macdonald who is alleged to have broken into the Doctor's premises here and got away with four hundred dollars worth of surgical instruments.

The burglary of Dr. King's premises, which occurred August 31 last, was the climax to the alleged self-styled Dr. Macdonald's brief sojourn in Peterboro in the interests, as he declared, of establishing a hospital at Millbrook. He entertained local doctors at the best hotel, talked to them learnedly of medical matters, and took away with him their money and property.

To Montreal authorities McCullough, believed to be the Macdonald wanted in Peterboro, asserts that he is a returned soldier of Toronto with a Western record. It is gathered from what he says that he was formerly a young doctor in the Mayo brothers' hospital at Rochester, who went overseas and got wounded by shrapnel on the Cambrai sector, since which time his mind has been blank.

POLICE MADE BIG HAUL AT WINDSOR

Windsor, Feb. 11—Police early yesterday conducted the most productive liquor raid since the first of year when they visited the premises of Mrs Ada L. Ross 1418 Dougal Avenue. The liquor seized was valued at more than $2,000 at "bootleggers' prices," the officers reported. The house yielded a variety of spirits while an automobile containing 200 quarts and a ten-gallon keg of whisky was found in the garage.

Mrs. Ross and David McLachrie who gave his address as Prince Edward Hotel, were arrested on charges of violating the Ontario Temperance Act. Mrs. Ross was released on a $500 bond, the man on $1,000.

The stock within the house comprised six cases of gin, four cases of whisky and six cases of beer. MacLachrie was arrested in connection with the automobile seizure. He professed no knowledge concerning the presence of the liquor therein. He borrowed the car in Detroit, he said, and was unaware of its contents until notified by the authorities.

IDIANS TRAVEL TO GALT

Stratford, Ont., Feb. 11.—The Stratford Indians will travel to Galt to-night to play the Terriers in the Big Six match postponed from Monday night owing to the condition of the ice in the Galt rink. Preston will play here Friday night as scheduled. Stratford must win one of their two remaining games to be sure of getting into the play-offs, and Preston can tie the Indians by winning two games if Stratford drops a couple.

A London Letter

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 11—In an article on "The Influence of St. Paul's Cathedral," the Times, which is receiving subscriptions to meet the cost of repairs being made to the famous dome of St. Paul's says:

Outside all is din and motion. The traffic comes roaring up Ludgate hill and swings round the huge south side of the Cathedral. All about the church yard are shops, and the crowds that shops collect. The very air is full of busy restlessness, where the pigeons wheel and flutter and fuss—more beautifully indeed, than the human beings but seeming to tired nerves and senses like an artist's parody of the human fuss and flutter. The outside of St. Paul's is very different from the outside of St. Peter's or of Notre Dame or even of the Cathedral of Antwerp. It is in the City and of the City, planted in the very midst of all the teeming, strepitous life of every day.

To go in is to suffer a change almost as striking and sudden as that which befalls one on going into St. Peter's on a day of Roman spring. There cannot be, in London, the same contrast of light and shade, of heat and coolness; but the swing door admits, scarcely less than the leather curtain into a new and a very grateful world. It is a world of silence, of spacious[illegible] of rest. If no service is in pro[illegible] there are footfalls and the murmur of [illegible]; but the place is huge enough to soften them all; and the roar of the traffic from outside creeps in like a soothing hum.

A Boon to the Weary

To see the interior of St. Paul's during a carol service or a performance of the St. Matthew Passion is to see that, on special occasions, it is positively not big enough to hold those who would flock to their Cathedral church. To see it at an ordinary week-day afternoon service is to guess what a boon it is to hundreds who somehow contrive to slip away from shop and office, from business and the cares of this world, to seek peace and refreshment from the trivial round. Yet, perhaps more significant still are the number and variety of the people whom an hour or two of watching will reveal coming into St. Paul's when there is no service or special call, at the times when, it would be loosely thought there was no one there. Some of them, indeed, do not seem to know why they are there. They have drifted in you would say. They stopped to watch the pigeons; it seemed a pity not to go up that noble, that magnetic stairway to the doors, they entered—and they will never forget what they saw.

Others have come with a different purpose. They are tourists, determined to see everything. They have a special desire to see, perhaps, Holman Hunt's famous picture, "The Light of the World." They are soldiers and must see Wellington's tomb, or sailors shyly curious about Nelson's. They are artists or art-students and they know that in the monument which Alfred Stevens designed for the Great Duke they will see one of the crowning achievments of English art, worthy of the place that it was meant to occupy in another crowning achievement of English art, the Cathedral of Christopher Wren. Or they are children, caring for none of these things, but all agog for the adventure of climbing as high into the air and getting down as far underground as they can—the whispering gallery, the ball and cross, the crypt.

There are great schools—St. Paul's, Christ's Hospital, Merchant Taylors, the City of London, besides many smaller—which like to cultivate or to remember their old connection with the Cathedral Church of the City of London. There are many men who have been ordained in St. Paul's and many more who have been confirmed there. There are those who are proud of having been present there at some great ceremonial, national or ecclesiastical. Yet it may be doubted whether, in the end, St. Paul's is better loved by any than it is by those who have turned to it for no special purpose except to seek refuge from the stress of daily life, and with no special claim upon it except that it gives them what they need. Such people (and they are of all ages and callings and of many faiths) take St. Paul's into their hearts, as St. Paul's takes their care and weariness into its stately peace.

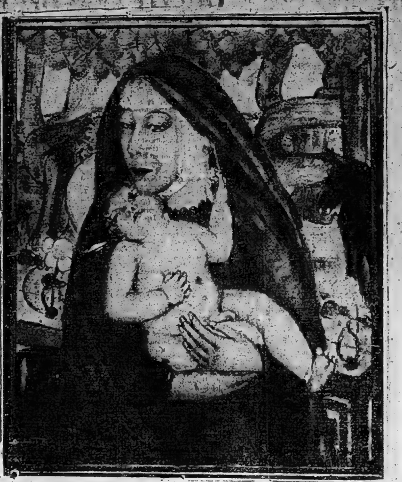
All day and every day out of service time as well as in it, this great church set like a rock in a boiling sea of worldly turmoil, is saying "Study to be quiet," and by that great and simple message spreading a spiritual healing and praise and strength. Not only by means of what is done there in prayer and praise and thanksgiving, but merely by what it is, St. Paul's plays a greater part in the common life than could be realized except through its loss.

Woodcrafters Meet

If you had been passing through the rather dingy neighborhood of Bunhill Fields, in the City of London one night recently, you would have marvelled to hear the wild cries of children as if in the ecstasies of delightful enjoyment and the roar of young men filled with the joy and happiness of life. Something strange was happening in the Memorial Buildings in Roscoe street, and children stepping airily like fairies were running about in the darkness and writing with lamps of fire a greeting to a very remarkable visitor to London—Ernest Thompson Seton, the Canadian-American naturalist, who has written books on the wild life of the Western world, and is the founder of the woodcraft movement. Mr. Seton is Grand Chieftain of the Order of Woodcraft Chivalry, and this was a grand council held in his honor on the occasion of a visit to this country after many years spent in the United States.

The woodcrafters sat in a circle, with their carved totem poles, and in their green and pink robes and leopard skins and gave their deafening howls, sang their funny little songs and listened to the Indian stories told them by their honored Chief. As Grand Chieftain it was Mr. Seton's duty to light the sacred fire, symbolic of the spirit and of the impulses of woodcraft thousands of years ago. He laid the altar cloth in the centre of the circle and lit four candles, representing the cardinal virtues of Truth, Beauty, Fortitude and Love, and inscribed on the cloth were other symbols representing the 12 woodcraft laws.

It would have been nothing less than sacrilege to light the sacred fire with a match. So using his "rubbing-sticks" and a buckskin bow, he produced friction and then a spark. He kindled the spark into flame by waving his hands and transferring it to a mouse's nest, chosen for its dryness, and when the nest was well alight lit the four candles, saying "Thus we light the sacred fire," he turned in triumph to the woodcrafters, who howled "Big Sky, Blue Sky." It was one of the weirdest and yet most inspiring spectacles seen in the heart of London on a winter's evening.



This is the painting by the local artist of Toronto, which has been accepted by the autumn salon in Paris, and has drawn the highest praise from the French art critics. Miss Reid went to France last summer to study French, and was persuaded to submit this specimen of her work. So modest is she about her work that in a letter to a friend about this exquisite painting, she jestingly deplored the fact that she had to pay $3.50 for a frame for it.

Magnesia Best For Your Indigestion

WARNS AGAINST DOPING STOMACH WITH ARTIFICIAL DIGESTENTS

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

ASKED $1,000 FOR LOSS OF TRESSES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 11.—The mysteries of dyeing hair took up the attention of a judge in county court when Mrs. Pearl Rowan claimed $1,000 damages from the proprietors of a Hair Parlor for injury to her hair. Mrs. Rowan, who "models" in commercial advertising, arranged for a "touch-up" which explanation showed was restoring hair, turning grey, to its original color. After the preparation had been rubbed on with a tooth brush the dyed hair was left for 20 minutes to dry, according to the plaintiff, when an attendant washed it, dried it and proceeded to brush it. Then, testified, Mrs. Rowan, her hair fell to the floor. She said that the hair did not come out by the roots, but was broken off at the juncture of the dyed and original hair.

"I suppose you have to bob your hair in your business? asked the judge.

"No sir, long hair is an advantage," replied the plaintiff.

Mrs. Rowan alleges that the dye was noxious and she seeks compensation from the defendants for pain and suffering and her changed personal appearance. The defense is a denial in addition to the plea that Mrs. Rowan used the dye at her own risk and that the dye had been applied in a careful manner.

BRITISH BIRTH RATE FALLS OFF BADLY

Manchester, Feb. 11.—Decline of the birth rate in England has become a national peril in the opinion of Sir Robert Blair, former chief education officer of the London County Council, who, speaking at a Manchester educational conference, estimated that within the next eight years there would be 2,000,000 fewer workers in this country.

"Within the last few years, the birth rate has fallen off tremendously," he said, "and appears even yet to be going down. We are losing 100,000 children a year from each age group in the schools and on this basis, from calculations I have made, by 1932 there will be some 2,000,000 less workers in England."

Taking this year as an example, asserted Sir Robert, the board of education is budgeting for a million less children than in its budget of 14 years ago.

Decrease of the birth rate during the years of the war in some measure accounts for the reduction in the number of children who are now attaining school age, according to ministry of health officials.

BRITAIN NOW HAS BOOTLEG PROBLEM

London, Feb. 11—Great Britain has a bootlegging problem, says the Westminster "Gazette" which may necessitate the adoption of special measures Trouble arises from the fact that the price of spirits in France is only about half that in Britain where duty is very high. This encourages smugglers to run contraband spirit cargoes across the channell in small motor boats and land them on unfrequented parts of the English coast.

"Nig," woman-hating cat of San Francisco city prison may now be seen in the arms of Dorothy Ellington, called "jazz slayer," because she killed her mother in an argument over dancing, and laughed about it. She doesn't laugh at the cat. She thinks the cat has her mother's soul, she tells prison officials. So she pets "Nig" and feeds him.

Boys Stole Corn As A Kindly Act

When Judge Hears Explanation He Dismisses The Case

Budapest, Feb. 11—One of the most unusual cases ever heard in Hungary recently was, before the court in the little provincial town of Ocli, when eight farmer boys caught in the act were charged with walking off with 20 pounds of corn stolen from a widow named Veeroes. They not only pleaded not guilty despite the fact that they admitted the theft but produced a sealed document from the widow in which she declared that "she and her daughter Sarika counted it an honor that Franz Kiraly (the ringleader of the eight) had considered their house worthy of this distinction."

The judge was nonplussed. "I suppose the widow fears your revenge?" he asked.

"No, your honor," Franz Kiraly replied, speaking for the group. "You see, in our part of the country there is a custom by which every year, after the corn has been harvested, a large pot of corn meal is placed on the stove in houses where there are grown up unmarried daughters. The lover of the oldest daughter must steal this corn. To facilitate the theft the family leaves the house for half an hour after the corn meal has been placed on the stove. The greatest disgrace that can happen to the family consists in the corn being left unstolen."

The judge dismissed the case.

MARRIAGE WITHOUT GOOD HUMOR RISKY

London, Feb. 11—"Marriage is not a failure. Some folks are themselves failures, and failure is their lot, but sane and ordinary people must not allow the odd ones to make the rule," says former Premier Ramsey MacDonald writing in the Optimist, a paper edited by his daughter Ishbel, in the interests of a hospital charity.

"We should conspire to protect them against that deceitful and devastating old ruffain False Romance, who hangs a Dunmow Flitch in front of their noses, as carrots are hung in front of donkeys, to lead them astray. Marriage without common sense and good humor is a risky venture, but there is plenty of both in the world, so we need not despair."

REALTORS ARE BUSY SELLING SCOTLAND

London, Feb. 11—During the last six years one-third of Scotland has changed hands through the real estate market. Last year was the poorest since the war; only 300,000 acres were sold as compared with 900,000 acres in 1923.

Since the wholesale disposal of Scottish lands began immediately after the armistice, about 6,500,000 acres have passed into new ownership.

See Cain And Abel Touch In Tragedy

Where Brother is Alleged To Have Shot His Brother

Millville, N. J., Feb. 11.—The Moores in their small farming community three miles out of town used to be a prise exhibit of a big, happy unbroken family circle—until that fateful shotgun blast.

There were mother and father and the three boys, Thomas, Jr. 23; John 21 and Howard 19, and the daughter Bertha 17.

When Tom married he brought his wife, Hilda back there to live at the home place. And the marriage brought the happiness of babies again to the house. There were Sadie who now is 5, and little Tommy 3.

A shotgun wrecked all that. Tom was sitting at the bedside of his mother, who had been sick, smoking his pipe and talking to her and to some neighbors. It was nearly bedtime, about 9.30 p.m.—Without warning a shot gun blazed outside the window, crashing the glass, spraying birdshot through the room, terrorizing the women and blotting out Tom's life.

Who is the murderer has not been proved. Howard Moore is under arrest, charged with killing his brother. Pretty Hilda, the girl widow, is pointed as the motive.

Prosecutor Thomas Tuso, the avenger in this Cain and Abel theory insists that everything was not so serene on the Moore farm as it appeared outwardly. Thomas Moore, Sr., was afraid that Howard was too fond of his brothers' wife, it is now being claimed. Only, a few months ago, Prosecutor Tuso says, the father asked the advice of a friend and remarked dolefully:

"If something isn't done soon, something terrible is going to happen."

COST OF LIVING NOT DECREASING

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 11.—The cost of living is not generally decreasing, according to a review published by the Labor Department in Ottawa. Quoting the International Labor Review the review says:

"The cost of living index numbers for the last three of four months for certain European countries show a distinct rise. This is the case in Australia, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Great Britain, Irish Free State, Norway, Poland, Sweden and Italy. In the Netherlands, Switzerland, Czecho-Slovakia, Finland, Canada, the United States, Egypt, India, South Africa and New Zealand, recent figures show slight fluctuations only in the cost of living there being no definite movement."

In Britain food prices rose 12 1-2 per cent between June and December. In France and Germany the cost of most of the necessaries of life also rose steeply round the end of the year. In Canada the average price of 29 foods in 60 cities was estimated at 10.78 in January 1924, fell off slightly in the summer months, and was back to 10.57 in December.

VIENNA IS COVETING NEW TAX ON RADIO

Vienna, Feb. 11—Vienna is in the throes of a conflict over taxes. The city administration which is Socialist hold that the amusement tax levied on theatres and concert halls is also applicable to the radio service. It therefore seeks to collect a tax upon the use of radio sets in restaurants and coffee houses.

WORKER'S WAGES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 11.—Dealing with the rates of wages paid to the various workers in Canada, a review published by the Federal Department of Labor shows that the average skilled workmen, not including lumbering and factory workers, are paid an average of 79.3 higher than in 1913. For that year a basis is fixed at 100. The average fluctuations in wages of six main groups runs from 67 in 1901 to 179.3 in 1924.

OPERATIONS FOR FEMALE TROUBLES

In Many Cases Unnecessary

These Women Gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Alberta Woman's Experience

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Operation Advised

Sarnia, Ontario—"After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I'm sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to do my housework and a little washing and also to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have done, to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

Through neglect, some female troubles may reach a stage where an operation is necessary, but most of the common ailments are not surgical ones.

Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised.

In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use.

Stone Carvings Over 2,000 Years Old. Two ancient pieces of Roman-British stone sculpture have just been placed on exhibit at the Royal Ontario Museum on Bloor street. More than 2,000 years ago they were probably erected to some divinity in a gentleman's garden at Bournemouth. They have weathered badly, but, with the assistance of some coins of the period, the figure of the genius of the Roman people seems to be fairly clear.

KINGSTON CLINCHES SECOND HALF QUINTE LEAGUE; EXELSIORS WIN AT Y.M.C.A.

Excelsiors Take Real Close Game

Rinky Dinks Win Ladies' League Fixture at the Y.M.C.A.

Last night at the Y Alleys there were two games pulled off, one in the Men's League and one in the Ladies. The first was between the Excelsiors and Orioles which was the closest game played on the alleys in some time, the Excelsiors winning by 6 pins. In the first game the Excelsiors won by 4 pins and increased their lead in the second game to 13 pins. The Orioles came back strong in the last game and if it had not been that one of their members blew in the last frame would have won game as they were seven up on the third. C. Bryant carried off the single string with 222 and A. Herity, the three string with 611.

The second game the Rinkey Dinks and Ritchies battled for the honors and the Rinkey Dinks were winners by 335 pins. The Ritchies could not get going and were up against the breaks and were away below their average game. The Rinkey Dinks were going good and rolled a nice game with their lead off lady being the high single and three string of the evening with 195 and 535 while Miss Connell was the high for the Ritchies.

PETERBORO LOST TO GREYHOUNDS

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 11—The Greyhounds were forced to play nifty hockey for sixty minutes last night to get a 2-0 decision against Peterboro. Soo showed better organization, but the Petes had an aggressiveness that time after time carried them to dangerous shooting distance, and they worked through the full three periods without a let-up. Ranger, Bailey, and McLeod proved a trio on the Peterboro attack which gave the Hounds the busiest 60 minutes they have had on local ice this season. Donnelly was easily the best man on the ice for the Soo, and Stan. Brown turned in one of the prettiest games he has ever played with the Hounds. Time after time the two defence men went all through the whole Peterboro team only to be beaten by Dwyer or shoot wide. Dwyer and Walsh were factors which kept the score down from both angles.

Peterboro Well Liked

The game was crimeless and the Peterboro team made a most favorable impression here. They are a snappy crew and gave the Hounds trouble through the entire sixty minutes. The line-ups:

Peterboro—Goal, Dwyer; defence, Parker and McLeod; centre, Collins; left wing, Burgess; right wing, Bailey subs., Ranger, Rose and Foley.

Referee—Roy Chisholm, Sault.

Irishmen Defeated Point Anne Team

In Good Game of Hockey in Bay of Quinte League

Kingston, Feb. 11.—Forced into overtime, Irishmen Monday night finally defeated Point Anne by the score of 4 to 3 at The Harty Arena, in what proved to be a good game from start to finish. There was a small crowd in attendance, but they had their money's worth, and it was not until the final gong of the overtime period sounded that the locals were out of the woods.

Naturally the fact that Lloyd Brown would be playing proved a drawing card. The husky whirlwind while not exactly at his best because of the fact that he has been out of the game for so long, showed a return to his old form in the third period and in the overtime, his goal being the counter to win the game. Tobin turned in a neat game in the nets, while the entire Irish team worked together and gave all they had. They needed to, for Point Anne were forcing the play a great deal of the time. The Goyer brothers were in good form and Pat Boland played a nice game in the nets. Irishmen being forced to the limit to land the verdict.

The first period saw fast hockey and close checking, and neither team was able to score. In the second frame Lloyd Brown rang the bell with a local goal, and then Goyer landed a tally for the visitors. Goyer again scored, and then Lawless, on a nice rush, knotted the count again.

The third period opened fast, and the rushing was spectacular. After a few minutes of play Goyer went down, and bulged the twine with a nice goal. The play wore away, and finally Terry Millan drew a mighty cheer from the crowd when he took the puck at centre, dodged through the Point Anne defence and tied up the score.

The overtime was fast and saw close checking. Both teams tried hard for goals, but they were outlucked, and the first five minutes saw no tallies. In the second overtime period Brown scored the winning goal of the game, and then Irishmen fell back on the defensive, and made Point Anne carry the play to them for the remaining minutes of the game.

The Lineups were:

Irishmen—Goal, Tobin; defence, Brown, Millan; centre, Purdy; wings Lawless, T. Angrove; subs, Compeau, Meltz.

Point Anne—Goal, Boland; defence, F. Goyer, Tompkins, centre, Brant, wings, Hunter, L. Goyer; subs., Greene, Maracle.

Referee—Art Casterton.

ST. PATS SLIP INTO SECOND PLACE NOW

Boston, Feb. 11.—St. Patrick's clinched second place in the National Hockey League standing last night by defeating the Boston Bruins in a weird game, 5 to 1. It was one of the most remarkable contests ever staged at the Arena in Boston, among the features being two penalty goals, one for each team.

Walter Smaill, of Montreal, as referee, failed to please supporters of either club. At times he noticed offences late, and many were overlooked entirely. In the case of the forfeit goals, he awarded the extreme penalty for interference in the second period. Herberts, who was the only useful attacker on the local team, had a clear field to score, when Day threw his stick and diverted the puck. The second forfeit goal was in the third period: Shay threw his stick to stop one of Dye's dashes and cost his team a tally.

The crowd, which was approximately 2,500 jeered some of the referee's decisions and left the rink at last in sour mood. The ice was slow, adding to the drawbacks of the game.

Adams was the star of the Irish attack, personally attending to two of the goals. Corbeau and Smylie also scored, the latter assisted by Day. There were a number of penalties, but all were minor.

For the Bruins, Herberts played a game that added to his reputation as the one first rate star of the Bruins. He was given miserable support by Stuart and Shay, each of whom missed many scoring chances. Stewart, in goal, saved the Bruins from a walk-over score.

St. Patrick's — McCaffery, left wing; Adams, centre; Dye, right wing; Day, left defence; Corbeau, right defence; Roach, goal; Reid, Cotch, Smylie, subs.

Referee—Walter Smaill, Montreal.

The Summary

Final score: St. Patricks 5, Boston 1.

PARKDALE GETS INTO PLAY-OFFS

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Parkdale Canoe Club seniors qualified for the group play-off series when they defeated University of Toronto last night by 2 to 1. It was a narrow escape for the west enders. They were outplayed by the hard-bolting collegians, who played their best game of the season. The players, wearing the Blue and White, could do everything but score. They got inside the P.C.C. defense often enough to win half a dozen games, but "Glad" Thomson, former collegian goalkeeper was too good for them. His work was remarkable and the outstanding net performance of the amateur year.

Parkdale caused a surprise when they trotted out Jack Aggett, once a star with the Granites. Aggett has played little hockey in the last three years but nevertheless he was no weakling, and if he returns to his real form he will help the Watson-led team considerably. Parkdale had all their regulars on and they needed them badly. The collegians have improved more than any other local team, and it was unfortunate for them that they should be practically eliminated after playing the hockey they did last night.

Remote Chance of Tie

There is still a chance of a three-cornered tie for first place. For this to happen, however, Peterboro would have to lose at Hamilton on Friday and at home against University of Toronto on Monday, and Parkdale would have to lose on Friday night to Aura Lee. But indications are that Peterboro and Parkdale will meet in the playoff series. Neither of these teams can be kept out of it and they will do their best to squelch University of Toronto's last chance.

Hectic Struggle In C.N.R. League

When Officials of No. 2 won From the M.P. Office

J. Walsh (Slats Kerr) and Co. broke into the win column at the Recreation Alleys last night in the C.N.R. league at the expense of the M. P. Office in one of the most hectic struggles of the season. It resembled more of an old fashioned hockey or baseball game with the number of rooters each team had and the bowlers that had weak nerves were sure up in the air. The Officials team No. 2 won the first game by 50 pins, dropped the second by 49 and came back strong in the third and added another 182 pins. J. Walsh and R. Easton were high bowlers for their respective teams.

Playing two girls short on account of not being able to compete against their own employees the Mah Jongs won from the C.I.A. girls by over 200 pins, winning the three games and never being in danger. Miss Goyer rolled 566 for her three string and Miss Miles was high for the C.I.A.

The Lightning Express gave the Durant-Stars their first defeat of the season in the Junior League when they rolled a record score of 2831, (Dison) Bawden setting up a new junior record for this season, both in the single and three strings with 310 for his first game and 768 for his three strings. For the losers J. White rolled the highest score.

Tom Barrett's Industrials from Corbyville hung up another win last night when they won from the Receivers by over 200 pins. F. Symons and Dalrymple were high bowlers.

Through an error of adding one of the sheets in yesterday's game between the Ink Slingers and the Requisitioners, the game was won by the Ink Slingers by 90 pins, instead of losing by 10 pins.

Y.M.C.A. Meeting

G. B. Smith, Vice President, presided at the regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Board Directory last night.

Reports were given by the Treasurer, Mr. M. P. Duff, Physical Department by the chairman, G. B. Smith; Finance Committee by H. W. Ackerman, and the General Secretary's report by himself.

Mr. J. O. Herity, G. T. Cole and R. C. Sidenius were appointed a committee to look over the suggested new constitution for the National Council and report.

The Alternative new membership basis was submitted to Mr. W. H. Merry and his committee to report back.

That Mr. F. B. Deacon, B. F. Jennings and the secretary be a committee to arrange for a re-union of all the past and present directory at a banquet with suitable program sometime during the Old Boys Re-union, was a resolution carried.

Attention was called to the one day Religious Emphasis Conference on Friday, Feb. 27.

General Secretary's Report 1925

Bowling-Basket ball and Volley Ball winners:—All in one month, two ladies bowling teams won from Peterboro. Our basket ball team both home and home games with Kingston. Then the Business Men's Volley ball team in competition for Central Ontario Championship with Oshawa, Peterboro and Orillia won from all these opponents and are now entitled to enter for Ontario Championships the latter part of this month. More power to them all."

Open House to Canadian Industrial Co. Employees:—The entire program of the evening from the address on "Co-operation" by Mayor Mikel the Musical, the contests of games, sing-song and refreshments was planned and carried out by the employees themselves. This Gettogether of 175 was a decided success. The committee in charge deserve great credit. This makes the 15th reception of this kind this year.

Annual Meeting Ontario & Quebec Y.M.C.A.:—This year it was combined with the National Annual meeting.

It is interesting to note that six years after armistice the soldiers in hospitals are still being served. $15948.57 being the cost and that there is still enough money left to serve these soldiers for the coming year.

The budget of $56982 for 1925 was adopted and Belleville allotment is $360. A motion that allotments be paid monthly was passed.

The new constitution was carefully read and when adopted will make the National Council follow the British form of government vs the American as now constituted and makes for a larger democracy and more equal representatives by the local association in its National agency.

The optional membership basis also had a careful hearing and I believe it will do much to bring the Association back to where it will again have a real inner circle of young men motuated by Jesus, to serve young men by exposing them to Jesus as their Master and Savior. Canada gave $49000 last year and the goal is set as $55,000 for this year. It was felt, we should carry a share large enough to cover the 15 Canadian Secretaries over in other nations but for this year we had better strive at the same goal as last year only reach it.

A request has come from Korea from Hugh Cynn and Frank Brockman who have visited Belleville, that a special fund be raised to make possible a Canadian Secretary being sent to cover many needy fields now hardly touched in Korea.

All of the obligations of last years work, both the Home and Foreign Work of the International Sommittee and our Canadian National Council were met.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only. Their continued use leads to permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Physicians advise lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt the habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

A Womans Soul

BY

Charles Garvice

With pale face, wet with tears, Doris stood for a moment irresolute. The old man, who had sunk upon a chair, made an effort to rise; then sank back with outstretched hands and piteously pleading face.

"My child, my child;" he cried hoarsely.

It would have required a harder heart than Doris' to resist such an appeal. She hesitated a moment, then she was at his knee, and his weak, quivering hands were upon her head.

Lady Grace, panting with the suppressed fury of jealousy, glanced at the picture which nearly moved two of the spectators to tears.

"How—how charming!" she said in a harsh voice. "Father and daughter. You have only to extend your blessing to the husband, my lord!" and she swept a contemptuous courtesy on Percy Levant.

The marquis started, and looked up at Percy Levant piteously.

"Are you—are you her husband?" he managed to articulate.

Percy Levant turned his haggard face toward him. "No, my lord," he said, hoarsely.

"Not married!" gasped Lady Grace.

"Not married!" echoed Spencer Churchill, in accents of malignant disappointment.

Percy Levant looked at them both with a steady gaze. "Not married," he said. "You may go now, Spencer Churchill."

"No!" cried a grave voice. It was Lord Cecil's. "Not till justice has been satisfied. I charge you, Spencer Churchill, with conspiracy——"

"And—and—Levant, and Lady Grace!" said Spencer Churchill with a leer.

"I am ready," said Percy Levant, quietly.

But as he spoke Doris sprang to her feet, and, gently putting her father's arm aside, stood in front of Percy Levant.

"No!" she cried, panting; "I say no!"

The marquis held out his hand to her as if he could not bear her to leave his side.

"Come to me, come to me. Let them—let them go," and he glanced in the direction of Lady Grace and Spencer Churchill.

They did not wait for the permission to be repeated, but left the house at once.

Percy Levant took up his hat and went to Lady Despard, who was standing beside Doris.

"Will you—will you stay with her and help her? She was never more in need of your love than now," and he glanced significantly at the white face of the old man at whose knees Doris knelt.

She nodded silently, and Percy Levant, as he passed Lord Cecil, said in a low voice:

"I hold myself at your disposal, my lord, completely, entirely, without any reservation." Then he stopped and looked at Doris and seemed about to speak, but with a sigh he turned and walked out, and Doris scarcely knew that he had gone.

The Marquis of Stoyle, his strength overtaxed by the strain of the afternoon, died the next evening, after having made a final will leaving all his property to his daughter.

Mr. Spencer Churchill betook himself to Paris to recover, in the gayety of that bright city, his self-confidence. And recover it he did. Six weeks later he delivered in London a lecture on "Truth," to aid the funds of a deserving society. The world, alas! has not yet discovered his hypocrisy!

Percy Levant went to India as a private in the British army. He was killed during an uprising of one of the native tribes.

Lord Cecil and Doris—or, rather Mary—were not married until a year after her father's death.

When they returned from their long—but for them not too long—honeymoon, society, deeming it incumbent upon itself to bestow an impressive welcome on two of its most distinguished members, gave a ball in honor of the young, and, as the journals put it, "romantic couple."

It was a very grand affair, and The Morning Post next morning devoted a column and a half to its description and a list of the high and mighty and famous guests, and stated, rather emphatically, that the most beautiful woman in the room was the young lady in whose honor the entertainment was given. It went into newspaper raptures over her manner, her smile, her dress, and lastly, her jewels, which, as it said, consisted of a suite of magnificent diamonds—the Stoyle diamonds—and poetically declared that their brilliance was only outshone by the wearer's eyes.

They were very beautiful, as a matter of fact, and no other jewels in the magnificent assemblage could compare with them, excepting, perhaps, a suite of pearls set in antique silver, which was worn by—Lady Grace Peyton.

Twice in the course of the evening Doris and she met each other, and on both occasions, while Doris, with the meekness which, somehow, always distinguishes the injured innocents turned her head aside, Lady Grace stared at her rival with a bold, defiant flash of her handsome eyes.

"I think," said Lady Despard, as she stood for a moment in a corner with Doris, "I think that for cool, brazen impudence, Grace Peyton excels all the world. Most women, all other women—having done what she has done, would have buried themselves in some German watering-place for the rest of their lives. But, oh no! she not only thinks fit to put in an appearance here to-night, but actually—actually flaunts that set of pearls which she got by fraud—stole, if any one ever stole anything in this world—from your husband. The whole set!"

"No, not the whole set," murmured Doris, softly, as she looked at Lady Grace gliding through a waltz. "I have the ring."

"You have! Why, I have never seen it. The 'ring!' "

"No, you never saw it," said Doris, a warm flush rising to her lovely face. "I don't wear it on my finger, dear, but—here," and she touched her heart. "She is welcome to all the rest while I have that and—him!" she added, turning to her husband as he came up to them.

Uninvited Guest Coming To Belle

Features Absorbing Plot, Color Photography and Undersea Life

With all the magic of undersea photography, all the beauty of color photography, and an absorbing plot besides, "The Uninvited Guest," the Metro picture, coming to the Belle Theatre tomorrow takes its place as one of the most unusual photoplays of the day.

Not only has the famous Techni-color process been used to photograph the luxuriant wonder of tropical seas and South Sea islands, but the Williamson Submarine Tube System has made possible the startling scenes of undersea life, of which the realistic battle between a man and an octopus is a thrilling example.

Under the skilful direction of Ralph Ince, an excellent cast moves convincingly through this Submarine Film production, which is a dramatic story of love and intrigue, written by Curtis Benton. Mary MacLaren and Jean Tolley play the leading feminine roles, and Maurice "Lefty" Flynn, William Bailey and Louis Wolheim share honors in their respective heroic and villainous characterizations.

Don't miss this one.

Blackstone Comes Here To-morrow

Famous Magician Appears At Griffin Theatre Afternoon and Evening

Tomorrow Blackstone and his big wonder show will be the attraction, matinee and night, the matinee to commence at 4.15 and the evening show at 8.15.

Because of the prominence of the star and the magnitude of his entourage this is one of the most important local bookings of the entire year, whereas Blackstone has confined his activities for several seasons past to the so-called legitimate playhouse, where prices range up to $2.00 he will be seen here at the following prices. Matinee children 25c, adults 75c. Evening performance; 50c, 75c, and $1.00, plus tax. Much Equipment.

In point of view, the Blackstone show is twice that of any previous attraction specialising in magical entertainment. Two double length railroad baggage cars of paraphernalia and twenty-five assistants are required for the performance. It is claimed that over $100,000 is invested in the enterprise.

MME. MARGARET VOGEL

Who has been made under-secretary to the French minister of labor, being the first woman ever to have become a member of a French government.

A successful experiment in ridding land of twitch grass was made recently by the Farm Department of the Ontario Agricultural College on a field that was a mass of twitch after the oat crop had been removed.

The land was so badly infested that the field produced a very small crop that season. After the oats were removed, the land was ploughed lightly and tractor-disced twice, and then cultivated and harrowed. Later in the fall this field was ploughed with a double-disc plough, the front disc cutting six to seven inches deep and the rear disc twelve to thirteen inches. This brought loose subsoil up and threw it on top of the soddy mass of roots.

In the following spring the field was planted to flint corn in the check-row system. Practically no twitch made an appearance during the summer, and the field, without fertiliser, produced an excellent crop of flint corn for husking.

O. A. C. Barley Grown In the United States.

Dr. C. A. Zavitz received a letter recently from Prof. Moore of the Agricultural College of Wisconsin, which says: "Now practically all of the barley grown in Wisconsin, and in many of our surrounding States, emanated from the few pounds of barley which you so kindly sent up. We will never be able to get even for the good things you have done for us in bygone years."

Must Train Child From Beginning

Dean at McGill Says Parents Put Off Too Long

Montreal, Feb. 10.—"The bringing up of a child should be begun with the first few days of life," said Dr. Charles F. Martin, dean of the faculty of medicine of McGill University, speaking at the annual general meeting of the Child Welfare Association of Montreal in the Mount Royal Hotel. "Many mothers of to-day think it is enough to let the child grow up alone until it is old enough to go to school."

The dean pointed out that the work done by the Child Welfare Association was not so much a work of curing sick babies as of preventing wrong bringing up. "It is a matter of prevention," he said, "and your association is doing work as modern as any that is being done in this line. There is great need for this work in Montreal; indeed, I am afraid there is as much need for it among the seats of the mighty as there is in Point St. Charles and in the districts in which the association has established centres."

Dr. Martin concluded his remarks by telling of the work being done at the Merrill-Palmer Nursery School in Detroit, where children of one year and over are trained as regards personal habits, personal character and human relationships, where young women and prospective mothers are taught to look after infants and where there is no interference between the mother and the child, the former not being led to rely upon the school to relieve her of her great responsibility to her babies.

BARTLETT—JOHNSTON

A quiet wedding was solemnized to-day at high noon at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Manse, when Miss Syvia B. Chippen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Johnston, 76 Victoria Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Thomas Bartlett. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. Kerr. Miss Mable Bartlett and Mr. Thomas Thompson attended the young couple.

The bride was becomingly attired in a new-blue crepe dress, and wore a hat made of cloth of gold.

A lunch was served at the bride's home, and afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett left on the International Limited for points west. They expect to take up residence in Detroit.

Maintenance of Farm Work Horses.

Considerable work was done during the winter of 1923 by the Department of Animal Husbandry, Ontario Agricultural College, to ascertain the cost of maintenance of the farm horses. For heavy horses at teaming work necessary around the farm, such as drawing manure, etc., it cost from 31½ to 36.6 cents per horse per day for food, stabling and care. The cost of feed was 54 per cent. of the total cost of maintenance, and the cost of labor was 32 per cent. of the total cost. Horse labor during the winter cost 21.6 cents per hour.

Good For the Soil.

Not only does farm manure supply plant food but the vegetable or organic matter it contains also helps to increase the productivity of the soil. As this vegetable matter gradually breaks down, the acid products formed help dissolve and make available to plants some of the otherwise insoluble plant food in the soil. Furthermore, the humus helps retain moisture and improves the soil texture.

District News

Signs of Spring

Omemee, Feb. 11.—Signs of spring were general in Omemee on Sunday. Residents were forced to get out with shovels to make a water way for the floods in front of their homes.

Two young men appeared in the afternoon minus coats and vests, and carrying a cane and introducing the first straw hats of the season.

One man saw a crow, another two robins. A lady shooed a tame bee from her coat sleeve on Saturday and numerous other signs were visible.

Two Grants

Prince Edward county council voted $1,500 to the Picton hospital and $200 to the Prince Edward veterans.

Ready For Next Bonspiel

The Lanark County bonspiel players chose the following officers for next year's bonspiel: President, W. Baird, Carleton Place; vice-president, S. B Code, Smith's Falls; secretary-treasurer, F. C. Donald, Carleton Place; assistant secretary, S. H. Lewis, Smith's Falls. Next year's bonspiel will probably be held at Carleton Place.

A New County Clerk

It was with regret, on motion of Reeves McCallum and McDiarmid that the Lanark county council accepted the resignation of W. A. Moore, as county clerk and inspector of the House of Industry. R. M. Anderson was appointed his successor, effective April 1st, at a salary of $900 as clerk and $300 as inspector.

Left Arm Amputated

Northbrook, Feb. 11.—Word has been received by Mrs. Charles Ruttan from her sister, Miss L. Abbott, who is spending the winter in Berkley, Calif. that through blood poison she had to her left arm amputated.

Masquerade Dance

Odessa, Feb. 11.—The dance and progressive euchre held in the town hall, Friday night, was a wonderful success. The excellent music, furnished by the Odessa three piece orchestra, was well worthy of praise. The prizes for the euchre were won by Mrs Henry Venton and Herbert Hegadorn The hall was handsomely decorated and the draped booths added greatly to the general appearance of the hall There were many handsome masquerade suits. The prize winners were Miss Allen, dressed as Mystery and Walter C. Snider as Frog.

Dog Stuck to Master

Prescott, Feb. 11.—Devotion to his master prompted a dog owned by Patrick Keely, aged seventy-four, a farmer residing near the village of Lowville, not to desert him, although he lay dying in a hay loft in his barn When found the dog was near his master, whose body was discovered in the hay. Attached to the dog's collar was a note on which was scribbled "Come to me; I am dying." It is believed that the man was stricken while at work in the barn and had been dead some time, as the stock showed evidence of having been without food and water for many hours.

Consecon, Feb. 11.—The Trail of Rangers met on Thursday evening with Rev. H. Wolfrain, leader. Dr Herchey is teacher of the Tuxis Boys Misses Phyllis and Doreen Fox, Waldeck Sask., were visitors at the Mission Band at the parsonage on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Wolfrain was the leader and there was a large number present, and a very interesting meeting was held There were several dressed forms to give the missionary talk a more objective bearing such as a bound foot like the Chinese women have to enhance their beauty, as they believe.

Claude Wannamaker was a visitor at C. G. Fox's on Thursday, while on his way to Cape Vincent, N.Y. Mrs T. Spencer was a recent visitor at Mrs. Zufelt's. Mrs. Jones, Hillier, was a recent caller at Mrs. Murphy's.

Late Alexander Watson

Alexander Watson, formerly editor of the Madoc Review, passed on to his rest on his seventy-seventh birthday, Monday, Feb. 9th. Before publishing the Madoc Review, he taught at Madoc high school as principal. He was a man of wonderful intellect, and those Madoc ex-high school pupils, who have climbed the ladder of fame, and they are numerous, owe much to their former high school principal. Mr. Watson was a profound thinker, he enjoyed reading and meditating classics. As a student of literature he was one of the best, and was a gifted public speaker. He was an arts graduate of Toronto University. He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, formerly Miss A. Ross, one son, James, editor of the Madoc Review, and two daughters, Mrs. Davies of New York, and Margaret. One son, Charles, who served overseas in the great war died in the Military Hospital at Kingston.

The funeral will be held at his late residence in Madoc on Wednesday afternoon at which at the deceased's personal request, Rev. A. E. Stuart will officiate.

Deceased was past district grand master Prince Edward District No. 13, and past district superintendent of the Royal Arch Masons.

Building Permits

The building permits for January at Kingston came to $1,325 as compared with $545 during January 1924, and $4,005 for the previous January. January and February are the two quietest months in the building trades.

Rosses Issue Challenge)

Oshawa, Feb. 11.—There are four curlers with the name of Ross in the Oshawa Curling Club. In order to add to the excitement of the nation the four Rosses challenge any other four curlers bearing one name.

If there are four Jones, Browns, or Smiths, or any other four curlers with one name, the Ross tribe are prepared to stage a series of games. The Ross curlers consist of W.H. Ross, Hugh Ross, Alex T. Ross and J.C. Ross.

After New Hotel

An application for the charter of the Oshawa Hotel Co. Ltd., was made to the Provincial Secretary Tuesday.

The Oshawa Hotel Co. Ltd. capitalized at $300,000 of which $150,000 is to be issued and with directors consisting of A.G. Storie, E.A. Lovell, J.L. Whattam, F.L. Mason, Capt. C. Dickinson and E. L. Petley are the main points in the application for the charter.

The fact that formal application for a charter has been made shows that progress is being made in connection with the hotel project.

Purse Stolen

Oshawa, Feb. 11.—While Mrs. Harris, 157 Albert street, was busily engaged in the cellar of her home Monday afternoon, a stranger entered the back door and stole a purse containing a sum of money from one of the rooms. The case was reported to the police and they are making a careful investigation. This is the first case of this nature for some time in the city and the householders will do well to keep a close watch on their valuables.

Order For Engines

The Daily Standard announced Tuesday that the Ontario Government is to place at once an order for three big locomotives with the Canadian Locomotive Co. of Kingston, and that almost certainly several more (probably three) will be ordered in the near future. These locomotives will be for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

This pleasing information came to The Standard in the form of a personal telegram from Premier Ferguson to W. R. Givens, publisher, just a half hour before Mr. Givens left for Florida to spend the balance of the winter.

Drops Dead at Station

While waiting for the 1.45 o'clock train at the Cardinal station on Saturday, Miss Workman, of Heckston, dropped dead, presumably from heart disease. She was en route to her home at Heckston after having visited her brother in Cardinal and was 38 years of age.

She has just completed a remarkable series of concerts in which she showed the evolution of the song in various languages. She is the wife of Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the Russian conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

It's Easy To Darken Your Graying Hair

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur, and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

NILES CORNERS

(By Staff Correspondent)

February started in with a thaw and it has been thawing every day since not even freezing nights, and to-day the ninth, the men have been plowing out the roads. If it continues warm a few more days, the sleighing will be spoiled.

Mr. Wm. Keech is slowly gaining, glad to say.

Miss Gladys Ellis is better at time of writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellis spent Wednesday with friends at Rose Hall.

Mrs. Claud McCartney, of Rose Hall, visited at the Corners on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newson and grandson spent Sunday with friends at the Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. C. McCartney, of Rose Hall, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ellis on Saturday.

Breaking roads and fox hunting seems to be the order of the day just at present.

Beavertown Church In A Sad Mix-up

Co-operative Church in Midst of Fiery Controversy Over Union

Beaverton, Feb. 10.—The church union fight still rages in the Co-operative Church, formed out of the Knox Church, survival of the old Free Church and the St. Andrew's, survival of the Church of Scotland, plus the Beaverton congregation of the Methodist Church. The two Presbyterian congregations formed a union in 1914. The Methodists entered the union in 1918. United Churches dropped all denominational names, and was described as the Co-operative Church.

The name Co-operative Church was dropped and the congregations in the last two years have worshipped under the name of the United Presbyterian Church. The church union fight is just as red hot in the Co-operative Church or United Presbyterian Church at Beaverton as in the other congregations. The church building was occupied by Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon and Rev. D. Wallace Christie for the unionists at two meetings. Rev. Capt. McGillivray, of Orillia, and Rev. Stuart C. Parker, of Toronto, also addressed two meetings for the anti-unionists. The anti-unionists invited Mrs. (Rev.) D. T. L. McKerrol, of Victoria Presbyterian Church, Ward Seven, to speak in Beaverton. Rev. F. G. Robb, pastor of the Beaverton Church, refused to allow any part of the church building to be used for Mrs. McKerrol's meeting. Mr. Robb also refused to announce Mrs. McKerrol's meeting from the pulpit at Sunday's service.

These refusals added fuel to the flames to a controversy that was sufficiently over-heated. The Methodists came into the Union in 1918 but did not bring their church property. The Methodist church and parsonage were sold for between $3,000 and $4,000 and the money sent to the Conference. The anti-Unionists now contend that the Methodists who joined the Beaverton Church are not eligible to vote. The congregational meeting is to be held on Tuesday, February 10. The returns of the vote will be decided according to the statute. The Unionists are to demand a signed ballot and the anti-Unionists will resist that demand.

APPRECIATE LECTURE BY BELLEVILLE MAN

Campbellford, Feb. 11—There was a good crowd at the Methodist Church on Monday to hear Rev. H. B. Kenny lecture on the "Battlefields of Europe". He also had slides shown. These were taken while he was in Europe about two years ago.

Mr. G. A. Kingston, superintendent of the Sunday School, was chairman for the evening. After the opening hymn and prayer by Rev. W. Elliott, the Sunday School choir sang a chorus. Then Mr. Kenny was called upon for his lecture. He spoke of the difference between the occasions of war and the causes of war, and the different points of view of different countries—Austria, France, Russia, Germany, Belgium, etc. Germany was prepared to go back on all her pledges to civilization of Belgium's bravery with her handful of men against the millions from Germany. England came to Belgium's assistance. It was absolutely essential in self defence that England should go out against Germany.

England's sons were away in Canada, Australia and South Africa while Germany had kept her sons at home. The war drums stirred the blood of the sons of the Canadians and in six weeks thirty-three thousand Canadian boys were prepared for war. Of this we are justly proud. In speaking of the greatness of some of the men and also of those who live selfish lives, "That man is already dead who lives to keep himself alive" Of the men who went from Canada, eighty-two percent. never came back. May God help us to forget our country when we forget those boys and what they did for us. In speaking of women's work he said in England six hundred thousand worked in factories and munition plants, and Canadian women are second to none in the work they did. The Kaiser said, "War is Germany's chief national industry." The extent of their vision is a world conquest. The pictures were then shown. Amongst them were views of cathedrals in ruins, of some of the cemeteries, Palace of the King of Belgium, also the most beautiful cathedral in Brussels. The programme was concluded with another chorus by the Sunday School choir and the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. G. A. Kingston, on behalf of the Methodist Sunday School, thanked the audience for their presence and also to Mr. Kenny for coming to Campbellford and giving the splendid lecture for the Sunday School.

Mr. Kenny's old friends in Campbellford were glad to hear him and see him again.

British Farmer Is Taking A Hand

To Prevent United States Men Exporting Under Canadians Name

London, Feb. 10.—On the contention that they are being "hood-winked" to the tune of 25,000,000 pounds of bacon a year—bacon which is cured in the United States and sent to Canada and then re-exported to England as "best quality Canadian"—the National Farmers' Union of Great Britain has started a movement here to put an end to the practice.

The union took steps here recently to call the attention of the public to disclosures made some time ago as the result of an agricultural inquiry promoted by the Ontario, Canada, legislature which brought to light the details of the trick of sending the millions of pounds of bacon to Canada each month and then reshipping it here the good being sold in the British markets as a product of the Dominion. It is understood here that as a consequence of the revelations the Canadian government has been requested by various organizations to create a distinctive brand which is to be placed on all exportable bacon from Canada in the future.

The Farmers' Union also took a leading hand in bringing about the embargo on American potatoes which became effective some time ago, this action having been taken, it has been explained, to prevent an influx of the Colorado beetle, better known over here as the American potato bug.

SUFFERS STROKE AND IS FOUND IN HOUSE

Woodstock, Feb. 10.—Having lain for two or three days without food or attendance under the influence of a paralytic stroke, John Campbell of 215 Dundas street, was removed to the General Hospital in a critical condition, having contracted pneumonia in addition to the stroke.

John Campbell is a bachelor and lived alone and he was last said to have been seen about the city some time on Friday. When discovered he was lying on the bed full dressed, paralysed down the right side, speechless and helpless. The fire was out and the house stone cold, and from the man's condition it seemed clear that he must have been lying there since at least Friday. The patient's condition was unchanged Manday.

Advertising Like Courting A Girl

English Mayor Says One Must Be Constant To Win

Blackburn, Eng., Feb. 10—Trade is won by constant advertising just as a girl can only be won by constant courting, in the opinion of James Stanworth, mayor of this town.

"You must offer the right kind of goods and keep on calling," he said. "If you want to win a girl you must start with a good character. Keep advocating your claims. Your shy man is in danger of being headed off by a rival and even if he wins temporarily he may lose in the end if he is not genuine.

"It is just the same in business. No advertising campaign can make a permanent success of a commodity or service that is not good and that is not worth the price paid for it."

Brazil Business Men Go On Strike

Protest Against heavy Taxes By Municipal Government

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Feb. 11—As a protest against a heavy increase in municipal taxes for 1925, the business concerns of Nictheroy, across the harbor from Rio de Janiero, shut their doors a few days ago and refused to open them for three days. Everything closed down, including coffee and milk shops and vegetable and fruit stores and the taxicab drivers went on strike.

Taxes on many industries and articles have been increased from 50 to 500 percent. and many new items included, such as sewing machines and pianos in private homes. The mayor has defended his action in signing the increased tax bill, according to one of the local newspapers, by saying that the city was badly in need of an improved sewage system and better paving.

At the end of the third day a delegation from the commercial houses, visited the president of the state, who promised to investigate the situation and then call a session of the municipal council.

OLD WALLPAPER

London, Feb. 11—Antique wallpaper 200 years old, will be used on the walls of a room being built in the English furniture galleries at South Kensington Museum. The room will be a copy of an 18th century apartment and will contain furniture made at or about the time when Queen Anne died. The wallpaper has been taken from a room in an old house in Gloucester, where it has hung for two centuries.

GROWING THE WALNUT

A Tree That Is Desirable Both for Nut and Wood

Southwestern Ontario Can Grow Them—The Walnut Tree Described—Plant Hardy Grafted or Budded Stock—Best Varieties for Ontario.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Ontario grown, soft shell walnuts of excellent quality have been produced in the Niagara Peninsula. A few trees have given good crops for thirty years or more. The number of producing trees that we know of now is 165, and these are located in a district fifty miles long and twenty miles wide, an odd tree here and there in the dooryard or the orchard of well kept premises. Trees are fruiting as far east as Clarkson on the north shore of Lake Ontario.

Southwestern Ontario Can Grow Nuts.

The Niagara Peninsula and the counties bordering Lake Erie have a climate more favorable to production of the soft shell walnut than certain districts in Europe where nuts are grown to take care of the local market demand. There are large areas of deep, rich soil in the district north of Lake Erie east to the Niagara river and west to the Detroit river that will grow acceptable soft shell walnuts, and Japanese Heart Nuts. Why not keep the $5,000,000 at home? There is satisfaction in saving money, and there is more satisfaction in sitting before the home fireplace on winter evenings cracking the fruit of our own labor. In about 100 Ontario rural homes this is being done now. The flickering wood fire is pleasant in itself, but a plentiful supply of walnuts at hand, easy to crack and sweet to eat, will help one to enjoy life.

Thousands of rural homes can have walnuts, providing of course that the home is located in the Lake Erie counties, or in a district where the climate will permit the full development of the peach.

The Walnut Tree Described.

The walnut tree, when dormant, will stand heavy frosts in midwinter, but it will not stand late spring or early autumn frosts. Areas reasonably free from frost during the period April 20th to October 10th alone should be considered. The soft shell walnut grows to be a very large tree, is of the deep, tap-rooted type, hence the soil must be deep enough and rich enough to support a big tree. A good surface soil of clay loam or sandy loam that is underlain by a deep, porous, sandy sub-soil in which the water table is below fifteen feet, a soil that is rich, cool and moist, but not wet, will produce the finest specimens of walnut trees. However, the range of soil types on which the walnut tree grow is quite large, since this tree is to be found growing on sandy, gravelly and clay loams, and succeeding in proportion as these soil types furnish depth for root room, plant food and moisture.

Use Hardy Grafted or Budded Stock.

To be successful the walnut tree must be a vigorous grower, of a variety that blossoms moderately late, a self-pollinator, and it must yield an abundant annual crop of desirable nuts. These factors are best obtained by planting hardy grafted or budded stock. The native black walnut has the hardy and vigorous characteristics, it is most desirable as a root system for a soft shell English walnut. Get your start by growing seedling black walnuts up to a size suitable to graft. Three-eighths of an inch in size does very well, then whip graft a scion obtained from a hardy soft shell tree, making an entirely new top. The black walnuts for seedlings can be planted in the autumn or spring: If kept until spring lay away in cold, moist sand. Plant the seed with the pointed end up, two inches deep in good garden soil. Keep the soil well raked and free from weeds. The little trees will be large enough for grafting at the end of the second season, or when growth is starting the following spring. The grafting of the walnut offers more difficulties than apple grafting, requiring greater care. The following conditions are essential to success; fully dormant wood for scions, the cambium of stock and scion must be brought into exact contact, the work must be done as the leaf buds of the tree to be grafted on are unfolding, a condition that varies with individual trees. The cleft in the stock or amputation and the shaping of the scion should be such as to give a perfect fit. The exposed surface of the stock and scion must be held and protected by tape and wax, the entire scion should be waxed over, the scion wood should be secured two or three weeks before required and kept in cold, moist sand. The scion wood should be firm and have a very small pith cavity. Both seedling and grafted trees usually bear at eight years.

Best Varieties for Ontario.

The Japanese Walnut or Heart Nut will stand lower temperature than the Soft Shell English Walnut. It, too, is of good quality and easy to crack. A tree planted twelve years ago at Scotland, Ontario, gave two bushels of free from the husk nuts last year. Some of the older English soft shells in the Niagara Peninsula have yielded as high as twelve bushels of nuts in a single season. A few soft shell walnut trees will add value, beauty and usefulness to any farmstead.—L. Stevenson, Department of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

If a little flour paste, say a pint in each pailful, is added to the whitewash used on the inside of the poultry house it will stick better and look well longer, adding half an ounce of carbolic acid to each pailful will also hold insect enemies in check.

Bootlegger Will Be Sent To Jail

Under the Proposed Amendments to O.T.A. Premier Says

Toronto, Feb. 11.—Concurrent with Premier Ferguson's new O.T.A. amendment to permit the sale of 4.45 per cent. beer in Ontario will come additional amendments, the effect of which will be to provide jail penalties, without the option of a fine, upon persons commonly known as bootleggers.

"There will be amendments," said Premier Ferguson, when interviewed, "providing that the man who makes a living out of trafficking in intoxicating liquor must go to jail without the option of a fine, and there will be a lot of penalties strengthening the act. There will be provisions surrounding the sale of this temperance beer, such as requiring the breweries to label it and stamp it."

Beer "Not Intoxicating"

Premier Ferguson vigorously denied the imputations cast at him yesterday by "dry" leaders of having committed a breach of faith in bringing down stronger beer legislation for the Legislature.

"There is no breach of faith at all," he said. "What I have said from the beginning—and they can find nothing else in anything I have said—is that the principle of the O.T.A. will be upheld. There is a certain element of extremists that will want to confine matters to the very letter of the act. My view—and I think the view of the average temperance man—is that the principle underlying the act is prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors. All we have said is that this is not intoxicating liquor.

"Our thought is that we may do away with a great deal of bootlegging and trafficking in spirituous liquors, because the average man who will be satisfied with a beverage that he thinks is palatable is not going to bother himself with paying $4 or $5 a bottle for whiskey. It is a step that is being taken after thorough investigation and full consideration, and it is, I believe, going to do more in the interests of temperance than anything else that has happened in years.

"It comes within the act, and it is a step in keeping with everything I have said—that the terms and spirit of the O.T.A. must be upheld, and that we have no thought of departing from it."

Sale Regulations Not Framed

Matters such as the regulation of sale of the proposed stronger beer, the Premier said, had not even been considered as yet by the Cabinet. The Cabinet, he said, had not touched the question of hotels and hotel license fees, and whether there was any revenue to be derived by the Province from the proposed sale of 5 per cent. beer.

LARGE PAGEANT IS LIKELY PART OF CELEBRATION

Representative From Ohio Discusses Matter With Executive

THOUSAND ACTORS

Will Reproduce Scenes from War of 1812-1815

Arrangements for a huge pageant in connection with the Peace Celebration and the Belleville Old Boy's Re-union during the first week of August were taken into consideration by the Executive Committee at the regular meeting held last evening in Judge Will's Chambers at the Court House.

A representative was present from the Rogers Producing Company, of Ohio, the same company that handled the pageant here at the United Empire Loyalist Celebration last year.

As matters stand now, plans call for a pageant to include a cast of one thousand men, women and children, the showing to be interspersed with a number of interesting and picturesque scenes, in particular, glimpses of the war of 1812-1815. The capture of Detroit, Buffalo and Washington and the experiences of Laura Secord in bringing news of the approach of the Republican troops will be portrayed.

The producing company has offered to supply all costumes including the uniforms of Canadian and Republican soldiers during that war.

The entertainment committee will take the whole matter into consideration on Saturday evening next and the Executive will likely clinch matters on the following Tuesday.

Claim Of Sisters Was Disallowed

But They Get $120 each; Costs Come From Estate

The claim of Misses Lillie and Melisa Parks of Hungerford, of $3400 for taking care of their mother after the death of their father was disallowed by Judge G. E. Deroche. Yesterday afternoon argument was heard by His Honor from the four solicitors engaged in the case, at the conclusion of which judgment was given as above. The two claimants were however allowed $120 for disbursements they had made. The costs of all parties concerned in the case is to be taken out of the estate and this will be a considerable sum.

Rural Mail Man Nearly Drowned

Roads in Terrible Shape in The Vicinity of Lindsay

Lindsay, Feb. 11—A rural mail courier named Logie had a narrow escape from drowning in South Ops on Monday as a result of the recent thaw. He was proceeding on his route, and when near Murphy's Hill, his horse on turning to the side of the highway went almost out of sight in the depth of the water underneath the snow. The driver in his efforts to save the horse from drowning, got into serious difficulties and would have been drowned had not assistance arrived in the nick of time.

Never in the history of the oldest inhabitants have the highways been in such a desperate condition. There has been no ice under the snow this winter, due to the absence of thaws, and the mild spell of the past few days, and the rain on Monday have made them not only impassable, but also dangerous. The deep ditches are filled with water, and horses leaving the highway would be in great danger

METHODIST PASTOR DENOUNCES CARDS

Woodstock, Feb. 12—Rev. J. C. Davies, of Plattsville Methodist Church, has created a sensation in his congregation by a strong denunciation of dancing, card-playing and theatres. Mr. Davies has issued an ultimatum to the effect that no persons will be allowed to sing in the choir of the church unless they will refrain entirely from dancing or card-playing or attending dances or places where cards are played. He has also announced that no amateur theatricals be allowed under the auspices of any church society and that all programs for church entertainments must be submitted to him for his approval. This announcement came following an invitation from the official Quarterly Board last night to remain as pastor for another year.

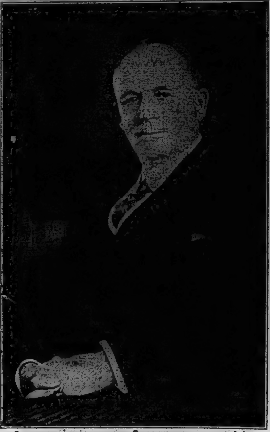
SUCCESSFUL BELLEVILLE BOY BACK



Mr. W. D. Robb of Montreal, Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, who spent Wednesday in Belleville, the city to which he came more than thirty years ago to steadily work himself up the ladder of success with the then Grand Trunk Railway system.

One of his very close Belleville friends, Mr. Stephen Burrows, was with Mr. Robb most of the day, and with Superintendent D. J. MacMillan of this city, had luncheon with him in his private car, where the "three Scotsmen" chatted. Mr. Robb, who recently returned from a trip to England and Old Scotia, had many interesting tales, especially of his associations with Sir Harry Lauder there. All three men are great admirers of the Scottish comedian, and Mr. Robb is a very successful imitator of the great Sir Harry.

Mr. Robb left last night for his home in Montreal.

Where Young Misses Vie With Each Other in Cooking

Hearts are trump at the Y.M.C.A. reading room this afternoon, for the whole decoration scheme in preparation for the prize bake sale which is being held there this afternoon, has been huge red hearts, forerunners of Valentine Day which falls next Saturday.

Daintily decorated tea tables have been arranged and the public, which was invited to attend this interesting event, was well represented there this afternoon, to hear the judges' decision as to what High or public school Miss had baked the best loaf of bread, the best pan of six buns, best tarts, best cake, best pie and cookies. Separate first and second prizes have been offered by merchants of the city as awards to winners in each of the six competitions. The prizes are now on display in the window of the Blackburn Jewelry store.

The competition which opens up an important channel in the life of any girl, is held under the auspices of the Hi Y girls.

Between the hours of three and six o'clock this afternoon the baked good was placed on sale, and afternoon tea was also served.

NOTHING NEW IN MUSIC FOR YEARS

New York, Feb. 11—Speaking before the school of journalism of Columbia University yesterday, Ernest Newman, music critic for the New York Evening Post, declared that "there is nothing new in music today which was not known 600 years ago." Mr. Newman's topic was "Music Criticism in the Past Thirty Years." He said, "there are critics in art and literature, but there have never been and there is none to-day of the music critics who can be called a real critic"

PLEADS GUILTY TO BEATING HIS WIFE

Sergeant E. A. Rae, of Provincial police and P. C. Arthur Booth, of City police department answered a call which was received last night just west of the city limits, where a young man was alleged to have beaten his wife. Accused was taken into custody by the officers last night and in police court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge, the case being adjourned until Saturday morning, February 14th.

Charles Marcelle, and James Rizzo, Hamilton, were remanded in court Tuesday on a charge of vagrancy pending further investigation. The pair were arrested in connection with the robberies at the Kirk tobacco store.

Teachers' Night At "Y" Is Successful

Teachers of Queen Victoria School Arranged the Pleasant Event.

Teachers of other public schools of the city as well as teachers of the High School, the Ontario School for the Deaf and Albert College, were guests of the teachers of Queen Victoria Public School at the Y.M.C.A. Assembly room last night.

The function proved to be an evening of rare enjoyment, the guests being most cordially received as they entered the building. During the evening an interesting programme of events was followed by refreshments which were served.

Members Startled By Green Dress

Diminutive M.P. Likes Contrast With Bobbed Red Hair

London, Feb. 12.—A politely subdued gasp of astonishment went through the ranks of the newly-assembled house of commons Tuesday when the only Laborite woman M.P., Miss Ellen Wilkinson, entered wearing a vivid green frock the most daring costume any woman has yet shown in Britain's staid legislative chamber.

It was the sensation of the day, and the only relief in a very dull opening session. It had the further merit of affording a brilliant contrast to Miss Wilkinson's mass of red hair, which it was noticed the owner had shingled during the parliamentary vacation.

Miss Wilkinson is fond of striking contrasts. Her height is just four feet eleven inches, so she has engaged a secretary nearly six feet tall, who says he is an American.

The other woman members of the house, Lady Astor and Mrs. Hilton Philipson, yesterday adhered to their previous custom of wearing black, relieved by touches of white.

MAKES TEN CENTS ON BAGS OF CARROTS

Milton, Feb. 12—L. E. Moore, of Nassagaweya township, shipped 26 bags of carrots to a commission firm in Toronto recently. Eight bags sold for 70 cents per bag, and 18 bags for 40 cents per bag, making a total of $12.80. Express charges on the 26 bags were $10.32; commission for selling $1.60; cartage, 78 cents, making a total of $12.70. Mr. Moore received a check for 10 cents. He had a load of cabbage ready for shipment when he received the check, but decided to keep them.

EXPECTING TO REACH COLLINS "ANY MINUTE"

But Saturday Night Fixed as Maximum Time to Finish

THINK CAVE NEAR

Each Crew of Miners Hopeful They Will Find Entombed Man

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 12—The limestone roof of Floyd Collin's cavern was reached at the base of the tunnel early this morning at 45 foot stage and "any minute" diggers expect to find a crevice or cavern which can be opened sufficiently for the rescuers to work their way down to Collins, pinioned in a rock vice at the foot of the sand cave.

An official bulletin at 9 o'clock this morning issued by H. E. B. Posey, engineering representative of Governor Fields, said that the depth of the sand cave rescue shaft was "about 45 feet" He gave nine o'clock Saturday night as the maximum time in which the shaft would reach the maximum depth to which it will be driven.

"We appear to be close to the roof of the cave and have speeded up excavation to a rate of ten feet in 24 hours," Posey's statement said. "There is a great possibility of finding an opening at any time. Tunneling will start if Collins has not been uncovered when the shaft reaches 62 or 70 feet."

The finding of limestone in the shaft this morning inspired the belief among diggers that the roof of the cave was not far away. Each crew entering the shaft is hopeful of being the ones to sight Collins. A down draft in shaft today gave workers hope that some crevic was near which would open into Collins' cavern. Meantime the state military board continued its enquiry hearing ten witnesses yesterday who described the early efforts to rescue the imprisoned man.

Thirty Are Killed Hundred Missing

Explosion in German Mine Traps Many Last Night

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 12.—An Agency despatch from Berlin this afternoon says that seventy-one bodies have been recovered from the Stein mine at Dortmund. It is officially stated, added the despatch, that the death roll totals 136.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dortmund, Germany, Feb. 12.—Thirty workmen were killed by an explosion of fire damp in the Stein mines, last night and one hundred others are missing. Only eight men were rescued from the mine alive.

This morning there appeared to be little hope of rescuing the entombed miners. Explosion was very violent and caused shafts to the underground galleries to collapse, blocking all exits It is feared that the trapped men died almost immediately from the effect of poisonous gases.

SUBMARINE RESCUES WEARIED SEAMAN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 12.—The submarine V-1, cruising in the freezing, black darkness off Thimble Shoals recently, swept her searchlights over the sea surface in response to a cry for help, and discovered a Lascar seaman clinging to a barrel tossed about by the waves.

Reporting to the Navy Department, Lieutenant Commander Picking said the sailor was lost overboard from the British steamship Luceric. He was delirious and wore only a thin shirt when picked up, and the strangeness of the submarine added to his discomfiture until he was transferred to a pilot boat off Cape Henry.

A YEAR IN MERCER

Toronto, Feb. 12—One year in the Mercer was the sentence Judge O'Connell imposed on Sophie Kohen, convicted by a jury in the Sessions of having received a cheque for $370 from Charles Garfunkel by false pretences in connection with the sale of a car of coal in February, 1920.

"Will you give me permission to plead an appeal at Osgoode Hall" asked Miss Kohen.

"I know nothing about that," said his Honor. "You will have to get the proper authorities."

CAPITAL GASPS AT PRESIDENT'S "HOBBY HORSE"

Horse Fever Prevents Coolidge Riding Real Steed

GOES BY ELECTRICITY

Secret Leaked Out When Electrician Was Called In

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Feb. 12.—The United States capital is agog to-day over the disclosure that President Coolidge has been riding hobby horse for several months. It is an electrically vitalized steed that canters, trots and bucks without endangering the neck of the rider. The President's real horse is living a life of ease in the White House stables, while Mr. Coolidge takes his exercise mechanically, riding the electric horse three times a day, morning, noon and night.

Just when the mechanical horse was brought to White House is a mystery known to only the President and his confidential friends.

His reason for riding it instead of a real horse is said to be because he is a victim of "horse fever", a malady akin to hay fever. The victim's nostrils become inflamed whenever he comes within range of a horse.

Remarkable Creature

Washington, Feb. 12.—A closely guarded secret of President Coolidge's inner life at the White House became known to-day. It was discovered that he is in possession of a hobby-horse that has attributes of practical utility that make a strong appeal to the Chief Magistrate. He rides it.

This hobby-horse is a very remarkable creature. It bears little resemblance to the hobby-horse of the nursery or the village merry-go-round. Mr. Coolidge's plaything is an electrical device, designed to afford a means of exercise at the fire side for one who is not disposed to go out doors for much relaxation.

Under Control of Button

Seated astride of the "horse," the President, by pushing one set of buttons, can get a motion that would correspond to the sedate trot of a well-broken cob. By pushing another set of buttons, the horse, galvanized by electric current, becomes a raging monster, giving the President an experience such as he might undergo if he was astride a bucking mustang. This horse cuts up stil lother didoes, all under control of buttons, ranging from the soothing motions of a gentle canter to a gallop.

Three times a day, so White House reports say, the President mounts his faithful steed. He takes his first "ride" before breakfast, indulges in a brief canter just after luncheon, an hour or so before retiring for the night, he takes a sharp gallop that brings on the weariness that induces slumber.

Thrown By Steed

The disclosure of the President's secret came about through an injury to his indoor mount. It seems that recently Mr. Coolidge was putting the "horse" through some of his paces, and that in the midst of the excitement he got mixed up in his buttons. The result was that the animal became involved in gait, and the rider was forced from the saddle. The White House veterinarian was not consulted. Instead, the President sent for an electrician.

Mrs C Benedict Chosen President

At Annual Meeting of Cannifton Methodist Church Ladies' Aid

A very successful dinner was served in the basement of Cannifton Methodist Church on Wednesday, Feb. 11th. These dinners are given monthly by the Cannifton Ladies' Aid and at this one over $30 was realized, which will go towards defraying the debt on the shed. At the meeting in the afternoon the annual election of officers was held and the following officers will make up this year's executive:

Pres.—Mrs. C. Benedict.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. A. Loucks.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. W. Clapp.
3rd Vice Pres.—Mrs. J. Brenton.
Secy—Mrs. R. Vandervoort.
Treas.—Mrs. H. Empson.

DIED FROM SHOCK AS HE WAS BEING SAVED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, Feb. 12.—Frank O'Leary, 31, went through the ice of the harbor here yesterday and died from shock as rescuers were hauling him from the water.

SHIP IS REFLOATED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toulon, France, Feb. 12.—The French battleship Liberte which was wrecked here by an explosion in September 1911 with loss of more than 230 lives has been refloated and will be towed to drydock.

COOL WINTER HOME

Kingston, Feb. 12.—Firmly embedded in a cake of ice, a lizard a little more than three inches long, was found Wednesday morning, and after being released from its rather firm and cool home, showed as much signs of life as ever.

The ice was cut by a local citizen near the R. M. C. and he at once noticed the black streak in the centre of the ice. Breaking the ice the discovery was made that the aforesaid black streak was nothing less than lizard. In a few minutes the creature showed signs of life, and didn't seem to have minded its cool prison in the least.

Boy Wasn't Going Away For A Sail

Police Chief Remarks When Pair of Shoes is Offered

Plenty of humor and good nature ameliorated the police court "atmosphere" this morning. It was the dawn of what is hoped to be a new day for a young Canadian of two months' standing, but the beginning of six months of prison gloom for his erstwhile companion in distress, whose previous record proved to be the thorn in his side and indicated that he is an apparently incurable vagrant.

Knut Maisel, seventeen-year-old Dane, taken into custody Saturday night with Samuel Davis, 23, a Jewish boy of Toronto, was allowed to go when Magistrate Masson withdrew the vagrancy charge which had been preferred against him. Chief Constable Kidd asked that is be withdrawn as he had secured work for the boy with a farmer.

Davis was sentenced to serve six months at the Ontario Reformatory on a similar charge.

"This boy is a buttermaker", explained the Chief, referring to the Dane, "and the farmer has thirty milch cows and a milking machine." But you cannot work on the farm with low shoes, light clothing and a "bowler", so then the fun commenced.

Chief Kidd called for someone to donate a pair of "used" shoes. Crown Attorney Donnan's were number 7 and strangely enough the Magistrate's were 11—too small and too large respectively. One officer made an offer but the Chief reminded that the boy was not "going sailing."

A collection was then taken, the Magistrate starting off with fifty cents, which was followed by similar donations from the Crown, Chief Kidd, other officers of city and provincial forces and the press.

Sergeant of Detectives John Truaisch, the careful market buyer, was delegated to visit the shoe store and see what a successful shopper he was. Maisel will leave for work then with a stout pair of boots, and a good grey suit which Chief Kidd has also procured for him.

The youth, who speaks very good English, learned the language in college at home before he came to Canada two months ago, he said.

Court Axe Falls

Davis did not fare so well. His previous record was not clean. He admitted having served six months for vagrancy, having been sentenced in Toronto. On a similar charge at Stratford he was given suspended sentence. At Brampton, he was convicted of breaking and entering and was sentenced to six months, and at Cornwall, on a vagrancy charge he was ordered to get out of the town and county immediately. He journeyed from there to Montreal.

Officer Trualsch who arrested the two on Front street Saturday night, told on the stand of having watched their actions for one hour and a half. They sold suit which Davis had worn over the suit he now wears, to a Jewish second hand dealer for $1. Maisel made the sale but Davis got the dollar. Davis asked assistance from two Front street Jewish merchants and his actions frightened two girl clerks in a store. When queried by the officer he said he was looking for work and was broke. Examination at the police station revealed $5.35, the bills being secreted in the lining of the sleeve of his overcoat.

Davis told of living in Toronto where he has two homes. A brother conducts two stores there. He had been looking for work for two months he said, and was enquiring of the merchants where he could get a cheap room for the night.

"There is usually a place for Jews who are up against it," he explained, "and I was enquiring for that place". I inteded to leave Sunday morning for Toronto, and when I sold the suit I was just helping out the Dane who was broke, as he also wished to get to Toronto."

The Dane told of meeting up with Davis in Kingston and as he did not know the country and was alone, he chose to travel with Davis.

INVITE PASTOR TO STAY FIFTH YEAR

At the February meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church on Cannifton circuit a unanimous invitation was extended to Rev. E. Farnsworth to remain as pastor on this circuit for a fifth year.

Harry Williams, a colored barber of St. Thomas was found guilty of stealing an automobile belonging to Henry L. Courtois, and was sentenced to serve one year in jail by Judge Rose.

AMENDMENT IS SURE TO COME REPORT STATES

But Whether From Liberals or Progressives is the Question

BACKING THE CABINET

Conservative Party in Caucus Support Proposed O.T.A. Change

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 12—There will be an amendment to reply to the speech from the throne in the legislature this afternoon, but whether it is coming from the Liberals or Progressives is still a matter for speculation.

At neither Liberal or Progressive headquarters, would they state positively whether there would be an amendment or not. The Liberals have first chance as W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, continues the debate when the house opens at 3 o'clock. If he moves the amendment then, by all precedent, the Progressives are debarred from moving another.

Before Caucus

The proposed O.T.A. amendment for stronger beer came before the members of all three parties in the Ontario Legislature yesterday at caucuses which they held for purposes of discussion. It received the endorsation of the Conservatives who have some 75 members in the Chamber, and was rejected by the Progressives, who control 16 votes. The Liberals were declared to have come to no formal conclusion with regard to their attitude towards the legislation.

Premier Ferguson was the host at luncheon to the Government members following which the stronger beer proposal was considered by the rank and file of his supporters. It was declared to have met with enthusiastic support and with a remarkable tendency towards unanimity for a proposition which was offered as the solution of so strenuous a controversy.

During the day Premier Ferguson elaborated upon the general plan of the legislation to the extent of stating that restriction would be placed about the sale of the beer to minors Otherwise, he affirmed, its sale would be thoroughly general, as much so as that of the 2 1-2 per cent. at present.

"It is a temperance beverage and as such it will need no restrictions," the Premier said adding: "If we should find out that it is intoxicating we will do away with it."

Very few difficulties loom up before the legislation in its passage through the house so far as can be gathered at present. Hon. Mr. Raney and his group of 16 U.F.O's have decided to place their votes and oratory in its path, but from other quarters little opposition is in prospect. Liberal members last evening stated that the issue would not be made the subject of an amendment to the address by W. E. N. Sinclair, K. C. their leader, who speaks today.

Youth to be Protected

There will be no danger of young boys being debauched as a result of the proposed legislation to permit the sale of 4.4 per cent. beer, according to Attorney General Nickle.

"Will ten-year-old boys be able to go into a store or other place where it is sold and buy this strong beer?" he was asked? "Certainly not," he replied. "There will be restrictions to prevent it. The details have not yet been worked out, but there will be no debauching of the youth of the province in so far as we are able to prevent it." Mr. Nickle said that he was not yet prepared to announce additional details of the proposed changes.

FINN STORE IS NOW ON FRONT STREET

Mr. J. S. Finn, who in the past has carried on an electrical appliance business on Campbell Street, has recently moved into new and larger quarters at 299 Front St., finding it necessary to acquire larger space in which to conduct a growing business.

Mr. Finn has on display a wide range of electrical fixtures, together with a complete line of hotpoint appliances and ranges, and extends a cordial invitation to his old customers, friends, and everyone to visit the new premises and inspect the complete and varied lines of electrical goods on hand.

John A. King, who pleaded guilty at Wiarton to raising a cheque issued to him by J. W. Tackaberry of Lion's Head, was sentenced to three months in the County Jail at Walkerton.

A BIG LEAK

David Lahrhaupt, immigration man and inspector-in-charge at Black Rock, N.Y. State, says that one thousand passengers a day on trains entering the United States from Canada at the port are examined, and that about fifty a day seek to become permanent residents in the United States.

Black Rock is but one of many points where Canadians enter, driven away from home by industrial inactivity.

Yet Premier King smiles on Parliament and declares that 1924 was a year of progress in Canada.

INTERESTING SHOW

The enterprising Kingston Daily Standard announces a description of the interesting display in their window, which has been arranged for "the eyes only" of th etarrying public.

Bottles containing colored liquid illustrates the amount of alcohol in beers of various strengths now under discussion and also a comparison with the strength of native wines.

A competent chemist prepared the exhibit at the behest of the Standard.

EXPERT WORK

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle tells how while he was discussing with Oscar Wilde the cynical maxim that the good fortune of our friends make us discontented, Wilde related this fable: "The devil was once crossing the Libyan desert and he came to a place where a number of small fiends were tormenting a holy hermit. The sainted man easily shook off their evil suggestions, whereupon the devil stepped forward to give them a lesson. 'Your methods are too crude,' he said. 'I will show you.' With that he whispered to the holy man, 'Your brother has just been made a bishop of Alexandria.' A scowl of malignant jealousy at once clouded the serene face of the hermit. 'That,' said the devil to his imps, 'is the sort of thing that I should recommend'."

THE FARM BOY TALKS

Usually when one hears a discussion on ways and means of keeping the youth of the country on the farm, the person talking happens to be a city man or a former farmer who has taken up a new line of activity. The rural man, as a rule, plows his own furrow and leaves the talking to others.

It has been left to Oliver Reid of Frankford, Ontario, to give the view point of the young boy on the farm. He tells his own story as follows:

"From time to time I have seen in the press articles on why the young people leave the farm. The theory has been advanced that it is lack of social gatherings, amusements, lack of sufficient spending money and sports, and that the long hours of work and drudgery that has driven the young people from the farm; but this is absolutely false.

"I have lived in this farming community all my life. I am still a boy and I know what is the cause of the boys and girls leaving the farm. I have talked to many of the boys who have gone to town from here. Those who come back, when asked why they left the farm, never give the reason that have so often been voiced by the press, although there are exceptions in all cases—and I believe that the majority of young people who leave the farm, leave for the same reasons that the boys of this community have.

"I have had the privilege of a high school education, and I believe that if the farmers would give their boys and girls an education with the view of coming back on the farm, it would help a lot. But it is either one of two ways, they either tell them an education is no good for a farmer or they say, go to school, get an education and make an easier living than your dad. They preach continually that there is an easier living than farming.

"While I was attending high school my father always advanced the theory that farming was the best occupation, and when I got through I came back to the farm—and I am here to say—although all my friends called me a fool and told me that farming was no life for a person. How, then, with all this trash being preached into the heads of the boys and girls by farmers and farmers' wives, can you expect the boys and girls to stay on the farm? I say it is the farmers themselves that are to blame in the majority of cases.

"There is another reason why the boys and girls leave, and the farmers are also to blame in this case. We have some farmers, far too many, who are too lazy to live. They are always behind with their work, only half work their land, have poor crops, etc., and if the boys have any ambition at all they soon get sick of the way things are being run, get discouraged with farming, kick up their heels at the farm and get out.

"I have seen this very thing work out, and once, while talking with one of the boys from such a farm, a real bright, ambitious young fellow, he said to me: 'There is nothing to be gotten in farming, is there?'

"I said, 'Why, Jack, sure and there is.'

"'Well' he said, 'do you not make a certain sum,' which he named, which would be a city laborer's wages for a year.

"'Yes,' I said, 'we make more.' I gave an estimate of the returns from our farm for a year and he would hardly believe it.

"'Well,' he said, 'if I were you I would stick to it.'

This same young fellow tried the city and got sick of it and came back to the farm, but he never came home, and I do not blame him, for the way things are run would discourage any boy from farming.

"I know of farmers' wives in this community who have instilled into their daughters' minds the idea that a farmer's wife's life is a drudgery, and have warned them never to marry a farmer. How, then, under these circumstances, can you expect the young people to stick with the farm?

"Farmers, if you want your sons and daughters to stay with the farm, educate them, but always keep the farm ahead as their goal. Brains and education are as essential to a farmer as to a lawyer and more so than to a factory worker. Preach the doctrine of farming, as it is the greatest and best occupation in the world to-day."

Press Opinions

HE HAS QUITE DISAPPEARED

R. W. Howe's Monthly:

There is a lot of quarreling about prohibition, but I sometimes think it worth while, after all. For one thing, the old time drunkard has almost entirely disappeared. And he was the most disgusting type of man the world ever produced. I used to know a man named Pet Lamb, of whom it was said he frequently was drunk and sober three times in a day; and he was terrible to meet.

ANOTHER ENTOMBMENT

Ottawa Journal:

Some years ago the newspaper-reading public of Ontario read with breathless interest about the man trapped alive in a well that had collapsed in Stamford Township. A new well had to be drilled down 60 feet be side the old one to get the man out alive, but it was accomplished. The plight of Floyd Collins at Cave City, Ky., recalls the incident.

ODORIFEROUS

Toronto Mail and Empire:

If Chicago realy requires 10,000 cubic feet a second to dilute its sewage it must be making a contribution to the waters of the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers far from pleasing to dwellers on the banks of those streams.

FAVORITE SORT OF RUMOR

St. Catharines Standard:

Apparently only the enemies of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen would have him quit. It is a favorite sort of rumor in regard to Opposition leaders: they have all suffered therefrom.

LONDON BOLSHIE BALL ALL RUSSIAN EXCEPT DANCERS

London, Feb. 12—Vodka grog and Vodka egg nog were featured at a "bolshie ball" given in Hammersmith London, recently in aid of the West London Hospital. There were a great many Russian costumes on hand among the dancers, but no Russians.

A bomb was exploded on the dance floor at midnight but its contents did no damage as they were nothing more than numerous Russian novelties which were distributed to the women guests.

Willis Campbell, with J. P. Thompson and Co., was given a pleasant surprise the other night, when his friends in the store gathered around and presented him with an address and a valuable souvenir. Mr. Campbell is soon to take charge of the dress goods department at Vandervoort's and Gibson.

A wood drawer named Lloyd was lost in the storm going home Wednesday night, and when he reached Shannonville Thursday morning at 4 o'clock he was in a pitiable state, having both hands and feet frozen, and his horses about done out.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Lincoln

Do you ever realise that the reason so many people love Abraham Lincoln is that he was a common or ordinary man?

Most people who acquire distinction do so because they possess some quality or talent that makes them exclusive. Such for instance, was the case of Chopin, of Gladstone, of Mendelssohn, and of many others who were contemporary with Lincoln. But Lincoln is remarkable in that he possessed no exclusive characteristics.

He was not good looking. He was a homely man. And most of us are homely. He once said that "God must love common people, or common looking people, because he made so many of them." It is no disgrace to be good looking, and perhaps one may be pardoned for taking a reasonable pride in his pulchritude. But just the same, with most of us good looks are conspicuous by their absence. Lincoln belonged to the great majority in this respect, as he was not a good looking man.

He was not learned. He was not a Greek scholar, as was Gladstone, nor was he a great musician, nor a great artist. He was great, but his greatness consisted in the qualities which all of us have.

He was not clever. He was just like the rest of us in this respect.

In him were exalted all the kind and gentle impulses which we all have When we say he was noted for his kindness, we but state that he was noted for his human qualities.

So it was with his common sense. It was the kind that is the balance of all human faculties.

In fact, he kept close to the commons. He had that ability to look past his immediate advisers, to the great mass of the common people, and to sense what those people wanted. He had faith in the common people. He knew them, and loved them. It was not for nothing that he had gained his education by difficult processes. He had lain by the fire and studied his lessons in the most difficult manner.

He was not a man of great ideas, but he was a man who had the great ideas of the common people. He recognized that he was the servant of the common people, and not their leader or their master.

He was universally loved, because he loved universally. He loved men, and they loved him in return. It was truly said of him that his heart was as great as the world.

There has been much question as to whether he was a Christian or not. Many preachers have held him up as an example of Christianity. On the contrary, others have tried to prove that he was a free thinker. Whatever was his religion, it was the common divisor of all creeds. He fully carried out the precepts of Jesus, at least His principles. There never was a man who more exemplified the fundamental basis of all religions. He loved his fellow men, and tried to do them good.

He had a sense of play. Probably no time was more terrible than his time, no time was more filled with the passions of men. But through all this, he kept his sense of play, and was enabled to see the funny side of things. This sense of play is a most human characteristic. It helps one to bear his burdens, and to see things in their proper perspective.

It was the common criticism of Mr. Lincoln that came at last to his advantage. He was criticized for being ugly, and awkward, and homely. But it was these qualities that endeared him to the common people. A great many of us are ugly, and awkward, and homely, and we are brought near to him.

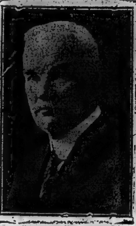
Sun Life Company Takes High Place

Fifty-Fifth Annual Report Is Published To-day

The fifty-fourth annual report of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, now being published, once again shows inspiring gains both in resources and in the spread of the Company's operations. Never in Canadian Life Insurance history has there been anything approaching the magnitude of the figures presented. All previous records of the Company, outstanding as they have been, have been greatly overreached. The Sun Life has been, for years, the leader among life insurance companies in the British Empire doing an ordinary life business; with business in force nearing the billion mark, the Company has gained a place high up among the giant companies of the world.



MR. T. B. McCAULAY
President
Sun Life of Canada

Sun Life policyholders will read the report presented with satisfaction, particularly in view of the announced increase in the scale of profits on participating policies. The prosperity of the country is bound up with that of its institutions and the significance of the amazing progress recorded by the Sun Life of Canada will be reflected in the firmer confidence of Canadians from coast to coast in the destiny of our country.

Winter On The Farm

(By a County Correspondence in the Picton Times)

Though winter brings a period of leisure to the rural resident, it does not bring idleness, for every one may be busy, although not arduously so. In the home, the housewife must keep up the daily routine, while outside, the care of the farm stocks keeps the farmer out of idleness. Then, there are additional pieces of work both inside and out, that clamor for attention at this season—the housewife busy with sewing, knitting or fancy work, while the man attends to the cutting of the season's wood. This winter being severely and continuously cold, the fuel has disappeared in a wonderfully appalling fashion, especially in a home three wood fires kept burning, with a fourth fire in the pig pen.

But in the winter days leisure is found for the one who delights in a hobby. In this locality there are six homes supplied with radio outfits, allowing for enjoyment, amusement and instruction to relieve the monotony of winter life. Then for the music lover, there is time to devote to the study of music—time which the summer season with its incessant round of tasks fails to give. The other day a young man called, with a roll of music under his arm, which proved to be the words and music of a song, both words and music having been composed by himself in winter leisure. He opened the organ to try it out for me and I'm certain it did him credit. And this young man had not neglected his farm work—the same hands that so skilfully touched the keys having wielded the axe in cutting a large pile of wood. What an excellent thing is a hobby! And yet as I noticed the skill of the musical fingers and the innate gifts of the artist and musician, I thought how often talents lie undeveloped because in early life it has been the custom to train the boy to carry on the work of his father, rather than to study the natural trend of his inclination and intellect.

Car Demonstration Here On Friday

Oshawa Officials to Demonstrate New Chevrolet Cars at Warren's

An event of unusual interest to motorists and to prospective purchasers of cars is scheduled for to-morrow, Friday, evening at 7.30, at the Chevrolet garage, when Mr. Robert McIntyre, of the Chevrolet Motors, of Oshawa, will conduct a chassis demonstration of the new Chevrolet models. Assisting Mr McIntyre in the demonstration, are Mr Lorne Ardiel, assistant Sales Manager of the Chevrolet Motors, Oshawa, together with Messrs. E. Beckell, and W. T. Mullen, factory representatives for this district.

Some forty Chevrolet agents of the district are in the city attending the demonstration, from a territory extending north to Peterboro, to Cobourg on the west, and to Gananoque in easterly direction. Keen interest is being taken in the affair, as the new cars represent the very latest achievement of design, and construction in motor cars, and constitute in many points a departure from previous standards. Among the many new features of the latest Chevrolet models being demonstrated are—a refined motor, a new dry disc clutch, new front axle, new semi elleptic springs, new frame, new differential, rear axle and brakes, as well as new steering control windshield and instrument board. Finished in Duco these cars represent a distinct advance in motor car building. The new features will be demonstrated to-morrow evening with the aid of cut-outs showing the working parts. The public is invited to attend this demonstration at J. T. Warren's Front Street garage.

TOOK ALL THE BED HUSBAND'S WAIL

London, Feb. 12— Amusing stories of police court life were told by J. A. R. Cairns, the Thames Police Court Magistrate in an address to the Lyons Debating Society at Cadby Hall.

Magistrates, he said, were often asked to solve quaint problems. One of these, which he had failed to solve, recently came before him.

A man who had lost a night's sleep sought advice on how to deal with a wife. The husband complained that he had found his wife occupying the centre of the bed and she refused to budge. What was he to do?

Coal Gas Fatal Not Chocolates

So Montreal Detectives Find In Gubord Death

Montreal, Feb. 12—Coal gas poisoning was responsible for the death of fifteen year old Symone Gubord early Wednesday morning at her home at 102 St. Andre street the autopsy performed by Dr. Wilfrid Derome showed.

The doctor's report came as a surprise to detectives who had been working on the case and to the mother of the deceased and the married sister, Mrs. Sumock, who believed that the poisoning, which had affected the entire family, was due to chocolates eaten Tuesday night. A verdict of natural death was given by Coroner McMahon.

Doctors at the Royal Victoria Hospital now hold out hopes for the recovery of Yvonne Gubord, 18 years of age, while Mrs. Gubord and her married daughter have rallied from their mild seizures.

After spending the evening together the Guford family retired at eleven o'clock. Three hours later the mother was awakened by the dying gasp of her daughter in the next room. Dizzy and unwell herself, she went to the bedroom where she found Symone dead and Yvonne in agony, while the other daughter, when awakened was also sick.

A doctor was immediately called but it was some time before one could be obtained, Dr. J. E. Bastein, of 212 Visitation street responding. He immediately called a local hospital which was found to be full. In the meantime the mother called the police of number three station.

Lieutenant Clondin with constables Porrier and Parin, went to the house and summoned an ambulance from the Royal Victoria Hospital. The morgue was notified and the body of Symone removed.

Informed of the suspicions of the family concerning the chocolates eaten on the night before, the police, in conjunction with detectives from headquarters, commenced an active investigation. When the report of an autopsy performed by Dr. Derome was presented late Wednesday morning it was learned that the girl's death was due, not to poisoning from anything eaten, but from coal gas.

It was found that before retiring, the mother banked the coal fire in the furnace with wet cinders. Coal gas evidently collected in the furnace and penetrating the house, reached the bedrooms where sisters and mother slept, [illegible] gas and threatening the lives of [illegible]

Valentine's Day is Ancient Fete

It Existed Very Long Before Given Its Present Name

STRANGE CUSTOMS

Roman Youths Drew Lots For Year of Faithfulness

As Shakespeare asked, "What's in a Name?" Beyond being named after him, St. Valentine's day, which comes next Saturday, has no more to do with that early Christian saint and martyr than the Belleville Prohibition Union had to do with bringing in the stronger beer measure. For whereas the annual feast that gave rise to the custom of exchanging fervently passionate billets-doux had its origin more than twenty centuries ago, St. Valentine died only 1655 years ago.

But while the custom is pagan in origin it is distinctly Christian in sentiment and flavor (except when a comic caricature is sent to an old-maid school mistress by a humorous pupil), for the mainspring and motive of the festival is love, greatest of all Christian virtues according to no less an authority than the Founder of Religion, Himself.

Its Origin . . . .

Again, like the Christian Church, it all began way back in ancient Rome, but long before the first Christian church was even thought of. In those days it was not known as St. Valentine's day, because he wasn't even born yet, but was called the Feast of Lupercalia, a festival in honor of Pan and Juno. Juno was also called Februata, Frebrual or Februalia, from whence came the names of this month, hence its celebration now in February.

But later, perhaps in the day of St. Valentine, a bishop of the early Christian church, the Christian pastors endeavored to change, or at least modify the pagan superstitions. Using more judgment than is employed by many present-day reformers, they recognized that they could not eradicate them altogether, so instead of making them more popular by making them illegal, these worldly wise churchmen simply turned them into Christian channels, simply directing misspent energy into useful lines, and incidentally giving them new Christian names to replace the old pagan ones.

Named After Martyr

So the name of this Feast of Lupercalia was changed to St. Valentine's day after the Christian saint, Valentine, who was martyred on February 14, 270 during the persecutions of the Christians by the Emperor Claudius II. But otherwise the observance of this date as a lover's day appears to have nothing to do with either the life or death of this saint, whose death was a most cruel one. He was first beaten with clubs and then beheaded.

Perhaps it was named after St. Valentine because of his martyrdom, because love, too, has its martyrs. Ask any married man just after a domestic battle, any confirmed bachelor, jilted suitor or disappointed spinster. They'll say so.

Drew Lots

But long after the day was renamed after St. Valentine, the ancient practice of its observance was continued. In the very old days the Roman youths and maidens inscribed their names on little tablets (not something the doctor prescribes, but bits of stone). These they cast into a common receptacle, perhaps that's where the idea of the melting pot came from. At any rate, each youth and maid on the Feast of Lupercalia drew out a tablet, and that girl whose name the youth drew was his Valentine or vice versa.

To this mate they remained true, though unmarried, for a whole year, which is much longer than many modern couples in a country not nearly so far away as Rome remain true to each other, even though married. But then they didn't have to live together; they were merely Valentines, though they weren't called that then. In fact, the authorities give no pagan equivalent for the word Valentine. Probably, since it was the Feast of Lupercalia, they were called Lupercalians.

Old English Custom

This practice of choosing a lovemate at random apparently persisted even under the new name and new Christian auspices up to the time of Pepys the diarist. For in his voluminous and minute diary this faithful old English chronicler of the ordinary, simple things of life, notes that the love-lorn swains and demure damsels of that period were wont to inscribe their names on slips of paper and then draw them out to acquire a mate or valentine. Mr. Pepys naively remarks that these haphazard "valentines" often resulted in marriage.

They were really love lotteries, which may have given rise to the misogynistic sarcasm that all marriage is lottery. Certainly history records that many couples got acquainted through them who would never have met otherwise and that the result was that they wedded and lived happily ever after, as the Pollyanna novels end. Today they don't put names in a hat and draw one; instead they advertise for a wife or husband in the personal columns of a newspaper.

Costly Gifts

Mr. Pepys, who dwells at such length on this matter of St. Valentine's day that one rather suspects he acquired Mrs. Pepys that way, notes the practice of giving gifts to the lady fair, or valentine, one drew. For instance, he says, the Duke of York of his day gave the Duchess of Richmond an £800 jewel as a valentine present, which was evidently a record in those days when they had no bootleggers to squander money.

The same authority, Mr. Pepys, drolly recalls how glad he was on one occasion to draw his own wife as valentine, because that kept the present within the family. And, upon another occasion, he was delighted to draw a little girl as his valentine because she was satisfied with a moderate present, not yet being old enough to acquire the vice of acquisitiveness.

In those good old days, says this same Mr. Pepys, maidens were wont to place four bay leaves on the four corners on their pillows and a fifth in the middle on the eve of St.Valentine's day. There on they slept and, if they dreamt of their sweetheart under such happy auspices, it meant they would be married to him within the year.

Letters To The Editor

WORKERS WERE OUT-VOTED

To the Editor:
Sir:

Our Presbyterian Church was strong for Union—at least everybody said so. Were not the leading workers and nearly all the Sunday School teachers strong for Union? Above all was not our minister a convinced Unionist?

Why, then, did our church vote to stay out of the Union? The explanation is very simple. The workers were too busy carrying on the routine affairs of the church, and had given no thought to informing the members of the congregation on the issues of the vote. It is true that a good proportion of the membership knew the meaning of the vote, but there were many nominal members on the comunicant roll who had not attended service regularly, many not at all for years, who yet had the right to vote and decide the fate of our church. These absentees had been carefully canvassed and cultivated by anti-unionists inside and outside of our church, and at the last moment were whipped up to the poll for the noble purpose of "preserving the Presbyterian Church" and "saving it from the Methodists"

That is exactly how it came about that our beloved church is to-day without minister and workers, and is in the hands of a few anti-unionists True our church cannot carry on as of yore, but then the anti-Unionists victory" was worth winning, for it will impress the world—and parliament in particular—with the "fact" that the "people" are not behind he Union movement. If the vote had been confined to the workers and those who had paid for its upbuilding and maintenance, our Church would not today have been in the possession of the opponents of Union. Ours is only one of the many Presbyterian churches that have been lost to Union in the same manner.

If those who voted us out of our Church will now turn out and turn in and carry on the good work of the Kingdom for which we built up the Church, then our defeat will prove a blessing in disguise, and we will be the first to commend their efforts.

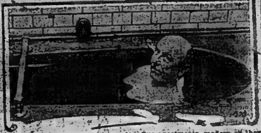
PINEAPPLES FIND FAVOR

Honolulu, Feb. 12—Records of production in both quality and quantity were established by the pineapple industry of Hawaii in 1924 according to the annual report of the Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Canners, which showed a total production of 6,825,904 cases.

This yield exceeded by 838,922 cases the output of 1920, the previous high record year, and was 920,157 cases more than the 1923 production.

Bathing Enthusiast Takes Peat Plunge



PEAT from the peat bogs of Ireland is used as a fuel, for commercial alcohol, and for strong wrapping paper, but it remains for an English ecclesiastical dignitary, the Bishop of Hull, (shown above) to champion its use for the bath.

Since a bath of peat is similar to a small bog, the bather must keep his head well out of the liquid,—a facial mud pack not being included in the treatment! In order to prevent any disastrous slipping, this enthusiast has had a bar set across his tub, with a strap which holds his head out of the water, as pictured.

Our apartments, modern as they are in America, are not equipped with running peat, hot and cold, but most of us are quite content to take our baths in our accustomed, comfortable way with plain water and Ivory soap, and perhaps a shower for excitement. We show our individual tastes, however, by choosing a cold, cool, tepid, warm, or hot bath, according to our temperaments and our moods of the moment.

Selfish Mother in Montreal Neglects Children in Callous Manner

Montreal, Feb. 12.—Ill-clad and their bodies obviously under-nourished three small children found their way to the Old Brewery Mission recently, where much-needed compassion and sympathy awaited them in the form of clean clothes and food, and in the persons of G. H. Scott and his staff of lady workers.

"Charlie has to wear this sweater for the next two weeks. I've had my turn," the little girl, six years, the youngest of the trio, told the lady who bathed her. It appeared that the garment used for underwear was to be worn by these three children in turns, which meant that while they rummaged about lanes and alleys during the recent blasts that hit Montreal, they suffered intolerably.

They were three of a family of six Their impoverished condition was due to a selfish mother who, despite the wants and comforts of her kiddies, drank away the meagre earnings of the father, a Canadian National employee.

Mr. Scott told a newspaperman yesterday morning of his relation with the unhappy group. They had come to him last summer for help and were all, with the exception of the father, taken to the Laurentian mountain camp of the Mission. The kiddies breathed fresh, clean air for the first time of their lives and played games until they dragged along to their beds exhausted, there to sleep the sleep of the just—and deserving—under an open sky. "In fact they had the time of their lives," said Mr. Scott.

This contact with nature was not long lived, however. Mother became restless for her beer and suddenly packed up for Montreal taking the children with her.

"There is a girl in the family who, I have recently found out, is deaf as the result of the negligence to a slight defect in her youth. She was sent to the clinic at the General Hospital, where such cases are most concernedly and attentively dealt with."

"This is raw material for future Canada," he declared, discussing the oversight of some in regard to the value of the Dominion's coming citizens. "These are of more use to us than the immigrants, but we must watch and nurse them into Canadians. A child born and brought up, or even brought up, in a country is a greater asset than the immigrant. Patriotism and a love for the soil is bred in them whereas the attitude borne by the tides who come to settle from outside is confined to filling their purses."

SLEEPING SICKNESS CAUSES LAD'S DEATH

Stratford, Feb. 12— Sleeping sickness claimed a victim in the city in the person of Joseph Godfrey Bart, young son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bart, 55 East Gore street, who died at his parents' home at about 5.20 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The lad, who was 9 years and 10 months of age had been ill for five days. In spite of the great care and attention of Drs. Lorne Robertson and Gordon Grieve, it was found impossible to overcome the sickness. Joseph was very popular with his many friends, and bright at school, being in the senior second class. Hockey was his favorite sport and to be a good hockey player one of his ambitions. He was born in this city, in the house where he died, and attended the Immaculate Conception School here. Besides his sorrowing parents he is survived by three brothers and sisters—Laporte, Marie and George all at home.

Held Two Post Office Contracts When Nominated

London, Feb. 12—The speaker read a letter in the house of commons Wednesday from W. Preston, Conservative, Walsall, stating that his (Preston's) attention had been called to the fact that his holding two small post office contracts at the time he was nominated as a candidate in the last general election made him legally incapable of being elected, and he was apologizing for participating in the proceedings of the house of commons since his election. A new writ will be issued for a bye-election in Walsall.

It is expected that a bill will be introduced relieving Preston of the liability of the penalty of £500 sterling for each of seven or eight times he voted in the house before Christmas. Preston cancelled the contracts mentioned, and he has been adopted as the Conservative candidate.

Preston was unseated, but as he has cancelled the contracts which were trifling ones, only a few pounds being received by Preston for electrical goods which had been ordered before he was nominated as a candidate he may again stand for the constituency.

SENSATIONAL FABLES TOLD BY YOUNG GIRL

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—Seven-year-old Alsa Thompson, who, last week bewildered authorities by confessing that she had killed her twin sisters in Dauphin, Man., two years ago, and poisoned another person since coming to Los Angeles, has "confessed" that her sensational narrative was fiction, it was announced in juvenile court in connection with the request of the girl's mother, Mrs. Russell Thompson, for custody of her daughter.

Alienists expressed the belief that Alsa's latest "confession" was more accurate than the one heard by the police, but pending further observation, she was left in custody of the juvenile authorities.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA
HEAD OFFICE - - MONTREAL
A Statement of Remarkable Progress

Extracts from Directors' Report

Your Directors present their fifty-fourth Annual Report with unusual satisfaction. The rapid expansion of operations, and the steady upbuilding of resources, which have so markedly characterized the Company's transactions in previous years, have continued during the past twelve months, and at a greatly increased rate of progress. . . .

These figures (herewith quoted) show the growth which has taken place in the volume of the Company's operations, and in its reserves. The figures as to profit-earning power and financial strength are even more impressive.

As [illegible] actually paid, the sum of [illegible] has been [illegible] during the year to policyholders under this heading.

As to provision for the future, the Company's position has been materially strengthened in all directions.

There has been a further upbuilding of the life policy reserves. Heretofore policies issued prior to 1900 have been valued on the basis of assuming three and a half per cent. interest, as the discounting rate for the Company's obligations, but this year the entire life assurance contracts have been valued at three per cent., the extra amount thus set aside being [illegible].

There has also been a strengthening of the Annuity Reserves. Recent investigations have shown a progressive increase in the average lifetime of annuitants. A special annuity reserve of $750,000 has this year been set up beyond the amount required by the Government standard.

The Company's Head Office and branch buildings and other real estate, have been written down by $750,000.

The Contingency Reserves have been strengthened by the addition of $4,000,000 taken from the earnings of the year, $3,000,000 of this amount going to the fund to provide for possible fluctuations in the market value of our securities, raising that fund to $5,000,000, and $1,000,000 going to General Contingencies account, raising that to $2,500,000. These contingency accounts thus amount now to $7,500,000.

After making these heavy allocations, the undivided surplus has yet been increased by $4,234,000, bringing it to a total of $22,107,000.

The Company is, of course, in a position to increase its already generous scale of profits to policy-holders, and your Directors have pleasure in announcing, for the fifth year in succession, that such an increase will be made.

While many factors have contributed to this remarkable showing, the most noteworthy has been the large earning from investments. As has been mentioned in previous reports, it has for many years been the policy of the Company to invest in long-term bonds and similar choice securities, in order that by this means the high rates of interest then prevailing as a result of the abnormal conditions produced by the war, might be projected into future years. This policy is now bearing fruit. Current rates of interest, though still very satisfactory, are materially lower than those of former years, and as a consequence there has been a marked rise in the quotations for most of the securities owned by the Company. During the past year some of these increased values have been capitalized by sales, and a net profit of [illegible] has been realized from this source. In addition there has been an increase of [illegible] in the market value of the securities still held. Although most of this increased value is undoubtedly permanent, and due merely to the readjustment of interest rates to a more normal basis, it will be noted that the Company has carried $4,000,000 of the amount to contingency accounts, as already explained.

The rate of interest earned during the year on the mean invested assets has been 6.36 per cent., exclusive of profits from sales. This is a substantial increase over the rate of the previous year, and has resulted from our having realized on some of our holdings of government and other bonds which had risen to high figures, the proceeds being then reinvested in securities yielding better returns.

Fruit Merchants Lose Third Straight

And Ramblers Won From Hikers at Recreation Alleys

The only excitement at the Recreation alleys last night centered on the senior game between the Hardware and the Fruit Merchants, the former winning out easily. This is Capt. Quattrocchi's third straight loss and unless they can come across with some wins they are practically out of the running. High bowlers were Anderson 600 and Morrell 551.

The Ramblers won from the Hikers in the ladies league by 128 pins. Miss V. Blaind and Miss Murray rolling the highest scores on their teams.

The Pencil Pushers won from the Cooperers in the C. I. A. league by over 400 pins. for the winners L. Bridge was high and White was high for the losers.

In the junior league the National Castings set out to give Marsh a good trimming and when the smoke of battle had cleared it was found that the Casting's were leading by 371 pins. Pat Cornell, was high bowler of the night with 617, while for the Castings Norm Turner was high man.

The C. N. League game between the Supt's. Office No. 1 and the Road Dept., the former winning out by 353 pins. Meagher and Dickey were high bowlers.

Thousand of People Are Far-Sighted

Far-sightedness is no respecter of persons. It is found at all ages; small children suffering from it, often without its being suspected. Its effects are decidedly detrimental, as far-sighted persons strain their eyes even when they look in the distance. Take nothing for granted about your eyes. My examination is interesting to the more intelligent.

CANADIENS GOING AT TOP SPEED

Montreal, Feb. 12.—Canadiens administered the worst defeat suffered by Ottawa in many years when they took tonight's important National Hockey League fixture by 10 to 3.

Starting with a rush Canadiens literally swamped the Senators, scoring six goals in the first period without a reply In the last two periods they held the advantage throughout. Their speed simply bewildered the Ottawa defensive. Joliat and Morenz were all over. and could not be held in check. With 'Billy' Boucher they each counted three goals, Mats getting the other.

Mantha replaced Sprague Cleghorn on the Canadien defense, and played a clever game. Clancy was sadly missed on the Ottawa defense.

It was a hopelessly one-sided affair, but rendered entertainment to the large crowd by the brilliant form shown by the winners. Canadien players were so busy around the net that there was nearly always some one buzzing around looking for rebounds. The third goal of the game was a case in point. Joliat seemingly having scored it, though the officials credited the tally to "Billy" Boucher, his third in a row.

Ottawa—Goal, Connell; defense; Boucher and Gorman; centre, Nighbor; wings, H. Smith and Denneney; subs. Finnegan, Campbell and A. Smith.

Canadiens— Goal, Vezina; defense, Coutu and Mantha; centre, Morenz; wings, Boucher and Joliat; subs., O. Cleghorn, Matsu and Headley.

Referee—Dr. Jerry Laflamme and M. J. Rodden.

White Sox Won Last Cage Game

In the Senior League at The Local Y.M. C.A.

The final game in the Senior Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball league was played on Wed. night when the White sox were successful in wininng from the Blue Sox by the score of 41—28. The game was a strenuous one and worthy of any Intermediate group.

Vern Weir, captain of the Blues worked like a trojan all thru the game scoring 17 points for his team. Bryce was the goal getter for Alexander's Whites, getting 26 points.

In the Volley ball game the Business men were never pressed by the Stars who were short some of their men, but it was a good work out for the busy men who have qualified to go into the Ontario finals at Kitchener.

Basket Ball.

Blue Sox—Harris 4, Facer, 2, Hitchon 2, Morden 2, Weir 17, Symons 1, total 28.

White Sox—Bryce 26, Buchanan 8, Maidens, Alexander 7, McMullen, total 41.

Trenton Team Was Smothered

Kingston Team takes Round By Score of 13 To 2

Kingston, Feb. 12—Kingston won their second round game of the O. H. A. intermediate series by defeating Trenton here last night by 10 to 1, the score being 13 to 2 on the round. The game was exceptionally clean, and Trenton were clearly outclassed by the Kingston sextet. Kingston scored one goal in the period after about three minutes of play, five in the second, and two in the last, while Trenton scored one in the last.

It would be hard to select a star from the Kingston team as they were all at their best, the sub, not weakening the team any while on. For Trenton Wells, Shoniker and Bowen were outstanding.

Kingston — Goal, Rogers; defense, Roney and Reynolds; centre, Watts; wings, Hargaft and Smith; subs., Lawlor and Johnston.

Trenton — Goal, Bowen; defense, Burns and Anderson; centre, Shoniker; wings, Schenzel and Wells; subs., O'Rourke and Bleakley.

Referee—Harold Farlow, Toronto.

STRATFORD HAS MADE SURE OF PLAY-OFF

Galt, Feb. 12.—In a game in which it was a case more of playing the men than the puck, the Stratford seniors last night defeated Galt, to 0, and thus made sure of entering the group playoff with Niagara Falls.

The locals, while they had the better of the play in the last two periods, found "Dolly". Dolon unbeatable, although the attackers were unlucky in several cases. The visitors had the advantage in the first period.

Despite the fact that there was water on the ice early this afternoon a drop in the mercury provided a very fair playing surface, considering conditions. The players, however, had a lot of trouble with the rolling puck.

There was a continual parade of players to the penalty box. Referee "Ike" Masters imposed penalties freely in an effort to check the rough play, but the players persisted. The locals were the worst offenders, incurring 10 of the 17 rests. Burke served four penalties and Hoffman next with three.

The only goal of the game came after seventeen minutes of play in the first period, when Bill Carson rushed and when checked made a back-hand pass to Cole, who, unchecked, scored.

Galt had thirty-six shots on goal to Stratford's twenty-nine. Both goalers played well. The Carsons were the best of the visitors.

Stratford—Goal, Dolson; defense, Graham and Burke; centre, W. Carson; wings, F. Carson and Cross; subs, Cole, Griffith.

Galt—Goal, Murray; defense, Hoffman and G. Himes; centre N. Himes; wings. A. Gauthier and Ab. Gauthier; subs, Woods, Kress.

Referee—Masters, Kitchener.

MAY 23 to 30TH ARE O.J.C. DATES

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 12.—Although the Canadian Racing Association have not alloted their schedule for the coming season, the Ontario Jockey Club has been granted the dates of May 23 to 30 for their spring meeting, and Secretary W. P. Fraser, of the Ontario Jockey Club Wednesday announced the list of his early closing stakes on March 16.

CLOSE SHAVE FOR VON STROHEIM

COWBOY TRIES STUNT ON DIRECTOR

What's taking a chance in the movies? Here is Erich von Stroheim, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director of "The Merry Widow," with Mae Murray, John Gilbert and a notable cast, letting a studio cowboy use him to demonstrate dagger-throwing. You'd think there were enough thrills in picture making without going out of the way to find them, but not so with von Stroheim. This occurred when von Stroheim was completing "Greed" just before starting "The Merry Widow."

HAMILTON TAKE ONE FROM MONTREALERS

Hamilton, Feb. 12.—Hamilton, packed all their hockey into one period, the second, against Montreal here last night and defeated them by 3 to 2. The Hams scored al their goals in the second session, thanks to the individual efforts of "Shorty" Green and the aggressiveness of the entire forward line, who showed flashes of championship hockey.

The hockey for the most part was interesting and had the small crowd in an uproar throughout. In the opening session, the period in which Montreal had the better of the play, they were on their feet "egging" the Hamilton team on, and for the remainder of the night they were acclaiming "Shorty" Green as the greatest player in the pro. league. His stick-handling was a treat, and it was really due to his efforts that the Hams packed this game away.

JACK DEMPSEY WILL NOT QUIT THE RING

New York, Feb. 12—Here is what Jack Kearns has to say about his meal ticket Dempsey.

"Jack and I have not split up as fighting partners or business associates. Neither has he retired from the ring.

"When I give the word he is ready to fight Gibbons, Wills, or anybody else that promises a worth-while match. Just now we have several offers for a Gibbons bout. One is from out here in California.

"A lot has been published concerning what Jack will do now he is married, but most of it is pure bunk, Jack will not retire from the championship that is certain.

"Neither the champion nor myself have decided to separate our business affairs. We own an apartment hotel here in Los Angeles, which is worth a million and a half dollars, and we have other business interests together We are partners in every way and Dempsey wants to stay that way.

SOO 6—PETES 6

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 12.—Peterboro' seniors last night held the Soo to a 6—6 score, in the second game of the series, displaying talent that made their efforts popular with a capacity crowd. At the conclusion of the fray the rink resounded with cheers for the visitors, who displayed much hockey talent and pluck. Bailey was the star for the visitors, leading attack after attack on the Soo net. Seemingly tireless, he played nearly the whole 60 minutes.

MIGRATION MADE EASY FOR RETIRED OFFICERS

London, Feb. 12—To facilitate cooperation in emigration among retired professional classes with small fixed incomes, the Empire Community Settlement has been organized here to care for retired military officers, civil servants, engineers and other professional men unfitted to go to the dominions as agricultural settlers in the ordinary way.

It is proposed to establish them overseas on model farms, something like garden cities, with two to five acres, dwelling, stable and outhouse sites, and club houses where meals may be obtained at a low rate. After five years of this life the settlers would be expected to find a permanent place in the dominion.

CURED HIS RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 472 L. Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N.J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Elaine

CHAPTER I.

"Flour, Bridget, the suet, and some raisins, please."

The speaker was a young girl, tall and slim as Atlanta when she lost the famous race and won her life's happiness, a girl barely out of her teens, but dowered with a promise of beauty which was closely verging on its fulfillment. A face of perfect oval, hair of a soft yet lustrous black, eyes capable in their brown depths of infinite tenderness and infinite scorn, a mouth not small by any means, but so full of expression that one was apt to read the speaker's meaning before the words were uttered.

She stood with two white, shapely hands resting on the table, her arms bared to the elbow, her eyes fixed meditatively upon the pasteboard. It was a face and figure which would have graced a London drawing-room, a Court salon, but they shone in nothing grander that June morning than an old-fashioned kitchen in an old-fashioned house of the old town of Barefield.

"Flour, miss; suet, miss—and raisins," says the maid-of-all work who had stood helplessly regarding her mistress as if she were about to perform some magical rite whose mysteries were far above Bridget's comprehension. Providence—and the Barefield School Board—have, in their inscrutable wisdom, ordained that though Bridget shall possess some knowledge of reading, writing, and arithmetic, cookery even of the most elementary kind shall be a sealed book to her. "Yes, miss," she says, eyeing the pasteboard with a sort of awe, but she says it doubtfully and despondently. "Flour I've got, and raisins, but suet"—she pauses and rubs a smutty finger against her guileless cheek—"I don't know about the suet; you see, miss, the butcher——"

Elaine looks up and smothers a sigh.

"No suet, Bridget? After all, a raisin pudding is not much of a change. I think we'll have a tapioca."

"A tapioca! Yes, miss," assents Bridget. "Let me see, you'll want—"

"Milk sugar, tapioca and an egg; exactly, Bridget," says Elaine. "How nicely you remember everything!"

"Yes, miss," says the unfortunate slavey, accepting the compliment as a genuine tribute to her intelligence. "But there's no milk, and the milkman said this morning that until his little bill——"

A faint color sweeps over the young girl's face, and her white even teeth catch at the red under lip.

"No milk?" she says with affected cheerfulness.

"No miss, there ain't a drop, and the milkman said——"

"Bridget, somehow I don't seem to feel any overwhelming desire to hear what the milkman said. He is an admirable man and no doubt his words are the words of wisdom and of truth, but we'll forego them. After all, a pudding is an enervating luxury that can well be dispensed with, and we'll go without it today, unless you can suggest one that can be made without suet or milk. Can you, Bridget?"

"Me, Miss Elaine! Lor', miss, how should I?" responds the housemaid, aghast at this call upon her mental resources.

"No, indeed, how should you?" says the girl. "You know what the capital of France is, and who succeeded William IV.; but you don't know anything about puddings, do you, Bridget?"

"I ain't no cook, miss, if that's what you mean, and I never pretended to be."

"You are not and you never did!" assents Elaine emphatically and with a smile that is almost as rueful as a sign. "And if you had pretended the pretence would have been as dismal a failure as our dinner promises to be."

Bridget stares at her mistress for a moment helplessly, then her honest face brightens with—actually an idea.

"I think if I was to go to Mr. Scone, the milkman, and hask it as a personal favor miss, he might let us have a quart. "I'll try him, anyway," and she takes her shawl and bonnet from a hook.

"Do, that's a good girl, and make it a personal favor by all means. Do anything short of going on your knees to him, Bridget."

"Lor', miss, catch me going on my knees to a milkman," responds Bridget with a toss of her head; and with the milk-jug hooked on to one finger and the door key on the other, she departs on her diplomatic mission.

As the outer door closes on her the inner one opens slowly and a gentleman looks in.

It is Major Delaine, Elaine's father. He is a stout comfortable-looking man, with a face that, notwithstanding its closely cropped white hair and equally white moustache, still looks youthful. It is worry that makes a man grow old and care that ultimately kills him. The major has never worried and care and he are strangers. He is well and tastefully dressed, and wears a Gloire de Dijon rosebud in the buttonhole of his well-cut morning coat; and there is a smile on his face which seems to reflect the sunshine pouring in at the window.

The major started in life heavily weighted and he has managed to handicap himself still more heavily. The younger son of the younger son of an earl, the major, with a small allowance, was at the age of twenty-five the pride of his regiment. Even at that early age he was in debt; he has been in debt ever since. Everbody, including his relations, declared that there was only one chance for the handsome young fellow; he must marry money. The major said yes, they were quite right and immediately fell in love and married the fourth daughter of a country parson with a living of two hundred and fifty pounds a year. The major had to leave his beloved regiment, and, with a small millstone of debt round his neck, began married life on his retired pay, and a small, a very small, income left him by a relative whose pity outbalanced his indignation. Many a man would have sunk beneath the weight of his debts and his povery, but he went on smiling, and only ventured to break down when his wife whom he dearly loved, left him for a land where it is to be hoped there are no debts, duns or difficulties.

She left a little girl behind her; the little girl, now grown into a big one, in front of the pudding board waiting for the milk.

The major was inconsolable at first, and everybody prophesied that after the death of his wife he would give in and go under; but he pulled round, and transferring his affections to Elaine, came up as smiling and cheerful and trustful as ever.

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont., writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Medicines, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

Camel Tries Out Tactics Of Mule

Ungainly Brute Cuts Up at Blackstone Car To-day

Army mule skinners contend that one of the Missouri variety is the contrariest beasts on four legs. Blackstone will back his camel, Kaaba, against any of the long eared tribe for money, marbles or chalk. Blackstone with all his prowess as a necromancer could not convince Kaaba that it was time to leave his downy couch of straw in a baggage car in local railroad yards. Had it not been for the brilliant suggestion of a bystander, those who see the Blackstone performance today might not be regaled with sight of the advertised honest to goodness camel.

The big show arrived in town at noon today preparatory for the engagement at the Griffin Opera House tonight. After much of the paraphernalia had been unloaded Kaaba was requested to leave the car. Kaaba didn't feel the same way about it. His keepers were helpless. Mr. Blackstone was called. Although he can disappear a horse in the twinkling of an eye his hocus pocus efforts made no impression on the obstinate ruminant. Block and tackle was brought into play. If ever a camel laughed, Kaaba did.

Comes now a knight of the road who had been watching the proceedings.

"Neighbor," quoth the follower of Coxey to the showman, "For a case note I'll make that ornery varmint come. 'An I wont' lay a hand on him neither."

The fee was forthcoming. Mr. Tramp blew c'garette smoke in Kaaba's face. After a brief inhale, the huge beast followed the smoker out of the car and down the run. So after all Kaaba will be seen as part of the Blackstone Show today.

Most Photographed Girl In The World

Is Jean Tolley in "The Uninvited Guest" at Belle

Jean Tolley is the most photographed girl in the world—actually, even before she ever faced a motion picture camera to appear in the new Metro picture "The Uninvited Guest" coming Tonight to the Belle Theatre. Miss Tolley's striking beauty has impressed hundreds of thousands of sweet-toothed people on every "Happiness" box of candy. Her beauty has also been identified with Pepsodent tooth paste and Chesterfield cigarettes.

Jean was the daughter of a minister, the Rev. Dr. Henry Tolley, and Mrs. Viona Tolley of Milan, Tennessee. She attended Ogonte Seminary in Philadelphia, where she became adept at swimming, tennis, hockey, riding, military drill, and first aid, astronomy and incidentally learned that she was beautiful. At the advent of the war, she was stationed at the Union Protestant Infirmary in Baltimore when her father died, and she was thrown on her own resources, for there was not much money in the Tolley home. So Miss Tolley decided to achieve fame and fortune in the movies, and came to New York. But she was always greeted with the same remark from the casting directors, "I'm sorry, but there is nothing to-day."

Finally the day came when her money ran out and the landlady threatened to evict her. But just then her luck changed and she received a note from Underwood and Underwood, the photographers, whom she had interviewed, asking her to apply at their offices for a test picture for advertising purposes. The test was so successful that Miss Tolley's future was assured from then on.

But posing for advertisements was not Jean Tolcy's idea of success and she determined to try to become a motion picture actress again. Director Ralph Ince, impressed by the fact that she was an expert swimmer and diver as well as a great beauty, gave her a tryout in the leading role of "The Uninvited Guest," and engaged her on the spot. She went with the company to the Bahamas, where most of the picture was screened.

"The Uninvited Guest" is presented by J. E. Williamson, famed for his undersea pictures. Part of the picture was photographed undersea, using the Technicolor process. The story, by Curtis Benton, tells of adventure in the South Seas. The picture was produced by the Submarine Film Corporation operating under the patents of the Williamson Submarine Corporation.

Last evening at St. Michael's Academy the Ladies of St. Michael's were at home to their friends at a delightful euchre. The attendance was exceptionally large despite the inclement weather. This is the first of three card parties the ladies are putting on before Lent to raise funds for the big Bazaar which is to take place around Easter time. As a special attraction a beautiful cut glass dish was given as a special door prize, the lucky winner being Mr. James Lynch. The other prize winners were:—

Ladies first—Miss Irene Bean—teapot, sugar and cream of Bluebird china.

Ladies second — Miss Margaret Hayes—Candy jar filled with candies

Ladies Consolation—Mrs. V. Lynch—Free tickets to Belle Theatre.

Gentlemen first—Phil Allore—Cigars

Gentlemen second—Father Whalen—Pair of slippers.

Consolation — Vincent Corrigan — Silk and wool socks.

After the prizes were distributed refreshments were served by the ladies in charge.

STALE BREAD ROUTED

Pully, Switzerland, Feb. 12— Jean Matti, a baker of this village claims to have discovered a method of keeping bread for two years. After bread has been baked in the ordinary way, Matti merely puts it again into an oven which has a temperature of 104 degrees Fahrenheit. Experts who have investigated Matti's bread say that specimens which he turned over to them 11 months ago are still fresh and edible.

RADIO TO AMUSE LAWMAKERS

Vienna, Feb 12—The onerous duties of caring for the country's weal as member of parliament will be greatly lightened for Austrian lawmakers through the installation of radio in the House of Parliament. The service is to be powerful enough to permit of listening in on London, Berlin, Rome and New York.

It is predicted that attendance at sessions of parliament will improve greatly, but that the radio room will be much more crowded than the chamber.

TREAT POLLUTED WATER

Sterilize It by Boiling or by Adding a Disinfectant

Use Hypochlorite—How to Make and Apply It—Calf Troubles—Sprouted Wheat Injured for Seed—When to Feed Silage.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When wells have become polluted from unsanitary seepage or drainage the cause should be found and removed, and preventive measures taken so that the trouble should not recur.

The water so polluted should be sterilized before being used for drinking purposes. Sterilization may be accomplished either by boiling the water or by the addition of a suitable disinfectant. The disinfectant most suitable for this purpose is a hypochlorite solution.

Stock Hypochlorite for Water Purification.

This hypochlorite solution may be prepared and applied as follows:

1. Mix one-half pound of chloride of lime (33 per cent. available chlorine) with one pint of water.
2. Add sufficient water to make one gallon.
3. Dissolve 13 ounces of sal soda crystals in two quarts of lukewarm water.
4. Add sufficient water to make one gallon.
5. Mix these two solutions in a barrel or crock and allow the milky solution to settle over night.
6. Pour [illegible] the clear liquid from the white sediment into a jug and fill into bottles, well stoppered, and keep cool in a dark place. This "stock hypochlorite" will contain approximately the equivalent of 3 per cent. of chloride of lime or 1 per cent. of available chlorine.

Application.

Mix one ounce of this stock solution to five gallons of water that is to be used for drinking purposes. After mixing allow to stand for half an hour before use.

The solution may be added in small quantities to water after it has been drawn from the well, or the quantity of water in the well or cistern may be estimated and the necessary amount of the solution poured direct into the well and stirred in.

Farm well waters in Ontario suspected of being polluted will be tested upon application to the Bacteriological Laboratory, Ontario Agricultural College.—Prof. D. Jones, O. A. College, Guelph.

Main Causes of Calf Troubles.

Cold milk to-day; warm milk tomorrow.

Sour milk to-day; sweet milk tomorrow.

Sour, dirty feed pails and troughs.

Dirty pens; flies; no protection from heat or sun.

Feeding too much or too little.

No drinking water supply.

Sour whey and sour skim milk from the factory.

Vermin.

It is a good practice to leave the calf with its dam for the first two or three days, even though it is planned to rear the calf by hand.

Autumn-born calves usually escape digestion troubles, due to cold weather being an aid in preventing the souring of food.

A grass lot adjoining the stable is very useful to calves over three months of age. Young calves thrive best in a clean, well ventilated, cool, dry stable.

If the horns are not desired, treat with caustic potash before the calf is more than ten days old.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

Wheat Sprouted Before Harvest Is Injured for Seed.

Winter wheat is less valuable for seed purposes if it becomes sprouted before it is harvested. Experiments were conducted in the Field Husbandry Department at the Ontario Agricultural College in which different varieties of winter wheat which had been more or less sprouted in the fields were tested for germination. The comparative injuries caused by sprouting before harvest is indicated by the following average percentages of the germination of the threshed wheat: Skin over germ, unbroken, 94; skin over germ, broken, 76; sprouts one-quarter inch long, 50; and sprouts one inch long, 18. The sprouted seed not only gave lower germination, but the plants produced were uneven in growth.

This information may prove very valuable in some sections of Ontario where rains have been frequent at the time of winter wheat harvest this autumn.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. C., Guelph.

When to Feed Silage.

The time to feed silage is directly after milking, or several hours before milking. If fed immediately before milking the silage odors may pass through the cow's body into the milk. Besides, the milk may receive some taints directly from the stable air. On the other hand, if feeding is done subsequent to milking, the volatile silage odors will have been thrown off before the next milking hour.

Church Clear of Debt

An enthusiastic meeting of the advisory board of St. George's cathedral, Kingston, was held on Tuesday evening. The dean, who was in the chair, gave an outline for the proposed celebration of the centenary year of the present building, and it was decided to make a vigorous effort to clear the church of debt within the next few months as a thank offering for one hundred years of blessing. Already subscriptions have been received and a campaign will be launched at once.

Spend Much on Relief

The large number of unemployed during the pas tfew months is evidenced by the fact that $34,000 was paid in wages to men employed in relief work by the city of Oshawa from October 1924 to January 31 this year. During the month of January approximately $500 was spent in relief to supply those with food and coal who were invalids or unable to work.

Colds

In the head
Treat them locally

A cold in the head means a local germ attack. Fight it locally. Apply in the nostrils Ely's Cream Balm. Breathe it, watch the instant relief. The air passages are opened, the head is cleared the cold meets its Waterloo.

Some use gas, but the fumes of Ely's Cream Balm are better. Get a bottle from your druggist. Don't suffer the misery of cold or catarrh.

Situation Improves

Although there are still a large number of unemployed in Oshawa, labor conditions have showed a decided improvement since the first of the year, according to C. J. Wilcox, local representative of the Employment Service of Canada.

Tyendinaga Reserve News

Tyendinaga Reserve, Feb. 11—W. A. John and family, Deseronto, spent Sunday with Miss Hill, Mrs. R. Hill held a quilting bee on Friday. W. P. and Mrs. Smith spent Sunday with Mrs. James McFarlane, Marysville. Mr. and Mrs. P. Reid, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith spent Sunday on the Reserve. John Doreen, Oshawa, expects to move to the Reserve in the near future. Mrs. Alexander Loft, Deseronto, is the guest of Mrs. William Maracle.

Golden Wedding Day

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. McAllister, St., Wolfe Island, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on the farm where they went after being married by Father (now Archbishop) Spratt. Of six children, four survive, James at home, and George and Robert, Kelvington, Sask. and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Connelly, Wolfe Island. The couple are in fine health. Their children gave a gold watch to each. Some thirty-five guests enjoyed the event at the homestead.

Disapprove Proposal

At a meeting of the executive of the Kingston and Frontenac county plebiscite committee, held at the Y M.C.A. on Tuesday evening the members expressed their disapproval of the proposal of the Ferguson Government to increase the strength of beer to be sold in the province of Ontario.

C. W. Huycke Dead

Peterboro, Feb. 12.—Charles W. Huycke, a prominent Orangeman of Tweed, is dead from pneumonia. He was a member of the Orange Order, a life member of the Masons, and a communicant of the Methodist Church. His wife and two daughters survive.

Consider Insurance

Lindsay, Feb. 12.—As a result of the court decision in the Belleville case, in which the city was held liable for an accident which occurred recently on one of the city streets, Lindsay town council has been considering the advisability of protecting the municipality by an accident liability policy. The matter was discussed in camera at a recent session of the council, and it was decided to take a chance in the hope that the government would amend the municipal act as a result of the court decision.

Millbrook Not Backward

Millbrook, Feb. 12.—With Omemee reporting suckers in the creek, and robins in the back yards, Muskoka claiming butterflies on the wing in some sections, Mitchel sending word of honey bees out for an airing last Sunday (though many found a snowy shroud as a result of their venture), while June bugs are reported from other points, Millbrook is not behind hand with its harbingers of spring, since Mr. Henry Lord picked a pansy blossom in his garden on Tuesday.

The flower, which is about the size of a quarter, is quite bright as to color, the leaves being slightly curled at the edges. It has evidently bloomed under the snow all winter.

Colds

In the chest—
Apply Red Pepper at once

Not a plaster, not mustard. Not any old-time method. The modern way is Red Pepper Rub.

Nothing else applies such concentrated, such pentrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt. The old ways can't compare.

Rub it on the chest where congestion exists. A cold is congestion, you know. At once you feel the tingling, penetrating heat. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. And soon you will feel the cold loosen.

This is just the age-old method of dealing with a cold, perfected by modern science. Red pepper, applied in this way, does what old ways could not do. Use it once and you will use it always. The difference will quickly show.

But have it ready—get it now. Every hour saved at the start of a cold may save many hours of trouble. Be ready to loosen it at once.

Sulphur Will Clear Skin Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

The Washington Trip

The following is the second of a series of articles written by a Belleville delegate to the World's Missionary Convention at Washington, D.C., recently.

Although the City of Washington, with its beautiful public buildings, circles and streets, was of great interest to the delegation and the auditorium was everything to be desired it was in the speakers themselves, who were to address the convention, that the great interest centred. Perhaps never before were there so many of the men and women celebrated in Christian work collected together. All of the speakers were men of scholarly attainment and Christian character tried in the service and with a personal knowledge of the countries they were speaking of.

The address of welcome to the delegates was given by the President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge. It was listened to with great interest. The leading note of the address was that there should be a revival of faith in Jesus Christ among the Christians of North America and a revival of Christian brotherhood so that all of the different religious denominations should work in unity and love.

The same morning Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, D.D., (Methodist) of Nashville Tennessee, spoke on the "Compulsion of the Gospel." He was followed by Miss Jean K. Mackenzie, (Presbyterian) an African Missionary and Authoress who gave the other address of the morning. She is a woman of great ability and experience and was able to give information as to African Missions in an exceedingly interesting and valuable form.

In the evening, Bishop Herbert Welch, D.D., L.L.D., (English Church) Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Western New York, a member of the United States delegates to the International Opium Conference, Chairman of the Board of Chaplains of the United States Expeditionary Force and Bishop of the Philippine Islands, 1901 to 1918. He also spoke on the present World's situation. He said the great need of the world was not leaders, but followers and that the Conversion of the Christian Church was necessary if the World was to be redeemed. The home must have proper principles instituted by parents, and Church and state should have mutual interest in the Christian advance of the people.

This closed the first day's session and each service was opened with singing and prayer. The addresses interspersed with singing and closed with prayers.

On Thursday, the second day of the Session, the presiding officer was Miss Margaret E. Hodge, Vice-President of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and former president of the Federation of Women's Board of Foreign Missions. The theme was, "Christ the Solution of the Problems of the World."

The first speaker was Rev. John B. McLaurin, B. Th., Missionary in India of the Canadian Missionary Society, since 1909 and principal of the Canadian Baptist Theological Seminary, Madras. Mr. McLaurin who is the son of a missionary, is the cousin of Mr. P. C. McLaurin, Principle of our Collegiate. Mr. McLaurin is a forceful speaker and from his first sentence to the end of his address, held the wrapt atention of the whole convention. His information as to India was of great value, and his splendid way of putting the question was very much appreciated. His subject was "The Message to the Individual." He was followed by Miss Mabel K. Howell, Secretary of Foreign Missions, (Methodist Church South). Her subject was "His Message to Society." Her address was followed by J. H. Oldham, M.A., secretary of the Edinburgh Continuation Committee, from England and his address was very much appreciated. He said among other things it was an error to say "because people or individuals are different, they should quarrel" and made a plea for unity of all Christians of the great work of leading the World to Christ.

The fourth speaker was Rev. E. Stanley Jones, D.D., Missionary in India of the Methodist Church since 1907. His subject was "The Aim and Motive of Foreign Missions." Mr. Jones, was one of the best speakers during the convention. His knowledge of his subject is earnestness in his appeal. The splendid ideas he brought before the convention and the language by which they were expressed charmed all his hearers. He asked "Will the Christian Church be big enough to carry out the Work of Missions." In closing he urged the delegates and the Christians of the World 1 To be more like Jesus Christ. 2. Do not Adulterate or tone down your Christianity, do not give a mild form of Christianity. 3. Build on love as a working force. 4 Study non-christian religions to find the good of them. This session was closed with inter-cession by Pres. W. Douglas Mackenzie, D.D., Hartford, Conn.

In the evening, Right Rev. David Williams, D. D., Bishop of Huron (English Church, in Ontario) was presiding officer. The speakers were Rev. William Axling, D. D., Japan. His subject was "The Gospel in a great Oriental City." He was Missionary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society in Japan since 1901. He spoke of the earthquake in Japan, of the present condition of the country and gave many splendid suggestions to the delegates.

The second subject was "Winning a Province". The speaker was Rev. Watt spays, Misisonary in China since 1907. The third subject was "Movements towards Christians in India, by Rev. John Jesu-Dason, Cornelius, Prof. of Philosophy, Lucknow University, and the fourth address was upon the subject "The Gospel among the Primitive Peoples," by Rev. H. C. McDowell, D. D., of Angola, Africa, and the Rev. C. E. Hurlburt, D. D., General Director of the Home Council for North America, of the African Inland Missions.

These speakers represented Japan, China, India and Africa to the members of the convention in a splendid way and the audience which crowded the auditorium listened with unabated interest from first to last. The illustrations and incidents given by the speakers in reference to the different countries were very instructive and entertaining. Rev. McDowell said he had addressed 16,000 people in one day in Africa. Rev. William Axling explained the position of the Church in Japan, showing the W. C. T. U., Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A., were instituted there. That some Christian Japanese Manufacturers had instituted a time for Christian prayer during the hours of work and even Christian Japanese were making their influence felt in politics as political leaders, had been converted to Christianity.

The delegates passing out of the auditorium could be heard speaking with great enthusiasm of the day's session and all look forward to the splendid programme to come.

Turkey Trotting Turns the Trick In the Laundry

THIS buxom Turkish beauty puts her trotting to practical use. Her sturdy feet rhythmically tread on the soiled clothes in the hexagonal washtub. Her companions are ready to beat the clothes with their flail-like instruments, to loosen the dirt.

They use the primitive and not too cleanly method of washing in Turkey, in vogue when soap was unknown. The oily dirt in the clothes being insoluble in water, the labor of removing it was so great that the fabric was usually injured by the rough treatment.

The dainty American housewife, who wishes to save both her hands and her clothes, uses the pure Ivory white soap which is best for cleansing because of its neutrality, while efficient washing machinery and good soap takes the place of feet in the modern American laundry.

Housewives who are readers of this newspaper may obtain free a helpful 30 page book, "Approved Methods of Home Laundering," by Mary Beals Vail, B. S. Write for it to Health Cleanliness Service, 80 East 11th Street, New York City.

VANITY CASE IN UMBRELLA HANDLE

London Feb. 12— Umbrellas with handles flat as pancakes have appeared in London and are considered quite the thing among fashionably dressed young women.

The umbrellas are altogether too unwieldly to be carried by the handle so are attached to the arm by means of a heavy silk cord. But they have the advantage of doing away with the vanity case, for within the flat handle the owner carries her powder box lip stick, eye lash crayon, a dainty little box of perfume, a three-inch comb, a mirror and enough hair pins to last her several hours.

"Wheel Chair Angel" Has Interesting Work

Rich Irishman Does Kindly Work Among Hospital Convalescents

Johnny McBride, of Rochester, Minn., "the Angel of the Wheel Chairs," has a unique profession. He has followed it for eight years although he has not received a cent of money for his services.

McBride's occupation is pushing wheel chairs, writing letters, running errands, and doing for the invalids who flock to the Mayo Brothers' clinic, the countless things they are unable to do for themselves.

Money sufficient for all his simple needs he always has, so he is storing up treasures of happiness from helping the lonely, helpless strangers.

It is not only in his "home town" that he is affectionately termed the "good samaritan," but in every state of the union. Even in foreign countries are the former "patients" of this little, white-haired man with the twinkly blue eyes and unmistakably Irish features.

No one has kept count of the errands Johnny McBride has run for invalids in Rochester, the letters he has written for them to the "folks back home", the miles he has pushed wheel chairs, or the small loans of money he has made when it was so urgently needed.

All that he has done has been without thought of monetary reward; often he has made outright gifts of small amounts of money when he perceived the need.

"I can't help but think it was Providence that put me in the way of this work," said McBride when asked how he had come to labor for the happiness of others.

"I was living at a hotel, a lonely old fellow with not a thing in the world to do. At the hotel a man from South Dakota and his son were staying. The boy, a lad of 15, was convalescent from an operation.

"All the father could do for him was to push him in his wheel chair to the clinic each day for treatment. But the father had farm crops at home that needed harvesting, so I offered to care for the boy in order that the rancher could return home and tend his crops.

"He took a good look at my Irish face," continued McBride, "and left his son in my care. He wanted to pay me, but I said, "Go on home and cut your wheat; I want no pay for pushin' the lad!"

"So that was how I got started pushin' wheel chairs. And I've been at it ever since."

NAPANEE HEARS RUSSIAN BARONESS

Napanee, Feb. 12.—The Town Hall was graced with a large atendance of Napaneeans when under the auspices of the Ladies Musical and Literary Club the charming young Russian noblewoman, Baroness de Hueck, gave a graphic account of her experiences during the Russian revolution and as a prisoner of the Bolsheviks. The lecture was interspersed with a very choice program given by members of the club, which consisted as follows: Violin solo, Mrs. Cameron Wilson, vocal solo, Mrs. Vaulkman; piano solo, Mr. Beverly Thompson; vocal solo, Mr. Fred Cliff; piano solo, Miss McMaster; violin solo, Miss Dorothy Scott.

The above artists who contributed to the program rendered their numbers in a most exacting manner, receiving very generous applause. The comprehensive lecture which Baroness de Hueck gave was divided into two parts, the first being a thrilling story of her own personal experiences during the revolution, while during the second part the Baroness appeared in Russian court dress and portrayed glimpses of life at the Czar's Court.

Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C., occupied the chair in a most capable manner, and in a few brief remarks introduced the program for the evening, the opening number being a very delightful piano solo most beautifully rendered by Mr. Beverly Thompson. That was followed by a violin solo by Mrs. Cameron Wilson, in which she received great applause Baroness de Hueck was then introduced to the audience, by Mr. Herrington and in a few preliminary remarks expressed her pleasure in being in Napanee.

The Baroness, who speaks English very fluently, opened her lecture by giving a vivid description of Russia in the peaceful days prior to the great war, following with a splendid resume of the valiant part which the Russians took in the early part of the struggle.

Although Russia had been called traitor during the latter part of the war, she assured the audience that her vast nation was in full sympathy with the Allies until destroyed by the Bolshevik regime.

The speaker during her lecture gave many striking and personal word pictures and at the conclusion of the first part of the lecture was tendered an ovation. This was followed by the balance of the musical program, which proved highly interesting.

In the concluding part on the program the speaker appeared in Russian court dress, portraying glimpses of life at the Czar's Court.

It was conceded by all to have been one of the best lectures ever given under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical Club.

TREASURE MAP LURES EX-MAYOR

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 12—Staking his faith on a map portraying the location of an Arctic bonanza, James Townsend Fullerton, former mayor of Port Townsend, Wash., and the founder of a loganberry industry on the Olympic Peninsula of Washington is to make a search with a friend in April for a rich mine in Alaska. The mine was discovered and mapped many years ago by a prospector who deid suddenly after bringing out 393 pounds of nuggets, said Mr. Fullerton.

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. SHEPHERD, 130 Jos. Janisse Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painful times, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell this medicine.

Cured Her Rheumatism

Knowing from terrible experience the suffering caused by rheumatism, Mrs. J. E. Hurst, who lives at 204 Davis Avenue, B 415, Bloomington, Ill., is so thankful at having cured herself that out of pure gratitude she is anxious to tell all other sufferers just how to get rid of their torture by a simple way at home.

Mrs. Hurst has nothing to sell. Merely cut out this notice, mail it to her with your own address and she will gladly send you this valuable information entirely free. Write her at once before you forget.

ROBERT GOWDY COUNCIL CHOICE FOR ALDERMAN

To Succeed Ald. A. E. LaRoche Who Recently Resigned

TO CONVENTION

Mayor, Ald. Patterson and City Engineer Will Attend

Mr. Robert Gowdy will be the new member of the Belleville City Council having been appointed by the aldermen to fill the vacancy caused by the recent resignation of Alderman A. E. LaRoche, who retired when he was appointed a member the Suburban Area Commission. The selection was almost unanimous at the committee meeting held last night. Mr. Gowdy is a well-known citizen who for many years has been associated with the Marsh Engineering Works and is expected to make a capable Alderman.

The by-law covering his appointment will be passed at the Council meeting on Monday evening.

To Attend Convention

Mayor W. C. Mikel, Alderman W. H. Patterson, chairman of the Public Works Department and Mr. C. D. Campbell, city engineer will represent the city at the annual convention of the Good Roads Association. This convention will be held in Toronto on the 25th, 26th, and 27th of this month.

Would Stop Work On Suburban Road

Aldermen of Belleville Sending Along Recommendation to Government

At a regular meeting of the civic committees held last evening, considerable business was transacted and a number of recommendations were adopted and passed on to the Council for endorsation.

Urban municipalities are being heavily taxed to assist in construction and upkeep of Provincial suburban roads and it is proposed to petition the Legislature for some relief in the way of reducing the cost to urban municipalities. It is also proposed to petition the Legislature to stop construction on suburban roads for a period of five years or until such time as the state of trade would warrant the continuing of the work.

The recommendations adopted were as follows:

That the Council of the City of Belleville join with other urban municipalities in petitioning the Provincial government to stop suburban road construction for a period of five years or until such time as the state of the trade would warrant construction and that the chairmen of the executive and public works committees be a special committee to meet in conference with representatives from other municipalities at a date and place to be arranged to discuss this matter and to take such action as the committee thinks advisable.

That this Council join with the City of Peterboro, the town of Lindsay and other municipalities in petitioning the Provincial Legislature to enact such legislation as will lessen their responsibility in the matter of liability to persons injured on the public highway of the municipalities.

That the Council of the City of Belleville co-operate with the City of London and other municipalities in an endeavor to obtain from the Provincial Government some relief in a reduction on the heavy cost of the urban municipalities share of the construction of Provincial suburban roads

That the Patterson Construction Company Limited be paid their holdback of $404.92 in connection with the construction of the sanitary sewer on Benjamin and Ponton street and Murney street and that the treasurer be authorized to issue cheque for this amount.

That Levi Buckley be paid the sum of $200 for lands to be conveyed to the City of Belleville for the extension of Bleecker Avenue south as set out in agreement of purchase and that the treasurer be authorized to issue cheque for this amount.

That the police commissioners be requested to pass a by-law compelling all owners or tenants of property used as junk shops or yards which are situated directly on any street or highway in the city to erect tight board fences in front of such yards or premises, as will hide the accumulation of junk, old iron, etc., from view of pedestrians and others passing along the said streets or highways. the erection of said fences to be under the direction and according to plans of city engineer.

ENTERTAIN WORKLESS AT LODGE TO-NIGHT

Shouldn't Use That Kind Of Talk Wife Warns Husband This Morning

But Then She Forgot What Day It Was and Should have Made a Few Allowance For Him

When the rude rattle of the alarm clock woke him up while it was yet dark this morning, he was just in the middle of a lovely dream wherin he was rolling in wealth. His first waking thought was of a coal bill, long overdue, which he had promised to pay to-day.

On the way across the floor, he stubbed his toe on a block which one of the children had left conveniently before toddling off to bed. His wife delivered a sleepy lecture on the use of that kind of language in the presence of the children. Maybe they were asleep, but he was doing his best to wake them up. He feared the worst when he passed his hand over the register. It was stone cold. To start a fire in the furnace meant being late for work. And the boss had cautioned him on this subject only the day before yesterday.

In the cellar, he found the electric lamp hd burned out, and by deduction came to the conclusion that Johnny had been playing with the garden rake. For he stepped on the business end of it and the handle came up to meet his nose.

There were no clean collars, he discovered, after a stern wrestling match with the furnace. Re-waking his wife, she informed him it was his own fault. Why didn't he buy three or four extra and not be dependent on the laundry man coming back to the day?

He slipped on an icy pavement and muttered dangerously about the householder who hadn't the decency to keep his walks clear or use ashes or something.

Of course, the boss had to be down extra early this morning. His coffee must have been bad, or else he had had a bad night's sleep.

Then he tore the sheet on his desk calendar and learned it was Friday the Thirteenth.

Presbyterian Body Claims A Majority

Daily Statement Shows 2,362 of Popular Vote in Their Favor

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Majority of 2,362 of the popular vote against Union in the latest returns of votes by ballot to date, throughout the whole Dominion is claimed to-day by the Presbyterian Church Association in their daily statement. The summary in regard to Ontario, on the same basis, is shown by the statement to be 11,060 against union.

BELLEVILLE MAN MOVES TO BARRIE

Mr. Thomas Donahue, 62 Dunbar street, has taken a long lease on the Grand Opera House at Barrie, and will shortly leave for that town where he will conduct the business. He intends to leave early next week.

Mr. Donahue will renovate and redecorate the Opera House which is the largest of the three show houses in that town.

Mr. Donahue, who is well known here, being an old show man, having been in the photography business here for the past five years, was presented with a smoking set by some forty or fifty friends who recently congregated at his home.

The family will later move to Barrie and take up residence.

TAKE MEN ON AT STEEL CORPORATION

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 13.—Up to Thursday about 500 men have been taken on at the steel plant of the Algoma Steel Corporation since the first of the month in connection with the preparations for the opening of the rail mill on March 2, on orders for the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways. There are now about 1,200 men on the pay roll at the plant.

The open-hearth furnaces and one blast furnace will start operations on February 20. This will mean two blast furnaces in operatiion, as one blast furnace and one battery of coke ovens have been running right through. Everything will be in readiness for the rail mill to start on double shift on March 2.

MAN CONFESSES TO MOST BRUTAL CRIME

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Coleman, Mich., Feb. 13.—Marguerite, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Todd, living near her, was stabbed to death when on her way home from school yesterday. Victor Badgely, 29, has been arrested and Sheriff Baily says Badgely has confessed to killing the girl with a pocket knife.

Sheriff Bailey and Prosecutor B. E. Morris said Badgley confessed that he killed the girl after attempted assault, fearing she would inform her parents. They quoted Badgely as saying he used a pocket knife, stabbing the girl three times in neck severing the artery. Search for child started when she failed to come home at the regular time yesterday from school. The body was found a half mile from her home in clump of bushes. Badgely is a married man.

Forest Protection Is Convention Aim

Representative Inter-Provincial Meeting Held at Toronto To-day

Toronto, Feb. 13.—One of the most representative meetings to be held in connection with the forest protection from fire opened today at the King Edward Hotel, when experts from the Federal Government, Ontario and Quebec Governments, as well as New York State, attended the first annual forest protection meeting of the Canadian National Railways. The gathering will be presided over by C. G. Bowker, General Manager, and among the various subjects to be discussed will be those of development, of closer co-operation between the National Railways and the various forestry organizations for the protection of forested areas in Northern Ontario and Quebec, and the various methods of forest fire fighting, including the development of small power pumps and railway fire tank cars. One of the unique features of the meeting will be a discussion on the possibility of determining what might be called forest fire weather through the co-operation of meteorological bureau. So far as the railway fire protective work is concerned, this is a new feature in the effort to save the forests from fire loss and it is a question which has aroused deep interest among the various forestry associations.

Apart from the distinguished figures in forest protective work, a large number of Canadian National officials, head ed by W. H. Kilby, chief of forest protection, of Montreal, will be present and will deliver papers and take part in the discussions. Among the other papers which will be read will be those by Dr. Clifton Howe, Dean of the Faculty of Forestry University of Toronto, E. H. Finlayson, Acting Director Dominion Forestry Branch, Ottawa, E. J. Zabitz, Provincial Forester Ontario Forestry Branch, Toronto, C. G. Piche, Chief of Forest Service Quebec, Clyde Leavitt, Chief Fire Inspector Board of Railway Commissioners, Ottawa, and Royal S. Kellogg, Secretary Newsprint Service Bureau, New York.

The meetings will continue during the day and in the evening a banquet will be held at the King Edward Hotel at which addresses will be made by men prominently interested in forest protection and conservation.

PETERSON CONTRACT IS TO BE TABLED

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—A motion by the Prime Minister, just before adjournment last evening, that the Preston report on the North Atlantic steamship combine be printed in English and French for the convenience of the members, prompted Sir Henry Drayton to ask if the contract with the Petersen interests would also be tabled.

The Prime Minister replied that a bill would be brought down later at which time the contract would also be presented to the House.

Sir Henry remarked that the report would be much more enlightening if the members also knew, at the time they were reading it, what effect was to be given to it.

BUS PROPOSAL COMING UP ON MONDAY NEXT

Request of St. Catherine's Man For Exclusive Franchise

TO HEAR TAXIMEN

Busses Would Be Up-to-Date; Twenty Minute Service

At 4.30 on Monday afternoon a special committee of the city council will meet to consider the request of Frederick Rowan of St. Catharines for a permit to have an exclusive franchise for operating a motor bus line in the city on the following streets:

Commencing at the corner of Dundas street and Front street, proceeding north on Front street and east on Station street to Bleecker Avenue, thence to Pine street, thence west on Pine to Charles street, thence south on Charles to Dundas street to the place of beginning.

It is proposed to have a twenty minute service, the price to be charged, 10 cents per ride or 4 tickets for twenty five cents.

The busses are modern and up-to-date in every respect and weigh 7800 pounds.

As the taxi men of the city are desirous of being heard in reference to the proposal, they are invited to attend the meeting on Monday afternoon, which will be held in the Council Chamber.

Ottawa Debate Is Closed Illegally

Prime Minister is to Move That It Be Re-opened

Ottawa, Feb. 13—Though the debate on the address in the House of Commons was concluded last night without division and without amendment, shortly after six o'clock, a motion will be put at the opening of the House today by the Prime Minister to resume the debate. The end came last night when W. F. Maclean, of South York finished his speech and Deputy Speaker Gordon put the question to a practically empty house. No other speaker rose to continue the debate. and the address was adopted.

Following the adjournament of the House the party leaders met, and it was claimed by the Conservative opposition that the motion had been submitted after six o'clock without the unanimous consent of the House having been obtained. It was claimed that this was contrary to the rules and to the agreement reached between party whips. Consequently it was agreed to restore the order to the order paper, and a motion to this effect is to be made today.

In view of the probable resumption of the debate on the address to-morrow, the bringing down of the estimates has been indefinitely postponed and as the Conservatives are planning to take part in the debate is now appears that it will be well into next week before the way is cleared for the House to get into committee of supply.

Tariff Board Needed

Contributors to the debate yesterday were Herbert Marler, Liberal of St. Lawrence-St. George, and W. F. Maclean, Conservative, of South York. Mr. Marler made a detailed study of Canada's financial position of national income and expenditure, remarking that until the railway position substantially improved there was little probability of substantial reduction in taxation. Mr. Marler thought that the deficit resulting from a reduction in railway freight rates might well be borne by the country as a whole, and should not be assessed in a manner that would injure existing railways. On the tariff. Mr. Marler urged a scientific revision, conducted by a properly constituted tariff board.

Mr. Maclean had sharp criticism for the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. "I am here," declared Mr. Maclean, referring to the Lemieux Act decision. "to protest against a condition which allows the Judicial Committee to shoot holes in our legislation. Under present conditions, the Dominion of Canada has no more to do with its own legislation than the man in the street."

URGE RETURN TO GOLD STANDARDS

Geneva Feb. 13—Immediate return to the gold standard by all countries which have stabilized currency was urged by the League of Nations Finance Committee in its report last night as the most desirable way to accelerate the economic recovery of the world.

It was announced that Czecho-Slovakia has decided to create an independent bank issue to determine the exact gold content of its monetary unit.

OPTIMISM WAS SHATTERED AT TUNNEL TO-DAY

Passage Way Discovered Turned Out to Be Blind

SURGEON IS READY

Was to Have Been Sent Down Rescue Shaft

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Feb. 13.—Engineer Carmichael announced this afternoon on emerging from the shaft that the new found tunnel was a blind hole leading nowhere. The sinking of the shaft will be continued.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 13—A tunnel, large enough to admit a big man, found early this morning at the bottom of the rescue shaft near the fifty foot level and diggers believed it was Collins' cavern. Exploration began as soon as some timbering had been completed.

H. T. Carmichael and two miners at ten o'clock this morning began the exploration of the tunnel.

All spectators and newspapermen were ordered away from the mouth of the shaft to the top of the hill a hundred feet or more distant.

Homer Collins, younger brother of imprisoned man, came out of the rescue shaft at 9.45 and said.

"I have great hopes."

At that time no one had entered the newly discovered tunnel.

Dr. William Hazlett of Chicago, in charge of medical preparations for attending Floyd Collins, if he is found with even a faint spark of life, is to be sent down into the tunnel as soon as Collins is located.

Toronto Minister Turned Down Couple

Said Marriage of Girl to Chinaman Was Morally Wrong

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Ministerial objection prevented the marriage of Florence Fisher, aged 20, laundress, to Frank Louie, a Chinese Chef yesterday, despite all arrangements and the tearful protests of the intended bride. As announced yesterday, the wedding was to have taken place in the evening at a private house and Rev. Bertram Nelles, of Dale Presbyterian Church, had promised to perform the ceremony.

Just before the hour set for the wedding, a note arirved from Mr. Nelles which read.

"I have decided to have nothing to do with the matter you and Miss Fisher consuulted me about last evening. From a legal point of view, it may be considered right, but morally it is wrong, and I refuse absolutely to take any part."

"We are going to find a minister somehow", declared Miss Fisher. "My sister has come up from Buffalo for the wedding and its going to take place."

H. A. Laurance provincial commissioner of the Ontario boy scouts, who told the provincial scout convention that last year was the most successful one in the history of the movement in this province.

CANDLE AND FUMES CAUSE GARAGE FIRE

Milton, Ont., Feb. 13—Caused by a gasoline explosion, a spectacular fire completely destroyed a garage containing a car, at the rear of S. Davidson's home in Esquesing Township north of Milton, Wednesday night. The fire was started when a candle by the light of which Mr. Davidson was repairing his car, ignited the gas fumes. Mr. Davidson escaped serious burns and injury an destimates his loss at $1,200.

Floyd Collins' Last Hope. The shaft being sunk in Barren County, Kentucky, in the hope of releasing Floyd Collins from his tomb in Sand Cave is shown above. It is estimated that the tunnel in which Collins is trapped is about 60 feet below the surface. This fact makes it necessary to sink a very substantial shaft, heavily timbered.

CONSERVATIVES WILL STICK TO THEIR PREMIER

To Be No Bolters on Liberal Amendment of Censure

A BRIEF SESSION

Is Private Members' Day, And No Bills Are Ready

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Feb. 13.—There will be no bolters from the Conservative side on the Liberal amendment to censure Premier Ferguson for, as the Liberals, allege, violating his pledge to the temperance people.

This is the view gathered from lobby gossip this morning. There are, however, it is said, a few opposition members who want the O.T.A. amended as the government proposes, who will nevertheless support the Liberal amendment on the ground that Premier Ferguson was not free to bring in a measure for stronger beer.

This afternoon's session of the Legislature will be very brief, unless someone introduces a new topic under special privilege. It is private member's day, and there are no bills ready for debate. They are all in the petition stage. There will be no concontinuance of the big debate until Tuesday.

In the Ontario Legislature yesterday, the Liberal leader, W. E. N. Sinclair, moved an amendment to the reply to the Speech from the Throne accusing the prime minister of a breach of his promise regarding the Ontario Temperance Act. It will get the united support of the Liberal and Progressive members. W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, will not speak in the debate until Tuesday.

Mr. Sinclairs, amendment is as follows:

"And that this house views with disapproval the direct violation of the pledged word of the prime minister of Ontario to the people by the government suggesting legislation to amend the Ontario Temperance Act."

Declines the Challenge

Other matters were covered by Mr. Sinclair's speech. He dealt with unemployment, and endorsed the Ottawa Government's stand towards the problem. Asked by Premier Ferguson if Ottawa had not some responibility in the matter since it paid a premium for immigrants to flood the country, he replied: "In law, no." Mr. Sinclair also suggested that the Government should probe for treasury department irregularities back behind the time of Peter Smith. "My friend," Premier Ferguson said, "is making suggestions and insinuations. If he will make charges this Government will see that he shall have a tribunal and the fullest and most exhaustive investigation". Mr. Sinclair however, refused the challenge upon the ground that it was not his place to make charges.

CHARGE THESE MEN SOLD MOONSHINE

Richard McVicar and another man named Fraser of Deseronto are facing trial before Police Magistrate Henry Bedford at Deseronto this afternoon on charges of selling moonshine.

Both young men were arrested in that village Thursday by Headquarters Staff Officers of the Provincial police here, and were taken into custody there.

Sergeant E. A. Rae and Constable S. Elliott of the Provincial police are in Deseronto this afternoon for the trial at which County Attorney B.C. Donnan is conducting the case for the Crown.

SIX NATIONS TRIBE CLAIMS $1,000,000

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 13.—That there is a possibility of the members of the Six Natoins Indians of Tuscarora Township, Brant County, being financially recouped, with other members of the tribes, is indicated by frequent visits to the reserve recently of members of the United States body of the Six Nations. The latter are fighting a claim for millions of dollars' worth of lands, some now located in New York City and Buffalo. They claim that it was given to them in 1784, and taken away without good reason. If the claim is made good, each member of the Six Nations would get between $30,000 and $40,000 and a fight is being waged to have them recouped for the illegal losses.

A GOOD SIGN

Those who are engineering the Belleville Old Boys' Re-Union and Peace Celebration, scheduled for the first week in August, are hard at work. A group of upwards of twenty or twenty-five men are giving up an evening a week in preparing for the big event next summer. Many of them find two meetings a week necessary. Three or four have taken while days from their own business to carry out details necessary for the progress of arrangements. Scores of business men have been canvassed on an advertising project. Individuals have made trips to printers, written letters on celebration business to out-of-town folk, collected names of Old Boys for invitation purposes. Mayor Mikel is busy every day building up a great publicity factory. His Honor Judge Wills, executive chairman, is allowing a very considerable portion of his day to be given over to celebration business. The outsider is surprised at the amount of work being carried on even at this early date.

Such activity on the part of such a great number of Belleville citizens augurs success not so much for the celebration, as for the welfare of the community. These citizens get no graft. They are not paid in money for their services. After all they receive little enough credit.

Motive power for their endeavor is pride in their own city.

THE WRONG PLACE

In Vienna the school teachers are instructed to teach children to be polite to tourists who are visiting that country. Such lessons will be of importance in so far as it instils in the minds of the young, the value of tourists to a country.

Politeness is not successfully taught in schools. This prized attribute in a child is best attained through the example of parents at home and through the teaching of parents during the pre-school age.

WELL SOLVED

Harrassed as he was by the wets on the one hand and the drys on the other, Premier G. Howard Ferguson has handled an unpleasant situation in an admirable manner. This is more apparent when one recalls that almost half of the voters of Ontario asked for the Government sale of all liquors. If the Conservative government carries out the program which it has outlined since the Speech from the Throne, was delivered, the extreme wets alone will have reason for dissatisfaction, Prohibitionists who have condemned the Government hastily, sending in resolutions of protest, before the proposed amendments to the O.T.A. were explained in detail, no doubt look at the matter in a different light at the present time. There was undue alarm.

In effect, the Conservative Government proposes to clamp down the lid air-tight on the illicit traffic of liquor, and has made but a slight concession to the thirsty.

Jail, without the option of a fine, for the man caught selling liquor, is enforcement of the O.T.A. far exceeding the fondest hopes of the prohibition forces. It is a daring program, worthy of a real leader, when one takes into consideration the thousands who voted wet at the last plebiscite. And if that does not suppress bootlegging in Ontario, nothing else will.

As for the new beer, one must be non-committal for the moment. It may serve the purpose of slacking thirst without causing a man to roll in a devious course down the sidewalk. It will not suit the man who wants to get "drunk", and it need not be feared by temperance workers as a "thin wedge".

This from the mouth of the Premier must be reassuring to the drys: "It is a temperance beverage and as such, it will need no restrictions. If we should find out that it is intoxicating, we will do away with it."

HUMANITY REVEALED

The heart of the world seems as cold and passionless as stone in this age of materialism, but amidst this eternal struggle for existence there occasionally occurs something to tear aside this veil of indifference, revealing that man is still his brother's keeper.

During those ten days while rescuers dug furiously to free Floyd Collins from a Kentucky cave people everywhere suffered with the imprisoned man. Many longed for the oportunity to assist in the rescue work and asked themselves again and again why those tireless men at Sand Cave did not dig faster. People are still interested in people even though thousands, separated only by thin apartment walls, remain total strangers.

The pursuit of the everlasting dollar continues with ever increasing avidity and avarice but always to swell contributions to charity and the relief of suffering masses here and abroad. Compassion for the needy and helpless is not a sentiment felt only by a few. It is quite as universal as the love of companionship and worldly possessions.

Life itself is the best contradiction of those who accuse humanity of cold indifference and of selfishness.

Press Opinions

OUT OF THE BURIED PAST

(London Times)

It was a little circlet of faded blue flowers—a human note that told of simple grief when the boy king who lived and loved those many centuries ago went down the long, dim corridors of death—that gave to the discoverers of the tomb of Tutankhamen their keenest thrill.

Placed on the golden brown of the effigy of the dead king by the soft hand of his girl-wife; surrounded by the magnificence and splendor of all the wealth and beauty of ancient Egypt, the little wreath of blue and yellow lotus flowers remained for 33 centuries to tell their tale.

"And nothing", said Howard Carter, the archaeologist, "in all the wonder of that splendid tomb was quite so beautiful as those few withered blooms. That little touch has made the ancient world akin to our modern civilisation."

AN INSPERING STORY

(Stratford Beacon-Herald

A good deal has already appeared in the newspapers about the carrying of the diphtheria serum to Nome, and it is a story that is worth telling and repeating. The honors are divided between men and dogs, and it is to the credit of the men that they are not merely willing but anxious to divide the honors with the dogs.

One of the men, telling of his experience, said that the time came when in the blinding gale he could no longer see the trail. "I gave Balto"—Balto was the lead dog—"his head and trusted to him. It was Balto who led the way. The credit is his."

It is a fine tribute to a dog. Incidentally it is a tribute to the man who was capable of paying it to a dog.

TOO MANY LAWS

(Toronto Star)

Former Senator Beveridge is rebelling against the making of so many laws in the United States. The nation and the state, he says, are smothered with laws. There is too much lawlessness, and much of it is due to an excess of legislation. Congress passes hundreds of laws every year and forty-eight legislatures do the very same. A session of the New York legislature produces a million words of new laws, and the New York Sun says it would take a citizen more than three months, reading 10,000 words a night, to take it all in.

Of course, no citizen does take it all in, and few lawyers even try to keep up with all of it, but dig into the mass of it when a particular case drives them to it.

About the most important thing any legislature does is when, periodically it causes the statutes to be consolidated and boiled down to comprehensible dimensions.

HUGE REAL ESTATE PROFIT

(Toronto Saturday Night)

The remarkable increase in real estate values in large United States centres is well illustrated by a sale which took place in New York City recently. A property at the corner of Madison Avenue and Forty-fourth street was purchased in 1870 for the sum of about $70,000, it being a small lot, 25 by 100 feet. It was sold the other day for the sum of $5,880,000 payable in annual instalments over a period of 53 years. In other words, for a period reaching to 2008, there will be paid annually to Charles Dards, his heirs and assigns, a sum approximately equal to the cost of this property fifty-five years ago. It still looks as if city real estate is the one best bet.

To-day's Smile

He was a cautious, middle aged wooer, and, with certain reservations, he had bestowed his affections on the minister's cook.

He had satisfied himself as to her suitability in all respects with the exception of one important point; he felt that the question of "siller" must be fixed up before he went farther.

On asking her how well off she was, his prospective fiancee cast a chill over his expectations by admitting that she had little of this world's goods. But she told him that she had a rich uncle, from whom she had expectations.

"Aweel, Jean," remarked the wooer, "we'll say nae mair aboot it the noo. But ye ken ma feelin's if black-edged leter comes".

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Fishing

LIFE is more like fishing than it is like anything else.

All progress is by fumbling and experiment rather than by logic and intelligence.

We are not to blame for our color, our home, our race, or for not being born the Prince of Wales or otherwise born to great place. But we are responsible within certain limits.

We are not responsible for not being a fish, or a bird. That is a matter wholly beyond our control. How we were born and where we were born depends upon others than ourselves. But we should not forget that a great deal depends upon ourselves.

There are rays of light the other side of red and beyond violet, but we cannot see them. There are doubtless beauties in the universe that lie beyond the capacities of the human eye, so there are sounds too low and too high for the human ear.

Those who are most likely to be successful are those who realize both their responsibilities and their limitations. It is necessary not only for a man to work hard, but for him to offer his product in the best markets. To be a good fisherman he must not know how to fish, skillfully, but he must know where the fish are.

There is no fishing where the fish are not. You may be an expert caster and select your worm or fly, and have all manner of patience, but it will do you no good unless the fish are there to bite.

The most remarkable thing about Jesus is not only that He said such wonderful things, but that He found so many people who believed Him and at least partially understood Him.

In other words, His greatness consisted not only in His wisdom, but in His knowledge of the human race.

It is necessary not only for the sculptor to have a beautiful ideal and dream and a knowledge of the plastic art, but it is necessary for him to know how to use his clay.

In this way the remarkable thing about Paderewski is not that he can play the piano so well, but the extraordinary thing is the number of people who appreciate his playing.

A proper appreciation is the test of greatness.

What good does it do you to be an expert wood carver if nobody wants your wood carving?

So in what we produce an eye should always be had toward the demand of the people who use our product. If there is no demand, there is not much use in making the product.

Thirty Years Ago

The roads are gradually being made passable, and our country friends who have been shut off from communication with the city, are thronging to Belleville in large numbers.

As a sample of the bad roads prevalent we give the case of Mr. Adam Rushnell, living near Holloway, who left his home on the 11th at one o'clock for Foxboro, 6 miles distant and did not reach home until six o'clock.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Young, West Bridge St., where they entertained a number of friends from Frankford, Paris and Murray.

"Charley's Aunt" will be seen at the Queen's Opera House on Friday evening. It is one of the biggest comedy successes which this country has seen in years.

An oyster supper was held last night at the Methodist Church in the village of Canifton.

Famous Captain Blood On His Way

Big Vitagraph Picturization Of Intelligencer Serial Comes Monday

J. Warren Kerrigan, who has the role of Captain Blood in Rafael Sabatini's famous novel of the same name which will be the attraction at Griffin theatre Monday to Wednesday, has lost his beautiful curly locks and joined the Shaved Headed Men's Club. For several years Kerrigan's hair has been admired by the fair sex and it was with regret that he allowed Director David Smith to shave his pate for the producion.

Kerrigan is a true artist and willing to go to great personal sacrifice for art's sake. In several sequences he even allows his beard to grow and his hair to become unkempt. In others he appears without a visible hair on his head, save his eyebrows, lashes and goatee. During the major portion of the production, however his head is graced with a curly wig hanging over his shoulders.

The story is set in the period of 1685 when men wore wigs, the custom originated in France in the 14th century when an elaborate curled wig graced the head of Louis XIII to cover baldness. It was adopted as a distinctive figure of court dress by Louis XIV and was introduced into England under Charles II. Wigs are still used in Great Britain as part of the official regalia of the Lord Chancellor and of the speaker and clerks of the house of Commons. It is the professional dress of judges and barristers in Great Britain and Ireland. The judge's wig gives to his decisions a weight and sacredness they would not have were he bareheaded.

Chicago, Feb. 13—With the announcement of export business amounting to 1,500,000 bushels and with the Liverpool market advancing instead of reflecting the recent depression of values on this side of the Atlantic, the wheat market here made vertical rise of seven cents a bushel today almost as soon as trading began. Word that the United States Department of Agriculture was authority for the statement that the world wheat supplies would be very low at the end of the crop year counted also as a decided stimulating factor. Big selling to realize profits developed on bulge in prices, however, and top quotations failed to hold. The opening which ranged from 3 1-4c to 7c higher was followed by reaction in which May descended to $1.80 1-4. Oats started at 1-4c to 2 7-8c advance. Later May dropped to 61 1-2c. Despite higher quotations on hogs, provisions underwent a sharp tumble owing to break in prices of food.

According to the Johannesburg Star, a scieintific discovery of the first imporance has been made in the Union and developed by investigation from Johannesburg. So far as its nature can be put into a sentence it is the discovery of a fossil skull representing something really midway between a man and the great apes. The expression "missing link" most nearly covers the nature of the owner of the skull in question, which was that of an individual of about six years of age.

See Real Picture Of New York City

In "Tarnish" Film now Showing at Griffin Theatre

A majority of all motion pictures produced present some phase of New York life, but according to Ronald Colman, who plays the leading masculine role in "Tarnish," the Samuel Goldwyn-George Fitzmaurice production, which is now playing at the Griffin Theatre, not one of ten mirrors truly life in the metropolis.

"If one had never visited New York," states Colman, "but relied solely upon the motion picture for his or her impression it might be believed that there were nothing in New York but cabarets and the mansions of the rich. Or that all downtown offices were as spacious as palaces and had twenty-foot ceilings.

"'Tarnish,' however, is one of the few pictures I have acted in which shows New York as it really is. Perhaps it is because both Mr. Goldwyn, the producer, and Director George Fitzmaurice are thoroughly familiar with the metropolis. 'Tarnish' deals with a typical New York family and it very accurately pictures the life of the wealthy, the middle classes, and the very poor. The cabaret it shows is not an over-gaudy bizarre affair such as no New Yorker ever saw. It is of course, lively, gay, exotic, and to anyone who has visited Broadway's white lights it will recall memories of the most famous night cafes.

"The whole story seems to catch the spirit of Manhattan—just as surely and accurately as O. Henry caught it in his famous short stories.

New York itself apparently, supports Coleman in his belief, for "Tarnish" was one of the most successful stage plays that Broadway has seen for years. In addition to Colman, May McAvoy, Norman Kerry, Marie Prevost and Harry Myers have important roles in the screen version of the play.

Guelph Man Invents New Heating System

Makes Furnaces of Tungsten Steel Plate Instead of Cast Iron

By using tungsten steel plate instead of cast iron and fusing all points with the modern electric arc welding process, R. K. Dawson, an officer of the Gilson Manufacturing Co., Limited, Guelph, is credited with having invented a heating plant that promises to be revolutionary. Tungsten steel plate, it is claimed gives quicker heat from less fuel and the new furnace should reduce the coal bills of Canadian homes by one-third. Another important advantage of this new invention is that it produces a furnace that is one complete unit without joints—lighter in weight and easier to ship and install.

Broad basic patents are now pending in Canada, United States and foreign countries, covering, not only the new method of the construction, but also many new ideas in combustion, radiation and circulation which have been embodied in this new furnace. The inventor R. K. Dawson, lives at Guelph, Ontario.

The development work covering several years was carried on at the plant of the Gilson Mfg. Co. at Guelph, who are prominent furnace manufacturers and are now manufacturing this new furnace for the Canadian and U. S. markets.

FORTY THOUSAND INFLUENZA VICTIMS

London, Feb. 13.— (United Press).—Forty thousand London school children are influenza victims in some cases less than half the average attendance being in their classes.

The British Isles are in the grip of an epidemic, that is spreading with alarming rapidity although the disease itself is comparatively mild. The influenza has made serious inroad in business, society and government work.

Many functions have been abandoned and many committees lack quorums as their members are stricken with the "flu."

In many districts throughout England and Scotland there is a severe epidemic of measles as well.

FAMOUS OLD GYPSY HAS PASSED AWAY

Budapest, Feb. 13.—Jazz music broke the heart of Banda Marci, king of gipsy fiddlers who was recently buried here with 10,000 admirers and friends standing beside his grave.

Count Stefan Tisza and many other famous Hungarians were the intimate friends of the man who was supposed to play Magyar folksongs with more feeling than any other musican of his time.

At the request of Marci, the bands played only folksongs of his native land as his body was taken to the cemetery. He abhorred Conventional funeral marches as much as the new syncopated music. Like most gypsy fiddlers he believed the songs which have sprung from the soil in the land of the Magyayr express every emotion from ecstatic joy to sweet sorrow, and in his concerts he used to carry his listeners from smiles to tears in a manner much appreciated by the Hungarians, who take keen pleasure out of sorrow.

When syncopation became the rage in Hungary and foxtrots were heard every where, Bande Marci laid aside his violin.

PEPALL HEARING ON FEBRUARY 25

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press).—The hearing of Andrew Pepall was continued until the morning of February 25, at the request of the Attorney for the British Consul here yesterday.

The defence agreed to this continuance, both sides declaring that they require additional time to bring witnesses and evidence from Canada as a bitter fight over the removal is expected.

Pepall will remain in the county jail.

GO 25,000 MILES TO GET GOOD MEAL

Paris, Feb. 13.—The famous French "Club of One Hundred" ("Club des Cept") has just completed 25,000 miles by motor car in search of a good meal. The organization of this club was for the purpose of visiting hotels, cafes and village inns to find where the best meals were prepared. They award two gold medals yearly to the chefs who best suit their palate. Some of their mottoes are: "We eat beefsteak not expensive furniture"; "Feed your guests, not the flies"; "Coffee made in advance is bad coffee."

GIRLS OBJECTED TO FULL OVER-ALLS

Liverpool, England, Feb. 13.—The first overall strike on record has just finished its stormy career here.

An employer in a cotton works decided to supply all his girls with overalls. Unfortunately, his wife designed them, and she had strong ideas as to how much ankle and neck should be shown.

The girls when they saw the new over alls, revolted. There was a strike. The slogan was "Overalls are all right, but they mustn't be over all."

Arbitrations as to length and cut of the garment forced the employer's wife to back down.

SHORT SKIRTS TO GO

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—Coeds of Union College, Lincoln were given four days in which to abandon short skirts; low necked dresses, rouge and lip stick and adopt attire specified by president W. W. Prescott. In an ultimatum issued yesterday the president prescribes skirts not more than nine inches from ground.

LIFE RESTRICTION

Hambourg, Feb. 13.—All restrictions operative during the inflation period regarding the amount of money that could be taken in or out of Germany have been abolished. Visitors may now enter without making the usual customs declaration of the amount of money in their possession.

TELLS OF UNDOING

Hamilton, Feb. 13.—Oscar Spafford, who last Monday pleaded guilty to extensive chicken thefts, was sentenced by Magistrate Vance in county police court Wednesday morning to one month in jail. In court Monday Spafford was used by the crown as a witness against two men whom he named as his confederates and who received indeterminate sentences of not less than three months and not more than a year. At that time he told a story of operations that covered a radius of 70 miles from Hamilton and of 25 trips taken into the country after fowl.

PLAY-OFF IN OTTAWA?

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Winnipeg, Feb. 13.—A change of venue in Allan Cup play-off this spring is probable. According to officials of Canadian amateur Association, executive of that body will express its view on question by telegraph vote and if endorsed the finals will be played in Ottawa.

Abraham Rubin, 117 St. David St., was held up by two men, one of whom carried a revolver, opposite 223 Spadina Avenue, about 8.30 last night, and robbed of $190. The men then ran away along Spadina Avenue.

Rubin reported his loss to Claremont Street Station, and related the occurrence to Detectives Hill and Hutchinson. He said that the men, both of whom were young, met him on the street. One of them levelled a gun at him and ordered him to back into a vacant lot Then, while the armed man kept him covered and so prevented him from crying out, the other man went through his pockets and took the money.

One of the pleasing features of the annual conference of the Canadian Sheep Breeders' Association, held last night at the Carls-Rite Hotel, was the presentation of ten yards of real Canadian wool to His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, as a breeder of Canada. The gift was presented to Prof. Carlisle general manager of the Prince's range at Alberta, where the Royal Rancher has established a breed of Canadian sheep which garnered honors at all the western fairs, and latterly at the Royal Winter Fair, in Toronto.

Miss Sophie Kohen, a fuel merchant, was by a Sessions jury yesterday found guilty of having obtained a cheque for $370 by false pretences from Charles Garfunkel in connection with the purchase of coal in February, 1920. Judge O'Connell will deliver sentence to-day The accused, who acted as her own counsel, said that she had in turn given a cheque to a solicitor to be given the complainant as soon as he had returned the bill of lading for the coal, but she had subsequently been told that the cheque had been refused.

Huge Flaming Cross Saves Chicago Souls

Pastor of Temple who Originated Idea Calls it Success

Chicago, Feb. 13—A huge flaming cross, composed of searchlights will burn high over the "Loop" from the tower of the Chicago Temple, in the hope that it will "instill the spirit of goodness in the hearts of the evil," and reduce crime in Chicago. Rev. John Thompson pastor of the Temple announced Wednesday.

"This cross will save souls and save lives; it is the whole Christian story at a glance," Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the Temple, said. "Even before being lighted the cross, piercing the sky 658 feet above the pavement, prevented three murders," Rev. Mr. Thompson said.

"Etched against the drab, smoky, background of the sky, it was seen in their moment of despair by three men who halted in their determination to end it all in the dark river of death" he said.

CHILDREN TOLD TO USE TOURISTS RIGHT

Vienna, Feb. 13.—The Mayor of Vienna, Austria, has signed a decree instructing the school teachers to attract the attention of their scholars to the importance of tourists to Austria, enjoining them to show the greatest politeness to foreigners. In the same interest measures are being prepared to stop all increases in hotel rates, and the tax on foreigners is being reduced.

SHOOTING A MYSTERY AT INDIAN SCHOOL

Kenora, Ont. Feb. 13—Brother A. Polinaire d'Amour, assistant principal of the Indian boarding school here, was shot dead, and Jose Bernicott, a hired man, was severely wounded yesterday. Francois Salou employe of the institution, ended his own life with the same weapon.

Authorities investigating the crime are unable to assign any reason for the affair, as there had been no quarrel and no other indication of trouble Bernicott who was wounded in the jaw is expected to recover.

Bernicott and Salou, according to the former's account, were engaged with their morning duties in the stable, and after milking the cows Salou left with two pails in the direction of the school. Bernicott thought he was long in returning but on turning around Bernicott was struck on the side of the face with the full charge of the shotgun. The wounded man rushed toward the school. Brother D'Amour interceded. The latter was silenced with a shot through the left eye. He died instantly.

LABOR APPLAUDS FERGUSON'S MOVE

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—"I am glad to note that the Ontario Government is at least taking cognizance of the situation and has intimated in the Speech from the Throne that it will assist municipalities in the extra cost incident in providing some measure of relief for those out of work," stated Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, yesterday.

He noted that the decision reached by the Ontario Cabinet is in harmony with the recommendations made by the recent unemployment conference in Ottawa.

"If the Dominion Government," he said, "will take a lesson from the Ontario Legislature and do something, there is yet some hope. While the offered help is somewhat late, still the politicians can always console themselves with the thought that it comes better than never."

MISER WITH PLENTY REFUSED A DOCTOR

It was stated at an inquest held at Tottenham, on Charles Lamb Toynbee, aged 77, a bachelor, that the Coroner's officer who searched the single apartment in which he lived alone found bank books, shares, etc., representing £3,000.

Toynbee, who lived in Seven Sisters road, was found dead in bed, and the Coroner remarked on the wasted appearance of the body.

Evidence was given that the man was apparently poverty-stricken and miserly. He refused to allow a doctor, who had a surgery in the same house, to be called because he would have to pay.

Toynbee was said to have been in the drapery trade.

DID SPRING PLOWING ON FEBRUARY 10TH

Owen Sound, Feb. 13.—All records were shattered for this section of the country on Tuesday, when spring plowing was started on the farm of Adolphus Matthews, near Chatsworth, and one or two other farmers in the neighborhood were also enabled to break ground. There is very little frost in the ground.

ONTARIO RADIO CO. OPENS STORE HERE

Saturday (tomorrow) will witness the opening of another radio store in this city when The Ontario Radio Co. will open its doors. This will constitute the third Radio concern which has entered the field in Belleville during the past few months and indicates strongly the hold which Radio has taken on the people of Belleville and surrounding district.

The new Radio Company is controlled by two Kingston men, each of whom has been in the radio business for a considerable length of time, and both are radio experts. They will specialize on neutrodyne receiving sets, constructing many of these themselves.

The new store is located on Front street in the Belle Theatre building, where demonstrations will gladly be given and where a complete line of radio parts may be obtained. The public is cordially invited to visit the store and inspect the complete stock carried.

The Neue Freie Presse publishes a report that M. Adolf Joffe, the Soviet minister to Austrans, has been recalled and will be appointed Ambassador to Japan. M. Joffe denied knowledge of the appointment, but, according to trustworthy information, it is considered probable in the near future, Joffe being the most conversant among Soviet diplomats with Far Eastern affairs.

CAMPBELLFORD WINS HONORS IN GROUP

Campbellford, Feb. 13.—Campbellford High School team splashed their way to the championship of the Belleville, Deseronto, Campbellford group of the Interscholastic Hockey League by defeating Belleville 5 to 1 at Trenton Tuesday night.

The ice was covered with water in places, and as a result good hockey was out of the queston, but the local youngsters left no doubt as to which was the better team.

Red. Townsend, the Belleville ace, was on his bad behaviour, and spent 15 of the 60 minutes with the penalty timers and when he was on the ice, Basil Reynolds checked him so effectually, he was never very dangerous.

The rest of the boys gave all they had to bring honor to their school and town. Ross Burt refereed in his usual efficient manner.

Campbellford will not play Trenton in the next round home and home games, the first in Trenton Friday, weather permitting.

Line-up

Referee—Ross Burt, Trenton.

WILL DRAIN CANAL

St. Catharines, Feb. 13.—It is the intention of the canal officials this weekend to withdraw the water from the levels between Locks 2 and 3 of the old Welland canal in an endeavor to find the body of 14-year-old Cyril Jones, drowned while going out on the ice to rescue his little dog.

INSPECT CARS

Niagara Falls, Feb. 3.—Inspectors are examining all Canadian automobiles seeking to enter the United States now, and many motorists have had to make changes in lights and brakes over the river before they receive the card which permits them to drive in New York State.

Granites Defeat O.S.D. Lady Bowlers

Alexander's 'Bolshies' come From Behind to Trounce Recreations

Two games of considerable interest took place at the Association Alleys last night. The first a league fixture between two ladies' teams, saw the O. S. D. team and the Granites in action. Both teams turned in very good scores and considering that the O.S.D. were forced to count a "Miss Doe" score they made a creditable showing against a team of more experienced bowlers.

The second game of the evening's program brought together the Recreations and the Y Reds. Jimmie's "Bolshies" did not make an imposing showing in the first string but after that, they squared away and got right down to business. The Recreation Quintette looked quite like winners at the end of string No. 1 but at this stage they neglected to "step out" as did Alexander and Co. and whereas they continued to bowl a steady game, they were just a shade under the requirements for a win which went to Alexander the great leader of the Reds.

Gas In The Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat wih ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Nothing Can Stop Wolves Of North

They Have won Five straight Games in Junior League

Only 2 pins separated the Canadian Express team and the Supt's Office team No. 2 at the Recreation Alley last night in the closest game played in the C. N. League. It was the biggest surprise the Office team ever got as they thought it just a matter of form to bowl their game and get credit with a win, but the Express team spilled the beans and playing one man short won the game, high bowlers were Deacon and Muchanan.

Nothing has been able to stop the Wolves of the North in the junior league when last night they made it their fifth straighte win and occupying the stellar position in the junior league the victims last night were the K. of C. losing the game by 399 pins. C. Jeffery coming back strong in the last game to roll 316 for the high single score. Jeffrey was also high three strings, for the Knights, Frank Barrett rolled the highest score. Players and scores.

RYTHMICAL ROMANCE

Hamilton, Feb. 13.—"A man's a fool his life to wreck, by issuing a worthless check," said the magistrate in court Wednesday as Harris Laidman was led away.

The young man passed one phoney check, himself in glad rags to bedeck. Another time he did the same to buy some fur for a lady flame.

For six months now he goes to jail, so that is the finish of his sad tale.

HEARTBROKEN MOTHER

Hamilton, Feb. 13.—"I must die if I do not hear from my darling daughter," reads a communication received by Detective Inspector Goodman Wednesday morning from Mrs. F. Campbell, Detroit. The communication goes on to state that the last heard of the girl, 20 years of age, was with her father and grandmother at 143 Hunter street east. Enquiries at this address were fruitless the present occupants not knowing where the girl has gone.

Sir Edgar Bowring, of the Bowring Company, steamship owners of St. John's, must pay the Government of Newfoundland an income tax of $124,000, according to a decision of the Supreme Court which unanimously upheld the Government's claim for that amount. The claim had been disputed on the ground that the income was not obtained from investments in this colony and because Bowring was Colonies High Commissioner in London during the period covered in the claim.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN: SERIAL: THEATRES

Elaine

BY

Charles Garvice

Everybody who is poor thinks, rightly or wrongly, that it is cheaper to live in the country than in London; and the major being under this impression, took a small cottage in the rural town of Barefield, which everybody knows is in Loamshire, and, to use his own phrase, "settle down."

Of course, he brought the old harvest of debts with him, and equally of course he at once and with the most cheerful alacrity, commenced to sow a new crop.

From her earliest age Elaine had been accustomed to carry on a war with the tradesmen; it was she who bore the brunt of those many and frequent interviews which the baker and butcher and grocer insisted upon holding respecting their little accounts, and it was her sweet face and coaxing manner which many a time and oft had persuaded those justly irate individuals to withdraw their threats of stopping supplies. She it was who knew when the baker must be paid something on account, and how much longer the butcher could be induced to wait. The major loved her, was proud of her, proud of her beauty and her grace, but, after the fashion of such men, he left the burden on her young shoulders and went his way, if not exactly rejoicing, perfectly at ease, cheerful and smiling. As Mr. Blocks, the butcher, declared, no one could find the heart to be hard upon such a sweet, beautiful young creature as Miss Elaine, and as for the major, why one would as soon think of hurting a child!

The major was very proud of her, and it was only when speaking of his daughter that he ever referred to his good birth and high connections.

"My daughter, sir, gets her good looks from the Delaines. There is a portrait of my great-great-aunt at Delaine Towers for which my girl might have sat, by gad, might have sat! The very image of her."

Then he would sigh, look around the smoking-room of the Barefield Country Club, at which he spent most of his time, and order a small whisky and soda.

It may with simple truth, be added that all Barefield as well as the major was proud of Elaine. She was the prettiest girl in the place, and what is better, the most lovable. When in her simple white frock she walked down the High street on her way to market, or to church, hats flew off with eager and respectful greeting. The poor and more particularly their children were made happy for the day if she entered one of their cottages, or stopped to speak to them and give them a few pence from her own slender purse. It was to her pew the old rector just glanced when he entered his pulpit to preach the half-hour sermon which invariably sent the congregation into a sweet slumber; and the curate, who loved the very ground she walked on, always knew by the thrill that ran through him whether she was in her place or not; and his somewhat feeble voice would tremble as, scarcely daring to look at her he began, "Dearly beloved brethren—"

It may safely be said, that there was scarcely young man, high or low, that had not lost his heart to Miss Elaine; but no one had as yet dared to tell her so; for notwitstanding hre sweetness there was an indefinable something, a natural reserve—it was not hard enough to be called pride—a maidenly dignity which kept her adorers at arm's length. Indeed of love, beyond that which she bore for her father—and she did love him very dearly—Elaine knew nothing. You see, she had not had time to think of it. All her young mind, since she had left the school for which her uncle, the earl—whom she had never seen— had paid, had been taken up by her battles with the baker and the butcher and the milkman; and as yet "she walked in maiden meditation, fancy free," and was not even aware of the havoc she wrought in the bear of the gentle curate, or the hopes and fears she inspired in the bosoms of the rest of her worshippers.

The major, seeing she was alone, opened the door wider and entered.

"Oh, here you are, Elaine?" he said

"Yes, papa," she responded, looking at him with a smile. 'Do you want me?"

The major fidgeted with his eyeglass and glanced at her, and then past her through the window.

"Er—not if you are very busy, my dear."

"I'm always busy, dear," she replied "and at this moment very busy—thinking."

"Thinking—"

"Yes," she said, with a laugh that was half one of amusement, half rueful. "Do you know the process of making bricks without straw, dear?"

"Making bricks—bless my soul, Elaine, what can you mean?" and he fixed his eyeglass and stared at her.

"No, I don't suppose you do, dear," she said. "And so you can't tell me how to make a plum pudding without suet, or a tapioca without milk?"

The major dropped his eyeglass and staring out of the window, shook his head.

"Tut, tut," he said in a tone of gentle annoyance. "Blocks and Scone cutting up rough again? on my word, it's shameful after—after all the years we've dealt with them."

"And all the money we owe them" put in Elaine with a smile. "It's too bad of them, dear, isn't it? But never mind, don't worry about it. Bridget has gone to try if she can melt the heart of Scone, and I daresay she will succeed. Bridget has a winning way with her, though she doesn't pretend to be a cook. But what did you want, dear?"

The major colored faintly and cleared his throat.

"I—well, I just look in to ask you if you have any change out of that five-pound note I gave you the other day, Elaine—"

"Three weeks ago, dear," she murmured softly.

"Eh? Ah yes. Dear me, was it as long back as that? I don't want much. Ten shillings will do. You see, they have got up a sweepstakes at the club and—and it would look so singular if I didn't take a share. It would look odd now, wouldn't it?"

Elaine looked at him with just such a tender smile as a mother bestows on a reckless extravagant boy whom she loves too well to scold.

"I'm afraid it would, dear," she said. "But it can't be helped. I gave the last of that five-pound note to the green grocer yesterday."

Colored Pictures Proved A Treat

"The Uninvited Guest" at Belle Theatre To-day and To-morrow

With the appearance of "The Uninvited Guest," a new Metro motion picture, produced by J. E. Williamson of the Submarine Film Corporation, colored motion picture photography reaches the highest point of an amazing development that long gave promise of revolutionizing the making of movies.

The natural color scenes in "The Uninvited Guest," Williamson's newest production for Metro, that show the striking beauty of the Bahama Islands, where the picture was made and the strange forms of aquatic life, were filmed by the Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation.

Dr. Daniel F. Comstock, inventor of the Technicolor process, and Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, who has since been in charge of its technical development, experimented seven years before attaining the success in colored pictures that was first seen in a Metro Technicolor picture, "The Toll of the Sea," several years ago. It was this film that Adolph Zukor said was one of the ten greatest pictures ever made.

Divides Colors in Two

The Technicolor process is based on the underlying principle that all the colors of the spectrum are divided, roughly, into red and green. By coating a strip of celluloid with an emulsion which on one side of the film is sensitive to red, and which on the other side is sensitive to green and by then projecting light through them, the rays so filter that you see upon the screen the colors just as they are seen by the cameraman making the picture.

Because there were two identical pictures on the strip of film, care had to be taken that they coincided, in order to avoid a margin of red or green showing on the screen. Before the Technicolor process, none had been invented to overcome this.

Takes Two in One

Dr. Comstock conceived the idea of arranging mirrors within the camera whereby the rays of light coming through one lens were reflected to two different areas upon the strip of film. That caused two photographs to be taken every time the shutter opened and closed. By means of screens of glass colored to eliminate certain tints in nature, red registered on one area and green on another. The patented device that prints these two photographs on the positive film eliminated the chief stumbling block to the success of colored motion pictures.

"The Uninvited Guest," which is coming tonight to the Belle Theatre, was directed by Ralph Ince from Curtis Benton's story. It was produced by the Submarine Film Corporation under patents of the Williamson Submarine Corporation and is distrbuted by Metro.

Blackstone Gave Brace Of Laughs

Packed House at Griffin's Had Real Evening's Entertainment

Large audiences the world over, constitute the theatre going jury which has acclaimed Blackstone the magician, as having "the fastest pair of hands in the world." Another audience which packed Griffin's theatre here last night is glad to agree, and admit that "Harry Blackstone wins."

It is some time, to be indefinite, since the Griffin management here has presented such an intensely interesting, and genuinely entertaining performance as "The Biggest Necromatic Exposition on Earth" seen here last night.

In fact, everything which Blackstone does is so mystifying that it would require columns to relate the action. Throughout the performance he is ably assisted by a nimble company of young men and women.

One of the premier hits of the piece is "A Bachelor's Dream", where a small apartment, bare and ordinary, is suddenly transformed into a beautifully furnished boudoir replete with wife, maid and beautiful Russian wolf hound.

Oriental Nights, a great illusion occurs when Blackstone rides an Arabian stallion on the stage and into a cabin. There is a pistol shot, the cabin opens simultaneously but horse is gone. Blackstone alone remains with saddle in hand.

"The Girl of Tangier," who is placed under a hypnotic spell, is laid on a couch, which at Blackstone's bidding raises in mid air, remaining there indefinitely. Guests from the audience inspect for suspending wires or ropes. A flash, and everything disappears but the shroud which covered the girl.

In the opening half, a map of Europe "behaves" unusually, under the magicians power. From the map flags of each country designated are drawn, and a portly turkey is drawn through as the flag of Turkey, a pretty girl, in flag attire bursting through for Miss Canada.

The audience supplies a handkerchief which behaves as only a spirit might be imagined to behave in the hands of Blackstone. It truly becomes a terpiscorean handkerchief and does everything but walk.

The fashion parade in the opening of Act II was interesting as well as gorgeous.

Fun with a tot from the audience who is rewarded for her good work by a real live white bunny and a box of candy, supplies laughs galore, and Blackstone's antics with playing cards are wonderful. With gentlemen from the audience all playing against him, Blackstone shows that he is unbeatable, his conjuring with a deck of cards being truly remarkable.

A lady who lends a ring early in the show, receives it back an hour later. It is in a small basket suspended from the theatre roof and comes down under "magical persuasion."

A big camel horse, dog, turkey, ducks and rabbits are used to great advantage "Duck Inn," a satire of the Volstead Act being a classic in a duck disappearing illusion also. White pigeons appear out of space and are netted by the magician, and even the laws of gravity are defied by a three pound ball in the hands of the artist.

An Oriental dance by a "girl in beads" is well presented and provided something different.

Scenery, costumes and property of this show are of the first order and alone are eye treats. The speed and despatch with which the acts are staged make the interest all absorbing, and convince that attendants too, "know their business."

Anyone who missed this performance of the mystic last night missed an exhibition of ability which is different from some other demonstrations of like nature.

STRIKE THREATENED

Quebec, Feb. 13.—Unless an agreement is reached between now and Friday, says L'Action Catholique, local French paper, the local members of the International Typographical Union will strike on Saturday. All the printing plants in the city will be effected.

If a strike is declared adds the paper, it will greatly embarass the legislature for it will be impossible to print the official documents but measures will be taken to see that the sessional measures will be retarded as little as possible.

Wants Case Tried at Napanee

W. G. Wilson, solicitor of Napanee representing the Corporation of the Township of Amherst Island, appeared before Judge Lavell on Thursday morning and asked that the case of William McDonald, who is sueing the township of Amherst Island for damages which he claims he is entitled to on account of the condition of the repair of the roads, be tried at Napanee. Cunningham & Smith of Kingston are conducting the case for the plaintiff.

The Assessment Figures

A study of the assessor's report for Pembroke reveals much of interest. At the outset it shows an increase in population over the 1923 figures of 548, or 6.34 per cent. In the matter of gross valuation it shows an increase from $5,711,250 in 1923 to $7,387,760 in 1924, a growth of $1,676,510, or approximately 29.35 per cent. Value of the legally exampted properties was advanced from $974,120 in 1923 to $1,410,620, an increase of $436,500, or over 44 per cent.

Raising Funds For Hospital

The Alexandra Club, Pembroke, which has a membership of fifty-two and which concentrates its efforts on behalf of the Cottage hospital, raised $3,085 during the year recently closed. Of the money raised $1,500 was paid on a promissory note of $2,000 to the hospital and $300 given toward the furnishing of the nurses' home.

Getting Equipment

Lansdowne, Feb. 13.—A meeting of the Lansdowne fire brigade was held at the Stewart House, on Monday evening, and was well attended. A great deal of information and instructions in regard to fighting fire was given by the chief, and further necessary equipment discussed. In order to make the outfit effective, ladders, pails, ropes etc., must be secured. In order to do this if every citizen will help it can quickly be accomplished.

Masons Returned Yesterday

Members of the Queen's University Masonici Lodge, who went to Toronto to exemplify the first degree before members of the Toronto University Masonic Lodge, returned yesterday and reported that they were given a wonderful reception. Following a fine supper, whicih was given in honor of the guests at the Hart House, the Queen's members exemplified the first degree. The event was a brilliant success and all of the members were highly elated at the success of their visit.

Marmora News

Marmora, Feb. 13.—Since the thaw, several robins and crows have been seen in this neighborhood. The roads are in poor condition for car or sleigh while lumbering operations also have received a set back.

Vote for Union

Two congregations in the Presbytery of Brockville—Heckston and Roebuck—are reported to have voted i nfavor of joining the United Church of Canada, the former by a large majority. Its minister is Rev. C. K. Mathewson. Upon the Spencerville circuit, the minister of which is Rev. W. A. Morrison, Roebuck and Ventnor have now voted in favor of Union, and Spencerville against such action. The vote by congregations throughout the Presbytery now stands at 12-6 in favor of the anti-Unionists.

Mr. Cobb is Better

Mr. Ernest Cobb, an employee of the Lake Ontario Brewery, Portsmouth who had the misfortune to cut his right hand near the wrist on Wednesday morning, spent a fairly satisfactory night at the Kingston General Hospital last night and this morning was resing quite comfortably.

Consider Claim

Yesterday afternoon the directors of the Kingston Fair Association were to hold a meeting in the Agricultural Rooms to consider the claim of Thos. Smith of Elginburg for $5,000 for damages received when he was injured at the fair last fall.

The directors did not state what attitude they were to take, but the feeling was expressed that the case would be allowed to go on. Smith was an employee at the fair, and was injured when a cannon fired close to him, causing the loss of one eye and other injuries.

Big Flour Order

News of the big order for 1,150,000 barrels of flour received by the Maple Leaf Milling Co. had not reached the local subsidiary, Campbell Flour Mills, Ltd., yesterday morning, but Manager D. J. Holland told The Examiner that such an order would undoubtedly aid in keeping the Peterboro mill running for some time.

Tweed News

Tweed, February 13.—A meeting of the Board of Trade was held Wednesday night in the Council Chambers. A committee was formed to try and get some industries in town. S. G. Way, newly elected councillor, is working hard, and it is hoped the citizens will stay by him.

Thaw Spoils Hockey

With the mild weather and the rain lately the Hastings-Tweed hockey game which was to be played here on Monday night, has been postponed until a later date.

Employ More Men

Work appears to be booming at the Steel Trough and Machine Company. More men have been taken on and the factory is now running ten hours a day.

At Millbrook

Millbrook, Feb. 13.—The annual vestry meeting of St. Thomas' church, was held in the Sunday School room on January 26th with a well represented number in attendance. The rector, Rev. Canon Allen in the chair.

The church wardens' report showed the church to be in good financial standing.

Mr. M. T. Wood was again elected People's Warden, and Mr. A. A. Smith appointed Minister's Warden. Both felt that since they had filled the offices so long, some one else should be appointed. The matter was left over until the adjourned meeting.

Mr. T. H. Brady was elected Vestry Clerk for 1925.

SYRACUSE IS FLOODED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Syracuse, N.Y., Feb. 12.—A sharp fall in temperature late last night and early today checked a thaw that had caused one of the worst floods in the history of the city and the waters began to recede. The deluge flooded hundreds of homes in Onondaga Valley and in the southern part of the city large areas are still submerged. One man died in his marooned house.

She Says:

"I Am Thin"

Her Friend Says:

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamines that make flesh creates appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctor's are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Dolan's Drug Store, McKeowins Drug Store, Doyle's Drug Store and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

THIRD OF THURLOW

(By Staff Correspondent)

We are having nice warm weather just now.

A number from this line attended the dance at A. Demille's on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Carscallen and baby spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. P. Garrison on the Fourth Line.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hall took dinner and tea at Mrs. W. Lidster's on Sunday.

The W.M.S. held an open meeting on Thursday last at Mrs. J. Pound's. About fifty in number attended the meeting.

Miss G. Pound is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. T. Hinchcliffe, of the third line of Sidney.

Mr. Chas. Hinchcliffe, also Mrs. Everett Hubble of the third line of Sidney, visited over the week end at Mr. J. Pound's.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris of the fourth of Sidney spent Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. H. Pound.

We are sorry to hear that scarlet fever has broke out at Mr. F. Walker's.

The eclipse of the moon was quite visible on Sunday night.

Hints For Radio Fans

A Wavemeter is Handy

Included in the experimenter's list of apparatus should be a good wave meter. This is just as true in the case of the experimenter who limits his work to receiving apparatus as to the man who goes in for research work on both receiving and transmitting equipment.

Keep one handy and it will help you in designing your new coils or choosing the right size of condensers for use with the right size coils.

Controlling Regeneration

Probably the simplest method for controlling regeneration in a radio-frequency set, employing transformers for interstage coupling, is to use a potentiometer connected across the "A" battery with the lever connected to the grid return of the amplifier tubes in question.

This allows the free grid potential of the tube to be varied, so that the tendency of the tube circuit to oscillate can be controlled.

The Best Ground

Use a water pipe (preferably the cold water pipe) for the ground to your receiving set. It will almost invariably give you better results than other grounds, such as the radiator, the gas pipe or fire escapes. Of course it does no harm to use them all at once if you like, then you will be sure of getting at least one good one.

Usually the cold-water pipe is sufficient, however.

Be Careful Solder Flux

Never use too much fluid or flux while soldering a joint between two wires or between a wire and a terminal. If you use too muhh it may bubble and run down into the windings of coils or into the insulation between jack terminals, or it may produce a semi-conducting path across any piece of insulating surface. Use only enough! And be careful with what you do use. Don't spill it.

Use No Shellac or Paint on Coils

Never paint the coils you use in radio apparatus with any kind of paint, varnish or filler. Never use any material of this nature to stick the turns of wire tightly together. If you do you will add to the the losses in the coils.

Switching Tubes Around

You may be able to get an increase in efficiency equal to as much as 50 to 75 per cent by merely switching the tubes around in the different sockets in your set.

First tune in a signal, and then take two of the tubes from the sockets and reverse them, putting them each in the other's socket.

Keep on doing this in various combinations until you hit on the particular combination that gives you the loudest results.

RUMORS RE HOME BANK

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Unofficially, but in quarters close to Government councils it is rumored that there is a good chance of the Government recognising the "moral claim in equity," in which the committee of the House of Commons in last session gave the Home Bank depositors after considering the report of Mr. Justice McKeown.

Father And Mother Ready To Sacrifice

Both Willing to Give Skin For their Scalded Baby

Kingston, Feb. 13.—Parental love is willing, anxious to come to the aid of little Gerald Babcock a five-year-old boy from Holleford, who lies in the Hotel Dieu suffering from serious and painful injuries by scalding. His father, Ray Babcock, and his mother, Mrs. Babcock who with her month-old baby is constantly at his bedside, both offered yesterday to give the necessary skin to heal the scalds on his limbs, when the physicians in attendance said that they would decide in a few days if grafting would be necessary. If the operation is decided upon it will probably be Mr. Babcock who will be asked to make good his offer for the little lad's mother is still considered too weak to submit to the operation on account of her month-old baby.

The accident which inflicted severe scalds on the under part of the little lad's two knees, happened at the family home at Holleford three weeks ago when a companion pushed a sleigh on which Gerald lay face downward, against a pail of boiling water which the lad's grandfather was carrying from the house to the barn. The pail was tipped, and its contents fell on the under portion of both knees, inflicting severe injuries. First aid was given and medical attendance was summoned and the little lad was made as comfortable as possible. He suffered much from the injuries, and on Tuesday afternoon he was brought to the Hotel Dieu. Today he is resting easily.

VETERANS MAY HELP PIRIE THE MURDERER

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The advisability of asking for a new trial for John Buchanan Pirie, who at the last assizes was found guilty of a charge of murdering his wife, Caroline, and her two children, and who was sentenced to be hanged on March 24, is, it is understood, being considered by the local command of the Great War Veterans' Association.

Confirmation or denial of the report that a new trial might be asked for could not be obtained yesterday from members of the Executive of the local command, who on advice given to them recently, were instructed not to divulge any steps they were taking.

R. A. Olmstead, who defended Pirie, stated that so far he had not received any instructions from the local command of the G. W. V. A. in regard to the condemned man.

WOLVES HARM DEER

Kingston, Feb. 13.—Wolves have been seen within two miles of Mississippi in the past week. Unless something is done soon to curb the wolf nuisance they will exterminate the deer in that district, is the opinion of men who have spent a lifetime in that country.

A hunter in passing through the woods near Ragged Chutes a few days ago came across a badly wounded deer which was trying to escape from the pursuit of a big timber wolf. Out of compassion with the sufferings of the deer, which had been badly mauled, the hunter shot it, intending to shoot the wolf too. But when he turned to put it out of the way, it was nowhere to be seen, it had simply disappeared behind a bush or some other equally useful shelter. Still later a number of wolves chased three deer across a well travelled road between Mississippi and Clarendon. Teamsters drawing timber from Ardoch to Robertsville report seeing hundreds of tracks of wolves crossing the roads on that route in the vicinity of Fawn Lake.

The Swedish Ericsson Telephone Company has been granted an absolute monopoly on public telephone work in Southern Italy and Sicily for the next fifty years. The agree ment also makes the Ericssons technical advisiers to the other districts in Italy. The contract was won in competition with leading British and German companies.

DOMESTIC HEROINES IN OUR HOMES

Women who lead a domestic life seem to listen to every call of duty excepting the supreme one that tells them to guard their health. As long as they can drag themselves around women continue to work. Necessity to keep on their feet all day when over-tired, or sitting in cramped position day in and day out often brings on ailments fro mwhich women suffer tortures. For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been strengthening women and overcoming such ailments. Sickness and pain vanish under its influence and thousands of women have been benefited by it.

BRITAIN HALTS SHIP BUILDING; WATCH STATES

Government Hopes Republic Will Call Disarmament Conference

OPPOSITE VIEWS

Churchill Banks on Results Of Parley to Support Him

(Canadain Press Despatch)

London, Feb. 14.—Hope by the British Government that the new disarmament conference will be called before long, and preferably by the United States, is believed to be causing the cabinet to delay its decision regarding a fresh war ship construction. The position outlined in previous despatches with the Treasury resisting an increase of nearly ten million pounds in naval estimates, said to have been demanded by the admiralty, has not yet been cleared, although it has been discussed at length by the cabinet.

Political gossips from time to time have given currency to stories that a compromise had been reached regarding the estimates, but these stories have not been borne out, and it now is stated that the cabinet committee is to examine the whole question of imperal defense before final decision is taken.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of exchequer, who is credited with opposing the admiralty's demand for an increased building program, is said to be banking on the prospect of another disarmament conference to strengthen his viewpoint which it is stated, has the support of several of his colleagues The question of American participation in the conference is regarded as of paramount importance, such participation being generally considered indispensible. Political writers today strongly emphasize this point and refer to recent statments in the American Senate as hopeful auguries.

Sale Of Valentines Record This Year

Merchants Report Unusually Heavy Sale; Increase Over Past

Hands up! those who received a "beautiful" colored photograph on cheap paper this morning—like the "funnies"? Nobody? Well, such secrets must pass into history.

No one evidently wishes to "show" their "likeness" to anyone epecially when the sender has not disclosed his or her identity, and so there is a "spooky" air of romantic mystery about this annual Valentine Day.

Seriously speaking though, there are some real lovely Valentines. Pretty pictures of no one in particular on "sincere" paper with blood red hearts, jingling verses 'n everything.

That oodles of Valentines—wise and otherwise—have been purchased in Belleville shops for 'home circulation' and mailing, is corroborated by the statements of dealers who all agreed when interrogated by the Intelligencer this morning, that this year's Valentine business was wonderful All dealers, when queried, informed the Intelligencer that business had been fine in Valentines. and better than last year. One Front street dealer told of having been practically sold out as early as Thursday last, and reports the traffic in Valentines this year as eceeding any previous record in his memory of many years spent in the drug and stationery trade.

"We sold a lot of funny ones," he explained, "But the great bulk of Valentines sold, are mostly for children."

DEMONSTRATION WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

The chassis demonstration given in the T. J. Warren show rooms last night, was witnessed by some seventy-five people who are interested in the new models of Chevrolet cars, in which 83 distinct changes have been made, and into which many parts found in the high price cars have been introduced.

The demonstration was a huge success as was the dealers' meeting held Friday, which was attended by dealers from the Belleville-Peterboro district. Dealers who attended were:

W. S. Houston, Peterboro; C .H. Hess. Hastings; C. A. Wiseman, Napanee; M. O. Vanduzen, Picton; F. Bailey, Stirling; E. Maxwell, Bancroft; M. Maloney, Marmora; Chas. Davidson, Campbellford; T. G. Alexander, Arden; W. Graham, Trenton; S. Dudley, Colborne.

The new models may be seen at any time at the Warren Garage show rooms.

Worn Out Tires, Nerves And Nails Describe This Motor Trip On Desert

Canadian Had Most Interesting Journey to California

STOPPED AT CHICAGO

Where Trying on Hats Was Part of the Program

The following is an article written by Wallace Havelock Robb, well known Belleville Old Boy, on his trip by motor to the Sunny South recently:

Write an account of the trip for The Intelligencer, eh? Very well, we will begin.

Most writers begin their story at the terrible very beginning, thus showing how much they don't know, including the fact that they don't know they don't know, for nothing begins at the beginning.

We began once already to-day and down the street came a whole school with teachers tacked on, looking at birds. Now, when a perfectly orderly writer begins to begin at the beginning and human nature cracks his bean with something more interesting, things get a bit twisted

I was about like this. Scratch head, fiddle with typewriter, wish the Intelligencer had been stolen along with all other forms of reading and writing, clear throat, get a drink of water begin to begin, begin—"We left Cazenovia, N.Y., that lovely little village of quaint homes in the year of unworthy galavanting, 1924 and"—??? What! A lot of kids coming?

And down the street of Long Beach, Calibejiggersandfornia, came a whole school, out looking at birds.

So we grabbed our camera and ran out to photograph the children and got home many hours afterward.

Our journey will begin at the tail end. It will be the tail end of a bird, for, if I left a lot of queer birds at home, I have seen the Pelican here.

We will meet the beginning of this story somewhere between Belleville taxes and Bullville Texas, but I cannot go back there till I get rid of this Pelican. He eats fish and insists on hearing me memorizing all the best gossip of The Home Town, which he swallows whole, along with his fish. It is funny how much like folks the birds can be.

This old swallower hangs about the pier at the shore and looks wise and has plenty of people to pay him homage. He took a piece of meat I gave him and spit it out onto the pier, with a look of disgust. "you cheap skate, get me a fish!" said he.

With some smelts in a paper, I again advanced. A man headed me ff, picked up the meat and gave it to the pelican again. The old scamp backed over to the edge of the pier, turned his back on us, dumped the piece into the sea and turned again to us. "There," (said his actions and looks) "that settles that, now bring on your fish."

The gulls eat peanuts, Now that old pelican will never bat an eye all day no matter how many peanut bags are opened and emptied but just et someone start to open an unshapely piece of paper and he is as much alive and as lovely in action as some old women with their hair bobbed.

Yes and he can tell a poor fish when he sees one to and at quite a distance

I held up a smelt once when some Marines were telling him about who won the war and, although the smelt was small and far away, he did not

CORBYVILLE CLUB HOLD MASQUERADE

The social club of the Consolidated Distilleries Limited at Corbyville held an enjoyable masquerade dance at the G.W.V.A. auditorium last evening, and the event proved to be one of the most enjoyable functions ever attempted by the aggressive club officials.

The majority of the guests were in costume, a gentleman representing "Father Time" winning first prize, and a "Ballet Dancer" ladies' first. There was also a prize waltz.

A dainty lunch was served during the evening, and music for dancing was supplied by the Club orchestra.

Pope Celebrated Third Anniversary

Men and Women Were Separated; Warm Ovation Given

Rome, Feb. 14—Pope Pius celebrated the third anniversary of his coronation, but it was observed that he appeared sad, though robust. It is said the withdrawal of the French Embassy to the Vatican weighs heavily on his mind.

One innovation was introduced in this morning's function. Men and women were separated, even the members of the 'black' aristocracy which remains faithful to the Papal ideas of temporal power. One of the guards had considerable difficulty explaining to the wife of a foreign diplomat that she could not sit beside her husband.

The aristocracy and diplomatic corps has rows of benches opposite the Papal throne instead of occupying the boxes built for the occasion.

The Pontiff received his warmest ovation from about 1,000 pilgrims from his former diocese of Milman.

Hamilton—War on hand book fraternity has checked operations in Hamilton.

DISTRICT STAFF VISITS FRANKFORD

Last night Bro. J. Duckworth, D.D. G.M. of the I.O.O.F. accompanied by the District Staff officially visited Frankford Lodge No. 382. The Noble Grand, Bro. G. A. Simmons in welcoming the visitors assured them that Frankford Lodge was already to give them a hearty welcome. As another instance of the D.D.G.M.'s popularity he was as usual met with a large attendance of members who were well repaid by listening to an eloquent speech appertaining to the good of the Order and especially Frankford Lodge. Refreshments were served and a social time spent before leaving the all. The journey to Frankford was safely negotiated by way of Trenton and the D.D. "Henry Ford" reached home safe in the early hours of this morning.

Industrial conditions in Hamilton are improving. The entire staff of the P. B. Yates Machine Co. has returned to work, and the firm has found it necessary to operate on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Kathleen Daisy Doughty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doughty, died at her home in Chatham. Miss Doughty, who was 21 years of age, had been in poor health for several weeks.

BELIEVE STORY OF MINER THAT COLLINS LIVES

Claims He Heard Prisoner Cough or Groan Through Crevice

NEARING THE CAVERN

Only Few Feet of Earth Separates The Rescue Party

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cave City, Feb. 14.—Only a few feet of earth to-day separated the sand cave rescue party from the cavern they believe will lead to Floyd Collins, imprisoned in a sand hole for two weeks by a boulder on his feet.

The shaft was more than fifty-five down and at sixty feet, a diamond core drill has indicated a cavern approximately nine feet high, although the depth of the shaft is small, due to an accumulation of mud and sand.

Collins is still alive, members of the States military board declared last night. One of the miners on the rescue squad said he heard a cough or groans from him through a crevice located yesterday morning in the shaft wall and two men heard them from the upper side of cave-in down in the sand hole.

Ed. Brenner and Alex Bailey convinced General Derhardt that they had really heard these sound from Collins and the court, colelctively and individually, expressed their convictions that Collins was alive.

The last official word of the situation at the bottom of the shaft said that it was 52 feet deep and three feet more was about to be timbered.

Charles Dolan Is Chamber Director

Takes Place of H. E. Fairfield Who Has Resigned

Mr. H. E. Fairfield has resigned as director of the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Chas. T. Dolan, the well-known druggist, has been elected in his stead.

Because of pressing business duties Mr. Fairfield very reluctantly has severed his connection with the Board He has been and will remain one of the best friends the Chamber of Commerce has had.

Mr. Dolan, who was the next in order at the election held at the beginning of the year, was, according to the usual practice, appointed to fill out Mr. Fairfield's term of office. He is one of Belleville's younger business men but has already made for himself a foremost place in that group. His great geniality, breadth of mind and spirit of progressiveness have likewise combined to make him one of our most popular citizens. He will make a welcome addition to the Board of Directors.

Rotarians Invaded Town Of Cobourg

Party of Twenty-six From Belleville Report Rare Time

No happier party ever pulled into Belleville than the returning Rotarians who took in the Cobourg Rotary Club Minstrel Show last night. There were twenty-six in the crowd—enough to make their presence fel tin the Cobourg theatre with their Rotary choruses.

If the unavoidable absence of President Charlie Reid, Rotarian "Scottie" ably shepherded his crew. Rotarian Dan MacMillan saw to it that the C.N.R. provided perfect accommodation and proved an ideal host during the trip away and back again.

The Rotary Minstrels of the Horse Show Town put on a creditable show, but the real concert of the evening was staged on the train coming back. Charlie Dolan told a lot of good stories as only Charlie can, and a dozen good singers enlivened the journey. No party could be dull which includes Dr. Haffner, Al Stillman, Jimmy Bankier, Fred Burke, Harry Moorman and Harold Saunders.

At Cobourg, Belleville's famous Radio Four, Dr. Haffner, Al Stillman, Harry Moorman and Fred Burke filled in on the program with some splendid singing and were one of the big attractions.

BELLEVILLE ELKS ARE FULL OF PEP

The Belleville Order of Elks held a very successful meeting last night in the Forresters Hall Front street with Mr. A. E. LaRoche, Exalted Ruler, in the chair, and a determined effort will be made by the Belleville Order of Elks to introduce some big special features during the Old Boys Reunion The Elks all over Canada and the United States are credited with introducing some great novelties durign their celebrations, and while the Belleville Elks are a young organization they are confident they will do something that will wake up the town and will put pep in the celebration.

Former Belleville Girl Now Becomes Lady Peel By Reason Of Father's Death

New York, Feb. 14—Beatrice Lillie, Canadian girl, who is now one of the leading commediennes on the stage has become Lady Peel by the death, in England yesterday of her father-in-law, Sir Robert Peel, baronet and grandson of the famous prime minister. Miss Lillie's husband, whose name also is Robert, is a revue manager and is now in Australia. Miss Lillie is now appearing in an English revue in Chicago. They have a four-year-old son, Robert, who has been living with his grandparents in London. Miss Lillie won instant popularity as a comeddienne when she appeared here. She was born in Toronto and began her stage career in London.

Belleville Lady Is Post-graduate

Mrs. Darlington of Ritchies Successful in Toronto Course

Success in a new, but most important line of study has come to a Belleville lady, Mrs. M. Darlington of the Ritchie Company Limited. Mrs. Darlington has just returned from Toronto where she was successful in completing a postgraduate course at the School of Corsetry. She obtained her diploma in the regular way last year.

Belleville ladies will share in Mrs. Darlington's success, as modern medical science has shown that the art of corset fitting is necessary for the promotion of good health and beauty of figure. Doctors are paying more and more attention to this.

Mrs. Darlington says that one of the most essential features of the post graduate course was the stress laid on medical fittings.

Deseronto Man Is Sentenced Friday

Richard MacVicar Sold "Moonshine" and Pays Dearly Now

Richard McVicar, who pleaded guilty in police court at Deseronto Friday afternoon, when charged with selling "moonshine" was fined $500 and costs and was in addition sentenced to serve three months in jail. If the fine is not paid—and there is slight chances of it being paid—he will also serve an additional three months. In addition he was sentenced to another term of three months by reason of the fact that the "moonshine" sold was illegally manufactured without a government license. This is MacVicar's second offence.

Arthur Fraser, also charged with selling "moonshine" was defended by E. J. Butler of Belleville, but the charge against him was withdrawn when MacVicar pleaded guilty.

The arrests followed a raid which was made on MacVicar's Thomas street home in Deseronto by Headquarter's staff officers of the Provincial police here on Thursday night last.

Police Magistrate Henry Bedford of Deseronto presided, and County Attorney B. C. Donnan conducted the prosecution. Sergeant E. A. Rae and Constable Elliot of Provincial Police represented the police headquarters at the trial.

Charge Government Neglecting Work

Continual Tariff Reductions Responsible for Canadian Exodus

Ottawa, Feb. 14—In a series of sparkling speeches, members of the Conservative party in the House of Commons yesterday flatly charged the Government with neglecting to work for the best interests of Canada, and showed that continual tariff reductions, with threats of more to come, were responsible for the general exodus of Canadians to the United States, the widespread talk of a solution of the national problems in annexation with that country and for the fact that capital, nervous of home conditions, was flowing out of countries where it could be put to work with a greater degree of safety.

Hon. R. J. Manion, of Fort William and Rainy River, T. E. Simpson, of Algoma West, Hugh A. Stewart of Leeds, Frank White of London, General A. E. Ross of Kingston and others united in the drive against the Administration.

The unease on the treasury benches and frequent denials from the Ministers was evidence of the success of their efforts, and of the fact that a suspicion of the truth is beginning to percolate through the Ministerial brains.

The attack followed the reinstatement of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, which came after general explanations from the leaders of the two older parties and after the Progresive chiftain allowed appreciation of principle to submerge his original objections.

IS COMMITTED ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

Cobalt, Ont., Feb. 14.—Philip Usoff, who has been wanted by the police for over six months, following an alleged shooting episode in a restaurant at Amsonville last Summer, has been committed for trail on a charge of attempted murder. It is claimed Usoff shot at and missed his wife, from whom he had been separated, and a man in whose company he found her. He disappeared and was not located until recently.

Change In Prices Were Very Slight

Attendance at Market Good For This Time of Year

While the market to-day was by no means a large one it was fairly well attended for this time of the year. There were but few changes to note in prices as compared with a week ago.

Fresh dairy butter was quite plentiful and fairly reasonable in price, namely 38c. and 40c. a pound.

The ruling price for special eggs was 60 cents per dozen, whilst fresh sold at 48c. per dozen.

Dressed chicken commanded a good figure despite the fact that many were offered for sale. They ranged in price from $1.50 to $2.25 a pair. A few were sold at a sligtly lower figure. Ducks sold at $1.30 and $1.40 each and $3.00 each were asked for geese offered for sale.

Cream sold at 25 cents. a pint vegetables were plentiful and fairly reasonable in price. Potatoes sold at 80c. and 85c. a bag.

The ruling prices for apples were 50c. and 60c. per peck according to quality.

Meat was cut up in considerable quantities and many purchasers were about the various stalls. Beef ranged in price from 10c. to 18c. a pound and pork from 15c. to 22c., according to cuts.

Beef by the hindquarter sold at 9c. per pound and forequarters 7c., dressed pork $15.50 hundred weight.

Unemployed Were Well Entertained

True Blues Put on Fine Dinner and Program of Music

Derry Lodge of True Blues entertained at dinner Friday night in the refreshment rooms of the Lodge, a large number of citizens who are unemployed, and their families. A bounteous meal was provided, in the serving of which Mayor Mikel acted as chief waiter, assisted by members of the Lodge. After dinner an enjoyable musical program was rendered by Mr. B. Tapp, Lou Marsh, E. W. Ryckman, Tom Mason, Harry Eaves and Pete Maraskas, of Belleville, and Sam Harris, of Toronto. An unexpected meeting took place between Mr. B. Tapp and Mr. Sam Harris, who saw each other while Mr. Harris was singing for the first time since they served overseas in the same company. It so affected Mr. Harirs that he could not continue his song.

Mayor Mikel acted as chairman, and in a short address said that while the True Blue Lodge was one of the smallest in the city and composed of persons with limited means, they had nevertheless big sympathetic hearts and every man and woman among them was a booster, and the city should be proud of them. The committee that made the dinner and entertainment a success, consisted of W. Ruttan, B. McConnell, W. Gould, and Mrs. Ald. Harrow, and all the members worked well.

CORRESPONDENTS AT BLAME, IS CLAIM

Dublin, Feb. 14.—In the Dail Eireann Friday, Tom Johnston, Opposition leader, raised the question of distress in the west of Ireland, declaring that special correspondents by international propaganda were spreading exaggerated and unjustified reports of conditions. He assured the Government of support in its measures and of a special vote if one were needed.

Patrick Hogan, Minister of Agriculture, said press correspondents had been exploiting this question for their own purposes. There was no abnormal distress this year, he declared. There was always distress in those districts and this year conditions in some areas were worse than last, and in some were better. There was no failure of potatoes, except in limited areas.

GIVES IMPRESSIONS TO Y'S MEN CLUB

There was a good attendance at the weekly luncheon last evening of the Y Men's Club, in connection with the Y.M.C.A. held in the Association building. Mr. S. License, president, presided. Mr. R. Home of Toronto and Mr. D. McFarlane of this city, were guests. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn gave a brief resume of his impression of the world's missionary conference held recently at Washington. On motion of Mr. B. Rofe a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. O'Flynn.

RECEIVE CLUE THIS MORNING ABOUT WIDOW

Mrs. Gilbert Mason of Cannifton Supplies Information Wanted

IS RELATIVE

Late M. W. Caniff Was Cousin of the Informant

On Monday, the Intelligencer received a letter from John C. Vanek, manager of The Assets Realization Company, Suite 830, Black Building, Los Angeles, Cal., asking the newspaper to attempt to locate Mrs. Helen Caniff, widow of the late M. W. Caniff, who lived in Los Angeles between the years 1909-1913.

This morning, Mrs. Gilbert Mason of Cannifton walked into the editorial offices and supplied the clues which it is hoped will result in Mrs. Caniff or her heirs-at-law communicating with the Los Angeles company whose manager has located some property which is in need of attention of the widow or her heirs-at-law.

Mrs. Helen Caniff, the woman sought, is the widow of the late M. Wellington "Well" Caniff formerly of Cannifton, who early in life went to Winnipeg with a brother MacKenzie and when the west was younger and opportunities greater. In the hotel business the brothers made big money but are supposed to have spent their money freely as many people did in the west at that time.

Seventeen years ago he and his wife left Winnipeg after having lived there continuously since leaving their Cannifton home in his early life. Wellington Caniff died in Los Angeles in 1914 Mrs. Mason believes, though she could not find the newspaper clipping of his obituary which she has kept in her home. She was unable therefore to name the date, but was almost sure the year was 1914.

Whether his widow, Mrs. Helen Caniff—known here as Nell Caniff, is now living if she is still alive, Mrs. Mason was unable to say, but she will write to a woman who will know and who, if Mrs. Caniff is dead, will be the next heir. This woman is Mrs. John Boskell, who lives on a farm about twenty-five miles out from Winnipeg at a place called Wavey Bank. Mrs. Boskell is a sister of the late Wellington Caniff. Mrs. Boskell and Mrs. Mason correspond frequently.

"As far as I know, Mrs. Helen Caniff is still alive," exclaimed Mrs. Mason, "but Mrs. Boskell will know all about her."

MacKenzie Caniff, brother of Wellington, died with influenza the first year of the plague, and his wife and ten children live in the United States Mrs. Mason had forgotten the name of the city in which Mrs. MacKenzie Caniff lived, but could find out if she were at her home she said, where she could consult documents which would give her the information.

"Mrs. Helen Caniff may have had one daughter," said Mrs. Mason, when asked, "but I am not sure of that." She also believes that the first initial "M" was incorrect but the initials in the letter received by the Intelligencer were M. W. Caniff.

M. W. Caniff, after whose family name the village of Cannifton derived its name, was a nephew of Sir MacKenzie Bowell, former owner of the Intelligencer, and MacKenzie Caniff his brother, was named after Sir MacKenzie. Mrs. Jonas Caniff mother of Wellington and MacKenzie Caniff was a sister of Sir MacKenzie Bowell. Mrs. Mason's grandmother Hicks is a sister of Jonas Caniff, father of Wellington Caniff, so she is related to the Caniffs and knows considerable about their whereabouts.

Mrs. Mason was born near Plainfield, and when the Caniff families came from the west for a visit they always visited her people at Plainfield.

PROSPERITY AND MORALS

In a recent sermon a well-known clergyman is reported to have said: "We are apparently on the eve of unprecedented prosperity and I tremble to think what may be its effects on the morals of the country." This observation may be regarded as needlessly borrowing trouble, yet is worthy of consideration.

This country was never more prosperous than it was during the World War, and immediately after. Everybody made big money and many accumulated vast fortunes. As money came easy it went easy, and while there had been thrift there succeeded wild extravagance. Men and women indulged in pleasures that they never before had been tempted to indulge in. The country ran wild, divorces multiplied at an alarming rate, crime increased by leaps and bounds. The morals of the people were lowered to the point where they winked when formerly they had frowned.

Political, social, and financial conditions called for readjustment. Money accumulated continued to be spent. Even congress and state legislatures could not affect plans for economy and continued to increase taxes. The cost of living still climbed, finally reaching the point where there was general protest. After ineffective protest came more deliberate consideration of expenditure. Society began to reckon more carefully, political parties were forced to demand retrenchment. Yet morals were not revised, and have not been entirely revised to date, although the tendency is more hopeful of normal conditions.

If the people have learned their lesson this tendency will continue; if they have not, it will have reaction under returning prosperity, especially if prosperity be extraordinary. The question is—have they learned their lesson? On the answer depends the conclusion as to whether the clergyman was borrowing trouble or sounding a warning.—Williamsport Grit.

"IN GOD WE TRUST"

There is a phrase used on many of the United States coins which causes frequent comment from reverence to ridicule. Probably few among our neighbors could tell offhand the story of the words "In God We Trust," on their coins. Yet it is a story, as told in a recent number of Collier's of simplicity and patriotism. During the Civil War, it appears, when the clouds were blackest for the Nation, a small-town clergyman named Watkinson wrote to Salmon P. Chase, then Secretary of the Treasury, a letter which contained the suggestion that the words, "God, Liberty, Law," be placed on the country's coinage, and which read in part:

"You are probably a Christian. What if our Republic were now shattered beyond reconstruction? Would not the antiquarian of succeeding centuries rightly reason from our past that we were a heathen nation?" This letter, we are told, moved Secretary Chase to instant action. He wrote at once to the director of the mint urging him to cause a device to be prepared without unnecessary delay with the motto expressing in the fewest and tersest words possible the national recognition that the trust of the American people is in God. The reason he advanced was that no nation can be strong except in the strength of God, or safe except in His defense. It was Chase himself, however, who finally selected the phrase, "In God We Trust," taking it from a line in the national anthem.

Press Opinions

NOTHING ABOUT PEARLS

(Detroit Free Press)

It's a somewhat weird yarn, that story from Portland, Oregon, about the "pearl necklaces" made of "solidified alcohol" which, as the story goes, are being smuggled in from the orient, and which being unstrung, provide the "makings" for a number of drinks with kicks in them, equal to the number of individual "pearls."

However, the collector of customs at the port seems to take stock in the story and says he is on the lookout for contraband goods. But suppose he finds them what is he going to do with them, beyond holding them as pieces of jewelry upon which the duty has not been paid.

The Eighteenth amendment prohibits the manufacture, sale, transportation, and import and export of intoxicating liquors. But we find nothing in it about the import and sale of pearl necklaces because they happen to be made of a hardened composition of alcohol. However, if the pinch comes, the enforcement agents may be able to get around the point.

"BUYING" WHEAT

(Montreal Gazette)

People who never owned a bushel of wheat and would be embarrassed if a hundred bushels were delivered to them bought tens and hundreds of thousands of bushels on margin by putting up with a broker five to ten cents a bushel to protect him and by waiting and watching the market realised profits that made them greedy for more.

The result is a situation that seems to alarm even those closest to the market. Brokers are asking twenty-five cents a bushel as margin in buying the more speculative grades, a figure that only the stoutest-hearted of the bull speculators can stand. It is safe to say that the advance in prices will soon be checked, and that the general effect will be satisfactory.

THE ROADS OF QUEBEC

(Le Soleil, Quebec)

If foreign motor cars in their thousands enter the province of Quebec each summer, leaving their marks behind them, should we not pay strict attention to our good roads policy? The multitude of visitors who come from afar and traverse our country, pay their expenses as they go from place to place, in towns and villages, and thus distribute on their transit sum large enough to compensate us in full for the capital applied to the construction and maintenance of our highways. No man of intelligence can fail to appreciate these advantages which, in addition to many others, make our road system one of the most valuable elements in our provincial prosperity.

THE NEW MARKERS

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

As the new automobile markers are becoming more numerous, it is evident that those in charge of issuing these very necessary strips of metal had an eye for beauty. The 1925 markers, with figures of a pleasing greenish-yellow color on a back background, are much less offensive to the eye than the yellow and black markers of last year. But this much is certain—the new markers cannot be read with the same ease or at as great a distance as the old markers. The yellow and black may have given areas where motor cars were the thickest the appearance of a smallpox epidemic, but they were serviceable. We have sacrificed just a little of this service for art's sake.

SMALL PROFIT THIS YEAR

(Montreal Herald)

Unusual interest attaches to the annual report of the Massey-Harris Company just issued. In 1921, the company had a deficit of one and a half million dollars. In 1922 there was a deficit of $643,000; in 1923, the deficit was $409,578. In the year just closed the company's earnings showed an improvement of no less than half a million dollars and, instead of a heavy deficit there were profits of $87,711.

The Unescapable Self

HERE is one person we can never get away from, and that is one's self.

There is a story told of Shelley that he had a dream in which he saw a man who thwarted his every purpose. He caused his business plans to fail, he interfered whenever he was on the point of success in a literary way, he did all he could to annoy and frustrate him. Finally Shelley was about to marry a beautiful girl, and when the minister at the altar asked if anyone could show cause why they two should not be joined together the stranger stepped forward. He had always worn a veil over his face so that Shelley could not see him. Angered by his interference Shelley leaped forward and tore the veil from his face. He discovered that it was himself.

So the man that is always getting in our way and frustrating our endeavors is our self.

Men take drink or drugs in the effort to escape from themselves. For a while they are another creature. But the old self eventually comes back.

A man committed a crime some years ago in New Jersey. On account of it he left his wife and family and finally settled in Detroit. There under an assumed name he married again and achieved success. He was a highly respected citizen until the detectives found him and taxed him with his old criminal record. He escaped self for many years, but it finally found him.

In one of Oscar Wilde's plays the man asks the woman to run away with him. They would go to some distant place. "For," he says in urging her, "the world is wide." "No," she replies, "the world is not wide for me. It has shrunk to a palm's breadth."

There is an oriental proverb to the effect that a man may sail the seven seas, but he will not escape from himself.

It is a common delusion of people to think that they can be happy somewhere else. But happiness does not depend upon the place you are. Even heaven cannot assure us happiness by the simple means of transporting us to another place; our characters must also be transformed.

There is a legend of a monkey in the hand of Buddha. He tried to escape and jumped farther than any monkey had jumped before, but he still found himself in Buddha's hand.

So we may go to the end of the earth, to the bottom of the sea, or to the stars in heaven. We shall not escape our selves.

District Meetings Guarding O.T.A.

Enthusiastic Gatherings are Held at Tweed and at Shannonville

Tweed, Feb. 14.—A meeting in the interest of temperance was held on Tuesday afternoon in the township hall Tweed.

Rev. L. S. Wight was the chairman and gave a report of the recent meeting in Belleville which was called for the purpose of organizing the riding to support Premier Ferguson and his government in their efforts to sustain the Ontario Temperance Act.

It was put on record that those present heartily endored the Premier and his government in their efforts to support the Ontario Temperance Act.

It was suggested that the local member Mr. Hill be notified of the action taken at this meeting.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the convention in Toronto on February 17 and 18:

Rev. L. S. Wight, W. S. Gordon, S. B. McGee, S. G. Way, W. E. Rummon, John Sager and W. A. Donnelly, delegates from Tweed village.

Rev. Mr. Poulter, delegate from Thomasburg; J. H. Foster, delegate from Chapman; Mr. Frank Cotton, and Rev. Mr. Waite, delegates from Sulphide; Hector Wood, and Mr. Mitts, delegates from Ivanhoe.

The following men were suggested to form a vigilance committee, and were requested to call a meeting in the interests of law enforcement. They were given power to add to their number. These men were S. G. Way, W. S. Gordon, Mr. Burgoyne, Mr. William Morton, Thomasburg, W. H. Seyers, Fred Blakely, J. H. Foster, Geo. Gordon, and W. H. Montgomery.

Crows were heard in this vicinity for the first time yesterday morning when in a gathering, and it sounded to some as if a good number had already returned from the south.

Shannonville, Feb. 14.—Representatives of the Prohibition Union of the southern part of this riding assembled in convention in the Methodist church this afternoon, Rev. J. O. Totton, pastor of the Convention church was elected chairman, and Rev. R. G. Thompson of Plainfield was appointed to act as secretary. The chairman called upon Rev. J. M. Fraser of Melrose to lead in prayer. After explaining briefly why the convention had been called, Mr. Totton asked Rev. Dr. McTavish of Belleville to explain in more detail the issues that faced us now as advocates of prohibition. Dr. McTavish endeavored to trace the influence behind the recent proposal to double the strength of beer that might be legally sold under the Ontario Temperance Act. He declared that such beer was undoubtedly intoxicating for the average man, and for any man a poisoner of the brain. It was pointed out that different functions of brain and nerve react quite differently to the stimulus of alcohol and the speaker pleaded for an increasing campaign to educate old and young in regard to the pernicious effect of this poison.

Some mention was made of the abuse caused by the free traffic in alleged native wines. There are scientific grounds for believing that genuine native wines could not ferment beyond the strength of 13 per cent, yet samples analyzed have proved just double this strength and paralyzing to the consumer.

Finally Dr. McTavish insisted that prohibition being a nation-wide issue, must be forced into Federal politics. When a majority of prohibition advocates sit in the Ottawa House, no longer will we have the scandal of custom officers freeing a vessel for Cuba and re-loading the same vessel in three days—neither will brewery licenses be issued in communities where the people are opposed to them.

Resolutions were passed affirming the unanimous attitude of the convention on these different points, and forwarded to Premier Ferguson, to Mr. J. F. Hill, M.L.A., and as memorial to the secretary of the provincial convention to be held next week. Reverend J. O. Totton and Mr. G. W. Collins of Plainfield were elected delegates to the latter gathering. Also the following appointments were made to the executive of the local prohibition union—G. W. Collins, Plainfield, convenor; E. W. Brown, Corbyville; George Badgley, Corbyville; Arthur McKinney, Melrose; Rev. W. D. Harrison, Deseronto; and Rev. R. G. Thompson, Sec. Treas., Plainfield.

More than 100 cases of champagne and choice whiskey were seized in the Canadian Pacific Railway yards at Windsor, by Ontario Provincial Police. The goods were packed in three large packing boxes.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Edmund's church, Stoco on Tuesday morning, February 10th, when Miss Francis LaBarge, daughter of Mr. Peter LaBarge was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. John Ervine, of Stoco. Rev. Father Cullinane officiated.

Deaths And Funerals

JOSEPH KENNEDY

From the residence of Mr. William Kennedy, 30 Moira street east, the funeral took place yesterday afternoon of his brother, Joseph Kennedy, who passed away in Toronto. Rev. Capt. H. B. Kenny of the Tabernacle church officiated at the house and interment at Belleville cemetery. A number of floral tributes were evidences of sympathy. Bearers were, J. Walsh, S. Cross, C. Reid, W. Latta, B. Robinson and J. Howe.

WALTER CAHILL

A well-known citizen and a former efficient and popular C.N.R. engineer passed away last evening at the family residence, 50 Geddes street. Deceased was born in this city where he had resided all his life. For fifty years Mr. Cahill was a G.T.R. engineer, being superannuated a year ago. During all his career as an engineer Mr. Cahill was never in any serious accident. He was deservedly popular with his fellow employes. Deceased was a member of St. Michael's Church and a member of the K. of C. society. A widow, formerly Miss Catherine Hannahan and five daughters survve. The daughters are Mrs. Jas. E. Larkin, Mrs. Walter Zimmer and Miss Kathryn of Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Jos. H. Long of Kitchener, and Miss Mabel of this city.

PRINCE EDWARD DRYS SEND RESOLUTION

A convention of the Prince Edward County Branch of the Ontario Prohibition Union was held in Bloomfield this week. A. A. Morden, the county president, occupied the chaiir and R. W. Ireland acted as secretary of the convention. There were representatives from every muniicipality in the county b ut one. A very enthusiastic gathering discussed the present temperance situation. Several short addresses were delivered. A delgate from every municipality in the riding was appointed to attend the Provincial Conventioin to be held in Toronto in Massey Hall on the 17th and 18th of February. The delegates appointed are as follows:

A. A. Morden, the county.
Picton, H. G. Blakely.
Bloomfield, Rev. G. C. R. McQuade.
Wellington, Rev. W. J. H. Smythe.
Ameliasburg, J. L. Gerow.
Hillier, R. W. Ireland.
Hallowell, Clarence Mallory.
Sophiasburgh, T. F. Spafford.
North Marysburgh, Frank Eaton.
South Marysburgh, Stephen Dulmage.
Athol, James Fennell.
For the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Dora Thompson.

The following resolution was carried by a unanimous standing vote:

"That this conventioin place itself on record.

(1) As appreciating the stand taken by Premier Ferguson, that in the event of the O. T. A. being endorsed by the electorate as expressed in the recent Government of this Province would consider it as any other piece of legislation and seek to strengthen its weaknesses from time to time; (2) That we pledge our loyal support to Premier Ferguson and his Government in the maintenance and enforcement of the O. T. A.; (3) That we pledge ourselves to vigorously oppose any endeavor to thwart the will of the majority of the celectorate as expressed in the recent plebiscite."

English Fireplace Does Big Damage

Tons of Soot Float in Air Over London, England

London, Feb. 14.—Londoners have tackled with renewed energy this winter the problem of reducing their fog bill which often causes a loss to the community of $5,000,000 a day.

Scientists have concluded that while it was impossible altogether to abolish fogs, as provided by nature, it is possible to have comparatively cleaner ones by doing away with the soft coal smoke evil caused by some 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 smoking chimneys.

Officials of the Coal Smoke Abatement Society estimated recently that there were 600,000 inhabited houses in London nearly every room of which including the kitchen, has its open fire place by which the homes are heated. These fires pour their quota of dirt and soot into the air all day long and far into the night. Ordinarily the soot is carried off by the elements, but when a heavy fog sets in the particles remain suspended in the atmosphere, shutting out the sun entirely, and turn daylight into darkness. Clean fogs could not do this.

During a recent fog here, which lasted the better part of three days, as most of them do, scientists estimated that there were from 250 to 300 tons of soot floating about in the air within the London area. Statistics have been compiled showing that London's annual soot fall amount to something like 75,000 tons.

Every individiual in the city is affected, more or less, by the heavy fogs and smoke nuisance. Traffic sometimes comes almost to a standstill, and shop dealers often close up their stores because of lack of business. During the fog season this winter alone it has been estimated that the loss to the community has been at least $35,000,000.

By a system of education, promoters of the idea of a cleaner fog hope eventually to do away with the open smokey coal fire place for heating. These would be replaced by gas, electricity, central heating or the use of stoves burning anthracite instead of the bituminous fuel which has caused so much of the trouble.

Dr. John S. Owens, who has taken a leading part in the smoke abatement movement for more than 30 years, says that within 10 or 15 years virtually all the open fire places will have been done away with. Broadly speaking London will then be virtually a smokeless city, and when the fogs do come, they will at least be clean.

MANY PORTUGESE NOT ABLE TO READ

Lisbon, Feb. 14.—So many people in Portugal cannot read, the percentage of illiterates is given as 78, that were it not for Brazil and the colonies, the book industry here could scarcely survive. Also Portuguese authors rarely live on the income derived from literary production; they all do something else.

The government is seeking to overcome the lack of primary education by more schools, but progress is very slow. In the larger towns there is a certain literary culture, but in the provinces the people live much as they did in past ages, isolated from the progressive world.

Books are so expensive that only the relatively wealthy can afford to buy them.

Patrick Scully, son of Mrs. Alfred Scully, of Inkerman street, London, died at his mother's home, in his fifth year, of sleeping sickness. The child contracted the disease quite recently. His father died a few months ago.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C

Feels ten years younger

—and recommends Gin Pills for Kidney Trouble

Do you think there is any chance that you, too, have kidney trouble? Are you bothered by continual headaches, agonising pains in the back, rheumatism, swollen hands and joints?

Read this letter from one who found a happy release from terrible suffering by taking Gin Pills—

"I suffered terribly with my kidneys. When I would stoop down I would have to get down on my knees before I could get up again. I tried Gin Pills, and got relief after taking a few pills. When I had taken two boxes, I felt myself again, and have not had a pain since. I feel ten years younger. I advise anyone suffering from kidneys to take Gin Pills. I cannot praise them enough."

Peter Rehberg, L'Ardoise, C.B.

Gin Pills will help YOU. They will restore your kidneys to normal, healthy action and make you strong and well again.

Captain Blood Is Real Good Picture

Love Interest Well Handled and Scenes are Spectacular

Movies have been described in such glowing terms that there scarcely seems to be words left to describe a really good picture. It is not until the reviewer sees a production like Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which is the attraction at the Griffin Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday that he wishes he had been more conservative in describing other photoplays.

There is art, acting, action and merit in "Captain Blood." It is different from other films and contains a wealth of those features that have made the photoplay a chief factor in the world's amusement attractions. After witnessing a score of average film productions it is as refreshing as an oasis in the desert to see one of the calibre of "Captain Blood."

From the first when Peter Blood is arrested and sent a slave to be sold at Barbadoes, to the final scene when, as Governor of the island, he wins the hand of Arabella Bishop, there is not a dull moment. The slave market, the insurrection of the slaves, the attack on Georgetown, the capture of the Arabella by Blood and his fellow rebels-convict, the encounter with the French fleet, duels between Blood and a pirate chef, and with a Spanish officer; the burning of a ship and the sinking of the Arabella are a few of the spectacular highlights in the production. These follow each other in rapid succession.

The love interest is well handled, the major thread being carried in commendable manner by J. Warren Kerrigan as Peter Blood and Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop. Kerrigan has a role different than any he had previously essayed in his long and varied career. Those who admire this versatile actor will surely enjoy his work in the production. Jean Paige has lost none of her charm and ability during her brief absence from the screen. If anything she has returned with more grace and charm.
